MISSISSIPPI RIVER AND ALLIED PACKET CANCELLATIONS PRIOR TO SEPTEMBER 1st, 1861.

By CARROLL CHASE.

Two excellent articles have recently appeared in the "American Philatelist" dealing with this general subject, the first by George B. Sloane in the August, 1920 number in which he listed over one hundred packets and also gave historical notes, and the second by Mr. George M. Emery in the July, 1921 issue, which had to do largely with the historic and reminiscent side. No attempt will be made in this article to touch on the historic aspect, the purpose being simply to give as complete a list as is possible, divided into the various periods, so that when the history of this entire issue is written up, the list may be worthy of it. At a later period the writer hopes to go rather deeply into the history of the packets of this period and with this in view, facts regarding any of the listed packets are requested together with the source from which such knowledge is drawn.

One interesting fact that has not been previously mentioned is the influence that the various nationalities which came to the Mississippi country had in giving names to the steamers. Naturally English names lead with Indian names second. Because of the large French population in Louisiana and the adjacent states, French names are next most common, while Spanish, Irish, Scotch and even German and Jewish names are found.

The method of listing is almost self-explanatory. In the first column will be found the wording, in full, exactly as it appears in the postmark, while the actual name of the steamer will be shown in capitals. The arrangement will be strictly alphabetical according to the names of the packets, for example, the packet "W. W. FARMER" will appear under "W", the packet "A. FUSELIER" will appear under "A" and the packet "GENL. STOKES" will appear under "G". I think this is more logical than trying to list them by the first letter of the first word, which is often "Steamer" or "Packet". The second column shows the approximate size in millimeters, the third column the shape of postmark, the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh columns the periods "Before 1847", (Before July 1, 1847), "1847", (July 1, 1847 to July 1, 1851), "1851" (July 1, 1851 to Feb. 24, 1857) and "1857" (Feb. 24, 1857 to Sept. 1, 1861). The last column headed "Remarks" will give such additional information as is necessary. The various colors of the postmarks will be noted in these columns. An asterisk after one of these denotes that the cancellation is not in the author's collection. He would much like to receive any such on approval.

Additional packet cancellations as well as new periods of use of packets named will be much appreciated. For obvious reasons these can be listed only when actually seen by the writer. Any such sent to Dr. Carroll Chase, 1170 Dean Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., will be promptly returned and postage repaid. Proper acknowledgment will be made in the next list.

FIUME.

By GORDON IRELAND, A. P. S. 403.

Of all the New Europe issues which for the past three years have assailed the heads and pocket books of stamp collectors the world over probably none have so great a romantic interest with a minimum of philatelic value as those emanating from Fiume, that lovely City of the Eastern Adriatic destined to go tinkling down in history as the scene of the comic opera exploits of that fine Italian soldier, poet, aviator and politician, Gabriel d'Annunzio.

Fiume is a City of about 53,000 population on the Gulf of Quarnero at the northeast corner of the Adriatic Sea. Originally built by the Romans, by whom it was called Oppidum ad Flumen (the Castle at the River). With the overwhelming of the Empire from the north it fell into the hands first of the Franks and then of the Slavs. It still boasts a Roman arch in honor of the Emperor Claudius II. The official language for its municipal documents passes directly from Latin to Italian, the earliest known in both languages being a notice as to the price of fish, dated 1449; and since 1599 all magisterial acts have been written in Italian. In 1509 it was seized by the Venetians and occupied for a time but subsequently restored. In 1530 it was granted national independence by Emperor Ferdinand of Austria, and was autonomous for two and a half centuries. In 1776 Maria Theresa, Empress of Austria, assigned it to Croatia. The inhabitants gave prompt signs of their lively independence of thought and action, and were evidently worthy ancestors of the fire-eating Fascisti of today, for they put up immediate stout resistance, to such effect that after three years the Empress apparently wearied of the struggle, and in 1779 annexed Fiume direct to the Throne of Hungary, and made it a Free City, under Austrian military rule. Its coat of arms of this period is shown supporting the Hungarian Crown. It remained free for 135 years; and at the outbreak of the World War was one of the last of the royal free cities of Europe.

It has excellent harbor facilities, and is the chief port for emigration to America from that part of Europe. It is the natural outlet to the sea for Austria, Bohemia, Bosnia, Croatia, Hungary, Poland, Roumania and Serbia; so that much old world merchandise, and doubtless many thousands of stamps legitimately carrying mail in the old days, sailed from Fiume to our shores. Sushak, the most important suburb, lying to the east across the Revier Reccina (or Fiumara) and connected by a fine bridge, is principally Croatian. In 1848 the population was Jugoslavs, 11,581, Italians, 691; while in 1910 the count was Jugoslavs 27,393, mostly in Sushak, and Italians 24,870, chiefly in Fiume.

On November 6th, 1918, five days before the Armistice, as the result of a few days' plot brewing, the inhabitants of Fiume re-established the Government elected by the people of the City before the War, declared themselves annexed to Italy, and raised the Italian flag over the City.

The Peace Conference, after giving Trieste to Italy, assigned Fiume City (including Sushak) and harbor with part of adjacent Dalmatia, to the Kingdom of the Servians, Croats and Slovenes (Jugoslavia). A strained situation with Italy resulted at once from this cession. President Wilson issued a public statement as to the matter on April 23rd, 1919; and Premier Orlando of Italy withdrew from the Conference with his colleagues on April 24th, to return on May 6th, after ten days in Italy of great public clamor, excitement, press notices and conversation. Italy's claim to the port ran back to her secret London pact of April 26, 1915, when she joined the Allies, on a promise of receiving among her spoils a portion of the Dalmatian Coast; which, however, never, on the widest claims of her own adherents, actually included any part of Fiume. On July 6th, 1919, about 20,000 Italians attacked and killed in the City some 500 French guards, a portion at least of whom had visibly surrendered. Four months passed without the announcement of any change in the decision of the Peace Conference, and without any very evident effort to enforce it; until on September 12th, 1919, d'Annunzio, a Captain in the Aviation Service of the Italian Army, collected a force of volunteer adventurers, declared himself Dictator, and on September 17th appeared at the head of about 2,300 soldiers in some forty motor lorries at the gates of the City and demanded admittance. General Pittaluga, the Italian Commander of the City, went out to parley with d'Annunzio, exchanged resounding phrases of brave protest and resistance, wept on his shoulder and welcomed him in. At d'Annunzio's demand the French and British garrisons of 9,000 men, and perhaps later in all 20,000, hauled down their flags and left the City. The Supreme (Peace) Council sat in solemn deliberation on the situation and sagely voted to let Italy deal with it. The Italian Government thereupon established a barely colorable land and sea blockade, to starve d'Annunzio's troops into submission; whereupon he threw 920 Jugoslavs into prison and on September 21st expelled all remaining foreigners. Italy on September 22nd asked the Allied Powers to send a force exclusive of Italians to handle the case; and on September 29th the nut was again passed formally to Italy to crack. The blockade was lifted on October 4th on mail and food-stuffs. Despite (or because of ?) d'Annunzio's reams of proclamations, some opposition to him began to be manifest in the City itself; and on October 11th the National Council of Fiume was said to have approved a scheme for becoming a buffer state, with the adjacent coastal territory. On October 27th, 1919 there was an election at which the Annexationists (to Italy) won by a large majority, which d'Annunzio had rendered cheerfully certain by closing the Sushak bridge on that day, so that none of the Croats who lived in that suburb cast any ballot at all. November 15th d'Annunzio raided the town of Zara on the Dalmatian coast, and there was for a time general fear that he would spread his propaganda and his influence the length of the Adriatic; but on December 7th he formally assured the Italian Government that he would undertake no new expeditions. On December 13th an informal agreement known as the Pact of Rome was supposed to have been reached between Italy and the Jugoslavs, by which d'Annunzio and his troops were to leave Fiume and be replaced by Italian regulars who should hold occupation as in trusteeship merely, pending final decision by the Entente Powers. This seems to have been a highly satisfactory solution for all concerned, except for one detail: d'Annunzio had not been consulted. He placidly announced that he would not recognize the agreement, and continued to stand pat and sit tight. On March 23rd, 1920, d'Annunzio proclaimed a Republic. The next five months grew increasingly difficult internally, however, probably due chiefly to lack of revenue (one of the principal items of which was Post Office receipts, mainly from dealers and stamp collectors); and in August, 1920, d'Annunzio proclaimed the establishment of an "Italian Regency of the Quarnero", composed of Fiume and a few nearby islands in the Gulf, inhabited largely by Slavs. He celebrated the anniversary of his Dictatorship by declaring on September 12th, 1920 the independence of Fiume as a new state, to include the City, harbor, railroad and the two islands of Arbe and Veglia on the easterly side of the Gulf (but excluding the largest, Cherso, more to the west). This also proved a shaky arrangement, but he held on with increasing vociferousness for a few months longer. On October 2nd the Regency was recognized by the National Council. On November 12th, 1920, Italy and the Jugoslavs came to full agreement in the Treaty of Rapallo (Italy), by which the boundary between the two States on the east side of the Adriatic was fixed; Fiume was given the standing of a new state with territorial contiguity to Italy; and Sushak was given to Jugoslavia, with the right to join its port, Barros, with Fiume if it so desired. The situation had apparently become intolerable to every responsible authority, for this settlement was actually and effectively carried out. Italy sent troops under General Caviglia and a fleet to oust d'Annunzio and his men and set up the new free government. On November 20th d'Annunzio made formal announcement of his rejection of the Treaty of Rapallo, and prepared for active resistance. On December 2nd he issued a declaration of war on Italy, to commence the next day. Luckily, General Caviglia was of sterner stuff than Pittaluga or the intermediate negotiators had been. He began by throwing a cordon of troops completely around the City, and then sent an ultimatum to d'Annunzio. Heartened by the desertion of the crews of three of the war vessels to his cause (and having characteristically ordered his Legionaries to fall on their knees when one batch of the deserters came in), d'Annunzio poured invective and emotion into a proclamation of December 21st, defying Caviglia to do his worst. There was a minor clash on December 24th, and a real bombardment of the City on the 28th, followed promptly by a truce and armistice. On December 30th the City of Fiume was surrendered to General Caviglia and announced its recognition of the Treaty of Rapallo. At this time d'Annunzio had about 5,600 legionaries under his command, of whom 400 were on the Islands of Veglia and Arbe. The casualties of the five days "War" were Italians, 17 killed, 120 wounded; Legionaries, 18 killed, 50 wounded; and civilians, 2 killed, about 10 wounded. On December 31st d'Annunzio issued a final proclamation, of which the point that caught the world's fancy was his conclusion that Italy had ceased to be worth dying for. He remained in Fiume in strict seclusion for two weeks; and after the French authorities had finally agreed to vise his passports on condition he indulge in no political activity on their soil, he left on January 18th, 1921, by automobile for Paris. On January 20th a revolutionary attempt by a few of his still rebellious followers to overthrow the Fiume Provisional Government was easily put down. Dr. Anton Grossich was elected Provisional Governor by the Council.

So ended the adventure of the fire-breathing poet who with probably never more than 6,000 men for fifteen months defied the Allied Powers and Italy to dispose of the Town he occupied as the Council of Peace had agreed. If he failed in his attempt to annex the territory to Italy, none the less did he cause the Powers to alter their intention to annex it to Jugoslavia.

Trivial as the entire incident may hereafter seem, it will always possess a touch of special interest for the American, whichever side of our international problems he favors, as the first attempt by our Nation's Head to try the case of secret treaties and self-determination before the public of the world.

For the last five months, d'Annunzio has been not exactly idle, but hardly a world factor. He divorced his wife, Duchess Gallese, in Switzerland, and on February 3rd married at 55 a Venetian pianist of 29. They went to live in a villa at Lago di Garda in Northern Italy where with four horses, two automobiles and a retinue of servants, he resumed his writing and discussed with a host of loyal admirers the possibility of his retaking Fiume for his country. In April he sailed into Italian politics as a leader of the Fascisti against both Nitti and Giolitti, and threatened "d'Annunziation," if we may be forgiven the term.

Meanwhile, true to form, one faction of his followers again enjoyed delightful rioting in Fiume when they were beaten at the election on April 24th, 1921 by 1200 votes by the anti-annexationists. The Nationalists invaded the Government palace, seized and destroyed ballot boxes, and were only driven out the next day by the carabinieri or government troops. The United States has not recognized the independent state of Fiume, and hence the American Consul accredited to that City was refused recognition and has been transferred to another part of Jugoslavia. For the present this lack of representation there is not important, as practically the only business with the United States is the immigrant traffic, now being discouraged.

The postal history of Fiume is slight, and respectable, down to 1918. As a part of Hungary, stamps and currency in use were those of that Kingdom, so long as it lasted. From 1871 to 1918 the seven main regular issues of the Hungarian Monarchy were current in turn; and properly postmarked specimens, as a fair reward of patient search, would be the only solution for those who wished a complete collection of Fiume from the beginning. Thereafter surcharges and picture labels in awful profusion provide the medium through which the faithful philatelist of the world supports the office holders of the ridiculous City. A detailed chronicle of the successive issues may be found in the American Philatelist and other journals (in accordance with the references appended); and only brief comment upon the occasion or designs of some of the stamps will be attempted here.

POSTAL ISSUES.

(1) December second, 1918. Provisional issue. Stamps of Hungary, 1916-18 overprinted "FIUME." Overprint was applied at Fiume from Electrotype plates and handstamps. There were two printings from the electrotype plates, the first very fine and clear, the second considerably heavier, while those made by handstamp, in very limited number and chiefly on the higher values are much heavier and more coarse than either of the electrotype printings. There are twenty-eight postage stamps to this set and twelve postage dues. The overprinting was very carefully done and errors are not common. Eleven varieties have an error of a dropped "I" making the overprint "FUME" while there are seven varieties known with inverted overprint and four with double overprint. Five of the postage dues are known with inverted overprint. As there are several stamps of this issue quite rare it is not surprising to find a number of forged overprints on the market. (See Amer. Phil. 32: 292, 328).

(2) The second issue of provisionals consisted of only three stamps, two of the Hungary reaper type, 6 and 20 heller and the 10 filler savings stamp of 1916 overprinted with an additional "FRANCO" and a new value of "45." These three stamps were specially provided as special delivery stamps.

(3) January thirtieth, 1919. The first definitive issue. A set of seventeen values in four different pictorial types. All have the word "Fiume" in lower label. The three low values bear a portrait that is variously ascribed as being "Liberty" or the Queen of the Adriatic. The next values picture the City Hall with an Italian flag hanging out the front window. The higher values bear a crude picture of a Lady and the Lion and of the rear deck of an Italian Man of War, large Italian flag and hysterical sailor. This set was printed at Trieste on thin unwatermarked paper, perforated 11½. (See Amer. Phil. 32: 293, 329).

(4) 1919. Same four types as previous issue with the words "Posta Fiume" in lower label instead of "Fiume" alone. It is said that the whole set was corrected in this manner but only eight values were issued. (See Amer. Phil. 32: 422, 33; 13, 137, 294).

(5) May eighteenth, 1919. A handsome set generally catalogued as a "Charity" issue. Three types bearing date of 30 X 1918 and with inscription "Pro Fondazione Studio". Each stamp cost an additional 5 lire or corone which was devoted towards education of Fiume students in Italy. (Amer. Phil. 32; 422).

(6) 1919. A single stamp bearing portrait of Doctor Grossich, at that time President of the National Assembly of Fiume. This stamp had a postage value of 25c and cost an additional tax of two lire which we trust the good doctor got.

(7) 1919. The set of twelve values listed under (5) and the Dr. Grossich stamp listed under (6) with an additional overprint of "Valore globale" and value. The object of this surcharge we understand was to relieve the purchaser of the 5 lire donation to the students and to indicate their globe trotting value. How the foreign post offices were supposed to get the triple injunction they bear on the back after in use we fail to perceive. (Amer. Phil. 33; 161; 34, 300).

(8) 1919. The heavy drain made on the postal issues had by this time, the latter part of the year, so depleted certain values that a new overprint was found necessary and thirteen values of the then current stamps were overprinted "Franco" and a new value.

(9) September, 1920. A set of fourteen values bearing portrait (?) of d'Annunzio by Guido Maussig and printed by Danesi in Rome. Stamps are on toned paper in a handsome array of pastel colors. With this set were issued two special delivery stamps and a three cornered newspaper stamp. (Amer. Phil. 34; 18, 52, 96).

(10) September 12th, 1920. The anniversary of D'Annunzio's Dictatorship supplied the reason for this issue. There were only four stamps, all of weird design, sometimes called the "Black Hand" set account the multiplicity of hands holding venomous looking daggers. This issue was said to be limited to two thousand sets and were to be distributed to the "Legionnaires". (Amer. Phil. 33; 53, 96).

(11) Oct. 1920. The foregoing supposedly limited set now appears in large quantity overprinted "Reggensa Italiana de Carnaro", some having a new value in addition and then to make a good job of it these stamps received an additional surcharge of "Arbe" and "Veglia" for use in the small islands of that name. Such criticism as has been offered as to the speculative nature of some of the previous sets finds ample reason in this. (Amer. Phil. 34; 153, 178).

(12) January 1921. On D'Annunzio's departure and with the establishment of the Provisional Government the complete set bearing his homely portrait (9) was overprinted "Governo Provisorio" and there endeth this sad and romantic philatelic misery.

EDITOR'S COLUMN.

We have noted that, for a greater part, our membership does not associate itself closely with our publication. It is viewed as a thing apart, somewhat in the same manner as are the publications for profit. This spirit of aloofness and lack of interest has been often deplored in our and similar organizations. Certainly the "Philatelist" should fairly reflect the activity and interest in Philately in this country. Should we fail in so doing may that fault not be attributed to any lack of receptivity by your Editor. Suggestion, constructive criticism and the worded philatelic effort or news will always be welcomed and promptly acknowledged.

The efforts of those that freely give the results of their research and experience without material reward should be more fully appreciated. These aid, instruct and oftentimes amuse both the tyro and advanced collector. Abroad the truly meritorious philatelic research receives at least the stamp of organized Philately's approval. We have in mind the "Medaille de Vermeil" and the "Lord Crawford" medal which were both last awarded to Mr. Hugo Griebert for his classic work on "The Stamps of Spain." We venture to suggest that if we had a similar award for the best philatelic writing appearing in the "Philatelist" it would go far to repay, and properly so, the unselfish efforts of our own philatelic students.

Our Library, housed at the Carnegie Library, Pittsburgh, Pa., is quite large and contains much valuable philatelic literature. It is however little used by the members and contributions to it the past few years have not been as they should. Why do our members neglect to take advantage of this excellent facility to further their philatelic studies? Our assistant Librarian is ready and eager to be of service. Contributions will be acknowledged in these columns and we hope to hear of some valuable additions in the near future. Address Mr. C. M. Tyler, Assistant Librarian, 306 Fourth Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. on this subject.

REVIEWS.

We have before us a handsome booklet published by Messrs. Plumridge & Co., London auctioneers, giving a "Resumé of Prices" obtained at their sales during the Season 1920-21. All the notable items are photographically illustrated and in addition to its interest as showing the trend of the market abroad it presents a valuable pictorial record of many philatelic gems. We compliment the publishers on their enterprise in this annual courtesy to their patrons and only regret that our stringent laws on the illustration of postage stamps make this custom impossible to American auction firms. We note a few items for the benefit of our readers who are not familiar with prices obtained abroad, listing the stamps by Scott and translating the Pound at $4.00.

Bavaria No. 1. Very fine used copy, Cat. $40.00 brought $35.00.

British Central Africa Nos. 31 and 42, high values not priced by Scott, brought, unused, $136.00 and $160.00 respectively.

France No. 1b in a strip of three, the end stamp the tete beche, cataloging $207.50, brought $216.00.

France No. 6c, the 25c tete beche in superb condition, catalog $125.00, brought $248.00.

France No. 8, a franc vermilion on cover, catalog $500, brought $460.00.

Great Britain. There are naturally many of these illustrated, especially the rare varieties of penny blacks and Officials and fetching very high prices. We note an unused block of Scott's No. 7 sixteen stamps with a heavy crease thru center, catalog $640.00 brought $680.00, while a very fine block of four of the same stamp brought $180.00. A block of nine unused of the octagonal shilling brought $640.00 though one stamp defective.

Sweden. The "Tretio" error, Scott's 33a, catalog $225.00 unsued, brought, used on piece $100.00.

Switzerland, a used Basle dove, No.1 brought $148.00, while a nice double Geneva, No. 2, Catalog $600.00 brought $580.00.

Straits Settlements, an unused copy of Scott's 62, catalog $75 brought $62.

Two Sicilies, No. 9, the blue Trinacria, catalog $175 brought $168.00 and an unused 50g Bomba head, No. 18, catalog $30.00 brought $25.00.

Tuscany, the rare 60c, Scott No. 9, catalog $275.00 brought used $360.00.

Newfoundland, a fine used 6 penny scarlet vermilion, catalog $125.00 brought $114.00.

West Australia, No. 4, a fine used copy, catalog $50.00 brought $42.00.

Among the United States items we note no less than five New Yorks the prices ranging from $44 to $28.00, all appear used with large A. C. M. and three with pen cancel. There are seven copies of the 10c 1847 illustrated, the highest priced being $31.00 and the lowest $17.00. A very nice copy of the 5c 1851 brought $31.00, with another superb copy at another sale bringing the same price. There was nothing unusual in the stamps of the United States offered, they being notably scarce in Europe at this time.

Theodore Champions Catalogue of "Air Post" Stamps.

Collectors of these interesting stamps will welcome this historical and priced list of the so-called "aerial posts". The first portion of the book is devoted to a historical account of air post service in the various countries and is followed by a priced list of the stamps issued under governmental authority. There follows a list of semi official issues and another list of stamps bearing pictures of "airplanes" but not necessarily used in air post service. A timely and interesting work. Moderately priced at 4.50 francs, French currency.

Ferrari Catalogue.

The catalogue of the second sale of this famous collection, to be held October 13th, 14th and 15th, contains a greater number of lots than the first sale and the material offered is richer in popular rarities. There are 62 lots of Capes with numerous pairs and pieces of the ever popular first issues. The wood block errors so tenant with the normal, the four pence carmine being in a block of four, should realize handsome prices. Then follows 69 lots of Ceylon, mostly of the imperf issue in seemingly unusually fine condition. Then we have a most startling array of Two Sicilies including unused, 6 used and one pair of the Blue Trinacria and twenty-three unused, nine used and a superb pair of the Cross of Savoy. Over 100 lots of British Guiana follow with a surprising number of exceeding rarity. Scotts No. 1 the two penny on rose again appears in a pair with unusual initials, also a copy of that very rare stamp, Scotts No. 16 besides a large number of the 1862 type set issue, some in entire sheets. The Hawaii lots that follow contain no less than six missionary's with a superb copy of the 2 cent blue with a beautiful Honolulu Paid cancel, the numerals in complete sheets, reconstructed plates and varieties make a bewildering array. Still gasping we find in the succeeding lots, first issues of Mauritius, a copy of Scotts No. 1 and 2, the "Post Office", used together on piece, this item should, unless the illustration does not accurately reflect the condition, bring one of the highest prices of the sale. In addition to many examples of the "Post Paid," a reconstructed plate of the 1 penny vermilion, we note three copies of the "Penoe" error. The third days sale offers short sections of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Roumania, Switzerland and Tuscany. There are some exceedingly rare items among these, notably an unused copy of the 27 para Moldo and a magnificent used tete beche pair. The Swiss lot is particularly rich, an unused block of six of the Double Geneva, a whole sheet the 5c large eagle besides pairs, and strips of the Zurich four and sixes, Basle Doves and first Federal issues. The sale ends with thirteen lots of Tuscany mostly in strips of three, there being an unused copy and an unused strip of three of both the 2 soldi brick red and the 3 lire yellow. The typographical work and illustrations are quite in keeping with the material offered.

Scott's 1921 Standard Catalogue.

The "advance" sheets of this publication not only reflect the present market values of stamps but also the evident intention on the part of the publishers to stabilize and strengthen the position of Philately in this country.

When the 1920 edition was published the purchasing power of the Dollar was on the decline and stamps were naturally selling at higher prices than ever before. This condition necessitated a marked increase in catalogue prices and the present edition, taking into consideration the gradual return to normalcy, has wisely made a general reduction in prices. The stamps of the United States are the only prominent exception and this is due to the continued demand for these issues whose soundness as an investment all collectors well appreciate. The "War Issues" have been unsparingly reduced and we believe to a great extent to rock bottom prices. It is our opinion that the collector purchasing these at present prices will find them increasing in value quite strongly within the next few years. The listing of new issues has been given careful attention and though we may not at once realize and appreciate the present attitude of the publishers as one of well chosen conservatism, we feel that this policy, intelligently carried out, will ultimately be recognized at its true worth in the maintenance of a sound foundation for our hobby.

"Weka 1921 Catalogue de Timbres Poste."

A compact handy pocket edition of some 700 pages and over 2000 illustrations cataloguing the issues of Europe and German Colonies (that were). Published by the Weka Stamp Company of Zurich, Switzerland, this firm being a combination of the old established business of Emil Wettler and Kumin-Buel. It is very thorough in the listing of the issues of New Europe with many valuable statistical notes. The stamps of Switzerland are treated in detail and take up 35 pages. The text is bi-lingual, both French and German and the prices are in Swiss francs which are practically normal in exchange value and not subject to much fluctuation. The notes and illustrations on minor varieties alone are worth the price asked, Six francs in Swiss currency.

Check List, 20th Century U. S. Envelopes.

A second and fully revised edition of this valuable work issued by J. M. Bartels & Co. of New York City. The list is fully priced and contains a very handy check list of the various city overprints on the three cent envelopes and a page devoted to the overprinted post cards. The work is authoritative and the last word on the subject it treats.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Prior to the War period stamp collectors had little cause to interest themselves in the mysteries of this branch of banking but the violent fluctuations in the value of foreign monies since that time have made it a subject about which collectors should be informed. The fact that money is subject to the inflexible law of supply and demand is in itself novel to most and when even a cursory study of the subject involves questions of Governmental credit, international loans, exports and imports, paper money expansion and war reparations then even the banker becomes confused. Collectors need not study the causes but he is surely interested in the results. To read foreign catalogues intelligently, to understand face values and to estimate values or prices translated into our money requires some understanding of foreign exchange. The new issue collector, knowingly or not, is a speculator in foreign exchange to quite a degree as the value of now current stamps is dependent on the fluctuations of exchange as long as the stamp is current. A stamp with a "face value" of ten cents to-day can easily cost in the foreign post office, within a month, twenty cents or five cents. The subject is therefore of greatest importance to the dealer who buys abroad and so far those that have "guessed right" are conspicuous in their absence. We wish here to warn all collectors from being led into any speculation in foreign exchange, particularly in connection with stamps, it has proved itself a poor proposition and there are conditions too lengthy to detail here that makes it almost certain to be a losing game. We append herewith a table which shows the standard coin of each country, its value in United States currency before the War and its value to-day. We hope to republish this from time to time and will be glad to advise our members as to any further details.—The Editor.

TWENTY-FOUR YEARS AGO.

The untimely death of our fellow member, Mr. Joseph B. Leavy, a devoted exponent of Philately and its literature, who had charge of the Government Collection at Washington, D. C., brings to mind the sale of his United States collection by The Scott Stamp & Coin Co. March 15th, 1897. The sale was a notable one for that time and the prices realized high for that period. We reprint a portion of the list of prices which was published in the American Journal of Philately at the time of sale. A perusal of the items proves that stamps are a prime investment in addition to the more important pleasure attached to their gathering and study. There are a few exceptions where no real advance in value has taken place, notably in the Reissues.

REPORT OF SALES MANAGER

FOR PERIOD ENDING SEPTEMBER 30th, 1921.

To the Board of Vice-Presidents
American Philatelic Society:

Following is my report for period
July 15th, 1921 to date.

On hand 7-15-21 at close of annual report:

Statement on retired books.

Sales ($8822.44)	$3,582.66
Insurance to Treas.	$114.80
Commision	447.03
Postage to members	23.98
Remitted to members	2996.85
	$3,582.66

While we are growing in the number and total value of the books entered, there seems to be a tendency to enter books of cheaper value than heretofore, many of which contain Neuropo at prices that will be many times the new catalog prices. There is always a sale for the better stuff but members cannot expect satisfactory and quick sales on this low priced new class, although some satisfactory results have been obtained.

Prospects for the season look bright, with renewed interest in the department being shown every day. Still there is a very small percentage of our membership actually taking advantage of the benefits of this great department. Nearly 90% of our Branches are now using the local circuits.

The department can use several hundred books of desirable U. S. stamps as well as a quantity of 19th century issues. There is also renewed demand for British Colonial stamps. Members should bear in mind that there is very little sale for damaged stamps, or seconds, as our members are buying for their collection, and want condition as well as class.

I am ready to serve the entire membership and would be glad to hear from any other members who want me to help them add to their collection in the SATISFACTORY WAY.

Fraternally,

J. E. GUEST,
Sales Supt.

PERU. Mr. J. Rachitoff has sent us a set of ten values issued July 28th, 1921 in celebration of the Centennial of Independence. With the exception of the 7c these are engraved by the American Bank Note Company, the seven cent being lithographed by Carlos Fabri of Lima, Peru. The designs bear portraits of the Generals and admirals who served under that famous South American patriot, San Martin in the war of Independence against Spain. The 7c bears the portrait of Lord Cochran an English Naval officer who on being expelled from the British Navy account an alleged speculative deal arising out of a fraudulent report of Napoleon's death, undertook to form a Navy for Chile and it was his ships that conveyed San Martin's army to Peru in Sept. 1820. In parenthesis we give the numbers of each value issued. The entire issue except the 5c value was sold out on July 31st, and the stamps are eagerly bought in Peru.

PORT SAID (391). The Paris printing of surcharge was issued in following values:

- 30m on 20c olive green

PORTUGAL (424). Further installment of the "Ceres" type:

RUSSIA (379). It appears that the day of free postal service as well as free railroad ride and street cars is over in Soviet Russia. We note listed in the "Philatelic Magazine" five values of Soviet Postage. The designs are strange to say all symbolic of labor. Stamps are oblong and inscribed "Pochta" and value in Russian characters only. The first four are lithographed while the 40 ruble is recess printed on water-marked paper. The government charges are given as 100 Rubles for an ordinary letter and 1000 Rubles for a registered letter. Telegrams are at 500 roubles per word.

- 1 Rouble ochre
- 2 Rouble brown
- 5 Rouble blue
- 20 Rouble dark blue

SOCIETY NOTES.

Pacific Philatelic Society Branch No. 3.

The September meeting of the Society was attended by seventeen members and three guests and as this evening had been reserved for the exchange of stamps, the members lost no time in bringing forth their duplicates for exchange with their brother members.

Several of the members brought individual rarities for exhibition purposes only, which they had recently secured for their collections. The most interesting ones shown were those belonging to Mr. Ross O'Shaughnessy. Among others he had some superb copies of the 1c and 2c Hawaiian numerals, also a splendid copy of that great rarity in California Revenues, the $10.00 Attorney-at-Law. Mr. O'Shaughnessy's copy is initialed "G. O." There are only about four copies of this stamp known, all initialed "G. W. W.", so this specimen with the "G. O." initials is probably unique. An item of interest to precancel collectors, which he also showed, was the $5.00 U. S. stamp of 1917, precancelled "Brooklyn, N. Y." Mr. Dillingham had on exhibition his collection of Austria and Denmark, particularly strong in the early imperforate issues.

Rubber City Stamp Club Making Rapid Strides.

With the recent admission of eighteen applicants, the membership of the Rubber City Stamp Club of Akron has been increased to a total of fifty.

Of the new members, L. C. Lovejoy, Jack Kepler, Lloyd Kessler, and Ferd. Brucker are from Akron; Silas Wetherby from Medina, and the following, who were granted associated membership, are of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club of Cleveland: Alvin Good, R. F. Malitor, J. W. Zink, E. S. Brown, F. Jansen, J. R. Runge, Otto Moses, Jas. J. Harris, Jr., L. A. Hanford, Mileham H. Lewis, M. J. Lloyd, A. Hosterheld, and W. A. Chamberlain.

A very enjoyable auction was held on September 28; seventeen members being present, the prices as realized, being considered exceptionally good.

Thru the efforts of President Heath of Rubber City, the members will have the privilege of seeing the block collection of Mr. Herman Boers of Detroit at the meeting of October twelve. Among the items of great interest, is a complete sheet of forty-five Parcel Post stamps of the seventy-five cent value; this lot having been used in actual payment of postage. Numerous blocks of the dollar value are also in the same collection.

Rubber City is now planning to celebrate its second "official" birthday on December twelve, and from present indications, the affair will bring philately to the attention of Akron collectors to a far greater degree than ever before.

A very interesting frame of stamps, depicting the history of the United States, has been prepared by Mr. Cornel Kmett of Rubber City and will be exhibited in different locations throuout Akron.

Messrs. D. R. Heath and O. S. Hart of Rubber City paid a recent visit to Canton (Ohio) in an effort to determine whether or not it would be possible to organize a club at that place. In conjunction with this, a request is made that brother philatelists, who may know of Canton collectors, communicate with either of these two men, addressing them at Room 600 of the Permanent Title Bldg., Akron, Ohio.—(Ernest Elwood Thoma, Director of Publicity).

An Old Timer

By SIVADAH.

Members of the A. P. S. who have been watching the reinstated column of the Secretary's reports will note among those of the "Old Guard" who have "come back" the name of Oney K. Carstarphen, 128 Broadway, New York. Mr. Carstarphen was President of the Philatelic Sons of America in 1896, President of the Colorado Philatelic Society in 1897, Vice President of the Colorado Branch #22 in 1907 at the time the convention was held in Denver. Up to 14 years ago Mr. Carstarphen was a resident of Denver at which time he left to engage in expert accountant work in New York City. About six years ago he was appointed Internal Revenue agent for the New York City Division on Income tax work for the Treasury Department. At the end of 1919 he became Tax Consultant in charge of the Tax and Statistical Division for the American Exchange National Bank, 128 Broadway, New York City.

Any member who is in a quandary in filing tax returns under the Revenue Act of 1921 or desires to file claim for refund or overpaid taxes for past years will find it worth while to get in touch with Oney.

Mr. Carstarphen writes that while he is not actively collecting at this time his heart is with the Pioneer Society and he wishes organized Philately, remembering the many to be identified with, and support, pleasant hours extracted from that hobby.

Members of the Old Guard will remember Oney as an enthusiast in whatever he applied himself, being in his younger days in Denver connected with Newspaper and Advertising business, he absorbed from his connection with this line of work, a broad minded outlook and an honesty of purpose which fits him admirably for his special line of work. Members who attend the Springfield Convention in August, 1922, will be able to renew an old acquaintance, and those of the new generation, a man and a hand clasp which will live in the memory long after.

YOUR WANT LISTS

Our stock is too large to attempt to offer here. Chances are we would not offer the items you want. Send us a list of stamps you want and if you can only spend up to a certain amount, tell us what your limit is. You get what you want and we do not tie up a lot of stock to no advantage. We will price and send what we can furnish. Prices will run about half list on the average. Some items more, others less according to cost, but you can be certain of a "fair price to you and us." Whether you spend $5. or $5000 we are at your service, and have one of the largest general stocks in the New World to select from. Many of America's leading collectors depend largely on us for their wants and we solicit a trial.

APPROVALS. A splendid line of books for anyone ready to spend at least $2. or more at a time, but when you have a country three-fourths complete, send us a want list, as there is small chance an approval book would fill your needs. Selections from a few dollars to entire collections for those ready to buy. List of books on request.

SPECIAL LISTS. Our special lists, sent out at intervals to our customers, offer we believe, the largest variety of better class stamps of any issued. Stamps that are "hard-to-get" and usually missing in collections. Lists are free on application.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLD. CANCELLATIONS

by HENRY C. HITT, A. P. S. 5555.

The stamps of British North America are highly popular and deservedly so as they are not too numerous, beautiful in design and rich in color with but few exceptions and outside of the recent Newfoundland airplanes and Canada Jubilees without the taint of speculation. In beauty the stamps of Prince Edward Island come last but their legion of minor varieties of paper, perforation, shade and plate varieties amply make up for this shortcoming.

These stamps are for the greater part more valuable used than unused which in itself works against their popularity. But more so does the difficult and puzzling cancellations prevent their wider specialization. In addition to a large variety of regular cancellations there are quite a number of ambiguous cork cancellations that the average collector leaves severely alone for fear that they may be faked. The stamps of early Japan, Heligoland, Bergedorf, Roman States and early Greece suffer similarly in popularity owing to the fact that none but the expert can readily solve their puzzles. The writer hopes in publishing this list to remove some of this cloud and trusts that other students will aid in making the list fully complete.

The bibliography of Prince Edward Island is fairly extensive including articles by the late E. D. Bacon in the North American Colony book of The London Philatelic Society; by Donald King in the Monthly Journal, by Pemberton in the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain in addition to the booklets by R. E. R. Dalwick, Brunel and Bertram Poole. Of these both Donald King and Dalwick cover the cancellations and I quote freely from both. Dalwick gives illustrations of most of his types but as they are very roughly drawn they are not of much value in making comparisons.

During the last year Messrs. J. M. Bartels Co. of New York acquired an accumulation of hundreds of used copies of these stamps, they having been saved by a resident of Prince Edward Island living at Summerside during the years of 1872 and 1873. Though the stamps are off cover there is no question as to their authenticity. It was thru the kindness of Mr. Bartels in allowing the writer to go through this large lot that this list was made possible. The lot is of course, account the late date it was made, not truly representative of the earlier cancellations and being made by one man they may not cover all the various offices. The chief puzzlers are however the cork cancellations which were introduced during the late sixties, so that, in view of the fact that the post offices could not have been very numerous, this list, combined with that of Messrs. Dalwick's and King's on the early issues, should be rather nearly complete.

Using the data of Dalwick and King I will give first what data we have on dates of the different types, referring by number to the illustrations herewith.

The first issue, the perforated nine of 1861 is usually cancelled with Type 1.

Dalwick further lists Types 2 and 3 as found on this issue while King says Type 5 was the only type except pen cancel found on this issue. As I have Type 3 on cover used before stamps I believe King has confused Type 5 with Type 1. All the other types other than the cork variety are probably to be found on the second pence and the cents issues excepting Type 21 which I have not so seen.

The cork cancellers, a cork on the end of a handle, were introduced in the late sixties and are generally found on the "cents" issue. Types 6, 29, 31 and 32 we find on "pence" copies and doubtless the other types may occasionally be so found even though they were introduced after that issue was out of use generally.

It is probable that there are a few additional cork types to those listed but the writer believes there can be but few as there could not have been many post offices in those days and even allowing for replacement we have quite a showing of these. All illustrations have been accurately traced from the stamps and most are incomplete as no attempt has been made to guess the missing parts.

LIST.

Type 1. Dalwick described this as "eight horizontal lines, measuring roughly, top to bottom 15 mm., center line 23 mm, top and bottom 14 mm long" and which he states was probably in use until 1868. The figure given is taken from a complete canceller in writers collection and is the only genuine cancel, except pen, that he has found on the perf nine, 1861 issue. Donald King states, "the earliest form was an unframed oval of ten or eleven bars measuring  $1\frac{1}{4}$  by  $\frac{3}{4}$  inches" "this is the only cancellation (except pen) that is found on the perf nine issue." This describes Type 5 but I believe he intended it to cover Type 1 as well. In the Bartels lot I found this canceller on the second pence issue as well as on the perf. nine issue.

Type 5. Similar to Type 1 but slightly larger, found on both the second pence and the cents issue. On the cents issue it is sometimes in red. The shade when clean is a clear brick red but as the canceller was evidently used in both colors many of the red cancellers are of a dirty rust shade.

Type 5a. I list this separately, following Dalwick, but study shows it to be the same canceller as Type 15 with two notches cut into it. As this Type (15) is common on the cents issue this cutting was done after 1872.

Type 6. Eight thick horizontal straight lines measuring about 15 mm high, found on the pence issue.

Type 8 and 8a. We find this on the 1862 pence issue and Donald King says it was used at Charlottetown and was uncommon after 1868. Dalwick says it was used in conjunction with Type 7. The figure 8a is no doubt the same as 8 but so gummed up with ink as to show the figures in white.

Type 9. A dated cancel which Dalwick gives a clear cut of. Donald King says this was used at Charlottetown and at the same time as Type 12.

Type 10. I have not seen this on the pence issue. Dalwick illustrates this but dated August 2, 1871, which is probably an early use.

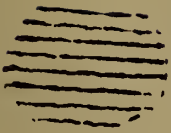

Type 12. Found generally on the cents issue but now and then on the second pence issue.

Type 13. This is one of the cork series and we find it in no less than three forms as shown, 13, 13a and 13b.

Type 14. This type Dalwick says was used with Type 13 but we have not seen it so used.

Type 15. This was changed as noted to 5a but is equally as common in this form.

Type 16. Reads "Summerside" "P. E. Island" with month and day date but no year date. Dalwick says the date is sometimes above the month. This type was sometimes used as a postmark in conjunction with another canceller.

The types so far listed are all of the types listed by Dalwick that I have found in the Bartels lot. Further reference will be made to the rest of the Dalwick list.

Type 20. This I found on a stamp with Types 5 and 6 and is a puzzler, can anyone explain this?

Type 21. This is described by Donald King as the rarest cancellation, the "Paid" having been in use before stamps. He says he has seen "Lot 11" "Lot 16" and "Tignish" in the upper section where we have "Summerside". The one specimen we found of this is on the 2d. 1862-65.

Types 22 and 23. We have found one specimen of each of these, the first on a one cent cancelled with a red pencil cross and the last on a three cent together with an indeterminate smudge.

Type 24. We have one specimen on 6c. Donald King describes a cover with this from Charlottetown used late in 1872.

Type 25. We have two specimens, both on 3c. Donald King describes this as rare.

Types 26 to 31. A variety of cork cancells of which Type 28 is rather common.

Types 32 and 32a. Donald King describes this as a combined type used in Charlottetown with postmark and only on pence issue. Our specimens, off cover, are in part also on cents issue and appear to be used separately as they are inclined at all angles and one is clear to the right of stamp and no postmark shows at left. The canceller was probably a tube with pieces of wood or cork inserted.

Type 34. Evidently a fiscal cancell, found on 1c.

Type 35. Found on one copy of 1c, similar no doubt to Type 10 but we do not know what the town is.

The types as listed so far are those found in the Bartels accumulation, the other types illustrated, Nos. 2, 3, 4, 7, 11, 17 and 19 are taken from Dalwick which are I believe not accurate, especially as to size. Dalwick does not mention the pen cancellations though Donald King says they are common, but though we found between 15% and 20% so cancelled in our large lot they were usually in addition some part of the other cancells. In view of the limited number of post offices and the large variety of cancellations we should think that pen cancells by themselves are uncommon. Pencil cancellations were also used in conjunction with the other types, Dalwick mentions a blue cross and our specimens include a red penciled cross on a 1c with Type 22 and a script W W on 2d. with Type 5.

Dalwick says his Types 2 and 3 were used on Perf. 9 issue. His Type 4 we have not seen nor does Donald King mention it. His Types 7, 11 and 19 we have also never seen. Dalwicks Type 17 is also described by King as being used on cents issue.

Donald King also describes many of the others we have listed and but one additional which he describes as being "three concentric rings measuring  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch and used on cents issue, used at Montague Bridge." This may be Type 14 with one ring not showing.

This concludes the data we have, obtained from Messrs. Bartels big find and also Dalwick's and Donald King's notes. The writer has in addition quite a number more which have been traced from copies seen in stock books, circuits, etc. which are not here included as in absence of definite information they are under suspicion. These are mostly of the cork type or of parallel bar type and it is highly probable that some of these are good. The writer will much appreciate information as to any of the types listed and especially as to new types which are substantiated by genuine covers.

By CARROLL CHASE.

(Editor's note:—The lists appearing on the following pages are a continuation of those issued in October and will be concluded in the December number. It is to be hoped that this list will be carefully studied and checked by those owning any of this interesting material and if any items are found not listed here that they will be sent to Dr. Chase, 1170 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y., for examination. It is highly important for future students and our philatelic record of the postal history of our country that every effort be made at this time to make such lists as these complete as possible.)

EDITOR'S COLUMN.

The "Philatelist" is the proper forum for the expression of philatelic thought by our membership and we hope to hear from those who have ideas in mind for the good of our hobby. We will always find room for a resume at least of such suggestions. One of our members, a leading member of the bar, recently suggested that it might be of value to publish a resume of the laws covering the problems that seem to vex and harass our convention body each year. The wisdom of this suggestion is apparent after reading the convention records of some years past and since the suggestion was coupled with an offer to undertake this work we can promise a "Philatelic Brief" before next convention time that will be authoritative and in so far as the present laws, final.

There are distinct advantages in using these columns for the discussion of ideas for the good of the order, the most obvious being that it reaches all the membership. Attendance on a convention is convincing that there is a need of prior discussion or at least suggestion on problems that will come before that body. This need is peculiarly exemplified in a written request to the last convention. It was to the effect that the Society be called upon to pay for counterfeit stamps found in the sales circuits. As worded this request was vague and necessarily rejected but the germinal idea aroused a new and disturbing line of thought in many members minds. A prior discussion of this might have resulted in some constructive action for the benefit of our hobby.

The subject of counterfeits has long been the bugbear of Philately and experienced collectors are well aware that though an exaggerated danger the subject is one that should have firmer handling than it now has. As far as our circuits go it is admitted to be practically impossible for either the Sales Examiner or Superintendent to catch every one in the circulating books. Nevertheless it is disturbing to think that any may be circulated or bought by our membership thru an agency of the Society and without any protection. The best suggestion we have heard in this connection, tho purely a negative one, is that our circuits contain a warning that the stamps are sold "as is" and that doubtful items should be submitted to the expert committee. Isn't it true that many are resold after having been so pronounced? These are old questions, subject to some perhaps bitter controversy, but peculiarly matters for organized philately to determine. If this matter should come up before the next convention what would you say or suggest?

As the Hinge to the Stamp, we hope to use this column to stick your ideas and desires into our blank spaces! Read it regularly and thru it make your thought of benefit to your fellow. And remember too that we value criticism and invite it.

REVIEWS.

Bushnell's Standard Precancelled Stamp Catalog (Part One) has been received from that enterprising publisher of Indianapolis, B. Gordon Bushnell. The states from A. to M. are listed in this 128 page booklet, each page of three columns and illustrated as to types. The immense amount of typographical detail speaks well for the patience and skill of the publisher. To those interested in this popular branch of collecting the book will undoubtedly be their "Standard" and well worth the price ($1.25) asked.

ENDLE'S DIRECTORY.

The thirtieth edition of this compact and handy reference work in listing thousands of dealers throughout the world reflects the tremendous growth of commercial Philately. The lists of Philatelic magazines and Societies are quite comprehensive there being 56 publications listed under United States and 84 Societies. Published by S. Utton, 74 Canterbury Rd., Croydon, England. (Price 2 sh. 6d.)

SYLVAN F. TROUNSTINE.

Mr. Sylvan F. Trounstone, a member of our Society, died at his residence, Ingleside Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio, on October 21st, 1921. Mr. Trounstone was in his sixty-fourth year and engaged in the insurance business. He was a member of the Masonic order, the Knights of Pythias and the Cincinnati Philatelic Society. Of a quiet and reserved nature he was nevertheless an active supporter of local Philately and never missed a meeting of local collectors. He is survived by his wife and one son whose great loss is also deeply felt by all those who knew this lovable and whole souled man.

H. S. POWELL, A. P. S. 3415.

From Mekeel's Weekly we learn of the death of Mr. Powell of Storm Lake, Iowa, so well known to the philatelic public by his famous "mission" mixtures. No particulars of his biography or death are given but we hope some friend will send in something that our Obituary Committee may include the same in their report next year. Mr. Powell joined the society in May 1909.

BRITISH GUIANA. Two values have appeared on the new script watermarked paper.

Champion's Monthly Bulletin.

CENTRAL AMERICA. We note in Mekeel's Weekly that on October 10th the Governments of Honduras, Guatemala and Salvador would cease to function and the Provisional Federal Council of the "Central American Federation" would assume control of the territory comprising these countries. It is expected that Nicaragua and Costa Rica will also join in near future. This would reinstitute the Federal Republic of Central America which as a whole liberated itself from Spanish rule in 1821 and was maintained as a unity until 1840. Tho this combination will undoubtedly reduce governmental overhead it will also reduce postal income derived from sales of stamps to collectors.

CILICIE. We note the issue of a stamp supposed to be used at Kilis. It is of the popular Oriental rug design, printed on "Cigarette" paper and perforated nine.

1 piaster violet

Champion's Monthly Bulletin.

We also find four airplane stamps, supposed to be used on the Adana-Alippo air route and are in form of an additional surcharge on the O. M. F. Cilicie stamps (heavy surcharge) reading POSTE PAR AVION in three lines surrounded by a frame.

3 cent red & yellow (Scott #358)

It is reported that the issue with "PROVISIONAL" inserted in tablet are all slightly different and can therefore be reconstructed.

60pf lilac (Black surcharge)

FINLAND. The Helsingfors issue is appearing in changed colors.

50pf. olive green.

Champion's Monthly Bulletin.

FRENCH COLONIES. Owing to increased postage rates and to conform to Postal regulations the 5, 10, 25 and 50 centimes are to be printed in new colors, this will no doubt bring about other color changes in other values.

Scott's Monthly Journal.

FRENCH OFFICES in China. A new value of current set has appeared, surcharge is similar to Scott's 865-871.

- 10 K. blue (40,000)

GERMANY. The three new high values have appeared, perforated 14 on lozenge watermarked paper. 5 mark brown orange.

10 mark carmine.

20 mark ultramarine and green.

5 Peso brown & green (Garcia Granados)

15 Peso black & orange (Puerte de la Penitenciaría)

Mekeel's Weekly.

HAYTI. It should be noted that the numerous Haitian surcharges (Scott's 235-310) are really United States Occupation stamps. All were issued under the supervision of the United States Post Master General in Haiti and a number are quite rare. When the United States took charge it was found that there were very few stamps of the usually required denominations on hand and it was therefore necessary to surcharge the higher values. The stamps most needed were the 1, 2 and 3 cent and 5 cent Gourde, a Gourde being 1-5th. of a cent. and these values were created by surcharging all the high values and even dues. The 1915-16 issue (Scott # 219-234 and 243-244) were never officially used or issued but a large quantity were stolen during a riot and those in dealers hands came from this lot.

HONDURAS. Mekeel's Weekly reports the appearance of the 1, 2 and 5c of the 1919 issue overprinted "Official" in black.

ITALY. The 30 cent. Special delivery has been surcharged "Lire 1,20". This comes also with comma between 1 and 20 omitted.

1 L. 20 cent. on 30 cent blue and red.

Champion's Monthly Bulletin.

JAPAN. Four stamps have been issued to commemorate the safe return of the Crown Prince from his trip abroad. As usual the two high (?) values are scarce.

- 1 ½ sen purple.
- 3 sen gray green.
- 4 sen rose.
- 10 sen dark blue.

LATVIA. Mr. Karl Koslowski has shown us the three new stamps of this country. These were issued to conform to Postal Union colors and were first issued to public October 7th, 1921. Printed at Gov't. Printing office at Riga in sheets of 400 on wavy line water-marked paper, perforated 11 ½. The design consists of the Latvian Coat of Arms.

- 2 Ruble green.
- 5 Ruble carmine.
- 10 ruble blue.

LIBERIA. We note the new handsome picture set with the addition of the earlier 2 and 3 cent (Scott 134-5) have received a surcharge of "1921." This includes the postage set, the official set and the registration set, 33 stamps in all. The sets were issued in 1921 and we suppose this surcharge was necessary to inform us of that fact. It only remains for this enterprising country to issue its postage and official sets like the registration, that is with different colors for each of the five small villages of the country.

LITHUANIA. Three new aeroplane stamps have been issued. Paper water-marked hexagons, perforated 11 ½.

- 1 auk. green and red.
- 2 auk brown and blue.
- 5 auk olive and yellow.

Champion's Monthly Bulletin.

The Journal Philatelique de Berne lists three new postage values, the 2 auk. with portrait of King Kestutes and the two others with design of Horseman at full gallop and Aurora Borealis for a background.

- 25 auk brown and green.

LUXEMBERG. Nine new postage stamps have been issued, Design is the same as 15 cent. carmine recently issued, a full faced portrait of the Grand Duchess Charlotte. Perforated 11.

- 2 cent. brown.
- 3 cent. gray olive.
- 6 cent. lilac.
- 10 cent. yellow green.
- 15 cent. brown olive.
- 25 cent. blue green.
- 30 cent. red.
- 40 cent. orange.
- 50 cent. blue.

Champion's Monthly Bulletin.

NICARAGUA. Mr. A. W. Dunning shows us the following values of the new Centenary set.

- ½ cent blue and black (Gen'l. Manuel Jose Arce)
- 1 cent green and black. (Jose Cecibro de Valle)
- 2 cent red and black (Miguel Sarreinaga)
- 5 cent ultra. and black. (Gen. Fernando Chamorro)
- 10 cent orange and black (Gen. Maximio Jerez)
- 25 cent yellow and black (Gen. Pedro Chamorro)
- 50 cent purple and black (Ruben Darro)

Mr. Dunning says this set will not be issued to the public until Dec. 23rd, 1921 on account of a revolution in the north. He also reports the 5 Peso Official (#1031) surcharged in black c VALE 0.02 same type as Scott's 343.

POLAND. A new 50 mark value has been issued. Design features large Polish Eagle in center. Perforated 10 ½.

- 50 Marks, red and buff.

RHODESIA. A change of color of the 2d. black to gray brown and black is reported. (Scott's #121).

- 2d gray brown and black.

Philatelic Magazine.

RUSSIA. Two additional values to the Soviet set announced last month have appeared. The 100 Ruble is symbolic of farming and the 250 ruble of Music. We note that the values chronicled last month were in issue but three days as the lowest postage rate was fixed at 100 roubles for a post card. We believe 250 roubles is about 1-20th of a cent at present. A registered letter is 1000 roubles which is some cheap postage.

- 100 roubles orange
- 250 roubles lilac gray.

Champion's Monthly Bulletin.

SPAIN. The twenty cent, Scott Type A 46 has been issued in a new color.

- 20 centavo violet.

LOCALS.

(Editor's Note:—Under this heading we will publish from time to time such local news as may be received from our members.)

CINCINNATI. Our genial President, Dr. Carroll Chase, spent the week of Oct. 13th-23rd in Cincinnati with Mr. Stanley Ashbrook as his host. The Doctor's visit was naturally a treat for local U. S. collectors who have always found in him a learned instructor as well as a charming guest. Mr. E. R. Jacobs came down from Chicago for a days visit, making this week a stellar one in local philatelic circles. Mr. B. K. Miller of Milwaukee had also intended to be present but was forced to delay his visit until the following week. Mr. Miller has done a tremendous amount of research work pertaining to official records concerning U. S. postal issues and has made a number of trips to Washington in search of data. Few, if any, of our members have devoted themselves to such a wide and comprehensive study of United States Postal matters and we hope that this material may sometime find its way into these columns.

CINCINNATI. [Mr. Rudolf Siegel, owner of a large stamp and auction concern in Berlin, Germany, stopped here for a day on his tour of the larger cities, to exhibit the auction lots of his first American sale which was to be held Nov. 3rd, 4th and 5th. This enterprising dealer also showed other fine material which will be auctioned at a later date.

EARLY POSTS IN AMERICA.

By George H. Beans.

I have recently taken up the collecting of Old Maps of the "New World" on one of which, dated 1715 but probably printed after 1732, I found the following curious account and which is given in the original spelling.

An Account of Ye Posts of Ye Continent of Nth. America as they are regulated by ye Postmasters Genl of ye Post House.

The Western Post sett's out from Philadelphia every Fryday leaving letters at Burlington and Perth Amboy and arrives at New York on Sunday night; ye distance between Philadelphia and New York being 106 Mil. The Post goes out Eastward every Monday morning from New York and arrives at Seabrook Thursday noon; being 150 Miles, where the Post from Boston sett's out at same time; the New York Post returning with the Eastern letters and ye Boston Post with the Western, Bags are dropped at New London, Stommington, Rhode Island and Bristol. The Post from Boston to Piscataway being 70 miles leaves letters at Ipswich, Salem, Marblehead and Newberry. There are offices kept at Burlington, Perth Amboy in New Jersey, New London and Stommington in Connecticut, at Rhode Island, Bristol, Ipswich, Salem, Marblehead and Newberry and ye 3 Great Offices are at Boston, New York & Philadelphia.

SOCIETY NOTES.

PACIFIC PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

Branch No. 3.

The 383rd regular meeting of this society was held on October 19th with twenty-four members and three visitors present.

The Society passed resolutions of sympathy and regret on the loss by death of that sterling Philatelist, Joseph B. Leavy of Washington, D. C., Curator of the Government stamp collection in the U. S. National Museum.

Mr. William Blackwell entertained the members present with his large and complete 20th Century Collection. Mr. Louis Lazarus and Mr. Dillingham also had several volumes on exhibit.

The differences in the Perkins Bacon and De La Rue printings of the triangular Cape of Good Hope stamps will be elucidated at our next meeting by our member Mr. Ross O'Shaughnessy, who will show all these issues properly classified.

Matt C. Dillingham,
Secretary.

GARFIELD PERRY STAMP CLUB.

Branch No. 30.

September Report.

The Garfield Perry opened the Season of 1921-22 with a well arranged program for every meeting in September.

September First nine members of the Rubber City Stamp Club were admitted into membership and the applications of four men of Sharon, Pa. were ordered posted. Not a bad start in the way of new members for a Season opening. A snappy contest that held the interest of those members present was arranged by Mr. M. J. Lloyd. On the second meeting night of the month an auction was held. Prices were fair to good. No entertainment was on tab for the third meeting night due to the sudden calling out of town of the member who was to have charge of this night. Maj. Harris exhibited his wonderful used collection of Twentieth Century Postage Stamps on the fourth night of September, the collection is rated as the finest of its kind in America and the exhibition held the interest of every member until the night watchman of the building felt that it was his duty to awaken the members to the fact that they had a home and that he would also like to lock the building for the night, so the meeting was ordered adjourned at about 11:15 P. M. On the fifth and last meeting night of the month Mr. Chamberlain exhibited his collection of Cancellations on the stamps of the United States.

October Report.

The entertainments booked for October brought out a good attendance every meeting night. The club started October with four new members and two applications for membership posted. For the first night a contest arranged by Mr. Young was on tap, and it was some contest. Two very fine examples of Amateur Photography were given as first and second prizes, and were won by Mr. Whitaker and Mr. Runge, the former taking first prize, and the latter taking second. A smoker and an auction was slated for the second meeting of the month. Prices on U. S. stamps were high but prices on foreign stamps were only fair, a 1c, 1857, cheap type but with a "DROP I" cancellation brought $1.70. The third night having been christened educational night and which night appears once a month was in the hands of Mr. Whittaker. Mr. Whittaker read a paper which told of some of his stamp hunting expeditions. As his expeditions took him to old County Court houses where old deeds and estate correspondence was hidden in vaults, he found that some Court house officials objected to his taking stamps off legal documents, the official claiming that such documents were of no legal value if the stamps were removed. Mr. Whitaker, not to be foiled and cheated out of possible booty in this manner had drawn a legal opinion of two prominent Cleveland lawyers on this question and proved through the medium of this opinion that documents with stamps removed were still valid and legal, thus removing a great stumbling block from future expeditions. For the last meeting of the month a collection of Covers before Postage Stamps was exhibited, the covers forming parts of the collections of Messrs. Young, MacLaren, Molitor, and Chamberlain.

W. J. Zink, Secretary.

CINCINNATI PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

Branch No. 46.

The regular monthly meeting of The Cincinnati Philatelic Society was held in room 313 Chamber of Commerce building on Sept. 28th, president Conzett presiding.

Twelve members were present and one visitor.

Application for membership was received from Mr. Bryant S. Daniels, seconded by the Secretary. Application having been endorsed by Membership Committee, same was put to vote and he was elected a member.

Several members gave interesting experiences while attending the A. P. S. convention.

Dr. Stuntebeck told about the social side and suggested that Cincinnati look ahead for an A. P. S. convention in the near future.

Mr. Fennel, Weis and Flerlage told about rarities in U. S. and old Europeans with the suggestion that U. S. Revenues and Match and Medicine be given more attention to the future.

Mr. Fennel gave an interesting account of sales of the Ferrari collection.

A formal vote of thanks was given Mr. Imfeld for his donation of books for the club collection.

A general discussion of future activities of the Club was indulged in.

The meeting then adjourned.

The regular monthly meeting of the Cincinnati Philatelic Society was held October 26 with 27 members present and 5 visitors.

Application for membership was received from Mr. A. C. Green—seconded by Secy. Same was referred to the membership committee.

On account of the death of one of our members, Mr. Syl. Trounstine, a committee was appointed—Mr. Millar and Dr. Tedsche, to draft a resolution for the club to be presented to his widow.

Further moved and seconded that a Committee of three be appointed to assist Mrs. Trounstine in disposing of a valuable collection of stamps. The Committee appointed was Messrs. Conzett, Fennel and Huntington.

Mr. Perry, a visitor, invited the Society to see a Radio set on exhibition after the regular meeting.

Mr. Kennett, one of the founders of this society and its first president, exhibited his specialized collection on "Old Mexico," accompanied by a most interesting and technical talk on errors, surcharges, etc.

An auction sale was held and every one left apparently well satisfied.

Claude Davis Millar, Secretary.

FRENCH STAMP COMPETITION

The jury appointed to adjudge the prizes for the designs of postage stamps (says a Reuter message from Paris) have selected six designs from among the seven hundred odd which were sent in, and have awarded to these the second and third prizes of 3,000 francs and 1,000 francs. The three first prizes of 10,000 francs were not awarded, as the jury considered that there was not one design which merited the highest award, and it is more than probable that the six designs receiving lesser prizes will never be put into circulation.

The three designs for which prizes of 3,000 francs were awarded show a magnificent cock in the act of crowing, the head of a Poilu in steel helmet, and a female head representing France in a winged cap with the head of a Poilu in the background. Two of the designs, to which 1,000 franc prizes were awarded also represent France by a Poilu, flags, and laurels.

The jury were agreed that a number of pleasing decorative compositions were sent in, but practically no original inspiration was evident, so that it seems likely that the present graceful design of the Sower will be retained. As one of the jury said, the present generation is well represented by the Sower, and the grain sown during the last few years has not yet ripened.

When the time for harvesting comes it will be time enough to adopt a new design for the French stamps. There is a movement afoot for the adoption of the famous group on the Arc de Triomphe known as the Marseillaise, executed by Rude, as a design for a new stamp.—(Manchester Guardian).

YOUR WANT LISTS

Our stock is too large to attempt to offer here. Chances are we would not offer the items you want. Send us a list of stamps you want and if you can only spend up to a certain amount, tell us what your limit is. You get what you want and we do not tie up a lot of stock to no advantage. We will price and send what we can furnish. Prices will run about half list on the average. Some items more, others less according to cost, but you can be certain of a "fair price to you and us." Whether you spend $5. or $5000 we are at your service, and have one of the largest general stocks in the New World to select from. Many of America's leading collectors depend largely on us for their wants and we solicit a trial.

APPROVALS. A splendid line of books for anyone ready to spend at least $2. or more at a time, but when you have a country three-fourths complete, send us a want list, as there is small chance an approval book would fill your needs. Selections from a few dollars to entire collections for those ready to buy. List of books on request.

SPECIAL LISTS. Our special lists, sent out at intervals to our customers, offer we believe, the largest variety of better class stamps of any issued. Stamps that are "hard-to-get" and usually missing in collections. Lists are free on application.

THE NINETY CENT 1860,

AND SOME ADDITIONAL REMARKS ON THE 24c AND 30c OF THIS ISSUE.

By STANLEY B. ASHBROOK.

A. P. S. No. 2497

F. R. P. S. L.

The issue of Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News for August 6, 1921 had two brief items that especially attracted my attention, one of which reads as follows: "Difference—In the course of a letter received recently, Mr. H. D. Armond takes occasion to say: 'Some years ago you had a description of a cover that had a used 90c 1857 on it, which you said was valued at some sum that I thought was preposterous at the time. In fact, an impression was made on my mind and so when upon finding a copy of "Our Catalogue" of 1895, among my stamp effects which I left at the old home, which I am re-visiting, I found the 90c 1857 listed at $7.50 new; $15. used and on letter quoted $25.00, I felt a sort of vindication."

We sought out our copy of "Our Catalogue," the co-operative book, which bears the rubber stamped inscription on the fly-leaf: "Souvenir A. P. A. Convention 1894, Niagara Falls. Compliments of R. F. Albrecht & Co." and sure enough the 90c of 1857 is priced at $25.00 on cover. However, we are sure that this price was an "estimated" or theoretical one and that a stock of the covers was not on hand; now the quotation would be twenty or for that matter forty times this old 1894 price.

The Philatelic Press has contained various references in the past few years to "covers bearing used copies of the 90c 1857" and has speculated over the possibility of a cover showing up some time with a used copy of the 90c 1869.

Mention was made of a cover bearing a used copy of the 90c 1857, in Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr.'s column in the issue (April 16, 1921) of Mekeel's Weekly as follows: "While in New York recently, Mr. Hugh M. Clark of the Scott Company showed me one of the choicest U. S. covers that it has been my pleasure to inspect for some time. The letter was sent from Boston to Cape Town and contained a magnificent copy of the 1857—90c blue, a fine 30c, a 10c and a pair of 1c making a $1.32 rate. The stamps could not have been in finer condition and were cancelled with the well known Boston "PAID" in black in circle. A piece of this character is of extreme rarity and I do not recall but two other pieces somewhat similar. In the Seybold sale held March 15th, 1911, there were two lots, Nos. 66 and 67, both of which contained copies of the 90c stamp. Where these covers are at present resting I cannot say. The first cover was described as containing a very fine 90c, a 24c, and a pair of the type I, one cent,—they were all used on the one cover from New York to Palmas, Canary Islands, and were cancelled May 11, 1861. The cover at the time was sold for $28.00 and today would bring many, many times that amount, for we have only learned to appreciate covers during the last few years.

Lot No. 67 was described as a large piece of the cover containing a vertical strip of three of the 90c, the center copy being described as creased, a horizontal copy of the 30c and a vertical pair of the 3c, making a $3.36 rate. Just think, a cover of this rarity at that time sold for only $35.00. The owners of the two covers above have a gold mine and I doubt whether any of their investments will ever prove as good. The first cover described comes from the well known Jacobs Collection of Chicago, which was recently purchased by the Scott people."

In Mekeel's Weekly of Oct. 15, 1921, Mr. Ward again refers to the "90c 1857" on cover as follows: "One of our foremost collectors has just returned from a short trip to Europe and has brought back some wonderful things with him, including such extraordinary items as a 90c 1857, on cover in combination with two lower values, a single 90c of the same series on the entire cover etc."

Mr. Luff in his book on "United States Stamps" mentions the fact that there were in the Post Office Department, a large quantity of stamps of the 1857-60 issue, at a period long subsequent to 1861, of which the majority had been found in Southern Post Offices, after the War and returned to Washington. He also mentions that one prominent dealer acquired 2,000 complete sets by indirect purchase, and another well known dealer was presented with 1800 sets, in return for his assistance in arranging the Government collection of stamps. All of these sets were in full sheets.

The writer sometimes wonders if these full sheets were the source of supply of all the present day copies of the 24c, 30c and 90c that bear beautiful red "Gridiron" cancels. Perhaps, kind reader, you may find one in your collection and if you do, you will probably note it has "full original gum."

Without any question, a used 90c 1860, and the writer of course refers to a copy bearing a genuine cancel, is one of the scarcest of United States Stamps of the General issues ("that were regularly issued").

It will be noted that the 90c stamp is referred to in all places above mentioned as the "90c 1857." This is a very common error as this stamp should be referred to as the "90c 1860" because it was not issued until August 1860.

A cover, (or letter sheet) bearing a used copy of the 90c 1860 is indeed rare. I have never seen but one, and it is the first item mentioned in Mr. Ward's remarks. This cover was discovered some eight years ago by Mr. E. R. Jacobs of Chicago and was in his collection purchased by The Scott Stamp and Coin Company last Spring.

This item is not an envelope, but a letter sheet and was the only one found in a batch of correspondence uncovered by Mr. Jacobs that bore a copy of the ninety cent stamp.

These old letters, all from Boston, were addressed to "Edwin Howland, Esq., Port Elizabeth, Cape of Good Hope," and covered a period from 1858 to 1862.

During this period, the letters show the single rate to the Cape was 33c, the double rate 66c and the quadruple rate $1.32.

Several covers in the lot contained stamps of the 1857 issue making up single and double rates; others, stamps of the 1861 issue showing the single and double rates, and some few were covers "without stamps" showing the single, double and quadruple rate.

It is sad we cannot publish herewith an illustration of the above 90c cover for as Mr. Ward remarked, "The stamps could not have been in better condition," however a full description follows.

The cover was mailed from Boston, July 16, 1861 and bears the following stamps from right to left across the top: A ten cent 1857, Scott's Type II, a ninety cent and thirty cent 1860, and a pair of Type V, one cent 1857. quite a neat little display and making a total of $1.32 face value.

The stamps are lightly cancelled in black, three times, with one of the well known Boston Paid cancels, in circular gridiron (large type). On the face of the cover, in red pencil, are the figures 1.12 with a line underneath and below the line the figure 4.

The rate was quadruple on account of its weight, as the letter inside mentions the enclosure of some drafts, etc.

Also on the face of the cover is the London transit postmark in red and dated July 27, 1861. On the reverse, the "Boston British Packet" postmark in red and dated July 16, (1861), also "Cape Town Cape of Good Hope". also "Port Elizabeth C. G. H.", both of these in red but dates not legible.

In blue, is handstamped "Lasigi Goddard & Co., Boston" and in red pencil is written 1.12.

The figure 4 under the 1.12 on the face of the cover refers to the quadruple rate. As all of the letters of this correspondence were carried by British ships, more than likely the red pencil figures refer to the amount paid the British, for on a cover from this lot bearing a 30c and 3c 1861 are found the figures 28. Evidently on this (1861) single rate letter the British were paid 28c and our Government 5c.

Another double rate cover bears two copies of the 30c and two copies of the 3c 1861, with pencil figures of 56.

Quite a few 90c 1860 copies exist today with fraudulent cancellations and in some cases, it is difficult to distinguish the difference between a genuine black cancel and a black fake, because of the deep blue shade of the stamp.

The ninety cent value was used almost exclusively to prepay heavy foreign rates and as it was in use only about one year its rarity in used condition is accounted for.

The "24c, 30c, and 90c Imperforates."

The "Weekly" of August 6, 1921 contained the following by Mr. Ward: "I had the pleasure recently of examining each one of two pairs known of the 24c and 30c imperforate unused of the issue of 1860. These are often classified as the issue of 1851 but they rightly belong to the later series for they are on the same paper. There have been rumors for a long time that a part of a sheet of the 24c is known but if it exists, its present whereabouts is unknown. It is a coincidence that both pairs of these 24c and 30c stamps, which have been off of the market for years, should have changed hands within the last couple of months. I have never heard of the existence of a pair of the 90c although it may exist."

Under date of August 13, 1921, Mr. Ward further referred to these stamps as follows: "In my chronicle for last week I mentioned the fact that the only two pairs known of each of the 24c and 30c issue of 1860 had changed hands. Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer tells a little tale about one of the pairs that is well worth repeating. It seems that some years back a Chicago collector picked up some of these pairs of the 24c as proofs and paid but a few cents for them. Mr. Wolsieffer sent them to St. Louis for Mr. Tiffany's inspection and he pronounced them the real thing and stated that they were the only ones he had ever seen and consequently mentioned them in his wonderful book on the strength of this pair. These were later purchased by Mr. Alex. Holland and he had them with him some years later while he was on the coast visiting Mr. Crocker. When going over Mr. Crocker's collection he found a pair of the 30c but no 24c. One of them mentioned that these two pairs, then thought to be unique, should surely be in the same collection and it was proposed that a coin be tossed to decide as to who should have the two. Mr. Holland was the lucky winner and the two pairs remained in his collection until it was sold sometime later in Europe. The pairs were later offered to Mr. Worthington but evidently were not purchased, for he did not have these varieties when his collection was broken up. I am under the impression this is the pair that finally reached the Taylor collection."

The above notes by Mr. Ward are quoted in full and were of especial interest to the writer, for the reason that these three so called stamps (the 24c, 30c and 90c Imperforates) have been the subject of some study on my part, and I have arrived at the following conclusion regarding them.

I most certainly do not think the 24c, 30c and 90c imperforates were ever "regularly issued," that they are not "imperforate errors," in fact, are not regular United States Postage stamps and hence should not be listed in the Standard Catalogue as major varieties. This conclusion on my part will no doubt cause some discussion and difference of opinion and in anticipation of same, I will present what information I have, tending to prove and disprove the legitimacy of these so called Imperforates that "were issued in 1860."

By referring to the Catalogue we find these three stamps listed under, and following the 1851 imperforates, but under the date of 1860. One would infer from this arrangement that the three values were regularly issued as a part and parcel of the 1851 Imperforate issue, but these three values did not make their appearance until 1860. These three items are priced as follows, in the latest edition of the catalogue, the 24c at $200.00, the 30c at $400.00 and the 90c at $800.00.

Perforation was adopted in 1857 and was in general use by the fall of that year. I will cite a few examples to show that no other stamps of the 1857 Perforated issue were issued imperforate in 1861, or 1860, or 1859, or 1858.

Plates 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 of the One Cent stamps were made after perforation was adopted, however, no imperforates are known to exist from these plates. The common Type V of the One Cent comes from Plates 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10, yet no one has ever heard of an imperforate pair of the Type V except as India paper plate proofs to my knowledge. Likewise, stamps from plates of the Three cent made for the perforated issue, are unknown in imperforate condition.

This also applies to the Five cent plate two, the ten cent plate two and the twelve cent plate three, all of which were made after perforation was adopted.

Plate two of the Ten cent was made in the Spring of 1859. It produced the Type II stamps as listed under the 1857-60 series in the Standard catalogue.

This plate was used almost exclusively during 1860 and the first six months of 1861, yet no imperforate stamps are known from this plate. Did the Government order any Imperforate stamps in 1860? As far as we know from the records, they did not. Why, issue in 1860, imperforates of the three high values and no imperforates in this year of the smaller values?

We find under the 1902-3 series the one cent, two cent and five cent stamps were issued in imperforate sheets, but we do not find any of the higher denominations imperforate. If there was no demand for high value imperforates at this late date why any reason for the high value imperforates in 1860?

Perhaps some will say these values were not purposely issued in imperforate condition but are in reality Imperforate errors, that is, sheets of stamps, which, through error missed the Perforating machines, and were delivered to certain Post Offices and thus placed on sale to the public. Strange indeed that these errors should only occur in the stamps of the three highest denominations. If imperforate errors why do we not find the same in the other lower values?

We find for the year ending June 30, 1861 there were delivered to Postmasters a total of 151,223,056 of the Three cent stamps. During this same period were delivered 650,600 of the 24c, 340,000 of the 30c, and 24,280 of the 90c. Not an "imperforate error" is known from the above large number of three cent stamps. But what appeals to me as the best argument against the "Imperforate error" theory is the following:

Philatelic experts of the past and present claim they can always tell genuine "imperforate" copies of the 24c, 30c and 90c by the "peculiar shade." Take for example the 30c value—submit a copy to one of our recognized experts and he will no doubt tell you that the copy, (if a trimmed specimen) is not genuine because the shade is wrong. We are told this value "imperforate" only exists in a shade known as "Brown Orange." This is truly wonderful, for it is the convincing proof which permits of no argument, but let us analyze this convincing bit of proof. If the 30c imperforate is an imperforate error, why, may I inquire is it only found in one particular shade, and why, are the "regularly issued" perforated stamps unknown in this particular brown orange shade? Mr. Luff in his book on U. S. Stamps describes a 30c Imperforate on cover which was purchased by Messrs. Morgenthau & Co. in the summer of 1899, in part as follows: "It is printed in the peculiar brown orange shade in which the imperforate copies are always found."

Mr. Luff lists the 24c, 30c and 90c as imperforate, giving shades as follows:

24c—Gray Lilac

30c—Brown Orange

90c—Indigo

Under the same heading is listed these values perforated in the following shades.

24 Cents—Bright Lilac

Lilac

Gray Lilac

Gray

Slate

Blackish Violet

Dull reddish lilac.

30 Cents—Yellow Orange

Orange

Red Orange

90 Cents—Indigo

Dark Indigo

It will be noted no mention is made of a brown orange for the 30c perforated stamps.

The writer has presented some arguments herewith tending to disprove the legitimacy of these so called Imperforates. In presenting the other side of the argument, no better authority could be quoted than Mr. Luff in his book. He has the following to say regarding the "Imperforates."

"The design for a stamp of the value of twenty-four cents was approved on April 24, 1856. Following this approval the Plate was made and the stamps printed and gummed. (Note by the writer—A plate for the 24c was undoubtedly made in 1857 but I seriously doubt if any stamps were printed and gummed. If so, this batch were evidently not delivered to the Post Office Department. The records prove the color for the 24c stamp was not selected until June 1, 1860.)

We can, however, find no record that when they appeared perforated. But they were issued until June 1860, imperforate specimens in pairs and blocks are well known and the existence of nearly an entire sheet in this condition is reported on excellent authority. I have seen two imperforate copies used on the original envelopes. The Imperforate thirty and ninety cent stamps of this series have been much discussed. One thing, at least cannot be denied, that is, that they exist genuinely imperforate, not trimmed, since they are in pairs and strips. They are on the same paper as the perforated copies and have gum. A well known Philatelist makes this statement: "I, myself, bought a thirty cent orange, imperforate, at the New York Post Office in 1860, and I distinctly remember having used one on a letter containing some photographs." The important evidence in favor of this stamp is furnished by a copy which was purchased by Messrs. Morgenthau & Co. in the summer of 1899. This copy is on a letter sent from New York to Lyons, France. The cancellation covers a large portion of the stamp and is dated October 2nd, 1860. The stamp has fine margins on three sides and shows a portion of the adjoining stamp at left. It is printed in the peculiar brown-orange shade in which the imperforate copies are always found. It establishes, beyond doubt, the use of the thirty cent stamp in imperforate condition. There was a cancelled copy of the imperforate ninety cents in the Hunter collection.

Beyond question or contradiction, these three values, twenty-four, thirty and ninety cents, exist imperforate. (Note by writer—Mr. Luff is right, such items do exist, and also such items exist as the "3c Lake of 1861" Scotts # 66 and 66A and the "3c Scarlet" of 1862-66, Scotts 74 and 74A, but the catalogue this year, for the first time, informs us that such items (66, 66A, 74 and 74A) "Were not regularly issued").

Mr. Luff concludes his paragraph as follows: "It is however my opinion that they do not constitute a part of the 1851-55 series but are varieties of the 1857-60 series which have escaped perforating. I shall place them under that heading."

Mr. Luff's book was published nearly twenty years ago—my copy bears the date of 1902.

Under the 1857-60 chapter, Mr. Luff in describing "shades and changelings" makes the following comments: "I am not certain that the twenty-four cents in dull reddish lilac was ever issued as a stamp. I have seen copies, both imperforate and perforated in old collections of proofs and essays and I am inclined to think it belongs in that category rather than among stamps.

I have, however, no positive evidence to confirm this belief. (Note by writer—the use of black face type above and following does not appear in the original text.) In addition to the above stamps and varieties the thirty cents is known printed in black. It is imperforate and on the regular paper. This has usually been regarded as a proof. But Mr. Francis C. Foster states that at the time he obtained his copy, he was told that it was a stamp and had been in use, and that shortly afterwards he made inquiry at the Washington Post Office and was informed that it was actually on sale at that office for a few days, but because the cancellation did not show up well, the color was changed. However, it must be remembered that the twenty-four cents also exists in black identical with this thirty cent in shade and paper. And copies of the five, twenty-four and ninety cents are known in various colors, imperforate and printed on the regular paper. It has never been claimed that these latter varieties are anything but proofs in trial colors."

Here indeed is a nice mess. The thirty cent imperforate on regular paper printed in a brown orange shade—a shade unknown in the perforates—is listed as a major variety, a regular United States Postage Stamp and numbered #38 and priced at $400.00 in the Catalogue. On the other hand, this same stamp from the same plate and printed in black but mind you on regular paper cannot be considered other than a "proof," and this in spite of the fact the 30c was originally ordered printed in black by the Post Office Department, and a large number printed in the approved black color, selected by the Department, but before delivery by the Contractors the color was ordered change to "Orange Buff." The 30c blacks cannot be considered otherwise than "stamps prepared for use but not perforated and issued."

Why, may I inquire, if the 24c Orange imperforate is entitled to a listing in the Catalogue along side of other regular imperforates, such as the 5c and 10c 1847, the 1c, 3c, 5c, 10c and 12c "1851 issue," why not list the 5c 1851 in various colors, the 24c in an array of colors, and the 90c likewise?

The correspondence between the Post Office Department and the Contractors, Toppan, Carpenter & Co., relating to the issuance of the 24c, 30c and 90c 1860 has appeared in the past in several Philatelic publications, but for the benefit of those who have never seen this correspondence, I am reproducing it in full.

In the first letter of the series it will be noted Mr. Zevely states he understands there is on hand a 24c plate and he requests samples be submitted so the color could be selected.

Correspondence Between Toppan, Carpenter & Co. of Philadelphia, the Stamp Makers, and the Office of the Third Assistant Postmaster-General, 1860.

Post Office Department,

Messrs. TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen:

I have your telegraphic dispatch, stating that you can furnish "Twenty-four-Cent" stamps within three weeks after receiving an order.

Having understood that there is on hand a plate for this denomination, I supposed you might be able to prepare stamps on much shorter notice.

There is urgent necessity for a speedy supply, especially in the larger cities, growing out of recent orders to pay all postage in stamps. What the actual demand will be I cannot foretell, but suppose it will in a short time amount to ten millions (10,000,000).

So soon as your samples come the colors will be selected, and I trust you will be able to deliver at least a small supply for Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore within a week.

Very respectfully, &c., &c.,

A. N. ZEVELY,

Third Assistant P. M. General.

Philadelphia, May 30, 1860.

A. N. ZEVELY, Esq.,

Third Asst. P. M. General,

Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

Your telegram was received afternoon today and we answered immediately to the effect that we could furnish the new stamps within three weeks after the order was given. Very fortunately we have a plate ready to print at once, and the principal causes of delay will be found only in the printing, drying, gumming and perforating, all of which require considerable time. In anticipation of the use of this new stamp we have experimented in various colors to obtain one at once distinct from those now printed and which will also afford the proper degree of relief and excellence to the engraving. The new color must be a shade deeper or weaker of those now used, and the yellow affords the most striking contrast with the black, brown, blue, green and red. Yet we would regret to have the Department determined on this tint, as it affords the least beauty, effect and protection to the stamp.

The Twenty-four-Cent will, we suppose, be principally used on foreign postage, and it is desirable that it should have every advantage which art can give. Moreover, as it is the most valuable stamp, it should be the best protected. It is accordingly engraved in the finest style, and a dark color would be the best to print with.

We submit samples marked respectively Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8. Nos. 1, 2, and 3 are colors now used, though presenting shades of difference in this stamp owing to the fine surface it presents for the ink. We suggest respectfully that the purple, or lilac, sample marked "No. 4" gives perhaps a sufficient contrast with the colors now in use, while it is dark enough to bring out the engraving. The yellow samples, "Nos. 5 and 6," we furnish that you may see how great are the objections to them. The work is not relieved at all and the hue is abominable. "No. 7" is a buff, which can be deepened if desired. An objection to all yellows is found in the similar color of the envelopes now in use; the contrast is lost between the stamp and the envelope. "No. 8" is an orange, which verges closely on the tint of the Three-Cent stamp.

No. 4, the purple or lilac, is distinct from the others and bears a slight resemblance only to the Five-Cent stamp, which is of all the stamps the least used, and hence rare occasions for mistake between the two colors could occur. We are aware that the clerks at the various post offices look at the color more than at any other mark of the stamp, but we submit that a very little attention on their part would prevent an error in the office, while this dark hue of the stamp would be a powerful protection in its general circulation.

Trusting you may be enabled to decide upon a color which will please you, we remain,

Very respectfully, your obedient servants,

TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.

Post Office Department,

June 1, 1860.

Messrs. Toppan, Carpenter & Co.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen:

Your letter of 30th ultimo with samples of Twenty-four-Cent postage stamps was duly received.

The lilac shade (No. 4) seems the best, although it is scarcely distinctive enough when compared with the Five-Cent stamps now in use.

The Postmaster General wishes you to furnish such stamps at the earliest day possible, taking care to preserve the most marked difference between the tints of the lilac and those of the Five-Cent stamps.

How soon could you prepare two new rates—say, Fifteen and Thirty, and what colors would be best?

Very respectfully, &c.,

A. N. ZEVELY,

Third Assistant P. M. General.

Philadelphia, June 1, 1860.

A. N. ZEVELY, Esq.,

Third Asst. P. M. General,

Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

Your esteemed favor of the 30th ult. is only at hand this morning and we reply at once to its contents.

You will observe from our letter of the 30th ult. that the delay in preparing the stamps arises chiefly from the time consumed in the drying, gumming and perforating. We think, however, that we can have about four hundred thousand stamps ready for delivery in about two weeks from date of the order to print. The more time allowed us the better we will be enabled to meet this demand. We have on hand about eight hundred thousand ($800,000) Twelve-Cent stamps and can thus accommodate the orders for large denominations of stamps until the sheets of Twenty-four Cents are ready to fill all orders without interruption. You may depend upon every effort being made to aid the Department in this sudden emergency. In the meanwhile we await your decision respecting the color to be used.

Very respectfully, your obedient servants,

TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.

(Note—Attention is called to the mention made in the following letter of a "specimen sheet." In letters to follow it will be noted these "specimen sheets" were on "regular postage paper." It is very evident all of the so-called 24c, 30c and 90c "imperforates" originated from these "specimen sheets.")

Philadelphia, June 4, 1860.

A. N. ZEVELY, Esq.,

Third Asst. P. M. General,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

Your favor of the 1st inst. is duly received and its contents command our careful attention.

We are pleased to know that you have adopted the LILAC COLOR; and we think that we have finally obtained in accordance with your wishes, an admirable and distinct shade, preserving a very marked difference between the new stamp and the Five-Cent rate. We inclose a specimen sheet, and advise you that we have put the plate to press so that no delay may occur. It is our sincere hope that this hue of lilac may meet with your approval.

Ten or twelve weeks, at least, would be required to get up a new stamp. Indeed, the unavoidable delay attendant on the completion of such a stamp would be so material that we feel no hesitation in making a suggestion which, if adopted, will aid the Department in an important manner to economise time. Some years ago, when it was designed to have carriers' stamps, a head of Franklin was engraved considerably less in size than that now used on the One-Cent plate, while the general ornamentation and design differs considerably from this latter stamp. This carriers' stamp has never been used and presents therefore all the advantages of one entirely new. The words "Carriers' Stamps" above and below (as per inclosed sample) could be taken out on a new die; "Thirty Cents, U. S. Postage," engraved in their place and various little changes made. New plates could thus be gotten ready in a fourth of the time necessary to design and finish an entirely original stamp. In recommendation of this suggestion we state respectfully that we do not think the Department will lose in anything, while it will economise time greatly, and thus accomplish an important object in putting the new stamp into circulation.

In connection with this subject let us also state that the Eagle carrier stamp has been comparatively unused; but one post office (at Cincinnati, Ohio) making occasional demands for a small supply. This stamp now almost useless—we have not printed it for years—could be altered and made to answer for the Fifteen-Cent rate. The distinct nature of its design renders the necessity of being printed in a new color less obvious.

We submit the buff color of the inclosed specimen as the best, perhaps, for the Thirty-Cent stamp. This, or a shade of this color, has never been used. We will be pleased to learn whether you deem it probable that there will be sufficient necessity for the new rates to authorize their adoption by the Department. The Thirty-Cent rate would be doubtless much more required than the Fifteen, as this latter can be so readily made up of a Ten and Five or a Twelve and Three-Cent.

Very respectfully, your obedient servants,

TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.

We inclose also a specimen sheet of the Eagle carrier stamp printed in orange. This stamp is not adapted to perforation in its present form. This could, however, be arranged. The size of the stamp must, in any case, be increased.

Very respectfully,

T. C. & CO.

(Note—Why is the Eagle carrier not listed in the Catalogue in an Orange shade? Beyond question or contradiction this did exist imperforate, printed in Orange and on regular postage paper. Such a listing would be just as legitimate as the so called 1860 Imperforates.)

Gentlemen:

Your letter of the 4th instant with inclosures is received.

Please alter the "Carriers' Stamp" with the head of Franklin, by inserting the words—"Thirty Cents, U. S. Postage," with "various little changes," as proposed by you. Submit specimens of the impressions in the buff colors which you recommend, and the Postmaster General will then decide whether the stamp will answer.

My estimate as to the probable demand for the "Twenty-four Cents" stamps was rather high, as it is hoped to reduce the British postage rates.

The "Fifteen Cents" stamps will not now be ordered.

Very respectfully, &c., &c.,

A. N. ZEVELY,

Third Assistant P. M. General.

Third Asst. P. M. General,

Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

Your favor of the 8th inst. is duly received and contents noted.

We have the honor to submit inclosed design for the Thirty Cents stamp for approbation of the Post Master General. We have sought to make it superior in beauty and finish to any of those now used, and we hope that we have succeeded. As soon as we have instructions to proceed with this design we will put it in hand and furnish impressions at the earliest practicable moment. It is our present belief that we can use one of the positive colors now printed for this stamp and preserve at the same time such a marked difference in the appearance of the stamp as to prevent its being confounded with any of the others. We will be better able to decide this when the impressions are fairly contrasted.

Begging you to return this design if approved, we remain,

Very respectfully,

TOPPAN, CARPENTER & C.

(Note the request by Mr. Zevely in the following letter for "specimen impressions".)

Gentlemen:

Your letter of 10th instant with design for the Thirty Cents postage stamp is received.

The Postmaster General approves the design and requests you to execute it and furnish specimen impressions at the earliest practicable moment, the demand for the same being urgent.

It is also considered necessary to have a stamp of the denomination of Ninety Cents—not only to suit that particular rate of postage, but to prepay packages to the amount, sometimes, of several dollars. For this stamp the Postmaster General desires the head of Washington, and I need not suggest to you the importance of expending upon it all the talents you can command in respect to designing, engraving and coloring. Please to say how soon specimens may be expected. Also, report so soon as the Twenty-four-Cent and Thirty-Cent are ready.

Very respectfully, &c., &c.,

Dear Sir:

Your favor of the 12th inst., covering design for the Thirty Cents stamp, is duly received.

We will immediately carry out your instructions touching this stamp, and you may depend on our most earnest efforts to furnish impressions at an early period. Your remarks concerning a new Ninety Cents stamp command our attention and we will endeavor to meet the wishes of the Postmaster General to his entire satisfaction. We have now, as you are aware, three distinct heads of Washington on the Three, Twelve and Twenty-four Cent denominations. Trumbull's picture of Washington is probably the best we can now obtain; and we will submit the new design as soon as possible to the Postmaster General. Of course, nothing will be spared to produce a new stamp equal in all respects, if not superior, to any now in use.

We are happy to say that three hundred and ninety thousand (390,000) stamps of the Twenty-four-Cent rate will be ready next Friday, 15th inst.

Very respectfully,

TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.

Can you furnish me with a few specimens of each kind of postage stamp that you ever made, either for circulation or as mere patterns—not including those now in circulation?

A. N. ZEVELY.

Philadelphia, June 25, 1860.

A. N. ZEVELY, Esq.,

Third Asst. P. M. General,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

Your favor of the 21st inst. is received and in reply thereto we would respectfully state that we have no designs for postage stamps other than those formally adopted by the Department and now in circulation. The two carriers' stamps, viz.—head of Franklin and Eagle—were deemed unnecessary; and the former was not used, while the latter was used only as city postage in Cincinnati. Impressions of both of these were forwarded you on the 4th inst. Our original designs, having been prepared with much care and in due accordance with instructions, were adopted for circulation, and hence there has been no occasion for drawings and engravings beyond these.

We have the honor to inclose an impression of the new Thirty Cents rate, which we hope will be found perfectly satisfactory. We deem it the handsomest stamp gotten up, while striking and valuable distinctions are shown from the others now printed. Indeed, we recommend earnestly the propriety and advantage of printing it in black, whereby the contrasts are made stronger and the beauty of the engraving better defined. The Twelve-Cent stamp now printed in black is so different in design that there can be little or no danger in confounding it with the inclosed specimen which we think unmistakable. We have taken the liberty of altering the original drawing somewhat, so as to introduce the numerals "30" at the bottom in place of the word "Cents"; which change will, we sincerely hope, meet with the approbation of the Post Master General, as it is undoubtedly a great improvement, adding to the distinctive character of the stamp, while its artistic beauty and finish are enhanced. We hope to have a plate of this new denomination ready for the press early next week.

The design for the Ninety Cents stamp is progressing as rapidly as possible; and we hope, in the course of a few days, to submit it for examination and approval. Having the best talent and skill employed in the preparation, we shall be much disappointed if it will not favorably bear the most trying comparison with any stamps yet issued.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servants,

TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.

Philadelphia, June 26, 1860.

A. N. ZEVELY, Esq.,

Third Asst. P. M. General,

Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

Upon further consideration of your favor of the 21st inst. we deem it possible that your inquiry has reference, perhaps to specimens of stamps of the same rates as those now used. Of these there are several which bear more or less resemblance to the designs adopted by the Department, but they were never taken up and transferred to plates. The original bed pieces, in a more or less finished condition, have been carefully packed away in our private vault, but we will, of course, be happy to furnish you with a few proofs of them taken as soon as possible.

We have now the honor to submit inclosed a proof impression of the finished new Thirty Cents stamp, of which an imperfect dry impression was sent you yesterday. It is certainly much handsomer and superior to any known to us, and we trust the Department will recognize therein our earnest desire and perfect ability to preserve the good opinion which it has been our happiness to obtain in the past.

Very respectfully,

Gentlemen:

Your letter of 26th instant with inclosed specimen of a "Thirty Cents" stamp is received.

Please notify me when you will be ready to fill orders.

Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

Your favor of the 27th is duly received and we are very happy to learn that the Postmaster General approves of the new Thirty Cents stamp. We are now transferring a plate of this denomination and hope to submit a proof impression for examination on the 2nd prox. The Postmaster General can then decide upon our recommendation that the stamp be printed in black.

Inclosed we have the honor to send your four impressions of designs originally made for the Three-cent plate, but laid aside for that now in circulation. We think the large head of Washington very fine and striking. The whole size of the engraving is larger than the size adopted; but the oval wherein the head is engraved is of the same dimensions as that inclosing the Franklin head of the One-Cent rate. The other head with the three different frames, was objected to, if we remember rightly, on the score of its smallness. You will understand that no plates are transferred of these designs; nor are these impressions as perfect as first proofs. They may serve your purpose, however, as expressed in your favor of the 21st inst. In this hope we remain,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servants,

Dear Sir:

We have the honor of submitting inclosed part of a proof sheet of the new Thirty Cents stamp. We inclose also an impression (half sheet) of the Twelve Cents plate that the Postmaster General may contrast the two and decide upon the propriety of printing the Thirty Cents in black.

We have sought to make a distinct design that the mere distinction of color might be unnecessary, and we now await the orders of the Postmaster General in favor of our suggestion that black should be used. However, we will be happy in any case to carry out his wishes.

Very respectfully,

Messrs. Toppan, Carpenter & Co.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen:

The Postmaster General, relying upon the distinct design for the Thirty Cents stamp as obviating the necessity of a distinctive color, and approves your suggestion to print them in black.

The chief objection to this color arises from the greater difficulty in canceling them.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
A. N. ZEVELY.

Philadelphia, July 11, 1860.

A. N. ZEVELY, Esq.,
Third Asst. P. M. General,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

We are reluctantly obliged to stop printing the Thirty-Cent stamp until further advice from the Postmaster General. We find that the objection to black, arising from the difficulty of canceling the stamp, is likely to prove more serious than at first apprehended; and in order to give you a definite idea of this difficulty we inclose a half sheet of the denomination specified. The body of color is deeper and more generally diffused than is advantageous for cancellation.

We believe that the inclosed buff tint could be more advantageously printed than any hue of yellow, and canceling such a stamp would be easy and thorough. We have printed already a large number in black but we will readily submit to the loss in case the Postmaster General sees proper to order the buff color in its place. In such a case we can readily print the Ninety-Cent in black if it be acceptable, as we suppose the use of this rate will be comparatively limited.

Very respectfully,
TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.

(It will be noted "a large number" of the new 30c design were printed in black, but no records exist to show that any of these "30c blacks" were delivered to the Post Office Department, other than the "trial color" sheets or "specimen sheets.")

Third Asst. P. M. General,
Washington, D. C.

Sir:

We have the honor to inclose a proof impression of the new Ninety Cents stamp, which is respectfully submitted for the approval of the Postmaster General.

We have sought to present as striking a difference in this design from the others as could be well introduced in a drawing of such certain fixed dimensions; but, aside from the novel frame, the style of the head is very dissimilar from any yet engraved by us.

While we sincerely believe that it would be very difficult to surpass so beautiful a specimen of the engraving art, we have, by unremitting efforts, been enabled to present the stamp at a much earlier hour than we had originally deemed possible.

If the stamp should happily meet with approval, we will at once transfer a plate and print it in various colors to be submitted for selection.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,
TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.

July 11, 1860.

Messrs. Toppan, Carpenter & Co.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Sirs:

I have submitted to the Postmaster General the proof impression of the new Ninety Cents stamp (enclosed with your letter of 9th instant), and while approving of the general style and finish—as presenting a striking difference from other stamps—and also presuming that the likeness of Washington may be accurately copied from portraits taken in early life, yet, he thinks it would not be generally recognized and would, therefore, prefer the features which are more familiar to the public—similar to those in the Three-Cents stamps.

The Postmaster General would be glad to see preserved the “dress” portion of the engraving. He also authorizes me to say that he would regret subjecting you to much expense in changing the face, as suggested, and that he hopes it may possibly be effected without engraving anew the entire stamp.

Could you prominently introduce the figures “90” and also similarly change the “Twenty-four” Cents stamps?

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

A. N. ZEVELY.

Philadelphia, July 12, 1860.

A. N. ZEVELY, Esq.,

Third Asst. P. M. General,

Washington, D. C.

Sir:

Your favor of the 11th inst. is duly received and contents noted.

We regret exceedingly to learn that the Postmaster General does not entirely approve of the new Ninety Cents stamp; and we beg to submit a few words in explanation of the strong reasons which induced us to select this design. The head of Washington is copied most accurately from Trumbull's celebrated picture, and when we inform you that the portrait was first reduced by the daguerrotype process and then engraved, you will at once understand that it is impossible to obtain a more perfect facsimile of the original than we have made. This renowned portrait is, as you are no doubt aware, esteemed one of the finest likenesses painted of Washington; and exhibits him in the character which was emphatically his peculiar glory—that of Commander of the American forces. There is probably no portrait of this illustrious man more generally known and copied throughout the country than this of Trumbull—oil copies, mezzo-tints, &c., in variety attest to its general acceptance. We assure the Postmaster General most emphatically that we were principally induced to select this design in consequence of its being not only an authentic likeness, but one very familiar to the public at large. We suggest respectfully that the head on the Three Cents stamp owes its recognition to the immense circulation which the stamp itself has throughout the country. The original is even now, we sincerely believe, known but to a limited number of artists and amateurs. It is therefore strongly urged that the Ninety Cents design, copied from a well known picture, will have little or no difficulty in being at once designated.

We think that the Postmaster General, upon examining the Three Cents stamp, will immediately perceive the palpable incongruity, nay, the impossibility of adding the “dress” of the Ninety Cents design—viz., equalettes, &c., to a mere profile, medallion view of Washington. It would be certainly a very unhappy combination of the modern uniform and the antique bust. We regret to say that the alteration suggested would necessitate the engraving of an entirely new stamp. Any change would mar the beauty and general harmony of the design.

Although we have been subjected necessarily to a very heavy expense in preparing this stamp, we would feel much more hesitation in respectfully and earnestly urging a reconsideration of the Postmaster General's views, if our own strong opinion in favor of the stamp were not powerfully supported by the first artists who have had an opportunity of examining the proof impression. We trust therefore that we may be acquitted of any mere personally selfish interest when we submit the matter once more to the Postmaster General.

If, in your question touching the Twenty-four Cents stamp, you desire the introduction of the figures "24" in the design, we reply that they may be entered in ovals in the corners of the framework. This will necessitate a new die, and an entirely new plate, while we think the appearance of the stamps will not be at all improved. We would moreover state respectfully that to prepare fully to meet the large demand for these stamps, amounting to several millions as you conjectured, we have already printed over four millions. The printing has been immediately stopped on receipt of your favor of yesterday (11th inst.), but the demand has been so small that our present supply will suffice for a very long period should no increase occur. If the Postmaster General alters the stamp now, the large amount on hand will be a severe and entire loss to us.

We have the honor to inclose a more carefully dried proof of the Ninety-Cent stamp.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servants,
TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.

July 13, 1860.

Messrs. Toppan, Carpenter & Co.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Sirs:

Yours of the 11th instant is received.

It is well to adopt the buff instead of the black color for the Thirty-Cent stamp, though I hope you may be able to infuse a more lively tint than appears in the specimen submitted by you.

The black will not do for the Ninety-Cent stamp. Can you not prepare a delicate pink which would look well, and be at once distinguishable from all other colors in use?

After considering your letter of yesterday, the Postmaster General withdraws his objections to the likeness of Washington in the Ninety-Cent stamp, although still inclined to differ with you as to its popular recognition.

He did not suggest (as you say)

"adding the 'dress' of the Ninety Cents design by epaulettes, &c., to a mere profile medallion view of Washington," but simply the preservation of a likeness to that of the Three-Cent stamps.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

A. N. ZIVELY.

P. S.—Unless the demand should materially increase, do not strike off any more of the Twenty-four Cents stamps at present.

Sir:

We have the honor to acknowledge your favor of the 13th inst.

Your instructions with regard to a more lively tint of buff than that submitted to you have our best attention.

We will also endeavor to produce a pink such as you recommend for the Ninety Cents stamp. The principal difficulty in these delicate shades lies in their fugitive nature, and a color which looks well in printing fades sometimes quickly in drying and exposure. Still we believe your wishes can be satisfactorily met.

We are very happy to learn that the Postmaster General has kindly reconsidered and withdrawn his former objections to the Ninety Cents design, for we believe most sincerely that it embraces every requisite of beauty, accuracy and appropriateness which he so justly requires. A plate shall be prepared at once and samples of colors submitted.

Sir:

We have the honor to inclose twenty stamps of the Thirty Cents rate printed in the orange buff which we purpose using henceforth if approved by the Postmaster General.

You have desired a more lively tint than that submitted by us on the 11th inst., and we have found that all yellow buffs are open to the objection which arises from a want of brilliancy and effect. This orange buff prints clearly, as you may observe, and, while distinct from both the red and brown stamps, does not resemble too much the ordinary yellow tint of envelopes. It can also be readily effaced.

Sir:

We have the honor to inclose samples of colors marked from No. 1 to No. 9, inclusive. The impressions are taken on stamp paper and present the appearance which they would have in circulation. Proofs on India paper would be, of course, much finer and more brilliant and might therefore mislead you to expect the same delicacy and brightness of hue in the circulating stamp.

We have spared no effort to produce a good pink, and Nos. 1 and 2 are the best obtained. You will observe that these light colors do not give the effect which a deeper tint will present. We suggest Nos. 1, 2, 6, 7 and 8 as most worthy of examination. No. 7 is the handsomest of them all and gives the most decided effect to the engraving. Though a blue, it differs considerably in appearance from the One-Cent stamp, while the form and character of the stamp itself are utterly distinct.

We will be pleased to hear from you at your early convenience.

Sir:

Your favor of the 3d inst. is duly received and its contents have our attention.

We are pleased to learn that the Postmaster General has adopted the blue color for the Ninety-Cent stamps. In our opinion it is preferable to all the others. The introduction of the figures 24 in the stamp of that denomination can be effected, necessitating, however, a new die and plate. Though this change would be attended with considerable expense, our principal loss will be in the large number of these stamps, amounting to more than three millions, which we have printed in readiness for a supposed heavy demand. We believe that our contract with the Department calls upon us to furnish any new stamp without cost, and we are prepared to obey our instructions which you deem advisable to give touching this stamp. Our desire is to give entire satisfaction.

We will be prepared to furnish about 300,000 Ninety Cents stamp on the 13th inst.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servants,

TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.

IN CONCLUSION.

After printing a large number of the 30c stamp in black, further printing was stopped on July 11, 1860. Toppan, Carpenter & Co. in their letter of that date offer to "readily submit to the loss in case the Postmaster General sees proper to order the buff color in its place." On July 13, 1860, Mr. Zevely confirmed the change of color and ordered the 30c stamp printed in Buff with the hope "You may be able to infuse a more lively tint than appears in the specimen submitted by you," and this is just exactly what was done.

No further mention is made by either party regarding the "large number" of 30c stamps printed in black. Mr. Zevely evidently did not order any of these delivered to any Post Office, and we further find that no 30c stamps were issued prior to July 30, 1860, for under this date, Toppan, Carpenter & Co. write: "I have the honor to inform you that we will be prepared to deliver the new Thirty cent stamp tomorrow to the amount of two hundred and eighty thousand."

Upon receipt of this letter, Mr. Zevely wrote Mr. John A. Dix, the Postmaster at New York under date of August 2, 1860, that "he had directed 10,000 of the thirty cent stamps to be sent to your office."

Evidently the "large lot" of the 30c blacks were destroyed and the loss sustained by Toppan, Carpenter & Co.

Under date of July 14th, 1860, Toppan, Carpenter & Co. acknowledged receipt of Mr. Zevely's letter of the 13th ordering the change in color for the 30c from black to buff. Printings in the new shade were evidently immediately resumed, and the printers had from July 14th to July 31st or a period of seventeen days in which to print, gum and perforate two hundred and eighty thousand stamps or a matter of simply 1400 full sheets of stamps.

Out of these 1400 sheets only 50 sheets were ordered sent to the New York Post Office and a total of 38,000 stamps or 190 sheets were ordered sent to seven other large Post Offices.

If plenty of 30c stamps were on hand on August 2, 1860, why send any Imperforate stamps to the New York Post Office? I therefore question the statement of the "prominent Philatelist" mentioned in Mr. Luff's book as having "bought a thirty cent orange imperforate at the New York Post Office in 1860."

For the six months ending December 31, 1860, we find there were delivered to Postmasters throughout the Country a total of 209,820 of the 30c denomination.

Toppan, Carpenter & Co. stated on July 30, 1860, they would have ready to deliver on the following day, 280,000 of these stamps. There was no great public demand for the 30c stamps hence no great rush to supply same, especially in an unfinished or imperforate condition.

What is the proper status of these three so called Imperforates? Some call them nothing more than proofs. It must be obvious to the reader they are nothing more or less than copies from "imperforate trial color sheets," submitted by Toppan, Carpenter & Co. to the Post Office Department, and as such have no claim for a legitimate listing in the Catalogue, even to the extent of a listing as sub-varieties of the 24c, 30c and 90c perforated stamps. To give these "trial colors" a separate listing as major varieties of U. S. stamps is not only incorrect but most certainly very misleading.

They are not even as much entitled to a listing as the "1890-93" Imperforates, of which the Catalogue has the following to say: "The imperforate stamps of this issue were never regularly issued and were probably from waste sheets."

No one claims the 24c, 30c and 90c Imperforates were from waste sheets.

The catalogue states the following, "Imperforates" were "not regularly issued," #79A, 83A, 191B, 216B, 217A and "all denominations of the 1895 issue (264 to 278 inclusive.)"

What about some others? Mr. Luff in commenting on the three "imperforates" stated: "They are on the same paper as the perforated copies and have the same gum." With no intention to criticize this assertion, the writer cannot help but wonder if a chemical analysis of the known genuine gum of perforated stamps printed in 1860 would prove the same as a chemical analysis of the gum on the "1860 imperforates." In the rush to supply trial sheets why apply gum?

Is it possible Toppan, Carpenter & Co. submitted "specimens sheets" with gum? Perhaps they did and perhaps they did not.

I have never seen the cover referred to by Mr. Luff as having been purchased by Morgenthau & Co. in 1899, but this is no doubt the same cover comprising lot 119 in the Worthington Sale of Aug. 21, 1917.

Mr. Luff described this cover as bearing a "30c imperforate" with fine margins on three sides and showing a portion of the adjoining stamp at the left, and mailed from New York October 2 1860.

If my memory serves me correctly, this cover brought the round sum of $1000.00 at the Worthington Sale, but after the sale, it was the subject of quite a bit of discussion.

I cannot agree with Mr. Luff that the existence of this cover, "establishes beyond doubt, the use of the thirty cent stamp in imperforate condition."

If this cover bears a 30c "stamp" printed in the peculiar brown-orange shade in which the imperforate copies are always found," then it bears a "stamp" which was never "regularly issued," and also a "stamp" which cannot be considered as an "imperforate error."

Should the owner of the above piece happen to read these notes, I wonder if it would be asking too much to request him to communicate with the writer so that a more definite description of this cover can be recorded for the benefit of present and future students of the early issues of Our Country? (Address Stanley B. Ashbrook, 720-729 Union Trust Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.)

May I not add, in conclusion, that my motive in setting forth these facts with my opinions, has not been with intent to criticize the learned studies of any other writer on the postal issues of the United States, but rather, that by discussion, a better understanding be arrived at concerning the matters covered by these notes?

By CARROLL CHASE.

(Editor's note:—The lists appearing on the following pages are a continuation of those issued in November and will be concluded in the January number. It is to be hoped that this list will be carefully studied and checked by those owning any of this interesting material and if any items are found not listed here that they will be sent to Dr. Chase, 1170 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y., for examination. It is highly important for future students and our philatelic record of the postal history of our country that every effort be made at this time to make such lists as these complete as possible.)

SOCIETY NEWS.

PACIFIC PHILATELIC SOCIETY, Branch No. 3.

The 384th meeting of the above Society met in the Club Rooms in the Mechanics Library, San Francisco, on Nov. 16th, nineteen members and one visitor being present.

Collections were exhibited by Messrs. Hackmeier, Walker, O'Shaughnessy and Dillingham. Mr. O'Shaughnessy had part of his collection of triangular Cape of Good Hopes with him, properly arranged according to printings. The whole collection consists of about three hundred perfection copies and it was interesting to learn that some of the cheaper varieties were picked up in London a good many years back for one or two pence apiece. Messrs. Hackmeier and Walker showed their New Foundland among others, explaining the difference between the earlier printing and the re-issue. Mr. Dillingham exhibited his Norway and Roumania.

The annual election of officers will take place at the December meeting and the annual dinner and Xmas Jinks in January.

MATT C. DILLINGHAM,
Secretary.

SPRINGFIELD STAMP CLUB, Branch No. 28.

The meeting of November 11th was held at the home of Mr. E. E. Thompson with an attendance of 22. The entertainment committee through their chairman announced the subjects for the next two months as follows:

November 25, Mr. Corcoran, First issue of Austria.

December 9, Mr. Munroe, First issue of Canada.

December 16, Mr. Prevost, First issue of Belgium.

January 6, Annual Meeting, Annual Contest award.

January 20, Mr. Lapham, Chili.

Two applications for membership were reported favorably by the membership committee and under the rules laid over until the next meeting.

Mr. George Sears, brother-in-law of the host, displayed his collection of Chinese stamps and gave a talk on the customs of the country where he has resided practically all his life. He is in business in Shantung and has had excellent opportunities to add to his collection. He also exhibited many Chinese curios. Messrs. Munroe and Stone also showed their Chinese stamps.

WILLIAM C. STONE,
Publicity Committee.

P. S.: The A. P. S. Convention is to be held in Springfield in 1922. Are you coming? The committees are at work already.

The regular meeting of November 25th was held at the home of Edgar D. Curtis with about fifteen present. The treasurer gave us all an attack of heart disease when he read the result of the recent "please settle ups" which he had sent out recently. There is talk of a new vault to hold the funds.

George W. Angers and Roy N. Barker were admitted as regular members of the club.

Owing to the fact that Mr. Corcoran who was to have read a paper on the first issue of Austria had been called out of town the regular entertainment was postponed to some future time. John W. Prevost very kindly filled the gap by displaying four volumes of his collection of French covers, showing numerous interesting combinations, postal rates and a vast display of postal marks. The volumes are intended as a historical collection rather than a collection of rarities. The latter being mounted by themselves in other albums.

WILLIAM C. STONE,
Publicity Committee.

EDITORIAL.

We wish our readers and fellow members A MERRY XMAS & HAPPY NEW YEAR.

With festive diversions to the fore the Holiday Season will no doubt bring a lessening of the philatelic ardor, but as we all know, it will return with all its charm in strengthened force. And so, on New Year's day we suggest an added resolution as a due to the organization that expresses our combined philatelic activity. Mark it down:

I WILL BRING IN A NEW MEMBER
TO THE A. P. S. IN 1922.

Our Sales Manager, Mr. Guest, has sent out a neat pamphlet, "Sales Dep't.
News," in the interests of his department. It is satisfying to read therein that our Society has the largest sales of any Society in the world and that the books circulating contain stamps to the net value of almost $100,000.00.
Truly this department serves and serves well and we hope that such of our members who have not availed themselves of this service will write Mr.
Guest for a trial.

We are quite intrigued with the suggestion made at the Philatelic Congress, Mulhouse, France, that stamp collectors add a secret mark to their signatures which will identify them as such to other collectors. As we often carry on business correspondence with other collectors unknowingly, such a mark should widen our philatelic acquaintance very gracefully. We hope later to illustrate the mark adopted by the French collectors.

Our comment on the Society Library has evoked a number of inquiries and also the suggestion that we publish the terms under which books may be withdrawn. Mr. Tyler writes that he will, on request, inform members what material there is on any particular subject and that books may be withdrawn for four weeks on payment of postage.

REVIEWS.

The Stamps of Norway, 20 mm. Type (1885-93) by Dr. Justus Anderssen. P. L. Pemberton, London, Eng., Publisher. (3sh6d.)

This, the first Handbook of a series to be issued by the publishers under the guidance of that distinguished philatelist, W. B. Haworth, M. A., F. R. P. S. L., presages the filling of a long noted gap in our philatelic literature. The many erudite serious studies of stamps published in foreign tongues have in the past been sadly neglected and if the Editor carries out the promise of his "Foreword" he will find a particularly wide appreciation in this country where linguistic attainments are unusual. The first "Study in Philately" is a polished translation by Mr. Benjamin Goodfellow, F. R. P. S. L., which nicely reflects the charming self effacement of the writer. The original articles by Dr. Anderssen appeared in the Nordisk Filatelistisk Tidsskrift and it is of special interest to note that the specialized collection of Norwegian stamps of our own and late lamented Editor, Mr. Joseph B. Leavy, which he sold to a prominent Norwegian collector, was the basis of part of the authors studies. The booklet is of twenty-nine pages, seven additional photo plate insertions and typographically very finely done and the price taken into consideration, merits the widest support as it is evident that it is a "labor of love."

FOREIGN OFFICES IN CHINA.

One of the probable results of the conference on Far Eastern matters which is being held in Washington seems at the time of going to press that the post offices established by France, Great Britain, Japan and the United States in China would be abolished within a short time. All the nations except Japan have agreed to this and it is hoped that she will fall in line with the rest. At the session held November 25, Dr. Alfred Sze, minister to the United States, made a long statement urging the abolition of these offices on the ground that they diverted revenues which rightly belonged to China and that together with the presence of foreign troops they were a reminder to the people that they were not accorded the same consideration given other nations.

Minister Sze stated that Great Britain had 12 post offices in China, France 13, the United States 1 and Japan 134. The latter are classed as 7 first class offices, 23 second class, 4 third class, 10 unclassified, 3 sub-offices, 1 box office, 33 agencies, 33 letter boxes and 10 field post offices. The Italian offices established at Peking and Tientsin are not mentioned by the Minister so that it is quite possible they have already been discontinued.

In the New York Times for November 26 the above statement will be found in full and in that of the 28th there is given a statement by Chinchu Kwei, manager of the Chinese Press Bureau, in which he gives a column or more on the history and work of the Chinese post office.

He advises us that alternate vertical rows were so surcharged that the registration rate of Fr. 1.20 could be paid by pairs of this stamp, 65c plus 55c. This is indeed a new idea!

The 50c, Kings head sideways, recently issued in blue and which is stated to be scarce has been issued in light blue and is said to be plentiful in that shade.

GERMANY. A new type of postage has appeared which portray three smiths forging on an anvil. We are told that the smith have a wrong hold on their hammers, that no smith would roll his sleeves as these do and that their stance is very poor. This does not look like the much vaunted German "efficiency." Watermarked Lozenges, perf. 14.

Theo. Champion has also shown us another postage similar to the 60pf. above which depicts some hard labor in a coal mine. One man is using a hand chisel and single jack, one shoves a coal car and the other flourishes a pick over his head. We would suppose that this equipment would mine about 10 pounds per day per man.

Check Your Favorite Country

or group of countries on the following list and mail it to me, stating about how large a purchase you care to make.

I will submit a selection on inspection and if you enclose a list of the stamps you particularly wish they will be submitted if in stock when your communication is received. It will help me to help you if you state whether you prefer used or unused specimens, or pairs, strips and blocks, or stamps used on original envelopes.

As this is strictly a high grade service I cannot undertake to fill want lists calling only for common stamps.

My stock is strongest in early imperforate issues, 19th Century perforates, and 20th Century British Colonials—the latter chiefly unused up to the £5 denomination. I can now supply about 90% of the above issues throughout nearly all the world.

YOUR WANT LISTS

Our stock is too large to attempt to offer here. Chances are we would not offer the items you want. Send us a list of stamps you want and if you can only spend up to a certain amount, tell us what your limit is. You get what you want and we do not tie up a lot of stock to no advantage. We will price and send what we can furnish. Prices will run about half list on the average. Some items more, others less according to cost, but you can be certain of a "fair price to you and us." Whether you spend $5. or $5000 we are at your service, and have one of the largest general stocks in the New World to select from. Many of America's leading collectors depend largely on us for their wants and we solicit a trial.

APPROVALS. A splendid line of books for anyone ready to spend at least $2. or more at a time, but when you have a country three-fourths complete, send us a want list, as there is small chance an approval book would fill your needs. Selections from a few dollars to entire collections for those ready to buy. List of books on request.

SPECIAL LISTS. Our special lists, sent out at intervals to our customers. offer we believe, the largest variety of better class stamps of any issued. Stamps that are "hard-to-get" and usually missing in collections. Lists are free on application.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER PACKETS

SOME HISTORICAL NOTES.

By HENRY B. PHILLIPS, A. P. S. 19.

The able articles of Dr. Carroll Chase and Mr. George B. Sloane on "Mississippi River Packet Cancellations" have prompted me to write these notes on the historic side of the early development of steam transportation on the inland river system of the great central valley of the United States.

Previous to the application of steam to water transportation, nearly all the business on these waters was one way, down stream, only, transported by rafts which were broken up and sold for lumber at New Orleans. After the success of Fulton it early became evident that a great field was here opened for the creation of a two way line of commerce both up and down the rivers. These notes cover a period of great activity in building steamboats, about 100 years ago, when this new application of steam was in its infancy. It goes without saying that practically every boat built and operated on the rivers carried letters as well as passengers, freight, commissions and express.

It is hoped these notes on the building, ownership and runs of these early built steamboats, from 1810 to 1820, will be of assistance to the gentlemen above named in perfecting their history.

I will begin with the Steamer—

LOCALS.

WESTFIELD, N. J. Mr. Elliott Perry proudly announces the arrival of the future "Head of the House of Perry," a five pound baby boy, born December 14th, and named "Sherman Westlake Perry." Congratulations and best wishes to "Himself" and "Herself"!

CINCINNATI, OHIO. Mr. Gustav Mosler has added to his philatelic activities numerous other forms of collecting, the first a "Unique" beginning of a coin collection. Among a lot of pennies received from the U. S. Treasury thru the Federal Reserve Bank he found a SILVER penny. By mistake a penny was coined in silver instead of copper and is undoubtedly a genuine "error" of the Mint. Mr. Mosler values the coin at $1000. Next in order Mr. Mosler annexed another title, being made President of the Brighton Bank and last but not least he has received an addition to his family, a baby girl, born Jan. 5th, 1922. This is indeed fine, very fine and Superb!

PARIS. It is announced that in April and June, 1922, the sections of the "Ferrary" collection containing United States stamps will be offered at auction. Many American collectors and dealers are making preparations to attend this sale and the rush promises to fulfill the French expectations of "record" prices.

LONDON. Thru Mr. Hadlow we have the bad news of the deaths of two old time London dealers, Mr. J. J. Coates and Mr. Edwin Healy, both well known in this country.

The philatelic season has been enlivened by the visit of that popular dealer, publisher and collector of Australia, Mr. Fred Hagen, who has been renewing his many friendships.

Mr. Hugo Griebert, for forty years one of the world's leading dealers, has announced his retirement from business and the sale of his enormous stock to Messrs. Stanley Gibbons.

Catalog of the Tyas Collection.

Further evidence of the progressiveness of the stamp trade is this neat 36 page brochure describing the contents of a notable purchase made by W. T. Wilson of Birmingham, England. The twenty volume general collection of the late Charles Joseph Tyas, is described in some detail and illustrations are included of a number of the rare items. Mr. Wilson also quotes his sale price of a number of the stamps, which being applied to the scarcer items, adds considerably to the readers interest. The catalog may be had from Mr. Wilson, 18 Livingstone Rd., Birmingham, for 30c which will be applied to any purchases made.

A NEW ENGRAVING PROCESS.

Patented by Mr. G. U. Rose, Jr., November 22nd, 1921.

Notes by MR. B. K. MILLER, A. P. S. 5766.

Mr. George U. Rose, Jr., the Chief Engraver at the United States Printing Bureau has just obtained a patent on Electrotype material that promises to revolutionize the art of printing Postage stamps. The usual method of forming plates for the line engraved stamps, that is by entering the stamp design on a hardened steel plate by means of a relief roller made from the original die, requires so much experience and skill that it is impossible to secure the men necessary in sufficient numbers to carry out this process. Under Mr. Rose's new method, (Patent No. 1,397,785) plates can be made without the entering of design by relief rollers by using the electrotype process instead. The following, taken from the original wording of the patent, gives an idea of the new method:

"It is a well known fact that printing plates are at the present time formed by what is known as the transfer process, each plate being made from a roller which has previously received its impression from a master plate or die. Each printing plate must be so fashioned from a roller and then hardened before use and the process, involving as it does, considerable hand work and skill, is both expensive and time consuming to such an extent that plates cannot now be finished in the required number. The electro-depositing process of forming printing plates is known and used to a certain extent and according to this process a previously transferred plate is used for the electro-deposition of a positive plate known as an "alto" by the subsequent use of which any desired number of negative printing plates may be formed by electro-deposition. These printing plates are known as "bassos" and it is evident that this process, in which copper is universally employed, involves but a single transfer operation and can be carried out with greater speed and greatly reduced expense. The electro-depositing is however open to the objection of limited use for it is not of sufficient strength to permit of its use for printing bank notes and the like (postage stamps) where impressions are to be made in great numbers. In other words an electro-deposited copper plate does not compare favorably from an economical standpoint with a hardened steel plate which can only be made by the transfer process. My invention aims to permit the formation by electro-deposition of a plate which will compare favorably in strength with hardened steel and will thus be of great advantage, and arises from a discovery that the weakness of electro deposited copper is due to the greatly increasing crystals formed in the metal as the deposit thickens. I have found that the operation starts with a deposit of dense fine grains, which if continued would produce a strong material. As the deposited metal increases in thickness however, the crystals grow to great proportions and form what are known as "trees," thus weakening the structure and causing a rough deposit which necessitates considerable and expensive machinery in smoothing the edges and back of the plate. According to my invention, the method is varied to the extent that the copper is electro-deposited in separate layers, ten to the full thickness of the material and in such manner that each new layer breaks up the growth of the crystals and thus interrupts "treeing" to such an extent that it is practically the start of a new operation. This may be accomplished by electro depositing certain layers in a sulfate solution and alternate layers in a cyanide solution. I have found also that by interposing between copper layers, a layer of a different material instead of layers of the same material, of different crystalline structure, pronouncedly better results can be obtained. For instance eleven layers of nickel can be electro-deposited between layers of copper and not only check the growth of the copper crystals but add to the tensile strength of the finished product by virtue of the relatively greater strength of the nickel. * * * For convenience and better understanding I will give the operation as carried out to produce a plate of alternate layers of copper and nickel as follows: After thoroughly cleaning a master or engraved plate, from which an "alto" is to be made for subsequent use in the electro-deposition of any desired number of "bassos," it is first suspended in a nickel solution of nickel sulfate, nickel chloride and boric acid, and nickel deposited (by usual electric method), this deposit being about .001 inch for the alto. The plate is then withdrawn, rinsed and immersed in a copper solution of copper sulfate and sulfuric acid and the deposition proceeded so as to produce a copper layer on the nickel of about .0045 inch in thickness. The plate is then withdrawn from the copper solution, rinsed and again immersed in the nickel solution. This cycle is repeated until the desired thickness of the plate is obtained. The "alto" is then removed and utilized in a similar manner in the formation of any number of bassos."

The foregoing brief extracts from the patent papers will give my readers an idea of the simplicity of this process. The plates made for postage stamps under this method have about SEVENTY-TWO layers of alternate metal and the process is so delicate that a finger print on the master plate is perfectly reproduced on the "alto" or positive plate first made. Each stamp plate will print about 50 thousand impressions and will revolutionize all previous methods. Four plates have been made by the Bureau by this process and they went to press on October 5th, 1921 and taken from presses Oct. 17th, 1921. The plate numbers are 13,376, 13,377, 13,389, 13,390 and being the first of their kind will be historical. We hope our members will advise us when and where the stamps appear. Our hats off to Mr. Rose.

LICHTENSTEIN.

HON. E. R. ACKERMAN, A. P. S. 214.

A number of years ago while in Venice, the thought as to what new country I could add to the list of those I had already visited, went through my mind. I concluded that the Duchy of Liechtenstein was one that I would like to set foot in, and accordingly I planned to see how I could reach it. I had a vague idea that it was somewhere on the eastern side of the Austrian Empire, between that and the Republic of Switzerland, so I betook myself to the office of Thos. Cook & Sons, and awaiting a favorable moment when the manager was somewhat at leisure, I made bold to ask him how I could go from Venice to that principality. From the look of astonishment on his face when I propounded the inquiry, I rather imagined he thought I was somewhat bereft of intelligence in my upper story, or was contemplating a drive on the fortunes of those celebrated Hebrews who several centuries ago founded rich duchies in the northern portion of the Roman Empire. He, however, could give me no information and suggested that I return the following day. Evidently he did not spend much time in looking the matter up, for when I returned twenty four hours later, he said that he had no idea how it was to be reached, as it was off the railways, but that if I would go to the town of Buchs, which was about twenty four miles distant by rail from Venice, I might obtain some information from a garage keeper there who he had heard, had on various occasions driven travelers in the direction of that municipality.

A short time later our party proceeded to Salzburg and in due course of time was set down in the town of Buchs. Our knowledge of the Teutonic tongue being somewhat limited, we did not make very rapid headway with the garage proprietor who spoke but little English, but finally writing it out, we asked him what he would charge to take our party of four to the town of Vaduz (in the principality of Liechtenstein), and made a bargain accordingly.

We did not want to remain long in the country, in fact we only wanted buy some stamps at the postoffice, and time enough to mail some postcards and therefore concluded that an interval of an hour's duration between our arrival and departure would be sufficient to absolve us from the charge of prevarication, should anyone ask how long we had remained in the country above described. It took us about an hour from Buchs to reach the place. The road was an ordinary one that you might encounter on almost any occasion when visiting any part of the western Tyrol, and when we arrived there, we drove to the postoffice but found it was closed between the hours of twelve and two, which was about the time of our descent upon that sleepy community which showed no signs of life at all during the time which was devoted to the noon-day meal. However, the driver appreciated our predicament, and set about to see how he could overcome the obstacle which seemed to be in our way of purchasing some of the postal adhesives over the counter of the postoffice, by going upstairs in one of the houses nearby and ascertaining if the Postmistress would not for a pour-boire condescend to open the post-office and make some sales out of the regular hours. This she concluded to do, and we were fortunate in purchasing a sufficient quantity of the five, ten, and twenty five Heller stamps to satisfy our needs, at the same time indulging in the posting of about twenty five postal cards, bearing the stamps of the principality, to our friends.

Then the return journey was made in about the same time as it took us to arrive at the place from Buchs. There was absolutely nothing to see in the city, the estates of the Duke being barred to all visitors, and we should not consider that the mail matter amounted to one hundred letters a week, so primitive was the postoffice and its equipment, although money orders could be sent and parcels dispatched to any part of the world.

Since that time, we believe that many new issues have emanated from this small country, and we have no doubt that the Duke can derive a large revenue annually by the sale of postal adhesives and stationery to the many collectors throughout the world.

EDITOR'S COLUMN.

The American Philatelic Society is essentially a co-operative organization. Its strength and power depends on the combined effort of its membership. Every member plays some part, be it positive or negative. Every member would like to have the Society be the premier collectors organization of the World as well as of the United States which it now is. Every member would like to see the "Philatelist" the leading philatelic Journal. These things are not impossible of achievement, they but depend on the quality of your spirit as a member. The growth of the "Philatelist" is possible only through greater expenditures. And yet it is not difficult to provide a considerable addition to the present revenue if you will but truly co-operate. The best and most serious of American collectors belong to our Society, they annually purchase stamps to the value of hundreds of thousands. We know that they read the advertisements in this Journal and they have but to let the advertisers know what we know and our standing as an advertising medium will be enhanced ten fold. So if you "Mention the Philatelist" in replying to advertisements you aid in the production of a better, and to you, a more interesting Journal. Let future issues speak for your spirit and loyalty.

The Ninth Philatelic Congress of Great Britain will be held at Bath, England, June 20, 21, 22 and 23rd, 1922. The Honorary Secretary, Mr. J. S. Telfer, 61-62 Chancery Lane, London, England, has written us inviting the attendance of members of our Society who may be in England at that time. The entertainment promised is lavish and the philatelic display and papers to be read will notably mark another giant stride in the progress of British philately. Such of our membership that can attend will indeed be fortunate.

Next month a remarkable article that will make clear what has been a most vexing problem to many collectors and dealers here and abroad. An analysis of the Types of the One Cent, 1851-57 by Mr. Stanley B. Ashbrook, which Mr. E. R. Jacobs of Chicago says, we having shown him the manuscript, "that for clearness and accurate description it is the best scientific philatelic study I have ever read." Read it and let us know your view of it!

COLLECTING SHADES.

By E. C. BAILEY.

There are many elements that make the collection of stamps a fascinating pastime. To the advanced collector one of these is the assembling of shades. Enjoyable as this undoubtedly is, its importance may be overestimated by some collectors, and many a youth may become discouraged upon viewing a specialized collection in which particular attention has been given to this side line.

My reference to shades as a side line is, I think, advisable, because the primary object of stamp collecting is to acquire the issues of one or more countries as completely as possible. The design—the engraving—and the color are the main features, and shades are a by-product of color.

I grant that in some instances, such as the U. S. 3c 1861 pink, the difference in shade is so marked as to almost establish a separate color and give authenticity to its cataloguing as a distinct color, but in ninety-nine per cent. of the cases shades may not be traced to an actual difference in color but to the amount of ink that is being fed from the ink-fountains on the presses to the rollers that ink the plates.

In my business as a printer there come to my desk daily proofs of jobs that are ready to be printed. In the case of work that requires some other color than black the question arises not infrequently, "Is the color all right?" The proof may seem to be light and does not reflect the depth of color desired, and just as often it develops that the pressman has not brought the color up to where it should be. In other words he has not caused a proper distribution of the ink or has not put on enough ink to show the true shade that will develop when the right quantity is used. With insufficient ink on the rollers the print will be "grey" or light in shade—with too much ink it will be darker than normal and "muddy". Whether it be one or the other, it is all the same color—it comes out of the same can but has a different appearance than when used in the right quantity.

That is the sum total of ninety-nine per cent. of the shade question. Only in rare instances can the difference of color warrant any marked difference in either the catalogue or the sale value of a specimen. Possibly the shade collector will remark that somebody is always taking all the joy out of life. For such my reply is that I am not averse to harboring shades in my own collection, but I do so with the full knowledge of "how come." My main point is that young collectors should not be deceived by shades or discouraged by the multiplicity of them.

A Letter on "Counterfeits."

Dear Editor:—

After reading the Editorial on "Counterfeits" in the November issue I can not refrain from making a few remarks as the subject of counterfeits and repaired stamps is quite a "side line" hobby of mine. For the benefit of members of more recent date it may not be amiss to refer to the resolutions that I offered at both of the Cleveland and St. Louis Conventions. They were to the effect that Counterfeits found in sales books should be removed by the Examiner of Sales Books and before returning them to owners should BE MARKED WITH INDELIBLE INK as "Counterfeits." This was to be done only where there was no doubt as to the character of the stamp and in case of an error being made the Society should reimburse the owner for the stamp so erroneously marked. The passage of such a resolution was blocked at one convention by only one man. Members clearly did not comprehend the subject at that time as is evidenced by the record of the remarks made. The idea that was most to the point was that the Society might be held responsible for damages in marking such stamps. And what might these "damages" be? Certainly no Court would hold that a person was damaged to the amount of value of the genuine stamp! And would anyone bring suit for the value of a counterfeit! Could it not be made a condition precedent to offering stamps in the circuits that the Examiner be authorized to mark counterfeits?

I assume that something along this line was intended by the suggestion of the Berkeley Branch at the last convention or perhaps going a bit further, intended that the Examiner of Sales retain all counterfeits and pay the owner as for counterfeit and place the stamp in a Society reference collection.

Collectors the world over are giving thought to this subject and it appears to be the general consensus of opinion that it is all wrong to return counterfeits to the owners without marking and so making a resale possible.

"Am I my brother's keeper?" From London and Paris come signs that there is an awakening of conscience in this particular. The days of talk and no action are slowly passing. All reforms take years and the "counterfeit" will only be "scotched" when philatelic societies deal with the subject courageously.

Very truly yours,

C. F. RICHARDS.

HERBERT BOWEN.

The Detroit Philatelic Society is called upon to record with deep sorrow, the death, on December 17, 1921, of its beloved Honorary Life Vice President, Herbert Bowen, one of its charter members, and a past Vice President of the American Philatelic Society, whose very name for decades, commanded the unqualified respect of philatelists throughout the country.

Born in East Aurora, New York, of sound old New England stock, Mr.

Bowen's entire professional career begun as a student in the office of Judge B. F. Graves, and all but the first twenty-one of his nearly seventy-five years of life, were spent in Detroit, where, until the infirmities of age gradually forced his retirement, he occupied an increasingly honored and trusted place, not merely at the very forefront of his chosen profession of the law, but as well, in activities in many and diverse lines which make for cultured, fine-grained, helpful citizenship. Naturally of a studious, historical turn of mind, he long ago attained a position of authority among those appreciative of such characteristics, which was clouded only by his unusual modesty, and his constant tendency to "hide his light under a bushel." His interest in literary matters found a congenial setting in his service as Public Library Commissioner, and the City's appreciation of his services, and of his valuable contributions to the Library's treasured holdings, is permanently expressed by the naming of one of the Branch Libraries after him.

None but his God knows more than the merest fraction of the unobtrusive, genuinely helpful efforts on behalf of the poor and the unfortunate, which have characterized the almost daily life of Mr. Bowen and his devoted wife, for many, many years. Perhaps it is well that this is so, for not only would publicity as to this, have robbed his quiet, retiring personality of much of the satisfaction which the mere doing of such good works gave him, but when now this one, and now that one, happened to learn of individual cases of this kind, invariably in a most round-about way, the very suddenness and unusual character of the discovery could not but leave a most profound and often personally inspiring influence upon the hearer.

Naturally, we of the Detroit Philatelic Society have known Mr. Bowen most intimately along the lines of our hobby, and we leave it to his associates, in his other activities, to tell of the intimacies which bound him to them, along these lines.

His interest in philately dates back to the years when our hobby was generally regarded more as a boy's pastime, than as a fit subject for the serious attention of mature, cultured men. Collecting stamps because he loved them as such, rather than because of the mere commercial value of this, that, or the other specimen, he long ago attained a position of authority, both local and national, that was exceeded only by the personal regard in which he was everywhere held. While he was what might be termed a "universal specialist," in that the stamps of all countries had a fascination for him, which he gratified generously, it was the stamps of our own country which really occupied first place in his affections, particularly the revenue stamps, both general issues and private proprietaries, as to which he was a country-wide authority, and his collection of which ranked among the foremost in the country, until, calmly accepting his physician's warning that his days were numbered, he undertook the distribution of his philatelic treasures among his family and friends. And it is gratifying to know that Mr. Bowen, after years of patient, uncomplaining bearing of the standard of good old substantial issues of all countries, lived to see and appreciate, with the arrival of every stamp publication, whose perusal served to while away the hours in his retirement, the gratifying way in which these untainted classics have at last forged into their deserved position of leadership.

Although Mr. Bowen's health had prevented his attendance at our meetings for some years, scarcely a meeting passed without his name being mentioned, or his opinion quoted as controlling authority on what was under discussion. And it is worthy of note, that those fortunate enough to be able to quote him, had always had to ask for his opinion; he was far too modest to offer it unsolicited. He indeed will be missed, but his quiet, consistent support of everything honorable, upright, and discriminating, cannot but profoundly influence all whom he honored with his friendship, throughout the years to come.

The Detroit Philatelic Society extends its sincere condolences to the bereaved family.

Fred R. Schmalzreidt,
President.

Albert C. Hutchinson,
Secretary-Treasurer.

No. 46.

The regular monthly meeting of the Society was held November twenty-third at 8 P. M. There were sixteen members present and one visitor. Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved. Report was received by Secretary from Committee on "Trousstine" collection and it was moved, seconded and unanimously carried that the same be accepted and the recommendations made be adopted. The application to membership of Mr. C. A. Hofer was favorably reported on and he was unanimously elected to membership. Other applications to membership were held over for next meeting.

Mr. Hardcastle gave an interesting talk on "New Zealand" and showed, in addition to his stamps, a wonderful series of photographs illustrating the natural scenery of that country. Following this the usual monthly auction sale was held after which meeting adjourned.

Claude D. Millar, Secretary.

Rubber City Stamp Club.

On December 14, thirty-two guests and members of the Rubber City Stamp Club, Branch Fifty-One of the American Philatelic Society, met in the club rooms to celebrate the second anniversary of the organization.

Messrs. H. G. Ream, O. S. Hart, and A. H. Noe, of the Social Committee, introduced a novelty into the meeting when they used a roulette wheel and punch boards to dispose of lots of stamps which had been donated by the members for the occasion. Chances, which were sold from one to five cents, netted the club several dollars.

President D. R. Heath took a group photograph of those present; and as the last "stunt" of the evening, the committee in charge presented Mr. Heath with a two-candled birthday cake, but, sad to relate, he did not have the opportunity to take it home—instead of which, it went "homes in pieces insides!"

At the preceding meeting of December 7, the rules were suspended long enough to allow for the unanimous reelection of President Heath and Secretary-Treasurer Crouch; this action being in appreciation of their fine record of service during the past year. At the same time, Harry G. Ream succeeded J. F. Cherry as Vice President; Messrs. O. S. Hart, A. H. Kruse, and B. A. Zarembo being chosen members of the Board of Directors. Ernest Elwood Thoma, Director of Publicity during the year ending, was reappointed to the same position by the President.

As this was the stated communication, voting was taken on several applications up for consideration; the membership being increased to a total of sixty-three thru the admission of: Ellsworth Myers, Edward Korach, John Palmer, Wm. van Tassel, Albert Gruner, Lynden Jones, Russel Williams, and Albert Sweetsel.

The meeting of the previous week was held at the home of Mr. H. G. Ream, 30 being present at that time. Many desirable lots of stamps were auctioned off; the feature of the evening, tho, being the serving of a delightful lunch.

An Educational Night was also held just recently under the direction of Mr. R. Ewing; this proving to be one of the most interesting sessions ever provided. After the distribution of the three major prizes, given to those who had correctly answered the greater number of philatelic questions, the others present were agreeably surprised by receiving souvenir packets as well.

The members of Rubber City also had the pleasure to witness an exhibition of the pair-strip-block collection of Mr. Hart at the meeting of November 15; a contest then being held as to the number of blocks as shown. Mr. B. A. Zarembo, Manager of the Foreign Department of the Akron State Bank, came the closest with a guess of 1000—the actual number being 1143.

Mr. C. A. Bensinger provided over thirty members with an oyster-party at his home the preceding week; a piano recital being given by Mr. Noe at that time. An interesting auction was also held; very good prices being realized.

Arrangements have been made with the Akron Sunday papers to publish an article of the club's activities in each issue; while a formal announcement appears in the one of each Wednesday; the regular meeting night. Both of these plans are bringing the club to the attention of many people, while the frame of stamps arranged by Mr. Cornel Kmentt, depicting the history of the North American Continent, is attracting considerable attention as well.

When it comes to "records," Rubber City feels as tho her Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. James E. Crouch, stands supreme, as he has attended every meeting since the organization of the club; a total of 105, up to and including the one of the Second Anniversary.

Meetings are held every Wednesday in Room 600 of the Permanent Title Building; those of the Society brethren who may be sojourning in Akron, being extended a cordial invitation to be present at any time—while they will NOT be lonesome, as the attendance averages nearly thirty at each session. The "show" begins at seven-thirty—the more the merrier, so be sure to ramble down when you're in town!

ERNEST ELWOOD THOMA,
Director of Publicity.

Passaic Stamp Club, Branch No. 43.

At a recent meeting, held Tuesday, December 20th, 1921, the following members were elected to hold office during the coming year 1922: Pres., C. W. Holliday; Vice-Pres., D. B. Crockett, Treas.; Chas. F. Freund, Secty.; Geo. A. Ernest, Sales Manager; Chas. E. Cowell; Trustees: E. G. Graf and M. G. Dimon. There were present 14 members out of 30, which we consider a good attendance, owing to the distance a good many of us have to travel in order to reach the Club Room.

We are out to increase our membership to—well, the sky is the limit, and in this connection the secretary will be pleased to hear from all philatelists in Passaic, N. J. and vicinity. Address your communications to Geo. A. Ernest, Secty., 166 Clinton Ave., Clifton, N. J.; or attend one of our meetings, which are held every second and fourth Tuesday each month at 8 P. M. at the office of Mr. C. W. Holliday, Pres., 625 Main Ave., Passaic, N. J. All newcomers will be greeted cordially.

We feature snappy little auction sales each meeting night, conducted by our Mr. Chas. E. Cowell, also a large sales department will be at your service.

The 385th monthly meeting of the Society met on December 21st, with fourteen members and one visitor present.

The report of the nominating committee consisting of Messrs. O'Shaughnessy, Doscher and Arp nominated the following members to serve as officers of the Society for the ensuing year:

President, Henry G. Marcus
Vice President, C. M. Hackmeier
Vice President, Wm. H. Crocker
Secy. & Treas., Matt C. Dillingham

Mr. Marcus exhibited a portion of his Danish West Indies collection, which is all being remounted along novel lines, photographic enlargements having been made of drawings showing the defects in the various plates. These enlargements are mounted on the same sheets as the stamps themselves, copious notes being written at the side for the information of those looking through the collection.

Mr. Lazarus showed a fine general collection of U. S., Cape of Good Hope, Hong Kong, etc. and Mr. Dillingham exhibited his old Italian States.

SUPERB GENERAL COLLECTION

Formed by the late C. J. TYAS, Esq., F. R. P. S. L., of Scarborough.

The collection contains all the countries of the world and it includes most of the Standard Rarities of the British Empire, Europe, and Foreign Countries. Generally speaking, it stops at 1900, but in the case of the sound old stamp issuing countries of Europe it has been continued up to date. The late owner was upwards of 30 years forming the collection and it was constantly being improved, so that the whole forms a general collection of the World's Postage Stamps, such as there are probably but few in the United Kingdom to-day.

The collection is being priced up separately and I shall be glad to hear from collectors and specialists wishing to have an early look at individual countries.

No serious advanced collector should fail to inspect this superb lot of stamps.

Want Lists will have careful personal attention.

The Collection was exhibited in the London Philatelic Exhibition of 1906, and it obtained a bronze medal, in a class in which there was exceptionally keen competition.

The following are a very few only of the Rare and Desirable Stamps in the Collection:

YOUR WANT LISTS

Our stock is too large to attempt to offer here. Chances are we would not offer the items you want. Send us a list of stamps you want and if you can only spend up to a certain amount, tell us what your limit is. You get what you want and we do not tie up a lot of stock to no advantage. We will price and send what we can furnish. Prices will run about half list on the average. Some items more, others less according to cost, but you can be certain of a "fair price to you and us." Whether you spend $5. or $5000 we are at your service, and have one of the largest general stocks in the New World to select from. Many of America's leading collectors depend largely on us for their wants and we solicit a trial.

APPROVALS. A splendid line of books for anyone ready to spend at least $2. or more at a time, but when you have a country three-fourths complete, send us a want list, as there is small chance an approval book would fill your needs. Selections from a few dollars to entire collections for those ready to buy. List of books on request.

SPECIAL LISTS. Our special lists, sent out at intervals to our customers, offer we believe, the largest variety of better class stamps of any issued. Stamps that are "hard-to-get" and usually missing in collections. Lists are free on application.

An Analysis of the Types of the U. S. One Cent 1851 and 1857.

By STANLEY B. ASHBROOK,
A. P. S. 2497 F. R. P. S. L.

FOREWORD

In presenting herewith an analysis of the different types of the One Cent stamps of these series, the writer has taken the liberty of frequently referring to Mr. John Luff's well known study on "United States Stamps" published some twenty years ago, and also to the more recent book on the same subject by Sir N. E. Waterhouse, the eminent English Philatelist and specialist in United States issues.

I am deeply indebted to my very good friends Dr. Carroll Chase, Mr. E. R. Jacobs and Mr. Alvin Good for all the help they have rendered me in my study of these stamps and for the loan, whenever needed, of any of their material. My sincere thanks are also due many of our leading U. S. Specialists for many favors granted.

An apology is offered my readers for the tedious manner in which this subject has been set forth and my only excuse for same was the desire to present in a clear and comprehensive manner an analysis of the one cent types.

Repetitions frequently occur and have been intentionally inserted so that no doubt may exist in the reader's mind of what the writer means to convey.

A complete article on these stamps and a full and accurate description of the plates by the writer would be premature at this time, due to the fact that much research work still remains uncompleted. These notes will therefore deal principally with the Types, and the various causes of their origin.

LINE ENGRAVED STAMPS

The 1851 and 1857 Issue were printed from steel plates, and in order to understand the causes and origin of the various types of the One Cent Stamps it is necessary to have some knowledge of the methods employed in the preparation of the finished plates. Stamps produced from steel plates are called "Line Engraved" and the methods employed nearly a hundred years ago are much the same in the present day, with the exception of greatly improved machinery.

The process is briefly as follows: On a small block of softened steel slightly larger than the stamp design, the Artist or engraver, engraves in reverse, the original sketch.

This small block of steel containing the finished engraving is called the "die." In engraving the die the deeper and thicker a line is cut, the darker will be the color of the print at that particular spot, as a deep line will hold more ink than a shallow one, hence the beauty of fine line engraved stamps, due to the gradations of color ranging from very dark to light giving the full contrast necessary to reproduce the original sketch.

The Die is then hardened and placed in a rigid position in a machine called the transfer press.

A soft steel roller approximately three inches in diameter, by one inch wide is placed in the transfer press and rolled under very great pressure backwards and forwards over the hardened steel die, until all of the design on the die is transferred in relief, and in reverse from the design on the Die; or in other words, the engraved or sunk lines on the die become standing up lines on the roller and the standing up parts of the die are sunk on the roller.

The roller is called the Transfer Roll, and it may have on its surface one or more transfers from the die. Such transfers are called "reliefs."

The Transfer Roll is then likewise hardened and from it by a similar action in the transfer press, any number of reproductions of the design, exactly similar to the die, can be produced, or "transferred" or "laid down," or "rocked in" on a soft steel plate. The lines standing up in relief on the Roll become sunk in the plate and in this way each design, or "position" on the plate becomes an exact duplicate of the design existing on the die.

In using the word "exact duplicate" I qualify same by stating that a position on the plate may be shortened either intentionally or unintentionally by not fully rocking the full design on the relief to the plate.

Insufficiently rocked positions are called "short transfers."

In addition, a slight loss occurs in the strength and depth of the lines between the die and plate, hence it is customary to engrave the die slightly deeper than it is intended the designs on the plate should be to allow for this loss. After the plate is in turn hardened it is mounted on the bed of a printing press, and heat applied beneath the plate in order to warm the ink. During the period of manufacture of the 1851 and 1857 Issues, hand presses were used exclusively and the heating of the plate came from a gas jet fixed underneath the plate.

The ink or color was then rolled or dabbed over the entire surface of the plate, then wiped off with a rag and by hand, care being taken that only the ink on the surface be removed and none disturbed in the sunken lines forming the designs.

A sheet of paper previously dampened is laid smoothly on the plate, the press applied, and the designs on the plate are thus transferred to the paper, the designs being in relief, in ink on the paper.

The types of the 1851-1857 One Cent Stamps are different classifications of the completeness or incompleteness of the original design as it existed on the finished plates.

The writer claims no practical knowledge in the production of line engraving, but from my study of the stamps of the 1851 and 1857 series, it is my belief the types of the One Cent originated from the following causes:

(1) An alteration of the original design by trimming the "reliefs" on the transfer Roll, and by trimming is meant the cutting away of certain parts of the standing up lines of the "reliefs."

(2) A "Short-transfer," the result of insufficiently rocking a relief on the Roll to a position on the plate, causing a shortness of design. This may occur at top or bottom or both.

(3) A Re-engraving on the plate of any weak lines. This is done by the use of a hand-engraving tool and such strengthening of parts of designs are referred to as recutting or "recuts."

(4) An erasure from the plate of parts of the designs, in the final "cleaning up" of the plate after all the designs have been rocked in, as for example, the vertical or horizontal margins between the stamp designs.

On some of the One Cent plates "erasures" occur only in the vertical spacings, on one plate most of the "erasures" are found in the horizontal spacings.

It is possible to alter a design or to erase it altogether from a plate, by laying the plate face down against a hard surface and raising the sunken parts of the design to the surface of the plate by the use of a hammer on the reverse side, and a burnisher on its face.

A typical example of erasure is found on the Type II of the Ten Cent 1857. These stamps come only from one plate, Plate Two, and in no other way that I am aware, can the "short" side ornaments be accounted for.

Regarding Cause #2, a "short transferred" position on a plate may not necessarily originate in a short rocking of the roll to the plate, but may also occur in the process of transferring the design to the relief on the roll, thus the relief would consist of a shorted design and such positions rocked on the plate from this shorted relief would duplicate same.

While the process outlined above is the direct and simple method of transferring to a steel plate from a line engraved steel die, that is, from Die to Relief to plate, a more complicated system was undoubtedly employed by the makers of the plates for the various values of the 1851 and 1857 series and in order to account for some of the complicated problems we find in these stamps, an outline of the method probably employed in making certain plates will be given.

Suppose we call the Die "A," from which was transferred the original relief "B," from which was transferred on a small flat piece of steel, six impressions in a vertical row. This we will call the "set of Duplicate dies" or "C." These six transfers are carefully rocked in, one at a time, and the spacings between each design on "C" are the same as the spacings desired between each of the designs in the vertical rows on the plate.

The Transfer Roll is then rolled over these six designs and the result is a "six relief roll" which we will call "D." With this transfer roll the plate is then rocked in, six positions at a time and each properly spaced vertically. We will designate the Plate as "E."

This process is, to be more explicit, as follows:

- "A" Original Die, lines engraved in recess.
- "B" The "Original Roller" with lines of the engraving standing up from the surface or in relief.
- "C" The "Duplicate Dies," a flat piece of steel with six designs in recess.
- "D" The "Transfer Roll" with lines in relief.
- "E" The Plate with the engraved lines in recess.

The above outline is for the use of a six relief Roller but one, two, three, four, or five relief rolls can be made in the same manner.

Short designs which are consistent and duplicated in certain horizontal rows of a plate originate in the transfer from "B" to "C."

Typical examples of such a "shorted" relief are the 10c 1855 Imperforates (plate one). Scott's #35. The fine lines forming the "full shells" are not complete in any of the stamps from the 1st to 9th row inclusive. These fine lines were not trimmed from any relief but their fade-away appearance is very probably the result of a short transfer from "B" to "C" or barely possible, in this case where a two relief roll was used, from "C" to "D." At any rate, the two reliefs which rocked the above rows had short designs, which can be accounted for in no other way, other than in an "intentional" short transfer.

In addition, a combination of some of the above causes accounts for several of the One Cent types, as for example a relief that has been trimmed may be short transferred to the plate and thus produce a different design from any existing relief and further, a short transfer on the plate from such a trimmed relief may lose some further weak lines during the cleaning up of the plate by erasures.

Regarding Cause # 3, if a plate has been in use for any length of time, its condition is altered when recutting is done on any or all of its designs.

Printings from the original condition of one of the One Cent Plates before recutting or alteration have been referred to as "first state" and printings from the altered or recut plate, as "second state."

In recent years these terms have been changed to "early condition" and "late condition."

Regarding "shifted transfers," this term is very often misused. One may infer all "shifts" are the result of a careless original transfer of the "relief to a certain position on the plate," where as the great majority of the "One Cent "shifts" are not shifted transfers, but are in fact "Re-Entries," as for example, a plate which has been in use for some months may show some signs of wear, and in order to correct the weak portions of the designs, the plate is placed in the transfer press and the roll applied a second time.

Thus in the original condition of the plate printings from a certain position may show no "shifted" parts of the design, whereas in the second condition, after the re-entry, printings from this same position may show double impression of parts of the design.

The term re-entry must not be confused with the term "fresh-entry" which occurs when a position has been improperly transferred, then removed from the plate by the burnisher, and a fresh-entry rocked in.

Should any trace be left on the plate of the original entry such traces will appear and may be mistaken for "shifts."

As a plate becomes worn through long use, the more visible become such original entries, much the same as any recutting on the plate becomes much plainer on impressions from a badly worn plate than in early printings.

And thus we arrive at one of the most interesting things found in line engraved stamps, viz.: the "triple transfer" and in the explanation of same, reference to this variety will only be made as it refers to certain one cent stamps of these series. Thus we find in these stamps printings from certain positions on a plate which are the result of the following processes:

First: Traces of an original entry which was removed from the plate by the burnisher.

Second: A "fresh entry" superimposed over the original entry.

Third: a latter re-entry of the roller.

Such is a Triple Transfer, but in addition to these triple transfers on certain One Cent stamps we find that certain lines have been recut and the fresh entry was "rocked in" in reverse from the original re-entry. In this manner did the well known "inverted triple transfers" of the One Cent stamps originate.

THE TYPES

The Scott Standard Catalogue lists six types under the 1851-56 Imperforate issue, and seven types for the 1857-1860 Perforated issue.

The imperforates were produced from four plates of which one plate had two conditions (due to re-cutting). In reality therefore while the six imperforate types came from only four plates the imperforate stamps as we find them today appear to have come from five different plates.

The seven types of the Perforated stamps were produced from three of the Imperforate plates and eight additional plates or a total of eleven plates.

When one considers that each plate consisted of two "panes" of 100 stamps or rather positions to a pane, a total of 200 positions to a plate, and that there were a total of twelve actual plates, with two conditions to one plate, there is little wonder why some difficulty is frequently encountered in assigning the 2600 different stamps produced from the twelve plates to the seven different types listed in the Catalogue.

The general collector complains of too many listings of "minor" varieties, whereas the Specialist finds fault for the lack of recognition of additional well known but unlisted varieties, and to please each and additional classes of collectors is no easy task for the Cataloguer.

In consideration of the only too frequent mis-classifications of the various types of the One Cent Stamps by collectors as well as dealers, and mis-descriptions in Auction Catalogues, some serious attempt will be made in this analysis to explain the differences that exist between the various types and to present a few general rules, that will, it is hoped, give a clearer and better understanding of these most interesting stamps.

All of the One Cent stamps originated from but one original die, yet seldom do we find these stamps contain the original design as it existed on the die.

What prompted the makers of the plates to furnish stamps which were otherwise in appearance than the original accepted and approved design? Why did the Post Office Department accept One Cent stamps for ten years which were incomplete and therefore unlike the original approved design?

These questions cannot be answered by the writer at this time.

The issues of 1851 and 1857 were supplied under contract to the Post Office Department, by Messrs. Toppan, Carpenter, Casilear & Co., a very prominent firm of Bank Note Engravers of that period. We are told all the records of this firm were destroyed by fire in the early seventies, hence little has been left the student in the way of documentary information to assist him in the study of the "Toppan, Carpenter" stamps. I might add that the great majority of the known history is the result of intensive study of the stamps themselves by leading U. S. Specialists of the past and present, and in the term "known history" we include such facts, as the number of plates actually used, when the different plates were made, and, when put to use, when they were altered, when certain ones were discarded and why, etc.

Nine out of ten collectors use a catalogue as their sole guide and perhaps much of the trouble experienced by many in properly classifying the different types is because of the absence of illustrations in the Standard Catalogue.

Perhaps a further reason may exist in the scant space devoted to the brief description of the types of this most interesting of United States stamps, whereas much space is devoted to minute descriptions of such stamps, for example as the early issues of Portugal, etc.

Various different terms have been used in the past to designate the different parts of the complete design of the "One Cent, 51."

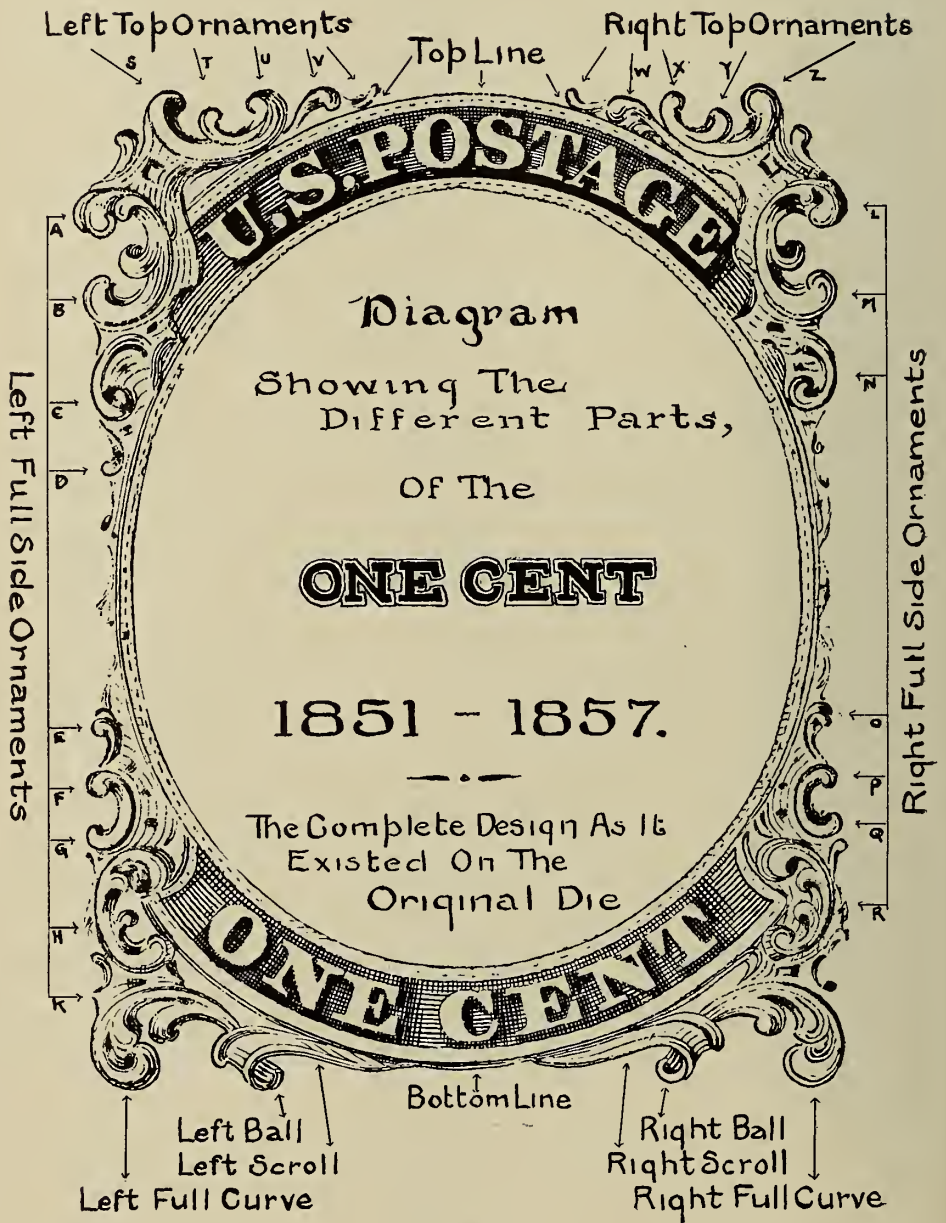

FIGURE ONE.

Chase in his notes on these stamps (1851 and 1857) published some five years ago, gave names to the parts of the design which are self-explanatory and his terms have been used in these notes. He described the design as follows: "The complete design as found on the die proof and also on the Reprints (1875) and India and cardboard proofs (the latter fortunately being easily procurable for reference) consists of a Central Medallion showing in profile the head of Franklin facing to the right. Above is the upper label containing the words "U. S. Postage" and below is the lower label with the inscription "One Cent." Above the top label is the top line, and below the lower label is the bottom line. The Upper Ornaments are the two small ear shaped arabesques, one at either side at the top of the design above the upper label. The Scrolls at the bottom of the stamp are turned under and form little balls under "On" of "One" and under "NT" of Cent." The lower ornaments are the two large plume shaped arabesques, one on either side at the bottom of the design. The two curved lines, parallel and close together, forming the lowest part of these lower ornaments in the full design will be referred to as the full curves. The side Ornaments are the arabesques at either side of the design, between the upper and lower ornaments."

ISSUE OF 1851 IMPERFORATE

The reader's attention is called to the description of the Type I in the 1922 edition of the Standard Catalogue, as follows: "Type I has a curved line outside the labels with 'U. S. Postage' and 'One Cent.' The Scrolls below the lower label are turned under forming little balls. The scrolls and outer line at top are complete."

Figure 2 illustrates the full Type I design, or the "complete" design as it existed on the original Die and as it appears on the 1875 Reprints, etc. Mr. Luff in his book describes this Type as follows: "One Cent Type I. This is the full and complete form of the stamp as it appears on the die. In this form there is a curved line outside and parallel to the labels containing the words 'U. S. Postage' and 'One Cent.' Below the lower label and line is a scroll, turned to the right and left having the ends carried under and rolled up until they form little balls. There are graceful arabesques at each corner, spreading along the sides and to a less degree, along the top and bottom."

The very essence of the above description exists in the following words: "This is the full and complete form as it appears on the die." How can a stamp be a type I if it does not show the complete design?

It appears to me that the catalogue description is rather vague for the following reasons. No mention is made of the side ornaments (see Figure 1) or of the very important "full curves" (see Figures 1 and 2) forming the principal parts of the lower full ornaments. The Catalogue description reads: "The scrolls and Outer line at top are complete," whereas this part should read: "The ornaments at top and the Outer Line at top are complete," for the collector is apt to be misled by the word "Scrolls" which term had been used in describing the scroll like ornaments at the bottom.

All of the Imperforates came from but four plates, which will be referred to as follows:

Plate 1 "early" (1E)

Plate 1 "late" (1L)

Plate 2

Plate 3

Plate 4

These are called the "Imperforate plates," not because imperforate stamps only were issued from these plates, but because no imperforates were issued from any of the other subsequent plates.

A Transfer Roll containing three reliefs was used to rock in the designs of Plates 1, 2 and 3. This Roll will be referred to as #1.

(Note—It is possible two rolls were used, one containing one relief, the other containing two reliefs, but in describing the make up of these three plates, the three reliefs will be referred to as existing on a single roll).

A Transfer Roll (#2) containing six reliefs on its surface was used for Plate 4, and for this plate only.

In referring to certain stamps from certain positions on the plates, such stamps or their plate positions will be designated as follows: 31 L 2, the figure 31 referring to the position, the letter L the pane, the figure 2, the plate. Thus 31 L2 is the first stamp to the left in the fourth horizontal row of the left pane of Plate 2.

A position such as 20 R1E refers to the last stamp to the right in the second horizontal row of the right pane of Plate 1E, or 20 R1L would refer to the same position on Plate 1L. (The small E for "early condition," and the small L for "late condition.")

THE TRUE TYPE I

In laying out Plate 1, the first eight positions rocked on the plate were 10R-9R-8R-7R-6R-5R-4R and 3R in the order named.

These eight positions were rocked by one of the reliefs which contained the full and complete "Die Design" or Type I. Evidently much difficulty was encountered in the transfer of these eight positions as only one was fully transferred while the other seven all show a "short transfer" at the bottom, with the result that these seven designs as transferred to the plate did not contain the full and complete "die design."

The one position completely rocked from the relief was 7R or as this position is properly known, 7R1E. (The seventh position from the left in the right pane of Plate 1 "Early" condition).

Before proceeding to rock 2R and subsequently the balance of the plate, the relief mentioned above, which contained the complete design, was trimmed; that is, parts of the top and lower ornaments, including the turned under balls, were cut off, with the result that this relief then contained a design which was a Type II. This trimmed Relief we call "Relief T" (see figure #3).

This relief ("T" Relief) was then used to rock 2R-1R and the entire top row of the left pane. The other two reliefs ("A" and "B" reliefs) also trimmed to a Type II design were used to rock the remaining nine horizontal rows. The second transfer roll, used to rock Plate 4, had six reliefs, but none contained the complete design, as all of these six reliefs were more or less trimmed or cut away at the top or bottom or both, but not at the sides.

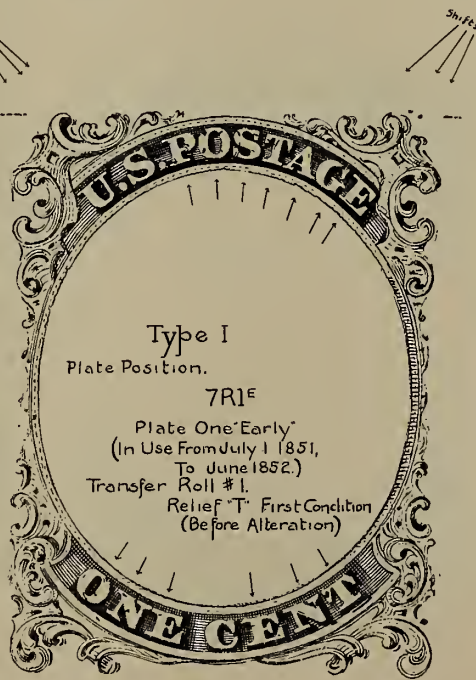

FIG. 4.

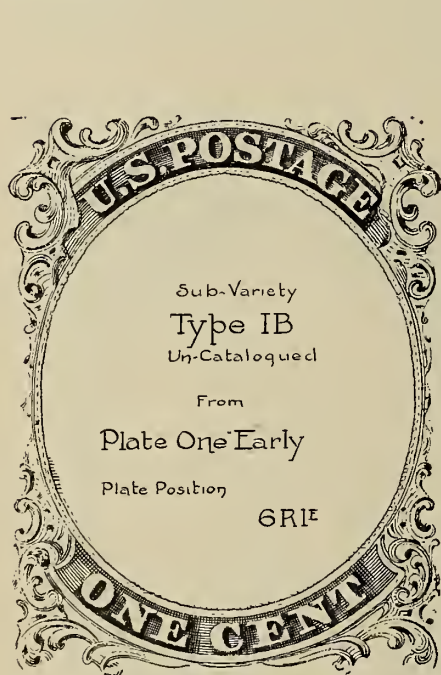

Thus, on the four plates, from which originated all the One Cent Imperforates, only eight, out of a total of 800 positions, were rocked with a relief which contained the complete die design or Type I, and of these eight positions only one was sufficiently "rocked in" so that impressions from this position produced a similar full reproduction of the original die.

This one position 7R 1E, (see Figure 4) produced the only Type I imperforate stamps.

This partially explains why the Type I Imperforate is one of the rarest stamps of our General Issues, but there exists a further reason. Plate 1 was in use from July 1, 1851 (referring to date of issue of these stamps) until the latter part of 1857, or a period of over six years, but in June (?) 1852, the plate was altered by recutting parts of every position but one on the plate and so Plate 1E became Plate 1L at that time. And likewise 7R 1E the only Type I became 7R 1L, a Type IV.

Therefore the Imperforate Type I comes from only one position on only one plate, and this one plate in its original condition and containing this one position furnishing the Type I stamp was in use less than one year.

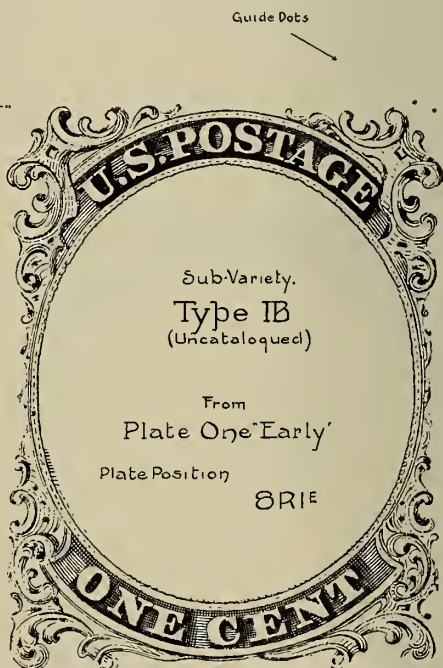

By the tedious reconstruction of the imperforate plates the above facts have been learned, proving perhaps that plate reconstruction, or "plating" is not altogether a senseless pastime indulged in by a very few over zealous specialists. (See Appendix "B").

Of the other seven positions mentioned above in the top row of the right pane of Plate 1E, six of these (3R, 4R, 5R, 6R, 8R and 9R) contained short transfers of the full type I relief, that is designs completely transferred at the top, but "short" at the bottom, some more than the others.

Stamps from these six positions are often incorrectly classified as Type I, or "near Type I."

These six top row positions do not properly come under any type listed in the catalogue but belong to a separate and un-catalogued type listing. Luff says a Type I "is the full and complete design as it appears on the die." None of these six positions show the complete design.

The writer calls these sub-varieties, Type IB and a description follows:

Type IB, The ornaments at top and the top line are complete the same as in type I. Either one or both turned under balls are faint or incomplete. The "Full curves" at right or left or both are not complete.

The two best examples of this sub-type IB out of the six positions are 8R 1E (see figure 5) and 6R 1E (see Figure 6). It will be noted that the top of the design in both of these stamps is complete. 8R1E shows a complete "left full curve" but an incomplete "right full curve," and both balls almost complete.

6R1E shows the "left full curve" less complete than 8R, both balls not quite so complete and the "right full curve" very similar to 8R.

The remaining four positions 3R, 4R, 5R and 9R all show slightly less of the design than either 6R or 8R.

Of the eight positions in this top row mentioned above, seven have been classified. The remaining position 10 R 1E does not classify as Type 1B, on account of the extreme short transfer. It is a Type II. Little trace exists of either balls or full curves. (See Figure 11).

This top row of Plate 1E is a very interesting study for it contained:

The only Type I position,

The only Type IB positions, (of which there were six),

Three Type II positions, one of which had the design complete at the top (10R1E) whereas the other two (1R1E and 2R1E) had the top ornaments "trimmed" (similar to Figure 3).

No other stamps from this plate (Plate 1E) nor stamps from any of the other plates classify as Type IB.

Not infrequently an auction catalogue lists for sale, a "pair" or "strip of three of Type One."

Such descriptions are wrong, unless such catalogue descriptions intend to follow the type listings as they existed some twenty years ago.

Leading students now recognize no stamps as Type I, other than 7R1E, hence, there cannot exist such items as pairs, strips, or blocks of the Imperforate Type I, unless it might be an imperforate error (?) from Plate 12, which is highly improbable, and unknown.

Type I (7R1E) in a horizontal pair must include a copy of the Type 1B or as a vertical pair a Type IIIA. (See Appendix A at end of these notes.) A horizontal strip of three including type I (7R1E) must have two copies of Type 1B, and a vertical strip of three including type I must have one Type IIIA (17R1E) and one Type II (27R1E). (See Appendix "A".)

A block of four including Type I (7R1E) must consist of three main types and one sub-type—the two upper stamps in such a block must be type I (7R) and Type 1B (8R) or Type 1B (6R) and Type I (7R) and the two lower stamps Type IIIA (17R), and Type II, (18R) or Type II (16R) and Type IIIA (17R).

Type 1 is found in three shades,—pale blue, blue and dark blue. The first printings were in a very pale blue and this shade was probably used until about February 1852, the later printings running from blue to dark blue. In the last shade, dark blue, the Type 1 imperforate is extremely rare as this shade was used about the time the plate was altered. The writer has seen but one copy in this shade.

Type I stamps can be easily identified by the very decided so-called "Shifted transfer," properly a "re-entered transfer," which shows markedly in this position (7R1E).

Figure 4 illustrates the doubled parts of the design due to the re-entry. The "shift" of the Type 1 and also those on the Types 1B make it extremely difficult for the forger to imitate these stamps.

The present listing in the catalogue of Type 1 (# 30) refers to no stamp other than 7 R 1 E hence it is the only stamp or position on the plate to which the catalogue price applies. It will also be noted that this stamp is not priced unused, an item which the writer has never seen but which is said to be owned by a prominent Eastern collector. Attention is also called to the notation in the catalogue "Prices for Types 1 and 111 are for stamps showing the marked characteristics plainly. Copies of Type 1 showing the balls indistinctly and of Type 111 with the lines only slightly broken, supplied at much lower prices."

Waterhouse in his book illustrates a Type 1 stamp, and describes it as the "7th impression in the top row of the right hand pane of Plate One." His illustration is however not this position but a retouched photograph of one of the 1875 reprints. His illustration lacks the right and left "full curves" and has the top line broken, hence not a Type 1. None of his illustrations are from actual stamps but his illustration of the Type 1 A is correct. He illustrates what might perhaps be an attempt to picture a stamp from the body of Plate Four and which he designates as Type 1B. This illustration is likewise a retouched photograph of one of the 1875 reprints. He states his Type 1 B are mostly from the top row of Plate one. This is not correct as no top row stamps from any of the four imperforate plates had the top line broken as his cut shows. Therefore his Type 1 B is not the stamp so listed in the present notes. His illustrations of this type are classified here as Type 111A. On page 25 of the same work it is stated that "the true Type 1 is from the top row of Plate one, the stamp on either side of it being 1 B, and Type 1 A is only found in the bottom row of Plate Three and cannot exist in a vertical pair or have a stamp of any other type below it." Also it will be noted that the top row of Plate One contained no stamps like his illustration of Type 1 B on page 29.

These remarks on the Waterhouse book are not inserted in any spirit of captious criticism but only to correct misunderstanding of these notes because of the wide circulation the book has had in this country.

In passing mention should be made of the clever (?) fakes of Type I which turn up from time to time. These are quite often made by adding the "full ornaments" to type II copies with ink or paint or by trimming copies of the perforated reprints, darkening their color and "finding" them in an old collection. The writer hopes that the accompanying illustrations will enable our readers to properly "expertize" these in the future.

ISSUE OF 1857-1860, PERFORATED

We have been told in the past the One Cent stamps were issued in February 1857 (Luff Page 77) but a one cent perforated copy is not known to exist showing an earlier use than August 1857. The last plate, Plate 12, made for this denomination by Toppan, Carpenter, was not laid out until late in 1860. The earliest known used copies from it are January 1861.

Plate 12 was rocked in with a two relief roll, one of the reliefs being a full Type I, the other a full Type II. No other plate produced any Type I stamps (other than the one position on Plate 1), hence during the time from June (?) 1852 to January (?) 1861, no Type I stamps, or rather stamps bearing the originally accepted complete design, were printed or issued.

Plate 12, which was only in use about six to seven months, therefore produced the only Type I Perforated Stamps, which accounts for the semi-scarce-ness of this stamp. This plate consisted of about an equal number of Type I and Type II designs.

No difficulty need be encountered in identifying Type I stamps from this plate, because Type I perforate with the design complete can come from no other plate, except the Reprint plate made in 1875.

Many copies of this type from Plate 12 show the full design cut into by the perforations and frequently such copies are listed and priced as the full type. Such copies are not Type I but are stamps that were Type I before the perforations were applied. This not only applies to stamps from this plate but to all the perforated One Cent stamps.

Well centered copies can be had, whereas poorly perforated copies add nothing to a collection and are in fact a detriment.

Type I, perforate can exist in vertical and horizontal pairs, or in a horizontal strip of three but not as a vertical strip of three. It can exist in combination with Type II in a vertical or horizontal pair, but in combination with no other type.

TYPE IA

ISSUE OF 1851 IMPERFORATE

The catalogue describes this type as follows: "Type 1A—Same as I at bottom but scrolls and outer line at top are partly cut away." Figure 12 is an illustration of the type listed. By use of the word "scrolls" the average collector in trying to figure out the above description would probably infer the "bottom scrolls" are partly cut away in spite of the fact the description states "scrolls and outer line at top, etc."

Top Ornaments Cut Away,
And Top Line Broken.

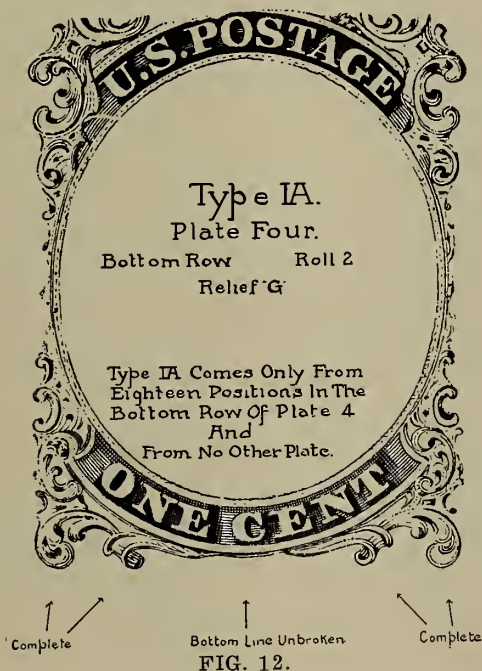

FIG. 12.

If the Type I was better explained in the catalogue, then some such description as the following would more properly describe Type IA. "Same as Type I at the bottom, the top line is indistinctly broken and the top ornaments are almost entirely cut away."

Waterhouse properly assigns this type to its proper class and describes it as follows: "This has all the same characteristics as Type I, except that the extreme top ornaments are cut away; it is from the bottom rows of Plate Three; which was only in use a very short time before perforation was applied."

No mention is made in this description of the top line being broken and he is wrong as to the plate, as this Type comes only from the bottom row of Plate 4 instead of Plate 3.

Some stamps from this row show a line of color across the top of the stamp and this line of color may be mistaken for the indistinct broken top line.

Like the full Type I many stamps are often incorrectly classified as Type IA; for example the following is from a recent auction catalogue, "Type IA, but scrolls at bottom not complete."

Plate Four was "rocked in" with a six relief roller, but only one row on this plate had designs, showing the complete bottom part of the Die Design. (Both full curves and both balls complete.)

The Relief used to rock this row, (designated as the "G" Relief") was trimmed at the top of the design.

In the "cleaning up" of this plate much burnishing was done in the horizontal spacings, and where the burnisher failed to touch the tops of certain positions in the bottom row, these positions show a "clean cut" existing on this relief. All positions in this row do not show the "clean cut" top part of the relief, but rather the lines fade away, due to the burnishing, or erasing.

This "G" relief also rocked the sixth row on the plate but no position in this row contains a full bottom design, as it existed on the relief, or shows in copies from the bottom row. A close study of stamps from this row indicates that almost every position was intentionally short transferred at the bottom, and where more of the design extended into the horizontal spacing below this row, than was intended, such parts were erased.

In my attempt to reconstruct this plate, I have not as yet succeeded in putting this entire bottom row together due to the scarcity of type IA stamps, but am fairly certain I have a record of all the 20 different positions comprising this row. Of this I am certain, two separate positions show a short transfer of the "right full curve" and a partial short transfer of the right ball, depriving these two positions of the right to be classified as type IA. These two positions come under the classification of Type IC, the uncatalogued sub-type described further on.

Therefore instead of the entire bottom row (20 positions) of Plate 4, only eighteen positions in this row are full Type IA.

This Plate was made in all probability in the early part of 1857. All early printings are imperforate and no perforated copies have been noted prior to August 1857.

Some students are of the opinion this plate was made for the perforated stamps, in other words, laid out with the idea in mind that printings from it were to be perforated. It is a question whether it was or was not. The arguments against the above theory can no doubt be attributed to the inexperience the makers had up to that time with the problems of perforation. Fine copies of Type IA stamps showing a nice sheet margin at the bottom, emphasize the full type I bottom part of the design and are very beautiful stamps, coming as they generally do in a deep rich shade of blue. The catalogue price reflects the scarcity of ordinary copies but very fine copies are worth a considerable premium over the listed price.

No "shifted transfers" exist in this type.

There has been some difference of opinion in the past among Specialists regarding the relative scarcity of Type I and Type IA Stamps. Perhaps the following may be of interest on this subject. For each sheet of 200 stamps printed from Plate 1E only one Type I was produced. Of each sheet of 200 printed from Plate 4, only eighteen were Type IA.

The earliest known date of use of an imperforate Plate 4 stamp is April 19, 1857 and the earliest known date of use of a perforated copy is August 5, 1857.

Therefore Imperforate sheets could not have been issued for any extended period unless both imperforated and perforated sheets were issued concurrently during the fall of 1857. Perhaps they were for many imperforates are found used all through the year 1858. However these late dated copies prove nothing.

As an argument to offset the probable short life of the imperforate stamps from this plate, the reader is reminded of the fact that prior to 1855 the use of stamps was not compulsory by law, hence fewer stamps were needed in the years 1851 to 1855 than in 1857.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1852 there was issued to Postmasters the total of 5,489,242 One Cent stamps. It is not definitely known when Plate 1 was altered but from all indications it was done in June 1852.

Suppose we assume, not as a fact, but as a guess, that the above 5,489,242 stamps issued from July 1 1851 to July 1 1852 were all from Plate 1E, and on this basis there were produced but 27,446 copies of Type I. (One out of each 200).

I doubt if this estimated number is actually more or less than 1500 copies from being correct.

All figures regarding the number of Type IA stamps produced would be nothing more than a wild guess, for no report is available showing the number of One Cent stamps issued in 1857.

However for the year ending June 30 1859 there was issued the total of 44,432,300 One Cent stamps which is quite an increase over the 1852 report.

Perhaps some 35,000,000 stamps were issued in 1857. As Plate 4 was a new Plate, and three others were also in use, as a guess, suppose we figure 2,000,000 imperforates from this plate, which would give us approximately 100,000 copies of Type IA in comparison with the estimate of approximately 28,000 copies of Type I.

My guess as to the number of imperforate stamps issued from Plate 4 may be much too high or far too conservative.

One man could print approximately 300 sheets a day, at that time, and only allowing for twenty working days to a month, some 6000 sheets or 1,200,000 stamps could be produced.

It is not my purpose to suggest the idea that Type I is some three times rarer than a Type IA, but there can exist no question of a doubt that Type I is a much rarer stamp than Type IA.

THE SUB-TYPE

Type IC

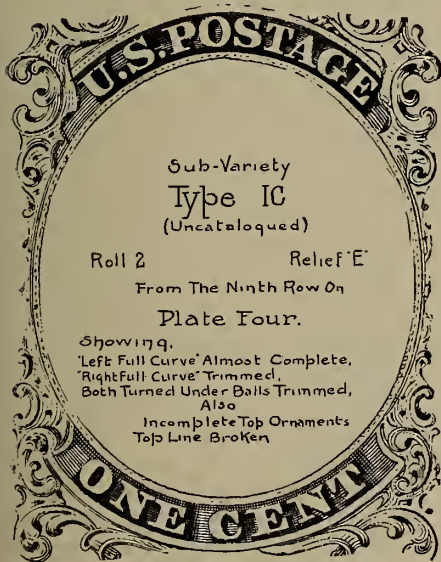

FIG. 13.

The closest approach to the full Type IA stamps are certain copies coming from a few positions in the 9th row of plate Four, and the two above mentioned positions in the bottom row.

The 9th row of this most interesting plate was rocked with a different relief than the one used for the 10th row, however the reliefs as they existed on the roll closely resembled each other.

Very few ninth row positions show the full relief as it existed on the roller,—it's barely possible none do. Certain positions however produced stamps closely resembling type IA copies and its stamps from these exceptional 9th row positions and the two 10th row positions above mentioned, that come under no type description in the catalogue.

The writer calls these rare sub-varieties, Type IC, and lists them as an uncatalogued sub-type of Type IA.

Figure 13 is an example, and a description is as follows: Type IC—same as Type IA at the top, showing the top ornaments cut away and the top line definitely broken. Somewhat similar at the bottom to types I and IA with the exception that the "right full curve is only half complete and the right turned under ball is only half complete. The left full curve must be complete (or practically complete), the left ball may be complete or only half complete."

A careful comparison between the illustrations of Type IA and Type IC will show the differences between the two types and explain my reason for the sub-listing.

Type IC stamps are often classified as Type IA but they should not be so listed as the lower right part of the design is not complete as in type IA.

The shortness of this part of the design on stamps from certain positions in the 9th row is due to a trimming of the relief, a very decided and clean cut, whereas the two positions in the 10th row are due to a short transfer of the relief, or just barely possible to some erasure at these particular points. Both 10th row stamps while similar are not absolutely alike in their incompleteness at the lower right corner.

It has been suggested these two positions were rocked with the 9th row relief, but there is absolute proof to the contrary.

Type IA stamps are rare and pairs or strips are very seldom seen.

Type IA can not occur in a horizontal pair in combination with any other Type, but the sub-type IC. Type IA can only occur in a vertical pair, or in a vertical strip of three, with the following types, Type IC, Type III, and Type IIIA.

Plate 4 is an exceedingly difficult bit of Plate reconstruction and it would be well nigh impossible to reconstruct, if it were not for the perforated strips, pairs and blocks from this plate.

The catalogue does not attempt to list a price for an unused copy of this stamp, but in a New York auction in the Spring of 1921 an unused strip of three is reported to have sold at approximately $2000.

TYPE IA

ISSUE OF 1857—PERFORATED

As Plate 4 was the only plate to produce Type IA stamps or its sub-type, IC, the description under the imperforates of these types applies to the above heading with a few additional notes.

Type IA perforated, according to the catalogue is the scarcest type in used condition, of all the One Cent perforates.

It is a fact that the stamp when found in fine condition is much scarcer than the catalogue indicates, for it is seldom found without the perforations cutting into the top or bottom of the design and therefore spoiling the type.

The question might possibly be asked how to tell the difference between a perforated copy from the bottom row of Plate 4 and a Type I copy from Plate 12, both badly perforated at top, and therefore the top type characteristics not visible. Plate 4 copies are nearly always fine clear impressions, whereas Plate 12 stamps are generally poor impressions. The shade is also entirely different and many copies from Plate 12 show a blue ink film, due to the imperfect wiping of the plate.

Very few Plate 4 stamps are known used as late as 1861, the date of use of Plate 12 stamps.

ISSUE OF 1851 IMPERFORATE

The catalogue contains the following descriptions of this Type.

"Type II—Same as Type I, but the scrolls are not turned under." This is certainly very brief. Following this description let us take a look at Figure 2 and eliminate the "left ball" and the "right ball," and we have a design the catalogue describes, but strange to state, no such One Cent Stamp exists.

Luff describes Type II as follows: "Is much the same as Type I, but the balls forming the ends of the scrolls and frequently the extreme tips of the arabesques have been cut away."

Waterhouse describes Type II briefly as follows, "Scrolls not turned in."

A proper description of Type II suggests itself to me, somewhat as follows: Type II similar to Type I but the lower part of the arabesques or "full curves" at the right and left bottom, and also the turned under balls are missing. The top line and bottom line are complete and unbroken, and the top ornaments may be either complete or only partially complete. (See figures 9 and 10). Imperforate Stamps that properly classify as type II come from the following plates: Plates 1E, 1L, 2 and 3. Some few very scarce stamps from the top row of Plate 4 also classify as Type II (see figure 14).

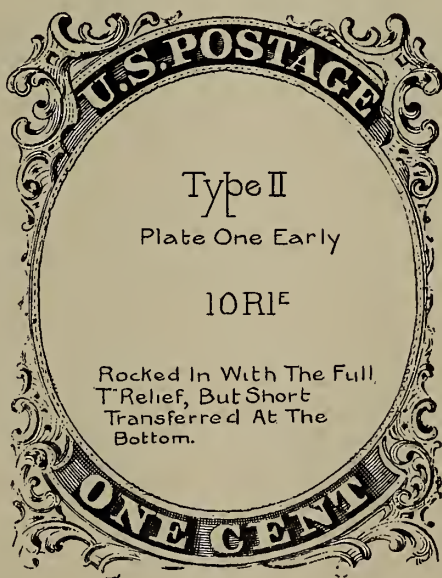

FIG. 11.

Type II stamps from Plate 1E are from three reliefs as follows:

- Relief "T" (first state, or before the relief was trimmed at the top).
One position 10R1E (see figure 11).
- Relief "T" (second state, or after the relief was trimmed at the top), twelve positions, (the entire top row of the left pane and two positions in the top row of the right pane; 1R and 2R) see figure 3.
- Relief "A" used on the 2nd, 4th, 6th and 8th rows of both panes, (see Figure 15).
- Relief "B" used on the 3rd, 5th, 7th, 9th and 10th rows, (see Figure 16), shows the full top ornaments rather indistinct, but nevertheless complete.

Stamps coming from a top row of a plate and showing complete top ornaments, show such ornaments much more distinctly than stamps from the "B" Relief (Fig. 16).

Plate 1L had only one position that produced Type II stamps (4R1L).

Plate 2 contained 198 Type II positions and was "rocked in," in the same order for the Reliefs, from the same Roll, as Plate 1 except the "T" Relief (Second State) was used for the entire top row.

Plate 3, in all probability, contained all Type II positions and was laid out in the same order, and with the same Transfer Roll.

The one Type II position on Plate 1L, 4R1L (see Figure 17) furnished Type II stamps, that are semi-rare. When this plate was altered every position but one was recut. This one position, 4R on Plate 1E was a Type IB, but when the plate was recut, many positions, including 4R were re-entered, and in the case of the re-entry of this position the trimmed "T" relief was used. (This position being originally rocked in with the "T" Relief before it was trimmed).

No doubt some erasure also occurred, because after the alteration of the plate, 4R showed but little of its Type IB characteristics, and became a typical Type II. (Compare Fig. 17 with Fig. 8.)

This particular Type II can only occur in a horizontal or vertical pair with a Type IV and likewise Type IV can only exist in combination in a pair or strip with this particular Type II, and with no other Type. Strips, pairs or blocks containing 4R1L are very interesting and are quite scarce.

Plate 4 produced the scarcest of Type II, then Plate 1L, Plate 3, Plate 1E and Plate 2 in the order named.

All stamps from the top row of Plate 4 do not classify as Type II as some of these have the bottom line broken. Those that are Type II have an unbroken bottom line and the full design at the top. (See Figure 14).

All show some slight trace of the turned under balls, but no trace of either the right or left full curves. Some Students have been reluctant to classify these Plate 4 top row copies with unbroken bottom lines, as Type II due to their scarcity.

Some Type II stamps from Plate 1E show the faintest break in the top line, others show a part of the top line so very faint it may appear in poor copies as entirely broken and thus some of these stamps are often incorrectly classified as Type IIIA. (See Appendix "A").

All Type II stamps other than those from Plates 1 and 4 were until recently supposed to have come from Plate 2. This was before the existence of Plate 3 was known, and at that time the Plate we now know as Plate 4 was called "Plate 3?". Material from Plate 3 is exceedingly scarce. Evidently the plate was used very little, probably on account of some defect in its manufacture. The writer is having a very difficult time to make much progress with its reconstruction, but feels reasonably sure it produced no types other than Type II. As an example of the indifference on the part of the great majority of American collectors to the serious study of our stamps, I doubt if there are more than three specialists in this Country, who can positively identify Plate 3 Stamps.

In former years, we were under the impression that all One Cent imperforates had complete side ornaments, however the reconstruction of Plate 2 and the subsequent work on Plate 3 has proved this general rule to be incorrect.

Certain positions on Plates 2 and 3, all Type II, produced copies showing a shortness at the sides of certain side ornaments.

Such Type II stamps however must not be confused with Type V stamps which generally have very incomplete sides and in addition both top and bottom lines broken.

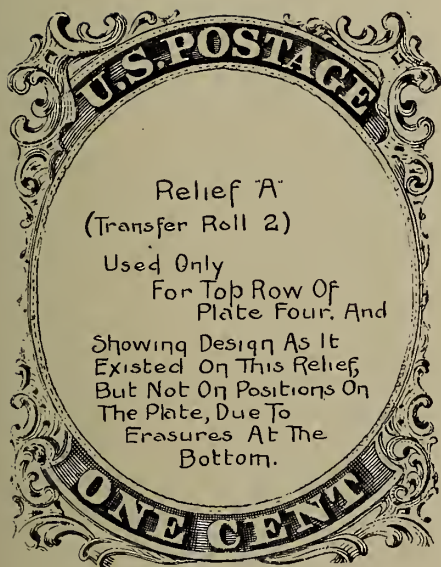

FIG. 14.

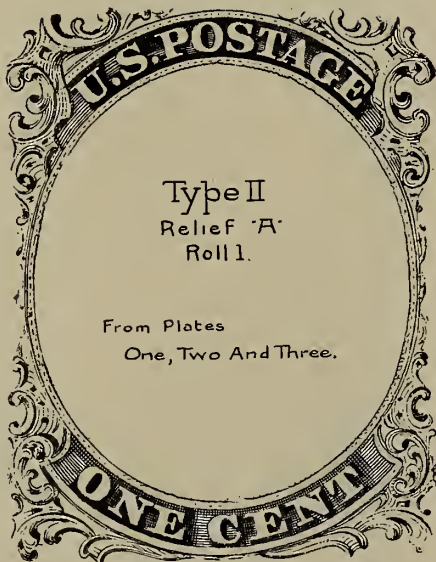

FIG. 15.

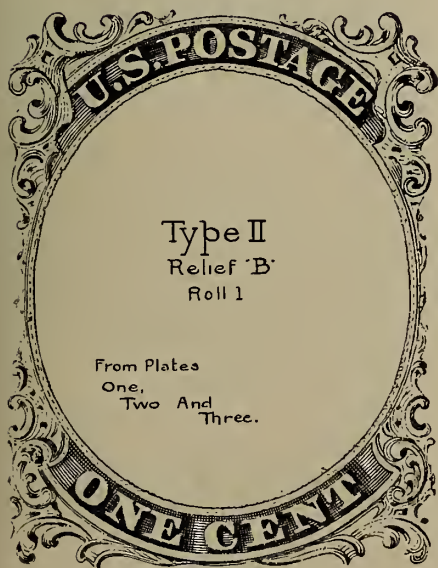

FIG. 16.

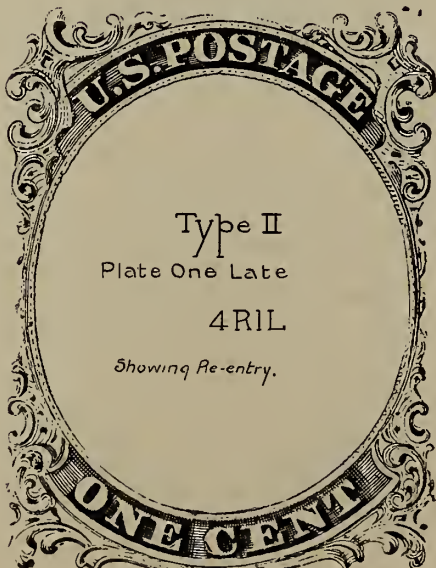

FIG. 17.

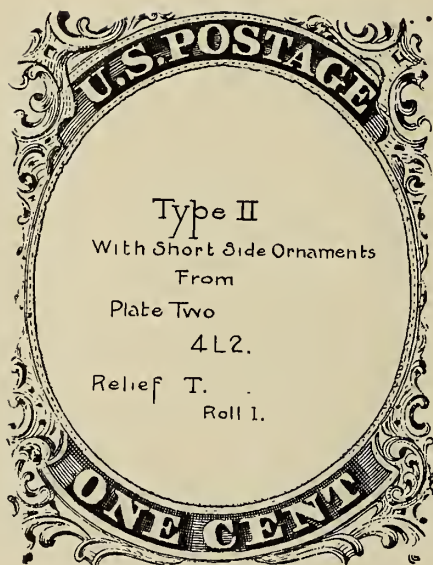

FIG. 18.

Figure 18 illustrates a type II from Plate 2 showing "incomplete side ornaments." It will be noted the following ornaments are incomplete, A. B. C. K. L. M. and N. (see Diagram, Figure # 1).

These shorts may be the result of an imperfect transfer from the reliefs to the plates, but the most probable cause of their origin are erasures at certain points in the plate during the "cleaning up" of it.

Plate 2 furnished the well known Type II "Cracked Plate" copies, and some very wonderful so-called "shifts."

Type II can occur in pairs in combination with Types IB, III, IIIA, and IV, but not in a pair with Type IA or its Sub-Type IC. (Note—If 17R1E ever produced any Type II stamps, then Type II can occur in a vertical pair with Type I (7R1E). (See Appendix "A").

Unused copies of Type II from Plate 1E are very scarce, and the writer has never seen an unused copy of this type from Plate 3.

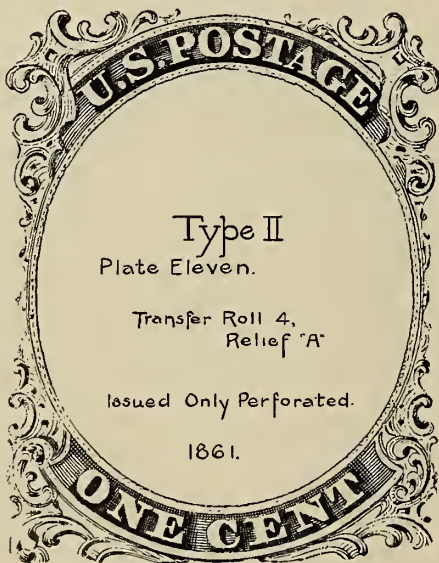

FIG. 19.

FIG. 20.

TYPE II*ISSUE OF 1857-1860 PERFORATED

Perforated Type II stamps come only from the following Plates, 1L (4R), 2, 4, 11 and 12. So far as known no printings from the scarce Plate 3 were ever issued perforated but further study may refute this supposition.

It will be noted all imperforate Type II stamps were issued perforated with the exception of printings from Plate 1E and Plate 3.

The different type II reliefs from the above plates have been described and illustrated.

In addition to the above Plates, two others, 11 and 12, furnished (perforated only) Type II stamps.

Figure 19 illustrates stamps of this type from Plate 11, which come from the top row. As Plate 11 material is quite scarce, little has been done in the reconstruction of the plate, and so far as known, the relief which rocked the top row was not used on any other rows. The other reliefs used for the other nine rows had the top line broken, but the bottom line complete, hence very fine examples of Type IIIA.

Type II Perforated stamps can occur in pairs with the following types only, I, II, III, IIIA and IV. It cannot occur in a pair with Types IA, IB, IC or V.

The scarcest Type II perforated stamp comes from Plate 1L, (4R1L) then Plates 11, 4, or 12 and 2 in the order named.

TYPE III*ISSUE OF 1851 IMPERFORATE

The Catalogue describes this type very briefly as follows: "Type III, same as type II but the curved lines outside the labels at top and bottom are broken in the middle. The side ornaments are complete."

As a space saver, this description is partially correct. The phrase, same as Type II is partly incorrect, for approximately 50% of all type II stamps had complete ornaments at top whereas no Type III stamps show complete top ornaments.

It would appear from the catalogue that in point of relative rarity, type III is on a parity with Type I and a scarcer type than Type IA.

The type listing however refers to one particular stamp 99R2 which is undoubtedly the finest example of Type III produced from any of the plates.

With the exception of this one stamp all other type III stamps come from certain positions in the body of Plate 4. As the reconstruction of this Plate 4 has not been completed, it is impossible to state at this time how many Type III positions existed on it. One fact, however, of which I feel absolutely sure, with the exception of 99 R 2, Type III stamps are not as rare as either Type I or Type IA.

As 99 R 2 is an exception it should be given a separate listing in the catalogue, such as "Type III Plate 2" and the average Type III copies listed as "Type III Plate 4." In this manner 99 R 2 would not be placing a false high value on Type III copies from Plate 4.

In fixing a value on Plate 4, Type III stamps, an average price should be given, because some are finer examples of the type than others. A few are very poor examples and barely get in this type classification. In considering the value of Plate 4 stamps, the following general rule might well be borne in mind. The value of a Type III depends, as a type, on the extent to which both the top and bottom lines are broken.

Condition not considered, as that is an entirely different subject.

Figure 21 is an illustration of the stamp listed in the catalogue as Type III (99R2) and shows the very great extent of the break in both the top and bottom lines.

All Type III stamps are plate varieties, as none of the reliefs on any of the rolls consisted of this type, that is with both top and bottom lines broken. The rare 99 R 2 is the result of a very decided short transfer in the attempt to re-enter this position, which was rocked with a relief of Type II. The short occurs at both top and bottom and is the cause of both lines being broken. The position above (89R2) was re-entered before 99, but a bad guess was made as to the correct space, resulting in the bottom part of 89R2 occupying the intervening space between 89 and 99. Why 89 was not entirely erased from the plate and a fresh entry made is not known. In order to avoid dropping 99 below the other designs in the bottom row, it was simply intentionally shorted.

89 R 2 (type II) is the finest "Re-entry" of all the One Cent stamps (see Figure 22).

Regarding the Type III positions on Plate 4, all were rocked in from reliefs which had the design trimmed more or less at top and bottom, and with the top line broken, but an unbroken bottom line.

Two causes can account for the broken bottom lines on the plate of certain positions that are Type III, as follows:

- (a) In the transfer of certain positions, insufficient rocking of the bottom part of the relief, to the plate causing the unbroken bottom line on the relief to transfer a broken line to the position on the plate.
- (b) Erasure, of parts of the design at the top or bottom or both, in certain positions, caused by the burnisher in cleaning up the horizontal spacings between the positions on the plate.

A six relief roller was used on Plate 4, the positions being rocked in, six vertical from top down. Thus we find guide dots above the positions in the top row and below those in the sixth row.

Cause (A) could only happen therefore at the top of the positions in the top row or at the bottom of positions in the sixth row, unless each position was rocked in one at a time, in which event a short could occur at the top or bottom or both on any position.

Cause (B) is most likely the origin of the Type III positions in the second, third, fourth, fifth, seventh, eighth and ninth rows but Cause (A) may account for the Type III positions existing in the sixth row.

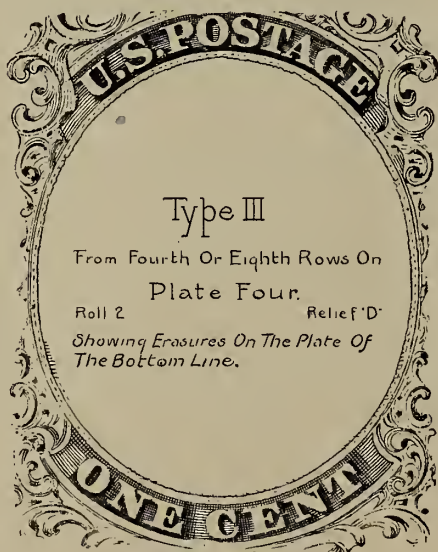

FIG. 24.

Figure 23 is an illustration of the relief "type IIIA" which rocked the 4th and 8th rows on Plate 4. The top of this design was cut away or trimmed on the relief, and the bottom line was unbroken. Figure 24 illustrates stamps (Type III) from certain positions in these two rows, rocked with the same relief, but showing the bottom line broken. The break in the bottom line on certain positions in these rows is most likely due to erasures, because two positions as per the above illustrations may exist side by side on the plate, and as originally transferred both were like Figure 23, but in the "cleaning up" of the spacing below (Figure 24) the bottom line and parts of the lower parts of the design were erased.

Very early printings may show faint traces of the erased bottom lines, whereas late printings from the same position show no trace whatsoever due to the wear of the surface of the plate.

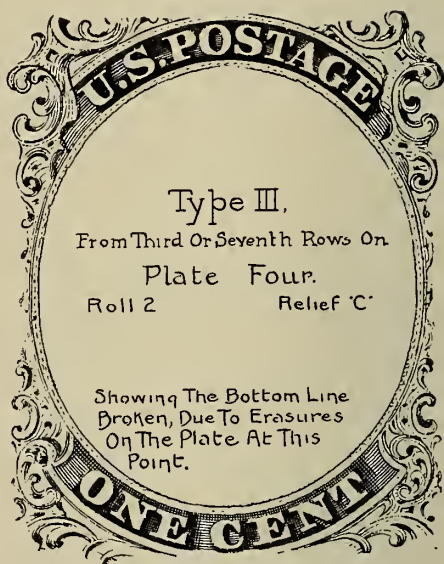

FIG. 26.

The poorest examples of Type III come from certain positions in the 3rd and 7th rows of Plate 4. The relief which rocked these rows had only a very slight break in the top line and a complete and unbroken bottom line. Erasure of the bottom lines on certain positions produced stamps which classify as Type III.

Figure 26 illustrates the average Type III stamps from the above relief, and used for the 3rd and 7th rows and shows the bottom line broken, due to erasure. Such stamps are among the poorest examples found of Type III and are worth only a fraction of the value listed for 99 R 2.

Type III can only occur in a horizontal pair with Types IC, II, and IIIA, or in a vertical pair with IA, IC, II, and IIIA, but not as a pair with Types I, IB, or IV.

TYPE III

ISSUE OF 1857 PERFORATED

The same plates that produced the Type III imperforates also produced the Type III Perforates. As only one position on Plate 2 (99 R2) was a Type III, practically all Type III stamps, both imperforate and perforate, come from plate 4.

The catalogue price for Type III Perforates reflects the relative scarcity of Plate 4 copies but it does not approach the actual value of the Type III perforate from Plate 2 (99 R2).

A well centered copy in prime condition is a very wonderful little item.

Copies from Plate 4 worth the catalogue price should show no perforations cutting the design and thus spoiling the type characteristic.

Type III Perforate can only occur in horizontal and vertical pairs in combination with the types listed under the Imperforate section. It cannot occur in a pair with Type V.

TYPE IIIA.

ISSUE OF 1851 IMPERFORATE

The catalogue describes this type as follows: "Type IIIA—Same as III with the outer line broken at top or bottom but not both."

Waterhouse lists a type IIIA, but his stamp is not the above type, but is what the writer has described under the Imperforate Type III as a "poor example of Type III."

He describes Type III as follows: "Same as Type II but curved lines outside labels broken in center" and his Type IIIA reads as follows: "This is near Type III, though the break in the curved lines is not so great or well defined as in Type III."

This classification is simply a division between poor and fine examples of Type III.

Figure 23 is an illustration of a fine example of Type IIIA. Such a stamp comes from the 4th or 8th rows of Plate 4.

Type IIIA imperforates come from the following plates, Plate 1E, Plate 2 and Plate 4. Under the Type III Imperforate section of these notes, the cause of the origin of Type IIIA stamps from Plate 4 was fully described, and illustrated.

Plate 1E produced one very fine example of this type (100 R 1E). Some other positions on this Plate produced rather poor examples that are the direct result of a short transfer from the reliefs to the plate, and therefore plate varieties and as such differ from the plate 4 copies (Type IIIA), which were relief varieties. Nearly all the type IIIA stamps from Plate 1E show a faintly broken top line but an unbroken bottom line.

The fine example, 100R1E, is a very scarce stamp, in fact just as scarce as the Type I (7R1E). This position shows a decided short transfer at the bottom, resulting in a rather wide break in the bottom line. The top line on all copies the writer has seen, is faint but unbroken.

All plate 1E type IIIA were rocked with reliefs containing a type II design.

One position on Plate 2 (100 R 2) furnished a poor example of this type, the result of a short transfer similar to 100 R 1E, but showing the bottom line rather indistinctly broken, and the top line complete.

It will be noted Plate 4 furnished nearly all the Type IIIA stamps, in fact, the majority of the stamps from this plate are Type IIIA. Almost all show traces, more or less of the "turned under balls" and as a consequence are frequently considered to come under some Type I listing.

The catalogue price reflects the real value of a fine example of Type IIIA, but poor examples are worth much less. By poor and fine examples I refer to the type and not to the condition of any stamp.

Poor examples of the type with the design cut into or heavily cancelled at top or bottom are worth but a fraction of the value of fine copies.

Type IIIA can only exist as a pair, in combination with the following types, in a horizontal pair with Types IC, II, and III, or as a vertical pair with IB, IC, II and III.

A very interesting combination of types is found in a horizontal strip of three from Plate 2, containing the following positions, 98R2, 99R2 and 100R2, the combination being as follows, 98R2—Type II—A fine bottom row example.

99R2—Type III—The finest example of this type.

100R2—Type IIIA—A poor example of this type.

The Jacobs collection contains a very fine Imperforate strip and a Perforated strip of the above positions, which are among the rarest of One Cent pieces.

ISSUE OF 1857-1860 PERFORATED

The following plates produced all the type IIIA perforated stamps.

- Plate 2 (100 R 2) as described under the Imperforate section.
- Plate 4, as described under the Imperforate section, and
- Plate 11 the next to last plate made, (January 1861.)

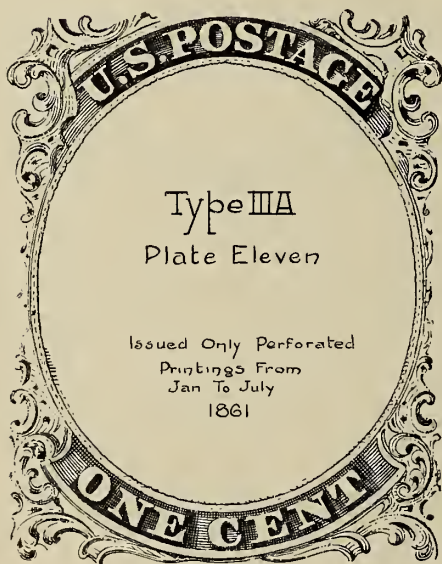

FIG. 27.

The great majority of stamps from Plate 11 are Type IIIA, and when found in well centered condition are very fine examples of the type, and differ (due to a new transfer Roll used only on this plate) greatly from Type IIIA stamps from the plates listed above.

Type IIIA from Plate 11 are much scarcer than IIIA stamps from Plate 4, but the quotation in the catalogue is entirely too high for either, as there is no reason why Type IIIA perforated stamps should list at a higher price than Type II stamps. In the 1920 edition, the price was $20.00 whereas it has been cut to $12.00 in the 1922 edition.

TYPE IV.

ISSUE OF 1851 IMPERFORATE

The catalogue correctly describes this type as follows: "Type IV.—Similar to II, but with the curved lines outside the labels recut at top or bottom or both."

All type IV stamps both imperforate and perforated come from but one Plate, (Plate 1L) and this plate consisted of 199 stamps of Type IV and one Type II (4R1L).

All One Cent stamps issued from approximately July 1, 1852, to January 1, 1856, came from this plate and this plate only, as the second One Cent Plate was not made until late in 1855. The re-engraving or re-cutting of the top and bottom lines of the designs on Plate 1 was an attempt to remedy after a year's use, a defect in the original transfer of the designs. In the original "rocking in" of the reliefs, insufficient pressure was brought to bear on either the top or bottom of the designs on the reliefs, hence many positions on Plate 1L contained designs with very weak top or bottom lines.

The first effort to remedy such weak lines was by a re-entry of the Transfer Roll and this was the cause of the numerous so-called "Shifted Transfers" but evidently this was not satisfactory, for the plate was then gone over with a hand engraving tool and the top or bottom lines "recut." It has been almost definitely determined that the re-entry of the Roll was done at the same time as the re-cutting as no stamps are known in other than the First and Second Condition of the Plate. No other plate from which were printed any United States Stamps presents the field for specialism, study and easy reconstruction as this One Cent Plate 1L.

Type IV stamps show seven different kinds of recuts, as follows:

- (1) With the top and bottom line recut. One hundred and thirteen positions on the plate were thus altered to a type IV.
- (2) With the top line only recut. Forty positions on the plate were thus altered.
- (3) With the top line recut and two lines recut at the bottom. Twenty-one positions were thus altered.
- (4) With two lines recut at the bottom. Eleven positions were thus altered.
- (5) With the bottom line recut. Eight positions were thus altered.
- (6) With two lines recut at the top and the bottom line recut. Four positions were thus altered.
- (7) With two lines recut at the top and two lines recut at the bottom. Only two positions were thus recut.

Type IV stamps came from three reliefs as follows: Roll # 1, "T" (second state) "A" and "B." An exception are the eight positions in the top row of the right pane (Plate 1L).

When the plate was re-entered the "T" relief (second state) was used for the entire top row, but while some erasures may have been made at the bottoms of the designs of positions, 3R to 10R inclusive, no erasures were made at the top of the designs, hence we find eight Type IV positions (2R1L to 10R1L) contain reliefs slightly different from any other positions on the plate. The re-entry of the trimmed relief shows very plainly on stamps from these positions and several show slight traces of the full curves and balls. No top row positions of either pane had the top line recut and likewise no position in the bottom row had the bottom line recut.

Type IV does not exist in combination as a pair or strip with any other type, but type II, and this type II must be plate position 4R1L.

Many interesting combinations of recuts exist in strips or blocks from different parts of the plate. Thus it is possible for example to find what is one of the rarest combinations of recuts in a strip of three consisting of recuts # 6-# 1 and # 7.

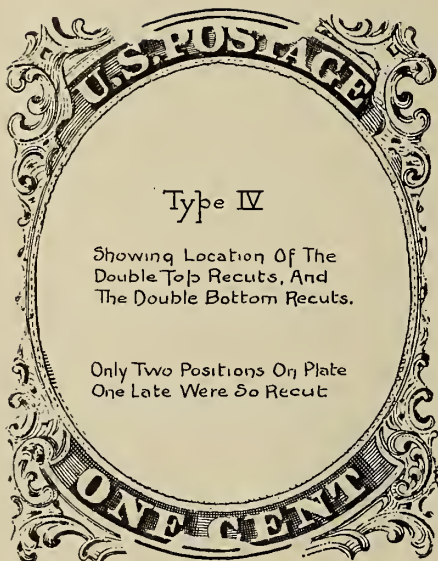

FIG. 28.

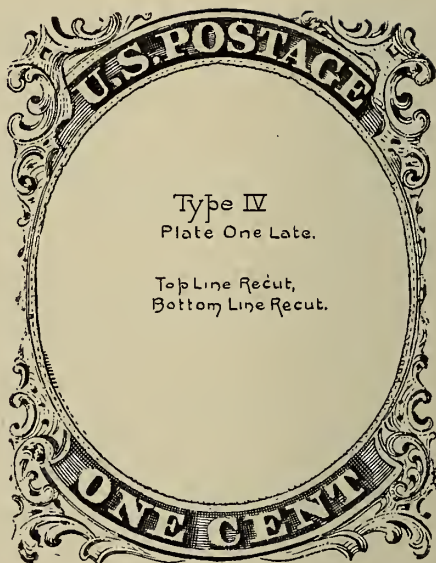

FIG. 29.

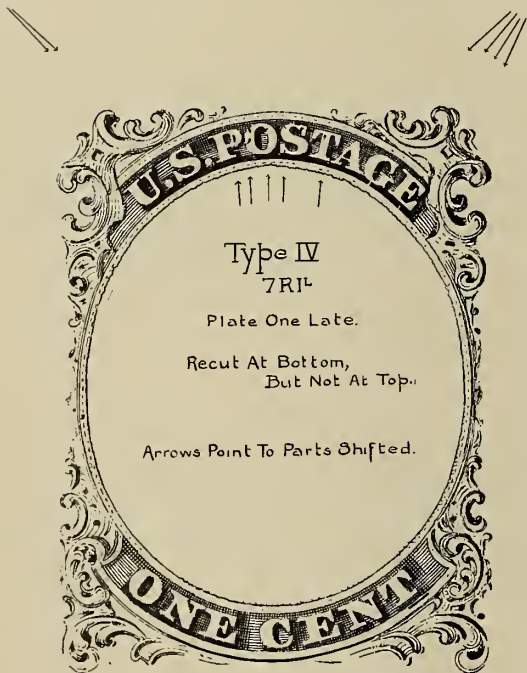

FIG. 30.

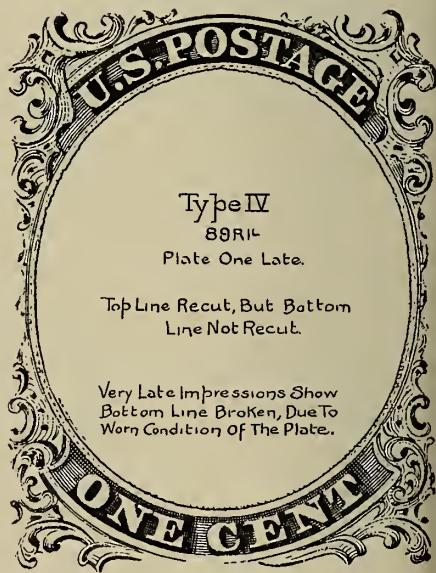

FIG. 31.

Approximately fifty-seven positions on the plate show the "re-entry" or what is generally termed a "shifted transfer." Due to the many different recuts and reliefs in addition to the shifts the reconstruction of this plate is not difficult. Many collectors are interested in the various Type IV varieties but few are doing any plate reconstruction due to the limited data available at this time. The writer hopes at an early date to publish some notes on this plate reconstruction which will enable any one to plate 60% with single copies. With this start it will be easy to complete the plate with a limited number of strips and pairs.

Before the One Cent stamp was seriously studied we were told that Type IV originated in an attempt to remedy Type III, this was of course erroneous as no Type III positions were altered to Type IV.

There are quite a number of unusually interesting varieties on Plate 1L, one being the so called "Inverted Transfer" which comes from three positions on Plate 1 and exists in both the "early" and "late" condition. Another is the recut position of what was in the early state of the plate Type 1 (7 R 1 E) which as a Type IV shows a faint trace of the "Balls," the full curves at right and left bottom and has complete top ornaments, being the only position on any plate showing all these features. (See Figure 30). Mention may also be made of stamps coming from position #89 R 1 L. This position was recut single at top but the bottom line, which was originally very weak was not recut. Very late impressions from the badly worn state of the plate (1856 or 1857 prints) show a decided break in this bottom line, hence this stamp, in spite of the fact that it shows the top line, recut, is often classified incorrectly as a Type III or a Type IIIA. No stamp can be other than a Type IV if recut, therefore 89 R 1L showing a broken bottom line is simply a freak copy of a Type IV (See Figure 31).

Collectors who have paid but little attention to the One Cent Stamps may find it difficult to distinguish the difference between very early impressions of type IV and stamps that are Type II. Late printings of Type IV from the worn state of the plate, show up the deep lines of the recutting very plainly.

It is really surprising the extent to which this Type can be specialized.

Such items as Type IV "Cracked Plate" are simply unknown to exist to the great mass of those who specialize in United States, yet this plate produced four different positions showing a "crack."

The "re-entries" are all absolutely different and easily identified.

ISSUE OF 1857 PERFORATED

Under this heading little can be added to the description contained under the Imperforate Type IV.

The earliest date of use (of which the writer has knowledge) of a type IV perforate is August 1857.

At that time this very unusual plate had been in use for over six years, and was badly worn, therefore no such item can exist as an "early impression" of a perforated Type IV. Type IV is a much scarcer stamp than type IIIA (perforated), in spite of the fact the latter is quoted at a higher price.

Well centered single copies are quite unusual, well centered pairs and strips are very scarce. Blocks of four are rare, and condition is hardly to be considered if the opportunity presents itself to acquire one. Unused copies of this type are extremely rare.

Such items as the "Double Recuts," "Inverts," and "Cracks" are much to be desired when found in well centered condition.

TYPE V

ISSUE OF 1857-1860 PERFORATED

This is the only type listed in the catalogue which was issued perforated but not imperforate. There should be no trouble in easily identifying this type. The Catalogue correctly describes it as follows: "Type V—Similar to type III of 1851-1856, but with side ornaments partly cut away."

A more explicit description might possibly be worded: "Type V—With both top and bottom ornaments partially cut away, and both top and bottom lines broken. The ornaments at sides are not complete."

Such a description would include the Type V stamps which have "almost complete side ornaments" and for which there is no necessity to list a separate sub-type.

All Type V stamps come from Plates that were made some months after perforation was adopted. These plates were numbered 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 and were all rocked in with a six relief Transfer Roll. All six reliefs had the original design trimmed or cut away at top, bottom, and partially at both sides.

FIG. 32.

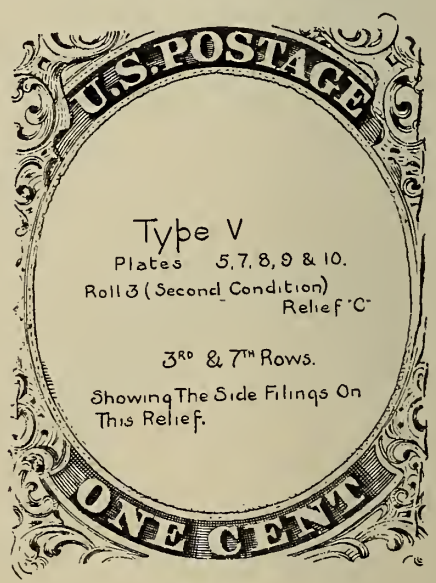

FIG. 33.

Figure 32 is a typical example of a Type V stamp, and illustrates the relief used on the 5th and 9th rows of Plates 5, 7, 8, 9 and 10.

Stamps very similar to the common Type V (from the above plates) have been known to specialists for some years past. They have been known as "Type V copies with nearly complete sides."

Recent study has shown almost conclusively that these stamps with "nearly complete sides" come from Plate 6 although no actual plate number is known to the writer.

In referring further to these Type V stamps with "nearly complete sides" they will be designated in these notes as "Plate 6 stamps."

Plates, 5-7-8-9 and 10. Vertical lines which are not a part of the original design will be noted at the right and left sides. These "side lines" are supposed to originate from an attempt to cut away the sides of certain reliefs on the transfer roll by the use of a file, and have been referred to as "scratches" or "filings."

Three out of the six reliefs on the transfer roll (used for plates 5-7-8-9 and 10) contained these side "scratches" or "side lines."

These three reliefs rocked five out of the ten rows on the above plates hence about one out of every two type V stamps is apt to show these scratches. It is thought the same transfer Roll was used to rock Plate 6 but no "Plate 6" stamps show these side scratches.

What would appear as a logical solution of this problem would be as follows:

Three plates were made at the same time and in the order made we will call them "A," "B" and "C." Plate "A" was made with a transfer Roll which had the sides of the designs on the six reliefs almost complete, but before rocking in Plate "B" the sides of three of the reliefs were further trimmed or "filed," resulting in an altered roll which was then used to rock Plates B & C. When it came to numbering the plates, Plate B was numbered 5, Plate A was numbered 6 and Plate C was numbered 7. By this theory is accounted the fact that Plate 6 was evidently made before Plates 5 and 7, which were to all appearances rocked with the roll after it had been altered from the state in which it rocked Plate 6.

The writer merely offers the above theory as a possible explanation to account for the differences that exist between Plate 6 stamps and other Type V stamps, but recognizes the fact that a very close study of the stamps from these plates presents some arguments that hardly fit into the above theory.

As to the exact order in which the plates were made, the above is simply a guess as it's barely possible they were made in the following order, 6, 7 and 5.

These six Type V plates produced no other types or sub-types.

The earliest known date of use of a Type V is December 3rd, 1857. If any of my readers can show an earlier date, will he be so kind as to advise me. Such data is very much desired.

Type V cannot occur in a pair or strip with any other type.

SUMMARY

It is difficult at times to properly classify stamps which are badly cut into or poorly perforated, unless one be very familiar with all the reliefs and plates.

I frequently have stamps submitted for type classification and such copies as above can only be thus noted: "This was a Type III before the perforations destroyed the type" or "This was a type IA before the scissors destroyed the type characteristics."

If the collector is at work on the reconstruction of some particular plate, then, for example, a strip of three Type I perforated stamps, from Plate 12, may interest him, even though the perforations so cut into the bottom part of the design that only a trace is left showing the stamps were of this type. As an example of what it was before perforation, such a piece is perfectly alright but to a collector not interested in plate reconstruction such an item has no place in his collection, because, in its present shape, it is an example of no listed type.

No trouble need be encountered in properly classifying any One Cent Stamp if it's in proper condition,—that is, well centered, if a perforated copy, or with sufficient margins if an imperforate.

Some general rules applying to Imperforates might be given as follows:

If the copy shows the full and complete Die design at the bottom, it is either Type I or Type IA—further, if the design is “cut away” at the top, the type is IA, but if the design is complete at top, it is type I.

Types I and IB will show, if they are of these two types, guide dots in the upper right margin close to the right top ornament (see ornament “Z” Figure 1).

These two types are generally found in a very pale blue.

A copy showing the “left full curve” complete, also the “left ball” complete but half of the right ball missing and also half of the right full curve cut away, is type IC, if the top ornaments are cut away and the top line broken.

If the top ornaments are complete the chances are such a copy is type IB.

Any stamp to be in the Type I class, or sub-type I class must comply with the above specifications.

A stamp may show almost a “full left ball” but no “full curves” at right or left, and if both top and bottom lines are distinctly broken, and top ornaments uncomplete, such a copy is a type III, but if only one line is broken, either top or bottom, then the copy is Type IIIA. Nearly every position on Plate 4 shows some traces at least of the “balls,” but all such stamps are either type II (if from the top row, and showing complete design at top and an unbroken bottom line at the bottom), or type III (showing no right or left full curve) or type IIIA (showing no right or left full curve).

Nearly all Plate 4 stamps show some signs of “erasures” and the majority are thus easily identified.

Early impressions of Type IV, to one not familiar with these stamps, are often hard to tell from type II stamps, but the use of a strong glass will very likely show where the recut lines commence and where they end.

Plate 6, type V stamps are easy to identify, if they come from the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 7th or 8th rows but very hard to distinguish if from the other rows on the plate.

Perhaps some idea may be had from these notes of the intense way in which these stamps and the plates from which they originated have been studied and needless to state, help whenever received is greatly appreciated.

The writer has covered, in a rather thorough manner, Plate 11, hence little if any additional information can be hoped for in the sight of any Type IV stamps, unless it be covers bearing an earlier date than July 7, 1852.

Copies of any of the following types with imprints will be greatly appreciated as a loan, Types II, III, IIIA, also any Type II stamps showing the center line, or Strips or pairs from Plate 4.

Any items loaned the writer for study will be carefully handled and returned promptly. Address

Appendix "A"

"Type 1 (7R1E) in a horizontal pair must include a copy of Type IB or in a vertical pair a Type IIIA."

In this connection the writer wishes to say that he realizes that vertical pairs may be brought to light that will dispute this assertion and he must confess it is difficult to lay down a rule that will apply to all printings from Plate 1 early. Certain copies from a known position of this plate show the top and bottom line unbroken, hence Type II while other copies from the same position show the top line distinctly broken hence can classify only as Type IIIA. It must be remembered in this connection that the original entry of a number of positions show a very weak top line which was the reason for recutting the plate and the disappearance of this line is easily accounted for by wear of the plate but as is more likely accounted for in many cases by a simple fading of time, assisted by many washings in an effort to clean the stamp and by the fakir to improve its value. The writer however believes that the position 17 R 1E was not fully rocked on the plate and that therefore the top line appears slightly broken, making it a poor example of Type IIIA. The only doubt cast on this belief is due to the fact that the adjoining stamp 16 R 1 E always shows the top line unbroken and as closely spaced to the top row as is 17 R 1 E. It is therefore possible that this latter stamp may be found as a Type II.

Appendix "B"

It is not the writers intention to give the impression that all the imperforate plates have been reconstructed. Chase was the first to reconstruct Plate 1 late and the writer did the same, while Chase was in France, and without the aid of his notes. Later on these two reconstructions, independently made, proved each to be correct. Chase also made some progress on the "early condition" of Plate I and working with the writer this reconstruction has been practically completed. By the discovery of two different imprints from the same position, by Chase, the existence of the heretofore unknown Plate (3) was proven. The writer has completed the reconstruction of Plate 2 and this is the only method by which Plate 3 stamps can be identified. This latter plate was evidently very little used and material is very scarce and it is not probable that it can be reconstructed. On Plate 4 considerable progress has been made by the writer and every effort is being made to complete the reconstruction so that it may be known how many positions produced Type III stamps and how many Type IIIA so that more positive data can be obtained as to their relative scarcity.

Regarding the plates used only for perforated stamps; the writer is making every effort to complete his well advanced progress on Plates 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 from which come the majority of the Type V stamps. When these plates are fully reconstructed it will be possible to identify specimens which come from Plate 5 and which is the most difficult of these plates. Plate 6 is a comparatively easy plate to reconstruct and would have been completed ere this except for the scarcity of material. Plate 11 in point of scarcity of material presents a problem similar to Plate 3 and its reconstruction is not probable. Plate 12, on account of the large blocks that exist, is a comparatively easy plating problem.

EDITOR'S COLUMN.

Notwithstanding our former invitation to our membership to freely use these columns as their forum on matters philatelic we note from time to time in contemporary Journals suggestions, appeals and criticism concerning A. P. S. matters and written by A. P. S. members. Why is this? If any member has anything to suggest or criticize we shall be glad to publish his remarks, if proper and relevant, in the columns. Outside publicity is desirable but questions of policy and suggestions as to what we should or should not do are matters that properly belong to our membership alone. Will our members kindly take note of this?

Articles are desired from our members on every phase of our hobby. Will philatelic writers and branch secretaries please assist us in our effort to broaden the scope of our Journal?

Treasures of Art and Science which were formerly to be seen only by journey to the metropolitan centers are now, in the form of traveling museums, enjoyed by thousands of the less fortunate but probably more appreciative citizenry. The success attending these ventures should commend the extension of this happy idea to the owners of philatelic treasures. The privilege of viewing the beautifully mounted specialized collections of some of our members has been limited to a very small number of those that would appreciate them and be stimulated along new lines thru them. A plan by which a few volumes can be expressed to a branch society under the direct care and responsibility of some member friend is both feasible and not without precedent. We recall two instances in which such a loan exhibit was made before a local branch with a memorable degree of profit and pleasure. We will be glad to list an offer by some member to exhibit his collection, or part of it, under strict conditions of care and liability.

REVIEWS.

CATALOGO GALVEZ 1922. The eleventh Edition of this standard of Spain and of most South America as well, achieves a remarkable excellence in every particular. Though considerably larger than former issues its 1022 pages are encompassed in a small and handy form thru the use of thin paper, no advertising and the use of very fine type in listing minor varieties. Since the study of Spanish has become so popular in this country we expect a growing appreciation of this work which is of greatest value to the collector and student of the stamps of South American Countries and of course Spain and her colonies. The chronological listing of these issues is very good and in addition to the usual minor varieties generally listed there are a great number of paper, perf. and plate error varieties listed and better still, priced. There is very little of the "unpriced" nuisance which in itself will repay the auction bidder in his purchase. The prices are in Spanish pesetas and are as a rule somewhat higher than in our own Standard but reflect the same relative values. The United States listing is somewhat "old style" but does include curiously enough the "Telegraph" stamps which have been dropped by Scott. The Franklin and Eagle Carrier are listed as Special Delivery stamps which seems odd but is not entirely erroneous. We do not hesitate to recommend this work to our readers which may be obtained of the publisher, Miguel Galvez, Crux 1, Madrid, Spain, for 8 Spanish Pesetas and postage.

ZUMSTEIN, 1922 EUROPEAN CATALOG. After a lapse of seven years the well known Swiss stamp firm of Zumstein & Cie, Berne, Switzerland, again offers a general catalog of the stamps issued by European countries alone. This firm has given special attention to war issues, having published several special War lists and the present catalog is especially good on these. The publishers call particular attention to the fact that the list of the Swiss stamps is much condensed but this is true only in comparison with the same publishers special catalog of this country as the Swiss list occupies 25 pages and includes a great deal of data not found in any other general catalog. The prices are in Swiss francs and on comparison with our own standard are generally about 25% lower but without any discount. The prices on Swiss stamps are of course, as is usual in every country, higher in their land of origin than anywhere else and we also note that some of the French listings are considerably higher than Scott. The catalog contains many excellent notes which are printed in both French and German. To be had of the publishers at the price of 4.50 Francs, Swiss currency.

DANZIGER BRIEFMARKEN KATALOG, 1921-22. A twenty-four page pamphlet list of the stamps of the Free City of Danzig, published by Friedr. v. Neumann, Iopengasse, Dantzig. The list is complete with all minor varieties and gives a correct relative standard of scarcity. For the specialist as well as a historical record of matters which quickly become confused the list is of greatest value.

COLLECTORS DIGEST, January, Vol. 4, No. 1, A. H. Pike Publisher, Station G, Buffalo, N. Y. A monthly publication of 20 pages, devoted to Postal Markings and Philatelic Literature. The present number contains an instructive article on the various types of Postmarks and Cancellations written by Mr. Pike. Official Organ of the International Postmark Society and Philatelic Literature Society. Subscription price 50c yearly.

SOCIETY NEWS.

PACIFIC PHILATELIC SOCIETY, Branch No. 3.—The annual banquet and Xmas Jinks of the Pacific Philatelic Society was held in one of the private banquet halls of the Union League Club, San Francisco, on Wednesday, January 18th, twenty-one members being present.

Presents for each of the members were distributed by the Society during the dinner, accompanied by laughter inspiring verses written by the Society's poet, Monsieur Nom de Plume. With the serving of desert, a grab bag made its appearance and the banqueters were soon delving into its mysterious depths for the presents supplied by members.

The election of officers for the ensuing years was the first order of business after the reading of the minutes and resulted as follows: President, Henry C. Marcus; 1st Vice President, Chas. M. Hackmeier; 2nd Vice President, Wm. H. Crocker; Librarian, Ross O'Shaughnessy; Secy. & Treas., Matt C. Dillingham.

The President gave an outline of the proposed activities for the coming year and members assured him of their unqualified support to make this a banner year for the Society and Philately in general.—MATT C. DILLINGHAM, Secretary.

THE GARFIELD PERRY STAMP CLUB, Life Branch No. 3, Room 302 Finance Bldg., 750 Prospect Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.—Never in the history of the Garfield Perry Stamp Club did the future seem brighter than it now appears as we look over the program for the year 1922, and find each meeting night filled with some form of entertainment that will please all known species of Philatelists, a program that will draw the crowd and hold the attention of the visitor and force him to realize that The Garfield Perry Stamp Club is a club of merit and that the benefits derived are worth ten times the price of admission.

For the first meeting night in January the reports of retiring officers were read and the new officers installed. The second meeting of the month an auction was held and Mr. M. J. Lloyd, who is an enthusiastic student of the cancellations, gave an excellent talk on the cancellation of the Leeward Islands, same being accompanied with an exhibition. Discussion of proposed changes in the Constitution and By-Laws occupied the time for the third and fourth meetings.

A. P. S. Members residing in Cleveland and vicinity are assured a warm welcome at any time they may choose to visit the Club. Out of town A. P. S. members are invited to pay us a visit when in Cleveland and vicinity.—W. J. ZINK, Secretary.

CINCINNATI PHILATELIC SOCIETY, Branch No. 46, Cincinnati, Ohio.—The meeting of January 25th was attended by fourteen members and several visitors. The Committee on the Trounstine collection reported that they were authorized to accept the highest bid received for the collection, which had been submitted to several dealers on behalf of the widow. On bids received being opened and read it was found that Mr. P. M. Weiss of the Queen City Stamp & Coin Co. was the highest bidder and the collection was awarded to him. After the business session Dr. Leon Tedesche gave an authoritative talk on the United States overprinted envelopes and postal cards, Cincinnati Type. A large collection of the interesting surcharges was shown replete with errors of every particular kind. Dr. Tedesche gave quite an account of how many of the double surcharges, etc. were made, particularly as to those made by favor. After the talk the usual auction was held and the meeting adjourned.—DR. J. J. CONZETT, President.

MICHIGAN STAMP CLUB, Branch No. 47, Detroit, Michigan.—It may not be generally known that Detroit is one of the largest stamp collecting centres in the country, being outranked in A. P. S. members by only New York and Chicago, and this Club is making sure of future growth by promoting our hobby among the juveniles. At the meeting of the Club on January 7th, we had a total attendance of 60, among them 27 of the younger folk. It was a gala night for these and they will not forget the evenings entertainment and the association with the older collectors for a long time to come. After a short business session Dr. Hoskins, our President, made an address particularly to encourage and instruct our young devotees, after which all enjoyed a fine luncheon given by the President. After lunch speeches were made by Dr. Warren L. Babcock, Karl Koslowski, William Fratcher, Charles Keller and Z. Dworkorsky in which the boys were encouraged and urged to use their stamps in connection with their Geography and History school studies. Mr. Holder read a poem written for the occasion, which was merily received and of course Mr. Radlauer furnished his usual excellent music. Prize drawings were had for the youngsters and there was much excitement in the comparisons of their luck. Mr. Fratcher presented each boy with a packet and their joy was complete. A spirited Auction wound up the meeting and on the boys request it was voted to give them another special evening sometime in the Spring. The Michigan Stamp Club has a membership of 60 active collectors and meets the first and third Saturday of each month to which meetings any visiting collector is heartily welcome.—HERMAN BOERS, Publicity Mgr.

COLORADO STATE BRANCH, No. 22, A. P. S.—On the evening of January 23, the Denver Stamp Club, Branch # 22 was reorganized for 1922. Ten members were in attendance. The following officers were elected: President, Chas. A. Nast; Secretary, H. A. Davis; Treasurer, Frank C. Mertz; Sales Manager, Frank C. Mertz. Two out of town members were present, Messrs. Huscher of Golden, and J. Curtis Dover of Longmont. Meetings will be held the 2nd Tuesday of each month at 618-20 Mining Exchange. The evening was given over to buying, selling and trading.

All stamp collectors are invited to attend the meetings of the Club, especially those passing through the city will be made welcome.

Next meeting, Feb. 14th at 7.30 p. m., 618-20 Mining Exchange.—H. A. DAVIS, Secretary.

New York. A new counterfeit of the current engraved U. S. Two cent stamp has been discovered by Mr. Edward Stern. It is said that the counterfeit is made from a plate of ten subjects, probably a copper engraving, each stamp differing slightly and with variable perforation, being about 11½ to 12 and with no straight edges.

London. Mr. W. Hadlow reports the death of Mr. W. Lincoln, Jan. 4th, 1922, the oldest dealer in London and familiarly known as the "Father of the Stamp Trade." His son, Mr. W. E. Lincoln, will carry on this old established business.

The Stamp Trade Protective Association is on the track of a very dangerous forgery of various British Colonials which we hope to have more data on next month.

Paris. The next Ferrary sale will be held during April.

The marriage of Mademoiselle Mireille Lemaire, daughter of the well known Parisian dealer, to Monsieur Jean Carrier was happily celebrated the end of November, all the Parisian dealers joining in the festivities.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY.

YOUR WANT LISTS

Our stock is too large to attempt to offer here. Chances are we would not offer the items you want. Send us a list of stamps you want and if you can only spend up to a certain amount, tell us what your limit is. You get what you want and we do not tie up a lot of stock to no advantage. We will price and send what we can furnish. Prices will run about half list on the average. Some items more, others less according to cost, but you can be certain of a "fair price to you and us." Whether you spend $5. or $5000 we are at your service, and have one of the largest general stocks in the New World to select from. Many of America's leading collectors depend largely on us for their wants and we solicit a trial.

APPROVALS. A splendid line of books for anyone ready to spend at least $2. or more at a time, but when you have a country three-fourths complete, send us a want list, as there is small chance an approval book would fill your needs. Selections from a few dollars to entire collections for those ready to buy. List of books on request.

SPECIAL LISTS. Our special lists, sent out at intervals to our customers, offer we believe, the largest variety of better class stamps of any issued. Stamps that are "hard-to-get" and usually missing in collections. Lists are free on application.

Hy-Grade Approvals.

WHAT DOES THAT HEADLINE
 MEAN TO YOU?

To many A. P. S. Members and many others who receive Hy-Grade Approvals regularly it means securing fine specimens of stamps for their collections at a cost which is based on our cost and cost of replacement, thereby reflecting the actual market prices.

It Also Means
 Service and A Square Deal.

Railway Mail Cancellations of France Before 1876.

(AMBULANTS)

This little article is brought about thro the interest we derive from the collecting of divers cancellations and postmarkings of early postage stamps.

H. P. ATHERTON and JNO. W. PREVOST.

France was governed by stringent regulations regarding the obliteration of its stamps, in the early days. While in the first few weeks of the regular 1849 issue pencancelling was permitted, this was quickly superseded by a regulation marking in printer's ink; first the diamond shaped grille of crossed lines, later the "Losanges de Points", or as we say, Diamond of Dots.

This latter form became universal except that Paris used the "Star of Dots", and the roller cancellations, which were applied to numerous stamps on a single piece of mail.

While the United States Railroads were sometimes applying a ring post-mark, France was systematically cancelling its Railway Mail both coming and going. You have doubtless noticed the diamond of dots and wished to know what might be the exact significance of the small or large numbers, or the small letters, (or if you are extremely fortunate, the large letters).

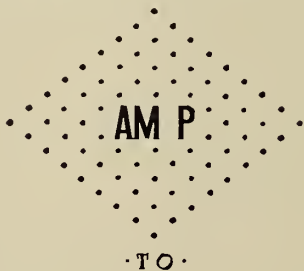

These letterings and numberings are now almost all accurately chronicled by French collectors, and have interesting meanings, historic, and otherwise, as for example;—E U, Exposition Universelle-1867; B S E, being the Emperor's Special Office; CEMA, the expedition to Mexico, occurring while Uncle Sam was very busy in the South; and the many rare markings used during the Franco-Prussian War.

This "Diamond of Dots" appears not alone on the stamps of France; but may be found on those of Argentine, Ecuador, Spain, and probably elsewhere. Do you like Shanghai or Yokohama cancellations on our pictorial 1869 issue? Yes. So does the collector of French stamps like the mark indicating a Foreign Office; many of the most unusual numbers, he carries in his head, as you do 'phone numbers.

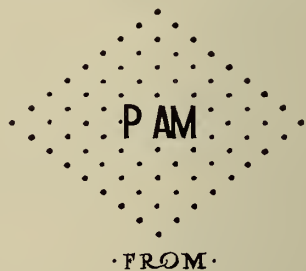

But to get back to the Railroads—All the letters are of uniform size except where a preposition enters, as LaRaP, or the final letter of the town follows as BtP. In the large cities the letters are followed by the ending First, Second or Third train, expressed as 1°, 2°, 3°. Practically all have letters indicating the trip in each direction as AM P, (Amiens to Paris); and P AM, (Paris to Amiens); see cuts. This covers everything pertaining to the system of designating Railway cancellations. These markings are always in a standard black ink furnished by the government, and almost always fall on the stamp, with their postmark (cachet) struck alongside on the face of the cover.

These postmarks as a rule indicate the direction of the trip, as Bale to Paris, the diamond of dots showing B P. In this particular case, a cover reading Bale to Paris in the postmark shows the letters reversed in the diamond of dots, reading P B, an unusual marking; and as the inner line of the postmark is circular, showing that this was struck during the night, (the octagon being used for day service), we presume the night clerk was probably very T-i-r-e-d!

Below is shown the "Diamond of Dots" obliterator, together with the Postmark which accompanys it. As a rule, there are eight rows of dots in these diamonds.

A list of these cancellations in English will perhaps awaken interest in those who collect the stamps of France, and we have compiled a list from the works of Marconnet, and of Maury, together with additions and corrections which have come to our notice, since the publication of their works. The corrections we have taken the liberty of making are made possible by covers in the writers' collections, therefore we say never remove the stamps from a French cover, for every little letter has a meaning of its own.

A stamp marked LaRaP had us most certainly puzzled as it was on no list known to us. We did not find any towns conforming to LaRa, so were content to assume that the P was for Paris, and that we were half right at least. Great was our surprise when along came the long waited cover (which we never really expected), the cover reading LaRochele A Poitiers. The second small "a" apparently being the French article a (to). Save your covers. Several covers have shown routes unknown to us; as C D, Calais to Douai, R T, LaRochele to Tours, etc., and we are still without clues to several copies in our possession off the covers.

The French lists have divided the classifications under three headings: Lines to and from Paris—Lines touching Bordeaux—and the Mediteranean Lines. In addition we find cancellations which do not fall under any of the above three divisions, so for simplicity of this article, we shall group the Railway markings under two headings—The Paris Lines, and The Other Lines.

(To be concluded in April.)

PHILATELIC LEGISLATION

BILLS BEFORE CONGRESS LEGALIZING STAMP ILLUSTRATIONS.

House of Representatives, No. 9104.

A BILL

Amending an Act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That sections 161, 172, and 220 of the Act entitled "An Act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States," approved March 4, 1909, are hereby amended by adding the following: "Provided, That nothing in said section shall be construed to forbid or prevent the printing or publishing illustrations of postage or revenue stamps from plates so defaced as to indicate that the illustrations are not adapted or intended for use as stamps, or to prevent or forbid the making of necessary plates therefor for use in philatelic or historical articles, books, journals, or albums, or the circulars of legitimate publishers or dealers in such stamps, books, journals, or albums. An provided further, That no such illustration shall be made in colors, and that no such illustration or plate shall be of a stamp of the United States.

The foregoing bill was introduced in the House by Hon. E. R. Ackerman during November and in the Senate by Senator Frelinghusen, the Senate bill being passed without amendment February 17th, 1922 and will be sent to the House shortly whether the House bill is reported out of Committee or not.

Under date of February 15th, 1922, Dr. Chase, President of The American Philatelic Society, with the approval of the Board of Directors, sent out a circular letter to the membership asking that they oppose the bill unless amended to include United States stamps. A form of amendment was suggested by the addition of the following words at the end of the bill:

"NOW VALID AND LEGAL FOR POSTAGE OR REVENUE."

Such an amendment would legalize the illustration of the obsolete and demonetized United States issues (1847-1860) which are of the greatest importance in the study of the stamps of our country.

The objections to the bill offered (without amendment) go both to the subject matter and the method of presentation. These objections, briefly put, are:

(1) That the bill legalizes only that which is now permitted by sufferance, i. e. the illustration of foreign stamps and therefore can be of no great benefit to collectors;

(2) That in bringing the matter before Congress in this form it defeats the plans of the Society now formulated by the "Lookout" Committee. This is a real and practical objection as it is well known by those politically informed that Congress will not re-open and re-hash a question of this kind after positive action has been taken. It will be years before the matter can advantageously be again presented and at that time it will be more difficult to secure an amendment than it would at this time to cover the whole subject, especially in view of the fact that the wording of the present bill, sponsored by prominent philatelists, is practically a confession or admission that it would be unwise to permit the illustration of United States stamps.

(3) That the bill was introduced without consideration of the plans of the Lookout Committee and the officers of the Society, this notwithstanding the fact that the sponsors of the bill are members of the Society, one being a member of the Lookout Committee and fully informed of the active effort being made to present a satisfactory bill to Congress which would have the approval of all collectors and also the Government departments that are interested.

Dr. Chase has received a great number of letters from the membership supporting the Society stand on this matter and it being impossible to answer all individually he wishes to acknowledge them in these columns and express his thanks and appreciation of this loyal support.

On February 27th, 1922, Mr. Campbell, Member of the House from Pennsylvania, introduced the following bill on the same subject:

A BILL

Amending an Act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That sections 161, 172, and 220 of the Act entitled "An Act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States," approved March 4, 1909, are hereby amended by adding the following:

"Provided, That nothing in said sections shall be construed to forbid or prevent the printing or publishing illustrations of postage or revenue stamps under such regulations as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Postmaster General, or to prevent or forbid the making of necessary plates therefor, for use in philatelic or historical articles, books, journals, or albums, or the circulars of legitimate publishers or dealers in such stamps, books, journals, or albums, if such plates have been made or prepared under regulations prescribed by the Postmaster General: And provided further, That no such illustration shall be made in colors."

This bill is considerably along the lines the Lookout Committee has been working, that is, it permits the illustration of both foreign and United States stamps under departmental restrictions. It is not however the Bill of the Society and if passed might lead to a restriction which would forbid the illustration of United States as under the previous bill. Further it is perhaps too broad to secure the approval of the various interested Government Departments and therefore, while the bill is in good faith a move in the right direction the Society will probably take a wiser course in endorsing the amendment to the first bill.

In conclusion it may be said that admittedly this is an unfortunate situation and one that is regretted by all sincere well wishers of American Philately. Whatever may have been the motives of the individuals that have pushed this legislation forward they cannot complain of the opposition of the American Philatelic Society or any of its officers. A review of the correspondence that has passed between various members of the Lookout Committee and individuals interested in this matter clearly shows that the officers of the Society have taken every step possible to avoid this controversy and that they cannot be accused of any secret actions, concealment or doubtful motives.

REVIEWS.

BRIGHT & SON'S "A. B. C." Catalogue of the Stamps of the Continent of Europe and Its Colonies. Price 5 shillings, Post free.

The twelfth Edition of this well known priced catalogue comes to hand in much augmented form, numbering some 500 pages and including for the first time a list of the stamps issued by the new States that have arisen out of the old Monarchies. Though none of the issues of the "enemy" states, issued since the outbreak of the Great War, are included the preface indicates that these will be included in future editions. The illustrations are remarkably good as they are for the greater part photogravures from original stamps rather than the usual zinc "cuts". The list of the so called "War" stamps is very complete and the list of "Ukraine" is the most detailed priced list we have yet seen. On the whole this up to the minute standard is a welcome addition to any philatelic library.

COLLECTORS DIGEST, A. H. Pike, Publisher, Buffalo, N. Y. The February issue again contains a noteworthy "Index Review" of an important philatelic subject. This is on "The Postal Service" which includes a complete bibliography of that subject with many interesting and concise notes on the many forms of "Postal Service".

---

COLLECTORS CLUB PHILATELIST, Published by The Collectors Club of New York City. The first number of Volume One of this much heralded quarterly publication, under the guidance of Dr. J. B. Chittenden and H. L. Lindquist, exceeds even the glowing promises of its enthusiastic supporters. The standard set by this initial number is of the highest and a notable addition to American Philatelic Literature. The feature article, "The Stamps of the Pan American Exposition, 1901" by Mr. George B. Sloane (A. P. S. 5683), is the finest monograph on 20th century U. S. that we have ever read. Altogether a most creditable achievement for a local organization and one that will undoubtedly inspire its members in serious philatelic effort.

FRENCH COLONIAL POSTAGE DUES.

We have had several inquiries relative to the use of French Colonies Issue of 1894, imperf postage dues, without surcharge, on letters to St. Pierre & Miquelon where the postage dues are listed as being surcharged with the name of the Colony. In explanation Mr. John W. Prevost has given us these facts:—

"In 1892 the stock on hand of both postage and postage dues in St. Pierre & Miquelon and other Colonies were surcharged with the name of the Colony. When this stock was exhausted there was no further surcharging done but further supplies of the regular French Colonial unsurcharged dues were forwarded to several of the Colonies. As the use of postage dues is infrequent these stamps have lasted a long time and the French Colonial office has, with characteristic thrift, withheld any dues of new designs until these stocks are used up in the Colonies to which they were sent. Up to a recent date this obsolete type of due stamps was in use at St. Pierre, Martinique and French Guiana."

EDITOR'S COLUMN.

Our former modest goal of "2000" members is rapidly being passed and though our present mark of "5000" is a high one a perusal of the monthly application list encourages us in the belief that it may not be so far in the future after all. Now and then we receive an application to membership that shakes our faith in the desirability of an absolute democracy and we wish we had a provision for "Honorary" membership. Such were our feelings on having the application of Mr. Hugo Griebert before us. Forty years one of the world's leading dealers he has maintained too a place in the front ranks of studious collectors and his notable contributions to our philatelic Literature coupled with the high plane on which his business was conducted has permanently earned him the respect and appreciation of the Philatelic World. We wish Mr. Griebert a speedy recovery from the indifferent health that forced his retirement from business and hope he will honor our membership roll for many, many years to come.

A number of our members have endorsed the suggestion that the Society provide for a medal to be awarded the contributor of each years "best" philatelic study appearing in these columns. We reiterate the suggestion in the hope of arousing further interest and practical plans for carrying out this idea.

The new Membership Directory is in the hands of the printer and will be available shortly. The issue will be very limited and those desiring extra copies had better order promptly.

We have in mind the illustrating of rare philatelic treasures, such as large blocks, strips and pairs, or interesting covers and will greatly appreciate the loan of such pieces by their fortunate owners. Photographs will answer but they must be sharp and clear. If the stamps themselves are loaned we guarantee their safe return without damage. We look forward to a ready response from our membership to this request.

SOCIETY NEWS.

THE GARFIELD PERRY STAMP CLUB (Life Branch #3).—At the regular monthly business meeting of the Club held at its rooms Feb. 2nd, the board of Directors expelled Mr. C. C. Weber of Cleveland, Ohio, for cause and also suspended Mr. T. R. Runge pending further investigation. One new member was admitted into the Club and one new application was ordered posted. Following the business meeting Mr. Moses, our President, entertained with a contest that stumped everybody. The contest was a geographical contest and one of the questions was: What stamp issued by a Central American country caused the United States to abandon the Nicaragua Route in favor of the Panama Route when Building the Panama Canal? Name the Country? Name the reason why this stamp played an important part? (How many A. P. S. members can answer this question?) An auction held the interest of the members on the 9th of Feb. This auction was the first attempt at a mail auction and results were better than expected. Feb. 16th was a night on which all members present were requested to aid in re-arranging the Club collection, which at the present time numbers about 6,000 var., and which we hope to build up to 20,000 via the exchange route, plus 20%. A real treat was in store for the members on the night of Feb. 23rd. On this night Mr. Molitor exhibited his fine collection of 3c Greens. His collection numbers about 3,000 var., including shades, grills, papers, cancellations, etc. It was a wonderful example of what can really be in the way of specializing on one stamp. (Mr. Perry W. Fuller of Baltimore visited us on this night, also Mr. D. R. Heath and Mr. Crouch of Akron, Ohio.—W. J. ZINK, Secy.

SAGINAW STAMP COLLECTORS CLUB, Saginaw, Michigan.—A meeting to reorganize this former active branch of the A. P. S. was held Jan. 6th, and on a second meeting, Jan. 13th, the following officers were elected: President, John Spencer, A. P. S. #50; Vice-President, Joseph Demers, A. P. S. #3611; Secretary-Treasurer, Donald W. Martin, A. P. S. #3780. Meetings will be held in the Hoyt Library every other Thursday and visiting Philatelists to Saginaw are urged to attend.

CINCINNATI PHILATELIC SOCIETY, Branch 46, Cincinnati, Ohio.—The regular meeting of the Society was held Wednesday evening, March 1st, at Room 313, Union Central Bldg., with nine members in attendance and four visitors. A nominating committee was appointed to select candidates for the offices year 1922-23. Mr. Nicholas Imfeld gave an interesting talk on stamp values as illustrated by quotations in old catalogues as compared with the present. Mr. Flerlage gave an account of his recent visit to different philatelic centers, after which the usual auction sale was held.—J. J. CONZETT, President.

PACIFIC PHILATELIC SOCIETY, Life Branch No. 1.—The February meeting held on the 15th of February was what one might call a "live affair." We vowed to make each meeting a better and more interesting one. We are off to a good start—watch us go.

Mr. A. P. Duwer of San Francisco was elected to regular membership and our old friend and former member, Mr. E. T. Osborn, was reinstated. Mr. Osborn will be remembered as the winner of many prizes at various International exhibitions with his collection of "Old German States." The collection was sold some years ago, but the call of philately was too strong and he has again started collecting the "classics" and joined the ranks of happy philatelists.

The name of Mr. V. H. Huberich, of Oakland, was presented for membership. Mr. Huberich is a former resident of San Diego and specializes in "Cape of Good Hope Triangles."

All Shriners who plan to attend the convention to be held in San Francisco next June are asked to get in touch with our President, also a good Shriner, Mr. H. C. Marcus, Rialto Bldg., Mission & New Montgomery Sts., San Francisco, Telephone No. Douglas 5245. He will be pleased to make them acquainted with the members of the local philatelic society and be of assistance to them in other ways.

Our Society has not had an exchange and sales department for a number of years. This is really a necessity to retain the interest of certain classes of collectors and a set of rules and regulations has been made up and will be acted upon at the next meeting.

Members certainly had an opportunity to view some beautiful things at this meeting, there being four different collections shown by Messrs. Marcus, Arp, Lazarus and Dillingham.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy showed a Western Frank error which he had just discovered, the Wells Fargo rare 1st Type Frank on the U. S. 3c envelope of 1853 Nesbit die, with the legend under the words Wells Fargo & Co. reading "Over our California and Coast Routs", the word "Routes" having the "e" left out. It is remarkable that this glaring error should have remained undiscovered for nearly 70 years, particularly as there are so many students and collectors of Western Franks in the West. It just goes to prove that we may all make discoveries even in the oldest stamps by giving them proper study.

A number of questions were answered thru the "Question Box", among others being "how many of the members present were also members of the A. P. S." It developed that all but one were and he was promptly supplied with an application form and promised to apply for membership thru Mr. O'Shaughnessy, who is on the A. P. S. recruiting committee.—MATT C. DILLINGHAM, Secretary.

DETROIT PHILATELIC SOCIETY, Branch No. 25, Detroit, Mich.—At the last meeting of the Society it was voted to nominate the following ticket for Officers of the American Philatelic Society at the next election which will be held at Springfield, Mass., this coming August. The ticket is as follows:

President, C. F. Heyerman, Detroit, Michigan.

Vice Presidents, Wilson D. Wood, Allen Logan, W. C. Michaels, all of Kansas City, Mo.

Secretary, H. A. Davis, Denver, Col.

Treasurer, H. H. Elliot, Winchendon, Mass.

International Secretary, Eugene Klein, Philadelphia, Pa.

Directors at Large, Alvin Good, Cleveland, Ohio; H. B. Phillips, San Francisco, California.

RUBBER CITY STAMP CLUB, Akron, Ohio.—Such as, Brethren, the increasing of the membership—for at the regular meeting of March First, Rubber City jumped to a total of sixty-five thru the admission of Charles W. Stiles, Charles R. Smith, and L. G. Flerlage; the latter of Norwood, Ohio. At this same time, a resolution was adopted relative to having Congress defeat House Bill No. 9104 in accordance with a request from President Carroll Chase; arrangements being made to send copies to five Congressmen and Senators.

At the preceding meeting, Secretary J. E. Crouch found out that "all Philatelists do NOT know all about Philately," for with a brief description to serve as a guide, the members present contested to determine the identity of forty-four stamps—and altho thirty-five guests and members were present, only five succeeded in obtaining even a conservative grade; first place being won by Mr. J. E. Cherry with a total of fourteen correct answers.

President D. R. Heath was also "in evidence" just recently; giving a very interesting talk on his specialized Canadian collection. Fortunately (honest!) Rubber City possesses several "Lady Fairs" among the personnel, one of these, Miss K. Howe Bennett, being in charge of a coming meeting; Ye Scribe predicts all who are present at that time will have their hair nicely parted, and mayhaps, a wee bit of Ed. Pinaud's thereon!

How many foreign countries issue stamps of a red and blue combination, with white as the background? This was the problem put up to the members by Mr. O. S. Hart a short time back, and with his own collection to serve as a guide, he listed eighty-three. Prizes were given to the three highest contestants—a "shock" which proved to be quite enjoyable!

A frame of stamps illustrating Washington and Lincoln was placed on exhibition in Akron (during February), attracting considerable attention; while plans have been made to commemorate all possible events in this way, as it has been found that Philately proves a wonderful "drawing card" when so advertised.

Rubber City, you know, will "stretch" itself as much as possible, MORE if necessary, to make all visiting Philatelists leave Akron with the sensation of having had an enjoyable time. Should you happen out this way, ramble up to Room 600 of the Permanent Tile Bldg., corner Mill & High Streets, on any Wednesday—the curtain rises promptly at seven-thirty!—ERNEST ELWOOD THOMA, Director of Publicity.

A WORTHY CHARITY.

On February 21st Messrs. Elmer A. Barry and Wm. Jerrems, Jr., representing the Kansas City Stamp Club, helped the organization of a Juvenile Stamp Club at the "Boys Hotel," a Kansas City organization which provides a home for one hundred and twenty boys from 12 to 20 years old. These boys all support themselves and when it came to organizing their stamp Society showed they understood the necessity of orderly and formal procedure and carried off the affair as neatly and expeditiously as could be desired. These young men will make fine, thorough Philatelists and it should be a matter of pride to A. P. S. members to lend them a helping hand. No funds are desired but good use can be made of old catalogues, literature, albums and duplicate stamps. All items sent on will be handled thru the Kansas City Stamp Club, which organization will appreciate the aid given their proteges. Address "The Stamp Club," Care The Boys Hotel, 1601 Admiral Boulevard, Kansas City, Missouri.

NORWAY. The 10 ore current issue, wmk. Crown, perf.  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  has been issued in green.

40c on 20c olive & green (S. # 65)
40c on 75c vermilion & rose (S. # 71).

RUSSIA. Mr. Karl Koslowski has shown us some interesting covers from Russia with some new stamps. Scotts Nos. 74, 75, 81, 82 and 118 overprinted —PYB— which stands for Roubles, in other words the kopeck values have been raised to similar Rouble values. Some of the surcharges are reading up, some down and some are double. Scotts No. 115 has been overprinted 50 and there seem to be many varieties of this also.

Scotts No. 149 appears overprinted.

R. C. F. S. R.

100 Roubles—100 Roubles

A charity stamp, the surcharge meaning "Russian Socialist Federated Societ Republic." For the Famine Sufferers.

The covers also bear some large charity stamps that are said to have been printed in Moscow for aid of the starving in Volga Basin.

SOUTH RUSSIA. Kuban Government. The Russian Postal Savings Stamp has been surcharged and so far only inverte dsurcharges have appeared.

70k on 1k red on buff.

Scott's Monthly Journal.

SPANISH MOROCCO. Two new surcharges.

15 cent ochre with sur. Type of 1903-09 issue in black.
20 cent violet (# 317) surcharged Type 1916-18 issue in red.

It is strange that the surcharge on the 15 cent is of the old type, there having been three different types used since 1903.

SWEDEN. Two new values, unwmk. perf. 10 vertically.

25 ore red (Type A. 20).
1 Kr. orange (Type A. 18).

Two airpost stamps, Wmk. Crown.

200(h) on 20(h) orange.
50(h) on 40(h) violet.

SYRIA. (French Occupation). The old familiar four line surcharge now appears in three lines. The French have now issued 101 stamps which should have paid for the expense of the Army of Occupation were it not that some of the issues are limited to 100 or 200 copies, still if the Government doesn't get the money, somebody does.

2 Pi. on 40c red and blue.
3 Pi. on 60c violet and blue.

Also two new postage dues, the captured "rug" stamps, Scotts Nos. 73 and 74 surcharged vertically "TAXE", a very limited issue of course.

2 Pi. on 5 mil. carmine.
3 Pi. on 1 Pi. blue.

It is said that all the stamps of the older types, in use lately in and around Damascus, have been withdraw and are to be burned. It would appear that the stamp collectors wouldn't buy them all so they are making way for a new issue to tempt the collectors once again. Who will get the decision in this race with Liberia, Syria, Port Said and Alexandria is hard to tell.

TURKEY. Eight Turkish stamps were surcharged in native characters reading "Adarra, December 1, 1921" and issued at Adarra for one day only, in commemoration of the signing of the French Treaty by Franklin Bouillon. The following were overprinted:

- 10pa green (# 424).
- 20pa deep rose (# 425).
- 3 Pi. blue (# 594).
- 5 Pi. on 2pa Prussian blue (547).
- 5 Pi. on 2pa Prussian blue (548).
- 10 Pi. grey violet (# 596).
- 25 Pi. carmine on straw (# 434).
- 35 Pi. on 1 Pi. blue # 579).

THE MOST DETAILED CATALOG
of
UNITED STATES POSTAGE STAMPS
In the World.

Is the claim we make for the STANLEY GIBBONS PRICED CATALOGUE OF FOREIGN COUNTRIES (Part 2), for 1922. This will be ready about April 15th.

Price $2.40, post-free.

The exceedingly interesting issues of the United States from 1847 to 1882 have been profoundly studied during the past few years by some of the most brilliant philatelists of the day and numerous articles have appeared in the philatelic press of America, but the publishers have hitherto failed to use this material.

As we think it is to the interest of all concerned, both collectors and the trade, we have made an attempt to write a list of these stamps more in accordance with their importance than any priced list that has hitherto appeared.

We have included a great number of types, retouches, plate varieties, shades, and paper varieties, and have priced the bulk of them at what we believe to be their current market value, most prices being based upon our own somewhat considerable stock.

If American collectors appreciate such a catalogue of their own stamps, we shall be glad if they will send us any corrections to this list, and also any suggestions for extending and improving it.

Other countries, such as France, Sicily, etc., etc., have been entirely re-written, the prices have been revised throughout, and hundreds of rarities are now priced for the first time.

We think collectors will find this the best and most accurate priced catalogue that has ever appeared.

I will submit a selection on inspection

My stock is strongest in early imperforate issues, 19th Century perforates, and 20th Century British Colonials—the latter chiefly unused up to the £5 denomination. I can now supply about 90% of the above issues throughout nearly all the world.

YOUR WANT LISTS

Our stock is too large to attempt to offer here. Chances are we would not offer the items you want. Send us a list of stamps you want and if you can only spend up to a certain amount, tell us what your limit is. You get what you want and we do not tie up a lot of stock to no advantage. We will price and send what we can furnish. Prices will run about half list on the average. Some items more, others less according to cost, but you can be certain of a "fair price to you and us." Whether you spend $5. or $5000 we are at your service, and have one of the largest general stocks in the New World to select from. Many of America's leading collectors depend largely on us for their wants and we solicit a trial.

APPROVALS. A splendid line of books for anyone ready to spend at least $2. or more at a time, but when you have a country three-fourths complete, send us a want list, as there is small chance an approval book would fill your needs. Selections from a few dollars to entire collections for those ready to buy. List of books on request.

SPECIAL LISTS. Our special lists, sent out at intervals to our customers, offer we believe, the largest variety of better class stamps of any issued. Stamps that are "hard-to-get" and usually missing in collections. Lists are free on application.

Collecting these is great fun. One of our collections has been years in the making and lacks approximately 25% of the known varieties; the other collection, a lusty infant of six months, has nearly 100, so you see they are quite commonly met with up to a certain point, after which they arrive very slowly, and every new comer fills a big space on the page.

Dear Ed;—

I specializing in Polish postmarks, especially strong in "Z's". So far my best has been one with 3 Z's but I enclose a current 10 Mark for your perusification that bears "Szcuczynididzki", How's that for a gem!

Fifty One Re cut.

There was a young man from O'Hyer
As calm as any old buyer
Till he cast his keen lamps
On those Blue little stamps

A CONGRESSIONAL COLLOQUY.

The hearing had on Senate Bill 2703 and House Bill 9104, relating to Postage Stamp Illustrations, before the Committee on the Judiciary, March 9th, would in some parts make good material for "Awful Amphils" but we will for the present reproduce some of the serious discussion. After the author of the Bill had made explanation of its purpose and was questioned by the Committee, Mr. McArthur, Representative from the State of Oregon, made a noble defense for stamp collecting in which he said "There are upward of 1,000,000 postage stamp collectors in this country at the present time." This remark seems to have, as the slang expression goes, "Knocked the boys cold" for we have the following colloquy:

- Mr. Montague. You say there are 1,000,000 dealers in the United States?
Mr. McArthur. No, I said 1,000,000 stamp collectors.
Mr. Montague. One Million stamp collectors?
Mr. McArthur. Yes, over a million stamp collectors.
Mr. Montague. Are they listed?
Mr. McArthur. No. They are estimated from patronage.
Mr. Montague. There are more than 1,000,000 stamp collectors in the United States. ARE YOU SURE OF THAT? (Capitals ours.)
Mr. McArthur. Yes sir.

EDITOR'S COLUMN.

Last month's disappointing long list of "Dropped for Non-Payment of Dues" disclosed on close perusal a goodly number of names indicating oversight rather than a desire to quit the Society. We expect these members to be soon re-instated and suggest to them and to others of our membership to whom the payment of small annual dues is inconvenient or bothersome to give consideration to the "Life Membership" plan that is offered for Twenty Dollars. One payment—a member for Life—the one best Philatelic Investment!

There is no waning of Humor in Philately and many of our "serious" collectors are so because of the fun they get out of it. It has been repeatedly suggested we give space to something in lighter vein and so we start a Department of Fun under the caption of "Awful Amphils" and hope to hear from our jovial members with contributions. We will try anything once no matter how "Awful" it may be.

OYEZ! Next month we shall offer the first installment of an article by our sterling Secretary, Doctor H. A. Davis, on the "U. S. Three Cent Vermilion"! No other stamp, bar none, of the United States issues, has been the subject of so wide a discussion by dealer and collector alike as this modestly priced issue of 1887. Many a youthful collection that boasts a Black Jack or a 15c Lincoln lacks this brightly hued fellow and no dealer ever refused a lot of them on account of price! The why's and wherefor's are all set forth in this fiery fellows history which the Doctor has written in an unusually entertaining and clever style. Here is something to look forward to.

A few extra copies of the membership directory remain. While they last they can be had of the Editor at $1.50 each.

REVIEWS.

STAMP ISSUING COUNTRIES AND THEIR CURRENCIES, Compiled by Norman Thornton, F. R. C. I., Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., Publishers (391 Strand, London). (Price 70c post free.)

As phrased by one of our English contemporaries this is "A new one from 391" and to which we add "A mighty good one". The study of stamps has long been heralded as an aid to geographic learning and this booklet of 106 pages both supplies and justifies the need of such knowledge as a part of our hobby. None can read thru from "Abyssinia" to "Zurich" gathering on the way such bits of information as "the lion on the stamps (Abyssinia) represents the Lion of Judah, the Emperor claiming descent from King Solomon", that "Ukraine has a population of 46 million" in addition to geographic data without a quickened interest in his philatelic treasures. We recommend this work as a real necessity to the youthful collector and as a time saving reference for the seasoned philatelist. A twenty six page "Glossary of Philatelic terms" at the end adds to the strictly philatelic value and the mention as to the various currencies, notwithstanding the violent fluctuations of exchange, serves as a useful relative guide.

STAMPS OF GREAT BRITAIN, 1911-21, by Stanley Phillips, Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., Publishers (391 Strand, London). (Price 80c Post free.)

The third Edition, both revised and rewritten, of Mr. Phillips' able work on the Harrison and Somerset House Printings of the stamps of Great Britain as distinguished from the issues made by Messrs. De La Rue & Co. The various stamps printed after the expiration of the De La Rue contract with the British Government (1911) have long offered an interesting field for research which has naturally had the greatest vogue in Gt. Britain. Mr. Phillips has eliminated the usual confusion attending the listing of these complicated issues in his tables and provides numerous simple tests to separate the more confusing stamps. The Georgian issues are extensively treated with excellent photo illustrations. The book is closed with a complete check list of all varieties of color, paper, watermark and control numbers. In all a thorough and ably presented philatelic research.

Obituary.

JOSEPH B. FEUSTMAN

A. P. S. 1664.

Mr. Joseph B. Feustman died at San Francisco, California on January 11th, 1922. He was an A. P. S. member of long standing and also of the Pacific Philatelic Society, Branch No. 3. He loved stamps for themselves, having little interest in the commercial value of his treasures which were confined to good old 19th century issues. A real Philatelist and a true friend. Engaged in the dry goods business up to the time of his death he left a large estate, a goodly portion of which he willed to various charitable institutions. We mourn his loss and extend our deepest sympathy to his bereaved family.

SOCIETY NEWS.

THE GARFIELD PERRY STAMP CLUB, A. P. S. Life Branch No. 3, celebrated its thirty-second anniversary Saturday Afternoon and Evening of March 18th. The event of the afternoon was an exhibition by Mr. Alvin Good comprising of the remaining volumes of the famous Worthington Collection, between 75 to 100 members and visitors viewed the collection, many of the visitors were not affiliated with any philatelic organization and doubtless many of them did not know that such organizations existed, the many visitors were the result of wide and splendid publicity on the part of the Newspapers of Cleveland.

The volumes on exhibit contained many fine and rare blocks of the early issues of Japan, British West Indies, German States and others.

The Banquet in the evening was attended by 70 members and guests. D. R. Heath, Pres. of Rubber City Stamp Club of Akron and 6 other Rubber City men were present, also Mr. Geo. Linn of Columbus, and F. E. Farnham of Chicago.

For the first time in the history of the Club the wives and Sweethearts of the members were invited to attend and attend they did. Did they have a good time? They did. None of the Ladies present collected stamps " 'tis enough," they said, "that Hubby Collects".

Stories of Romance, (Philatelic) and incidents of wild chases for elusive bits of paper were told by Mr. Moses, Mr. MacLaren, Mr. Hanford, Mr. O. S. Hart, Mr. Rust, and F. E. Farnham of Chicago.

The meeting adjourned at 11:00 P. M.

W. J. ZINK, Secretary.

CINCINNATI PHILATELIC SOCIETY, Branch 46.—The regular monthly meeting of the Cincinnati Philatelic Society was held March 29th, President Conzett presiding.

Members present:—Dr. Conzett, Huntington, Flerlage, Scallon, Byland, Imfeld, Daniels, Hofer, Bart Stuntebeck, Dr. Stuntebeck, Krug, Beazell, Tedesche, Hardcastle, Millar.

Visitors:—Mr. Ben Nelson, Meyer, Schuettler and Mr. Peasley, Ex-President of Milwaukee Philatelic Society.

Application for membership with dues attached was received from Mr. Schuettler. Same was referred to Membership Committee.

Nominating Committee submitted the following names for Officers and Trustees for the year 1922:—

President: E. E. Hardcastle.

Vice President: Stanley Ashbrook.

Secretary and Treasurer: R. M. Byland.

Trustees (Following Ex-Presidents): Dr. J. J. Conzett, W. C. Kennett, Jr., A. D. Fennel, S. Richey.

Moved and seconded that same be accepted and Secretary was ordered to cast ballot.

Mr. Fred Huntington read a very interesting paper on "Reading Stamps." An auction sale of stamps was held and the meeting then adjourned.

R. M. BYLAND, Secretary.

PACIFIC PHILATELIC SOCIETY, Life Branch No. 1.—A rainy night did not appreciably reduce the attendance at the March meeting of the Society held on the fifteenth, nineteen members and two guests being present. One of the guests was our good friend Mr. John J. Klemann, of New York City, who was on his way to Los Angeles, having with him the "Hawaiian Missionaries" about which there has been so much written. The members enjoyed a short talk on business conditions in the stamp trade in the East, the speaker being very optimistic regarding prospects for the coming season.

An interesting item was shown by Mr. O'Shaughnessy, being a complete collection of Japanese 19th Century stamps, all unused and mounted in one of the books made and issued by the Japanese Government for presentation to influential people, such as high Government officials. Beside each stamp is given its full history in both Japanese and English and in the book is also given a complete history of the Japanese Postal System. The book is of great beauty and a work of art, richly embroidered in gold and lined in oriental fashion with silk ribbon in royal purple color. Only a small number of the book were given out by the Government and consequently they are extremely rare. It might be mentioned that an excellent counterfeit of the book exists.

A highly specialized collection of France was exhibited by Mr. Dillingham and Mr. Lazarus showed some fine things in Chile and Old Italian States.

MATT C. DILLINGHAM, Secretary.

THE NEW YORK STAMP SOCIETY announce that arrangements have been made with the Collectors Club for the use of their club rooms at #120 West 49th Str. New York for the 1st and 3rd Thursday of each month.

The first meeting of the New Year was held on January 5th and was attended by eighteen members and one visitor.

President: Dr. Lionel Hartley

Vice-President: Emil Penschow

Treasurer: Baldwin Schlesinger

Secretary: Joseph Hoffman

Activities were mapped out for the New Year and the club looks forward with renewed interest in their hobby. Three new applications for membership were posted.

A committee was appointed to arrange a dinner on the occasion of the 18th Anniversary of the founding of the Society in April 1922.

Visitors always welcome.

JOSEPH HOFFMAN, Secretary.

111 W. 190th Str., New York City.

PHILATELIC SOCIETY OF PITTSBURGH, Life Branch No. 2.—This branch again evidences its enterprise in the publication of a neat 28 page pamphlet listing the names of its 74 members with an index as to what particular stamps they favor.

Messrs. Justus M. Stahn, N. A. Georgantas and C. M. Tyler, the "Pamphlet" Committee, all A. P. S. members too, have turned out a very creditable piece of work and one that will, to use their own words, "strengthen the philatelic ties that bind us to our hobby."

MICHIGAN STAMP CLUB, Branch No. 47, A. P. S.—We all thought that our 7th. Annual Banquet in 1921 had set a standard hard to excel but our 8th. Annual Banquet held March 18th, 1922 at the Hotel Cadillac eclipsed all our former efforts by a wide margin. Forty members attended and the eats with "Broiled Milk Fed Chicken as the chief diet was enjoyed by all. A tasteful Menu was provided with philatelic interpolations and it was headed with the program, "Get together" "Eat, Rest and Play." After the dinner President Preston Hoskins outlined the evenings entertainment and read several telegrams, one of which was "Expect to pay you a visit sometime in 1923" Signed "A. P. S." This was wildly applauded by all. The feature of the evening was the exhibition of Mr. Fred. Heyerman's collection of stamps with Inverted Center. There are 375 varieties including the rare 1869's of the United States and many U. S. Revenues. This collection has just been returned from Europe where it was exhibited at the International Stamp Exhibit at Cassel just before the outbreak of the Great War. Mr. Z. Dworkovsky gave a very interesting talk on the stamps of Poland with an exhibit which probably is the finest of its kind in this country. Mr. Fratcher showed his collection of U. S. 5c 1847's with over 100 copies on and off cover. Mr. E. J. Scott showed two volumes of used and unused U. S. in pairs, strips and blocks, the unused section being unusually fine. Mr. John Jungwith spoke on the early days of the Club, how it was organized and its struggle to keep going and how finally it has evolved into one of the largest Societies in the country. Among the original charter members still with us are Messrs. Koslowski, Sharp, Hutchinson and Jungwith. Dr. Hoskin spoke a few words on Precancel collecting after which Mr. Langton gave a recitation entitled "The Mustard Plaster." The Club Laureate, Mr. C. H. Holden, wrote the following Poem for the occasion.

PHILATELY

I come not as maiden with fickle smile,
To allure and to charm for a brief while,
And then seek another verdant bower,
As roams the bee from flower to flower.

Nor come I in purple robes and golden crown,
To stir men's hearts to seek sordid renown,
And then leave them ship-wrecked along the shore,
Where waves disconsolate echo evermore.

But from a higher plane do I come forth,
Arrayed in a glory of greater worth,
Whose radiance extends from sea to sea,
Proclaiming to all my name—Philately.

My dominion every land embraces,
And my subjects are of all creeds and races;
War clouds in my fair sky no eye can scan,
For I teach peace and brotherhood of man.

My mission is to add to the cup of joy,
And dull care and worry as mists destroy;
To bring cheer and comfort to the lonely heart,
Whose course from fortune has drifted apart.

Fortunate is he who knows my pleasure,
And my legacies does fondly treasure,
For to him no path leads to grander height.
Nor effort produce a keener delight.

So now my followers assembled here,
To observe your Society's eighth year,
May you enjoy your proceedings and repast,
And continue loyal unto the last.

Consider life is a flowering tree,
 And the fruit it bears is as you decree;
 Stamps are the plums that stick through wind and rain,
 And have brightest shade when the sun shines again.

Mr. E. Radlauer, who has ambitions as a poet, then gave us the following sad ditty:

Michigan Stamp Club, Gentlemen:
 My pen in hand I take
 To ask a little favor,
 And this really is no fake,
 My hubby used to run around
 And take me to a show,
 But since he took to saving stamps,
 No more from home we go,
 He sits at night with catalog
 Approval sheets and books,
 And anyone who talks to him
 Sure gets some awful looks;
 And then gee, what a mess he makes
 It gets me mad and mean,
 Four hours after he is through,
 It takes the house to clean.
 There's hinges in the breakfast food,
 There's hinges on the floor,
 There's hinges mongst the dishes,
 On the furniture there's more,
 You find them on the knives and forks,
 And on the flower vase,
 You find them in the bath tub,
 And on the baby's face.
 They're stuck upon the table cloth,
 You find them on the rug,
 You find them on the phonograph
 The piano too they hug.
 At night when from his work he comes
 Out of his coat he sails,
 And his first question is "Look here
 What stamps came in the mails";
 He used to be a lively chap,
 Would sing and talk and dance,
 Now all you hear is nothing, but
 Those various colored stamps,
 All that I hear is—Surcharge
 Or some new coloration
 Or watermarks, new issues or
 A special perforation.
 He turns them blue and pink
 They're found in kitchen sink,
 He keeps me busy through the day
 To sign the mailman's book.
 His stamps come from all the world,

Each country, town and nook.
 Now postage stamps are all I hear,
 And stamps are all I see,
 But some day I'll get good and sore
 At this darn misery.
 I'll let the baby at his books
 And then I'll see some fun,
 And next day to the divorce courts
 My hubby dear will run,
 But I won't care what happens then
 I'll join the movie vamps
 I've seen and heard and read my full
 Of stamps, and stamps and stamps.

Mrs. Stampcollector.

This broke up the meeting, anyhow it was midnight and everybody was happy. The daily newspapers gave the affair liberal notice and as all present will talk about it for a year Philately will get lots of Publicity in Detroit.

Colombian Republic Aerial Mail.

Thru the courtesy of Mr. A. A. Wasserscheid, A. P. S. 96-5851, we have seen a cover bearing an Aerial Mail stamp used in connection with the current 3 centavo regular postage. The stamp is quite large, about  $1\frac{1}{4}$  inches high and two inches long, bearing at top the inscription "SOCIEDAD COLOMBO-ALEMANA" and below "DE TRANSPORTES-AEREOS" and in the center within a decorative frame, the picture of a large airplane flying over a bay. The value is 30 centavos and the color pale carmine. Tho the design is quite pleasing it is poorly lithographed on poor quality wove paper, perforated about 14. The letter bears the regular postal cancellation but the aeroplane stamp carries a special cancel very similar to the regular cancel, the outer circle bearing words "Servicio Postal Aerio" and "Bogota" with the word "Scadta" in the center and no date. Though the stamp is undoubtedly a private enterprise it denotes a valuable service as is shown by the following extracts from a letter Mr. Wasserschied has received in this connection.

"This aerial service (between port of Barranquilla and the interior of the Republic) has been established in Colombia for the past six months and has rendered very satisfactory service, saving 10 to 12 days between Barranquilla and Pogo. Various Banks and Commercial institutions have taken advantage of the service and the Mercantile Bank of the Americas has not only so transported its correspondence but also a quantity of gold of over a million dollars in value. The service includes also passenger accommodations and the mail service stops at El Banco, Puerto Berrio, Girardot and Neiva, carrying mail for all cities covered by the Departments of Antioquia, Caldas, Bolivar, Cundinamarca, Tolima, Huila, Santander and Boyaca. Letters weighing  $\frac{1}{2}$  ounce or less cost 30c, over that to one ounce 50c and up to  $1\frac{1}{2}$  ounces 60c with an additional 30c for each additional ounce or fraction thereover. One half this rate is charged for printed matter and samples of no value. The Company has at present two stamps, a 30c and a 50c value. In order that its service be used by United States Exporters it has established a General Agent in New York City."

While it is true these are not Governmental issues, covers bearing these stamps should prove exceedingly interesting to collectors of airplane issues.

RUSSIA. In the Oct. issue we commented on the use the 1R. to 40 R. set issued by the Bolsheviks could be put to and now we have the answer. The secret is that they were issued so they could be surcharged! We now have enuf Roubles to carry a letter in this happy land.

5000 R. on 1 R. orange.
5000 R. on 2 R. brown.
5000 R. on 5 R. blue
5000 R. on 20 R. blue
5000 R. on 20 R. blue (R)
10,000 R. on 40 R. slate

These values were shown us by Mr. Karl Koslowski who informs us that the regular foreign rate is now 10,000 Roubles. Also that the former Postal Savings Stamps, now useless because no one saves anything or has anything to save, are available for postage and all the denominations from kopecks to roubles, without surcharge, are valued at 250 Roubles. If the Postal Union starts demanding real money for Russian foreign mail we expect soon to see a billion rouble stamp for ordinary mail.

SAAR. We have seen three values of the 1921 type but with value expressed in centimes.

10c green
15c brown

SALVADOR. The 1c green of 1921 has been surcharged "Centenario" in Roman capitals, red surcharge.

Scott's Monthly Journal.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS. "Stamp Collecting" in a caustic article headed "The Crooked Straits" details the overprinting of the current sets with "Malaya Borneo Exhibition" for a small local fair at Singapore lasting but a few days. It is hoped that collectors will not purchase these "Seebecks" so that the Crown Agents for this Colony will be without profit in this prostitution of a heretofore clean colony.

SYRIA. Two more values with the three line surcharge:

- 5 Pi on 1 F. claret & olive
- 10 Pi on 2 F. red & blue

Also a new postage due on French, this for use at Beyrouth as the two "rugs" chronicled last month are for use at Damascus. Now to hear from the villages!

- 5 Pi on 1F lilac brown on straw

SWEDEN. The current 20 ore violet and 40 ore blue have appeared perf. 10 all around.

TUNIS. A new postage value, Type A 6.

- 60c olive & violet

TURKEY. We note Mekeel's Weekly lists Scott's No. 258 as surcharged "Paris 60", this may be a typographical error, if not it is an odd variety of interest as the regular surcharge is "Paris 60".

URUGUAY. A set of three stamps with portrait of Jose Enrique Roda.

- 2c red & grey
- 4c orange & grey
- 5c blue & grey

We have also seen two sets of parcel post stamps with a central design of the Flying Mercury, one set bears the inscription, "Interior", the other "Exterior".

- 5c green on straw
- 10c black on blue green
- 20c black on pink
- 30c black on green
- 50c black on blue
- 1 P. black on orange

VENEZUELA. Two new values to current set.

- 20c pale blue
- 10 B. yellow orange

PHILATELIC TRAVELS.

By R. SIEGEL.

Twelve days at sea, and at last the "Orduna" arrives at the port of New York, unsurpassed in beauty and majesty. In the distance looms up the Statue of Liberty and a row of gigantic sky-scrapers, symbolic of the titanic forces of the United States! It does not take long to get through the Custom House, but getting my stamps through—that is by far another matter. At the fine pier I was received by Mr. J. Murray Bartels with a real Yankee hand-shake and words of welcome. I had hardly arrived at his office when I was told that a collector—already the tenth on that day—inquired if I had arrived and if the stamps I brought over might be inspected!

Although by means of a good deal of advertising my firm and I are not unknown on this side of the Atlantic, I am free to confess that I did not expect to find such intense interest in my rare stamps as was generally shown. Without exception, every collector I met extended to me great courtesy. Indeed, only two days after my landing I was given an opportunity to inspect the collection of one of New York's foremost philatelists. Just a day prior to starting on my visit to other important American cities the Custom House released my stamps and thus fortunately I was enabled to show, at least a part of the first lot of United States stamps, which were to be auctioned, to a good many patiently waiting New York collectors. Late at night on October 21st I went on to Boston.

In contrast with the rather dreary weather I was cheered by meeting many collectors, not only from the Hub, but also from various neighboring towns. Several of these brought their albums along to compare their treasures with the stamps that were to be auctioned.

Until I met American philatelists I had the impression that in Germany the collectors are given to a good deal of specializing. As a matter of fact, however, the German collector is a mere tyro compared with his United States confrere. Certainly the United States is preeminently the country of specialized efforts, both in stamps and great industrial works. Such collections as I saw in Boston and in other American cities which I visited have convinced me of the earnestness and thoroughness of American specialists. Philatelists all over the world, as I can testify, because I have travelled a good deal and possess an excellent memory, are as alike as two peas in a pod. Whenever a specialist finds someone interested in his work he is apt to grow enthusiastically communicative and often divulges secret knowledge concerning the rarity of a stamp that it has taken him years to find. But, gentlemen, do not be alarmed, your secrets are safe with me. Although I am a dealer by profession, I really prefer the scientific side of philately and would hate to see, much less help to introduce into our field, such raw commercialism and business methods as are quite frequently found in the countries I have visited.

Although I spent two entire days in Boston my room was never free from callers. Collectors arrived in beavies, desiring to look over my stamps. The same thing happened in Cleveland and Chicago. It is remarkable what high degree of excellence can be achieved in plating the 1851 One and Twelve Cent stamps of the United States. Certainly if collectors who specialize in these stamps had their way, the catalogue would contain at least 10 sub-varieties. In my opinion one of these, the "cracked plate," ought to be listed. As is generally known each original sheet from a certain plate contains four of them. A good specimen of this stamp brought over $70 at The First German Sale.

U. S. Registry Rates.

One of our members has received the following letter from the Third Assistant Postmaster General which we believe gives some facts concerning registry rates that have not been published before. The letter is as follows:

* * * "Referring further to your communication of December 15th, you are advised that the domestic registry service was established July 1, 1855. At that time the domestic registry fee was five cents at which amount it remained until the passage of the Act of March 3, 1863, under which the fee was fixed at 20 cents until January 1, 1869 when it was reduced to 15 cents. On January 1, 1874 it was reduced to 8 cents; increased to 10 cents on October 1, 1875, where it remained until January 1, 1893, on which date it was reduced to 8 cents. On November 1, 1909 it was increased to 10 cents, which is the present charge for both domestic and foreign registered mail." "The registry fee charged on mail to foreign destinations has not always been the same as that charged on domestic registered mail and has varied, according to the country addressed in a number of instances. Under the circumstances it has therefore not been thought advisable to inform you as to the dates of the several changes in foreign registration fees and countries to which they were applicable."

Cincinnati. Three local dealers were the victims of a clever philatelic swindler who succeeded, on the basis of his alleged acquaintance with such noted collectors as Dr. Babcock and Mr. Alvin Good, in securing a quantity of stamps from each one for which he paid by checks which have been returned as N. G. On inquiry it was learned that the man gave a false address and never had been a depositor of the bank on which the checks were drawn. Dealers are warned to look out for this party who was poorly dressed, about 40 years old with dark curly hair.

REPORT OF SALES SUPERINTENDENT.

To the Board of Vice-Presidents
American Philatelic Society:

Your sales superintendent is pleased to submit the following report, showing that our Department has grown beyond all expectations and is functioning progressively.

We can safely say today we are the largest Sales Department of any Stamp organization in the wide world, without fear of contradiction.

We can also truthfully say I think that we have a larger percentage of members patronizing the sales department than any other stamp society anywhere can claim.

There are two reasons for these things, one, and the foremost, is the wonderful support given your superintendent by the other officers and the membership at large, and the other is the fact that he has been able to devote considerable more time than ever before to the activities of the department.

When large city branches like St. Louis, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Berkeley etc. are making purchases from the circuits running into hundreds of dollars monthly it is evidence in itself that "we have the goods".

We have now reached a place where any member can confine all of his stamp buying to the department and get new additions to his collection every week. It is true that we do not always have something for the specialist but the average member of our society can be taken care of.

The figures of account for the period starting October 1st and ending December 31st, 1922, are as follows:

On hand October 1st, 1921.....	3401 Books with total net value of $	91,103.63
Received during quarter .....	1606 Books with total net value of $	44,958.78
Total .....	5007 Books with total net value of $	136,062.41
Retired during quarter .....	1025 Books with total net value of $	23,034.52
Leaving in circulation .....	3982 Books with total net value of $	113,027.89

Statement on Retired Books.

Sales from 1606 Books ($44,958.78) .....	$8660.66
Insurance to Treasurer .....	$ 284.46
Commission .....	1085.87
Postage to members and fines .....	64.46
Remitted to members .....	7226.09
	$8660.88	$8660.88

I am in a position to take care of many other members who would like to try out the circuits.

Sales July 15th, 1921 to Dec. 31st, 1921 were $11,105.54 of which $2677.06 were made during the month of December, 1921.

Average value of books in the department now over $28.00, as against $26.00 last quarter.

Respectfully submitted,

Jan. 2, 1922.

J. E. GUEST.

Hy-Grade Approvals.

WHAT DOES THAT HEADLINE
MEAN TO YOU?

To many A. P. S. Members and many others who receive Hy-Grade Approvals regularly it means securing fine specimens of stamps for their collections at a cost which is based on our cost and cost of replacement, thereby reflecting the actual market prices.

It Also Means
Service and A Square Deal.

My stock is strongest in early imperforate issues, 19th Century perforates, and 20th Century British Colonials—the latter chiefly unused up to the £5 denomination. I can now supply about 90% of the above issues throughout nearly all the world.

Big Collection Being Broken Up

We are breaking up a large collection of 19th century stamps we purchased, cataloging about $35,000. It contains thousands of stamps one does not get a chance to buy except when such a collection is broken up. Why not your want list?

Want Lists are our specialty. We get them from hundreds of leading collectors and even dealers. The value of the goods asked for on many of them runs into four and even five figures. We fill thousands of lists of all sizes yearly. Why not send us yours if you really want to buy the stamps and are willing to pay reasonable prices? We have one of the largest general stocks in the world, about 90 per cent complete and believe that in price, quality and variety we can do as well by you as anyone.

Approvals Hundreds of books for all grades and classes of collectors. Collections mounted in albums, etc. Special books made up where none are on hand to meet requirements. Partial list of books ready to submit sent free on request.

Price Lists that offer you thousands of first class stamps free for the asking. Special lists of new offers, special items, etc. at intervals, to those on our mailing list. They are free, we charge nothing for our advertising matter.

Our Prices are "fair to you and us". As low as legitimate, guaranteed goods can be sold and make it an object for us to do business on the stock we have to carry and the money invested. They will average favorably with those of any firm that has a stock worthy of being called a stock. We make no claim to being cheaper than anyone else, such claims are usually bluffs, but if you want service, quality, variety, the chance to draw upon a really great stock of stamps, then we are at your service. If you really want to fill those spaces, to buy the stamps, the chances are we can supply the majority of them.

THE THREE CENT VERMILION, UNITED STATES 1887.

By DR. H. A. DAVIS, A. P. S. 1925.

PREFACE.

It is with a mingling of pleasure and regret that I place before the philatelic public these notes on the 3c vermilion. A pleasure, because I know it will place some desired information before the collectors of this stamp, not a few of whom have written me asking for details on certain subjects of which the chapters on the used specimens treat. A regret, and it's true a selfish one no doubt, that details I have studied out, and labored over for years, should become the property of some to whom no doubt these details will seem infinitesimal, unimportant and valueless. Yet the pleasure will overshadow any regret I may feel, should these notes help only a few to form a systematized collection of this, to me, most interesting stamp of our Country.

In the foreword, "A Boys Story," I have endeavored to place before those collectors who have become interested in Philately since attaining maturity and know not of the joys and delights, the ills and disappointments of the small boy collector, a resume of the pleasures of a juvenile Hobbyist. Much of this story is founded on facts extracted from the journal of a boy of 13 and up thru the years until he entered college. They have been worked over and condensed almost to the minimum with much of the sentiment deleted to make them seem the least silly possible, and still retain the history of a school boy's pleasure in his collection, notwithstanding the handicaps under which he was placed by reason of the time, locality and the general manner in which stamp collecting was looked upon during that period.

The student and classifier of cancellations and postmarks I trust, will find much of interest in the section devoted to this most interesting phase of philately.

Others, friends, acquaintances and strangers who have written me relative to this stamp, will find a fuller and more complete answer to their previous inquiries than I was able to give at the time the inquiry was made and before I had completed the study.

To Mr. Chas. A. Nast, an authority on cancellations, my grateful acknowledgement is made for help and assistance over obscure places, and correction of MSS.

To my many friends who have loaned me, sold me, and presented me with specimens of interest and importance for study, I extend my heartfelt thanks and best wishes and only regret that I cannot list here the names of all who have in so material a way made possible the compilation of these notes.

FOREWORD.

The Boy, the Stamps and the Girl.

I well remember the first three cent vermilion I ever saw; to me it was the most beautiful specimen of a postage stamp that up to this time had ever come into my possession. In the years that have passed, during which many thousands of different stamps have come under my notice, my opinion is still unchanged. I had been collecting about two years, when this, to me, eventful day dawned. As a lad in a small country town, and with but one other collector with whom to swap and talk stamps, my knowledge of the great hobby or science was small indeed. To us, a stamp society, an auction catalog or even a magazine devoted entirely to stamps was unknown. My friend "Whack" who was a subscriber to the "Golden Days" had instilled into my mind the fascination of collecting stamps. It was many months after, when we both learned that a magazine was published devoted exclusively to our particular hobby.

So when one day, the "Philatelic Tribune" came addressed to me and to Whack, the "Quaker City Philatelist," we knew that we had another name. We were Philatelists. Our chins were tilted a trifle higher, our step a bit quicker, and our daily chores sooner dispatched, that we might devote more time to our—as my old Dad phrased it, "nonsensical foolishness." Of course Mother must be told how Dad looked at it and her opinion consulted. With her hand on my head with that loving touch which only a mother can bestow, I was informed in the presence of Dad that it was no more foolish to collect stamps than to stand all day on a run-way waiting to get a shot at a fox, "which old Sport was chasing from wood to field and hill to plain. This was a "dig" at Dad, and Mother said "if the house had to be cluttered up with fox-hounds, there certainly could be found a corner for the boy to play with his stamps."

Thus I was firmly established in my new found hobby with the consent of not only Mother, but Dad also, and I came to call myself a Philatelist instead of a stamp collector.

I now gave most of my spare time to my stamp collection, and my former and first collection was nearly forgotten. The latter consisted of a collection of cigar box covers. These were fastened at each end with a brad to the beams that ran along the inner walls of the old woodshed. I had many hundreds of them, one of a kind, some of them works of art, they were pretty and interesting. Many ohs! and ahs! from my friends whom I used to take to the old woodshed to see my collection delighted me greatly.

Whack's ideal of a pretty postage stamp was the 2c brown Jackson of 1870-73, while my greatest pleasure was the 2c vermilion Jackson of 1875-79. We had many arguments, disputes and occasionally little quarrels over the desirability of the two stamps. To my mind the 2c vermilion was worth three 2c browns, while Whack maintained that a 2c brown was worth three 2c vermilions. With the exegesis at such an angle, no swaps could be made, as we then looked at it, and as a consequence we both had several of each variety. This in some degree had a tendency to develop us into stamp collectors again instead of Philatelists.

A new day was dawning for me, the eventful day of the advent of the 3c vermilion. The color a little deeper than the 2c vermilion, and with the picture of our beloved Washington, a name and a picture which we boys of the small country town were taught to honor and love.

Who of us who were born and brought up in a small country town cannot look back and call to mind "the dear old lady" of the town? The small town of S— in central New York was no exception. It was to one of these dear old living angels that I owed my first sight of the 3c vermilion and to whom I was indebted for the possession of my first copy. Mrs. B. a widow was one of those dear old souls for whom every boy in town would run his legs off, so to speak, for her heavenly smile, and "God bless you my son," to say nothing of a hand out of delicious, fat, juicy apple pie.

I had the advantage of Whack in catering to her wishes and running errands, as she lived between my home and the general stores. It was my custom to carry her mail from the postoffice; as a matter of fact I think the dear old soul never had the pleasure of seeing a piece of mail in her box for several years, as I watched it closely.

It was on a book, a small book, the 3c vermilion, mailed from Boston. With the big Boston Parcel post mark cancellation barely striking one edge, this was the most beautiful stamp I had ever beheld. The distance to her home was lessened in time by half on this raw October day. "Certainly my dear" and "God bless you my boy" never before had sounded so sweet and meant so much to me. It was a new stamp just issued by our government I was sure, for it was the same as the old 3c green except in color then in use and so common. It was at about this time that Whack and I both came to the conclusion that we had been very foolish over our bickerings pertaining to the trade of our ideal, so we swapped "even up" one for one. The 2c Jackson vermilion had remained one of my loved possessions, but was now eclipsed by the brilliant 3c Washington vermilion.

I have often heard the remark that all boys' favorite color is red. This I have always doubted and stoutly denied, for among my acquaintances only a small percentage favor shades of red. As a boy I denied this set phrase very hotly, for it seems I did not want to feel that my taste ran in the same line as all other boys. My ideal of color has never changed and it's the brightest reds I admire most, decreasing only as the shade decreases in tone to puce and maroon.

Whack was my best friend and closest chum except Madge, but Madge did not collect stamps, nor could I get this most beautiful being interested in my fascinating hobby. My enthusiasm over the 3c vermilion was to Madge a "foolish pastime," which should have been spent at something more profitable. "What do you see in those silly bits of paper, and such a horrid color, but all boys like red." This was like waving a red flag in the face of a bull, and it's no wonder that I grew to hate the phrase. In order to convince Madge, I became a student of stamps that I might by my best speeches and learned arguments convince this most exasperating yet dearest of creatures, how much good and how little of the bad there was in this "crazy pastime" I had taken up. History, Geography, Government, Classification, Arrangement, Beauty and Art were the subjects I discoursed, but all to no purpose and I finally came to the conclusion, that the collecting instinct is born in an individual.

Whack was a born leader. It was Whack who first rode a velocipede, it was Whack who first owned a printing press, it was Whack who first used a typewriter and it was Whack who first began to collect stamps. He was the best speaker in school. It was he who always won the first prize in our Sunday School Declamations. He was an all around good fellow, and I was always proud of his friendship and glad to be his Pal. Whack subscribed to "Golden Days," while I read the "Youth's Companion." Then we would exchange our magazines, and thus we kept in touch with stamp collecting, as much as these two papers could inform us. Up to about 1886 these two magazines gave us our whole knowledge of stamps, and this almost wholly from the advertisements. From these we ordered "100 mixed for seven cents," and "25 varieties for ten cents." It was in these journals we saw the advertisements of stamp journals and as the "Philatelic Tribune" and the "Quaker City Philatelist" were visiting us each month, we began to feel sure of ourselves as being "Philatelists."

The Philatelic Tribune published by a Smyrna, N. Y. dealer contained advertisements of albums, made expressly for mounting stamps. This, to me was a wonderful innovation in my stamp collecting career,—to possess a book made especially for keeping stamps in order and neat arrangement. The price, seventy-five cents, was soon dispatched for this wonderful book. It came at last, it's before me now after forty years, one of my most loved possessions; red-brown cloth bound, with a golden eagle on a crown depicted on the front cover with black and gold lettering, "Imperial Stamp Album."

I had been wondering what hinges looked like, and just how they were used to mount stamps. I did not want to spare any of my stamp money allowance for anything but stamps. The "Imperial" of course was an exception and this used up nearly a month's allowance. In my experiments I finally hit upon the plan of using a piece of pink paper cut in strips about  $\frac{1}{8}$  by  $\frac{3}{4}$  in. and with a bit of mucilage on each end, opposite sides, began to mount my stamps. The pages of this album still show some of the stamps mounted in this way forty years ago. The hundred mixed stamps in those days consisted of the 1 and 10 centimes, 2c ultramarine, 5c buff and 20c blue of Belgium, 1869-70; the 2, 3, 5 and 10 K. Austria, 1867; the 1c to 1f, France 1876; the issues of Germany 1872-77 etc.

It was about this time that an incident occurred which threatened my all absorbing interest in the Imperial and its contents. Madge was a domineering little witch and she had taken a very strong hold on my Being. Times, when my attention was not centering on my collection, it was taken up with Madge. I learn I was considered a quiet boy as boys go, not given much to "raising heck" or boisterous play; while Madge was exactly my opposite in this respect; full of fun and frolic and never still a moment. I can see her now—red cheeks like the blush on a peach, raven black hair, soft as the muff she held in her hand, long black eyelashes topped by pretty arched eyebrows, and eyes (so uncommon with such a complexion) the pretty blue of a cloudless June day. A nose that tipped just a trifle, and lips like the cherry red which could pout or smile and keep you in sunshine or in the shadow of her displeasure. A complexion often described as "peachy," and the characteristic toss of her pretty little head were some of the entrancing strands that kept me at her feet, and her willing slave if need be. But why try to describe such a being as Madge. Did you ever see the sun-rise from the top of Pikes Peak and try to describe it? It can't be done! So with the loveliness of Madge. To me she was the acme of perfection; her request, a command, and the stamp of her pretty little foot, an emphasis for immediate action, and that, willingly and joyfully. On the subject of Stamps, only did we disagree. If at any time she felt I had neglected her, my punishment was a dis-course in her pretty way on the wasting of time on an old stamp collection, and especially the horrid taste of a fondness for an old red piece of paper. It was times like these that the 3c vermilion was dangling in the balance of my affection, and then again more strongly entrenched. There were times when I thot Madge must win, but always there seemed to be a prescience of the result. Always at the end of these communions with my inner self I would promise myself that I would never, never give up my stamps, no not even for Madge, the sweetest and dearest form of loveliness that was in existence.

I was a big Kid of 16 and Madge a year my junior, when, after one of her lectures on the theme of a fascination for such a useless pastime overheard by Mother, on whom she had called, I told her I would never give up my beloved collection for her. She whirled quickly, and rapidly made for the door, from which point she said, "why should I care, your nothing to me anyway," a bang of the door and Madge had gone. It seemed to me at the moment, that all I cared for had gone with her. For the once I could not bear the thot of my stamps, not even the 3c vermilion. Later in my boyish despair (?) I overheard Dad say to mother, "nothing but puppy love anyway, let them alone."

I went to my "Den" as Dad had named my room, and hoped to find consolation in my collection. But in the 3c vermillions I saw only the pretty loveliness of Madge. My heart was with Madge for she was good as she was beautiful. I lived over again the many happy days with her, her pure, gentle, lovable disposition. It was only on the theme of "stamps" she had ever been disagreeable. My head was with my collection and my pride alone forbade me giving up my collection for a girl. My heart reasonings and my head reasonings were in conflict. Had I a Xyster I would have been willing to use it and give heart full sway. A desire to seek Madge at once took hold of me, but in such a splenetic mood I thot it unwise, and so reason carried the day. The trenchant pain of the Heart at last provoked Head into a state of ratiocination. As a result, I decided to hold Head high if Heart did break.

There were two big social events each year in the little town of S. The Masonic Ball in December, and the Masquerade Hop at hop-picking time, about the middle of September. The latter being held at the V. House overlooking the lake (Otsogo Lake, Cooper's "Glimmerglass"). The town of S— now contained several collectors due to the vigorous recruiting of Whack and myself. The "bunch" of us were considered clannish by the other young people of the town for we were usually together at all the social events. "Crimp" in a small way was a sort of a bully or tried to be. He was so named by the Clan from his oft used expression, "I'll put a crimp in him," or "I'll put a crimp in that" etc. He was to some of us a rather annoying young sprout, and his presence often produced an irritation hard to conceal. We felt that inasmuch as we had made him a stamp collector we must endure his society as one of the Clan.

EDITOR'S COLUMN.

The discussion on the investment features of stamp collecting has received a new impetus thru the sale of the famous Ferrary collection. When a single stamp realizes as much as $32,000 and the total of one auction sale passes the quarter million mark the question naturally arises as to how the purchasers of these de luxe items will fare on future resale. The collector of today that entirely disassociates the idea of money value with his collection is about as rare as the famous one cent British Guiana and while those that consider their stamp expenditures as only part "Investment" and the remainder as an amusement or luxury expense are in the majority, there are many that construe their entire philatelic outlay as a high grade investment. While it would seem more sound to charge off, say 10 to 40% in this wise to the enjoyment derived out of the hobby, there being little likelihood of disillusionment in that method, there is ample proof to be found in the figures obtained in recent sales of collections formed many years back that stamps are indeed a very excellent investment. On the other hand losses in stamps are not uncommon, due to speculation in new issues, excessive first costs and the many quirks the uninitiated suffer from, such as purchasing pen cancells removed for unused, skillful repairs, proofs or counterfeits for genuine, etc. What are we to infer from these facts and the experiences of our fellow collectors? Is it not that stamps ARE an investment—good or bad—just the same, and for the same reasons, as are any other security, stock or bond? Is it not largely a case of buying when the market is low and selling when it is high? The condition of a stamp, its character and legitimacy are similar to the requirements called for in any other kind of security and in choosing between offerings an expert knowledge or careful discrimination must be made whether the security offered be a stamp, stock or bond. Today we have for the "Bonds of Philately" the old classic issues, firmly entrenched and seasoned, for the conservative "Stocks" we have the twentieth Century British Colonials and other "before the war" issues and for the "Flyers" we have the New Europe issues of the present.

If this comparison be true does it not follow that the buyer should predicate his purchases, his methods of collecting and his speciality on not alone his own experience but on the experience and knowledge of others? And in this lies our point:—It's the wise collector that supports the philatelic press and organizations like our own, having for their object the exchange of ideas and experience with fellow collectors. The American Philatelist wishes to render as broad a service as it possibly can, co-operation from our membership is needed and asked for. By way of example, we have a plan of comparing all the standard catalogs both as to prices and listing which we should like to begin publishing next fall, who of our specialists will offer to cover the data on his own "pet" country?

Mr. Eustace Guest our present Sales Manager has again submitted a fine report showing the growth of his department which will be found in this issue. He advises us that he will be a candidate for re-appointment to his present office.

How Some People Look Upon Stamp Collecting.

By ALVIN GOOD, A. P. S. 2054.

To the old-time stamp collector or dealer the remarks made in reference to our hobby by some people who are supposed to be well posted and broad-minded, are often interesting and quite amusing. A case in point is the opinion rendered by Judge Sears of Buffalo, in the case of Frank A. Halladay, Executor of the Estate of Alice F. Halladay, vs. H. B. McGraw, Assignee of Geo. H. Worthington, in the final settlement of the famous Worthington Stamp Collection controversy. The learned Judge dishes out the following: "The chattels involved are without value as articles of use, the only purchasers for such stamps as are principally involved are wealthy enthusiasts who make the collection of stamps a hobby, and those who cater to such whims. If put up for sale at auction, or passed over the counter at a vendor's shop, they would probably have brought very little or remained unsold." During the trial of the above case when Mr. Wallace Thayer, attorney for the Halladay Estate, presented his troubles to the court, stated: "When it was suggested to me that the stamps could be sold for an amount approximately $500,000.00 cash, I thought they were crazy, I did not believe it and laughed at it. I did not think there was a man in the world so foolish as to hand over half a million dollars for these worthless bits of paper." Yet this man actually saw said amount pass across the table in exchange for said "worthless bits of paper."

It has often occurred to the writer what would these two learned gentlemen think could they have been present at the big International Philatelic Exhibition held in New York in 1913, where stamps perhaps to the value of five million dollars were on exhibition. And what would they think if told that at the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Collectors Club Dinner held in New York Dec. 3rd last year, that the value of the stamps owned by the few collectors there represented several million dollars?

This week Cleveland is having her annual Automobile Show, and the daily papers are proclaiming in large type that the value of the care on exhibition is at least half a million dollars. That may sound big to an automobile fan, but to the average philatelist, it would not excite him in the least. The average dealer in stamps would guarantee to dispose of half a million dollars worth of rare stamps quicker than the dealer in automobiles could dispose of the same value of autos.

NORMAL TYPE

A NEW RECUT

Recently, in pricing the collection of Mr. C. F. Williams, President of the Sydney Philatelic Society, which was purchased by The Nassau Stamp Co. I noticed the retouch illustrated herewith which I believe is a new discovery. These stamps were engraved by Wm. Humphreys after a drawing by T. W. Levenge, the plates made by Perkins, Bacon & Co. and printed in the colony. There were two engraved plates and a lithograph transfer from Plate One. Plate One was retouched in September 1858 but the number retouched and their plate positions is not known. I believe the retouch illustrated is from Plate Two as it is not worn like the other retouches I am familiar with coming from Plate One. If any of our readers can throw any light on this variety I will be pleased to hear from him. This is an extremely interesting stamp as in addition to the retouched variety there exist three errors of watermark, two of which are exceedingly rare and of which only two copies of each are known.

PHILATELIC TRAVELS.

By R. SIEGEL.

(Concluded.)

Besides native born Americans, I also had the pleasure of meeting many Americans of German birth. Naturally everyone wanted to hear something about the conditions at present prevailing in Germany, and a good many offered to give assistance to their respective home towns. In Chicago I saw not only The Blackstone, one of the U. S. leading hotels that overlooks Lake Michigan, but I was also introduced to the "Wurz'n Sepp'l." What a contrast! The first represents the very height of elegance and is managed on the best American plan; the other, situated in the poorer quarters of Northern Chicago, continues to exist with Bavarian simplicity, furnishing foaming John Barleycorn of  $\frac{1}{2}$  of 1% to its over thirsty patrons. My stay at the Blackstone did not pass without an humorous incident. At my arrival I found the hotel surrounded by a large crowd and was astonished after reaching my room to hear a lot of speech-making interrupted by loud applause. As I opened the window and looked down I was surprised to be greeted by a dense crowd with loud "hurrahs" and the waving of the Star Spangled Banner. However, the error was soon explained. Above my room was that of the former Greek Prime Minister Venizelos. Notwithstanding my friendly reception in the various cities I had recently visited the enthusiasm, showered upon me in Chicago, was altogether too great to allow of my mistaking the crowd for one that had gathered to admire my philatelic treasures.

Boston, Cleveland and Chicago I have mentioned, but so far I have omitted to say anything about my visit to Niagara Falls. The Falls of the Niagara River! I have seen the Knidiers' Treasury at Delphi. The effect was charming. I have visited Spitzbergen's White Coal Mines. Their effect is grotesque. From the Mokattam Mountains I have admired the sunset over the desert. It was an enchantment. I have stood under the Niagara Falls! They are simply overwhelming in grandeur! Here it seems nature has adapted itself to its surroundings where everything is on a stupendous scale.

From Chicago I intended to go directly to St. Louis. Two days stay had given me an idea of Chicago's importance. However, Kansas City collectors had requested me urgently to include them in my itinerary, and thus I accepted their invitation the more readily as it gave me a chance to get acquainted with a part of the United States which is a little off the usual route of the commercial traveler. I found the city bedecked with flags as the American Legion was awaiting the arrival of Marshal Foch. I had thought I would find Kansas City not built in the typical American way, but even here I was greeted with skyscrapers upon skyscrapers. However, the many hills give Kansas City an aspect quite different from all other large American cities that I had seen. The railroad station, one of the largest in the United States, has evidently been built with an eye to the future, while the Muehlenbach Hotel compares very favorably with any other big American hotel. Though the Kansas City Collectors' Club does not boast of a very large membership, the philatelic esprit of the members and their work is very praiseworthy. In view of my visit the meeting of the club had been set 24 hours ahead and most of the collectors called during the afternoon and evening. During my stay there I saw the fine material which Mr. Allen Sears, the active secretary of the Club, had assembled for the first auction. Much discussed was a block of four of the aeroplane 24 Cent stamps with inverted center which had recently been acquired by a member of that club as a great rarity at an expense of $2700.

The following day saw me in St. Louis. The same interest here as elsewhere and particularly so in Cincinnati where I arrived the next morning. Of all places covered by my trip, Cincinnati struck me as entirely different. Like the city of Rome it is located on seven hills on the Ohio River. As a matter of fact Cincinnati reminds me strongly of some large city on the Rhine, while the Ohio River may well be compared with the Rhine as to size and importance. Mr. Fennel kindly accompanied me on an automobile trip through the suburbs. I was much impressed by the picturesque location of many residences in the upper part of the city. To my regret the day was dark and rainy which somewhat detracted from our enjoyment of nature. Here also I had numerous visitors including several ladies who evidenced a vivid interest in what I brought along.

Leaving the city on a Saturday night I started on the longest lap of my trip, not so long in miles as it is in hours of travel. It takes 20 hours from Cincinnati to Washington, D. C., the route being through the very hilly section of the Alleghany Mountains. The Ohio Rapids are very interesting. I observed a lot of people standing in small boats fishing for salmon. The fish seemingly prefers turbulent waters. The train arrived in Washington on the minute. The moment you leave the train you feel that you are in the Capital city of the United States. The railroad station is a masterpiece of architecture, being in size one of the largest stations I have had an opportunity to see. The quality of the material employed arouses the admiration of every visitor. Like some of the cities before mentioned, Washington was bedecked with flags in honor of the pending Peace Conference. It is a city of most wonderful public buildings spread over a large area, intersected by wonderful parks abounding with fine monuments and statues. In one word it is a Capital city, worthy of the great Republic of the United States. Here again I was visited by specialists who are devoted to the collection of the first imperforated stamps of the United States down to the smallest detail.

I arrived as per schedule in New York on Tuesday, November 1st. Finally, I can only repeat what I have said before, that the work of the American philatelists, and their evident scientific devotion differing as greatly from a mere accumulation of stamps, has impressed me immensely. Naturally the stamps of the United States are more attractive to the American collector than those of most any other country, which is largely due to their artistic execution, variety of designs, and the high quality of the issues. It is but recently that I have seen a very large collection in which the 1847 issue, only two stamps, occupied ten volumes. Their inspection was not wearisome but on the contrary it awoke in the spectator an appreciation of the scientific work and the devotion of the collector.

PHILATELIC SOCIETY OF PITTSBURGH, BRANCH No. 5.

On Wednesday evening, April 26th, the branch held a special meeting at the Press Club Bldg., 542 Fourth Ave., which is now the Society's regular meeting place, in the nature of a farewell dinner to Mr. N. A. Georgantas, who is leaving on an extended tour of Europe, particularly Greece, his native land. Thirty-six members and three visitors attended the banquet and meeting for which a special menu and program was printed. An election of officers was held, those elected being Mr. O. E. DeSio, President; Mr. Wm. J. Price, 1st Vice President; Mr. Wm. Schwarz, 2nd Vice President; Mr. Isaiah Rudy, Treasurer; Mr. William Moss, Secretary; and Mr. Louis Bohn, Jr., Auctioneer. After the banquet a series of humorous and partly serious talks were given, closing with a talk on Greece by Mr. Georgantas, the honored guest of the evening. The meeting closed by all singing a paraphrase of AULD LANG SYNE in honor of Mr. Georgantas. The chorus was as follows:—

For auld lang syne, my dear,
For auld lang syne;
We'll take a cup of kindness yet,
For auld lang syne.

Good bye to you our worthy friend,
So loyal, staunch and true;
We hope to greet you soon again,
Our best wishes are for you.

CINCINNATI PHILATELIC SOCIETY, BRANCH 46,

Held its regular monthly meeting at Room 310 Union Central Bldg. on the evening of April 26th. There were sixteen members present and a number of visitors. Applications to membership were received from two of the evenings guest. On motion of Mr. Ashbrook, duly seconded and carried the following ticket was nominated for the coming A. P. S. election. For President, Mr. Wm. C. Michaels, (Missouri), For Board of Vice Presidents, Mr. J. A. Harris, Jr, Mr. W. W. Mc. Laren and Mr. Otto F. Moses, all of Cleveland, Ohio, For Secretary, Dr. H. A. Davis (Colorado), For Treasurer, Mr. Howard H. Elliott (Mass.) For Int. Sec'y. Mr. Eugene Klein, (Pa) For Directors at Large Mr. H. B. Phillips (California) and Mr. Fred. C. Heyerman (Michigan.).

Mr. Hardcastle, President, called upon the members who devoted themselves to "Specializing" to give their arguments in favor of that form of collecting and their reasons for selecting their specialty. Many sound arguments were advanced in this connection which the general collectors intend to attack at the next meeting. The meeting was then adjourned for the usual auction which offered an unusual feature in a grab bag or "Mystery" auction. Ten lots of stamps were offered mounted upside down, the auctioneer giving only the catalog value, condition and vague hints as to country of origin and character of stamp. As the bids were limited the feature was very entertaining and no one was hurt by his purchases.

GARFIELD PERRY STAMP CLUB, BRANCH 30.

Monthly business meeting was held on the first Thursday of April at which meeting four new members were admitted into the Club and four applications were ordered posted, following the business meeting Mr. E. S. Brown gave an excellent talk on the stamps of Netherlands and exhibited his collection of that Country.

On the second Thursday of the month the usual monthly auction was held. An interesting and educational contest arranged by Mr. R. F. Schmitt occupied the attention of the members on the night of April 20th, after the Contest Pres. Moses started an A. P. S. Political discussion and it was decided to put a Garfield Perry Ticket into the field a committee was appointed to make up the ticket and report on next meeting night.

Fourth and last meeting night of the month held April 27th, at which meeting an attempt was to be made to get out all the new members who had joined since January First with one or two exceptions all appeared and Mr. Whittaker and Mr. Weigel who were in charge proceeded to entertain those present with a written spelling contest, that proved to be a Humdinger and a mirth maker. Messrs. Whittaker and Weigel might have done well to have called their contest "The Comedy of Errors" for such it proved to be many of the members who tried hard to spell the names of Countries given them as pronounced, it was some Job. Before starting the program of entertainment for the evening Dr. Tubman read the report of the A. P. S. Nominating Committee, and the following ticket was then endorsed by the Club.

FOR PRESIDENT—Wm. C. Michaels of Kansas City.

BOARD OF VICE PRESIDENTS—W. W. MacLaren, Cleveland; Major J. A. Harris, Jr., Cleveland; Otto F. Moses, Cleveland.

SECRETARY—Dr. H. A. Davis, of Denver.

TREASURER—Howard H. Elliott, Winchenden, Mass.

INTERNATIONAL SECRETARY—Eugene Klein of Philadelphia.

DIRECTORS AT LARGE—H. B. Phillips, Berkeley, Cal.; F. C. Heyerman, Detroit, Mich.

Dr. Tubman also announced that the Cincinnati Club also indorses the Ticket as read. It was suggested that a letter be sent to the Detroit Philatelic Society, said suggestion being O. K.'d by the members, the letter sent is as follows.

Detroit Philatelic Society,
Detroit, Mich.,

Dear Sirs:—

The members of the Garfield Perry Stamp Club at the last meeting held April 27th, 1922 voted to nominate the inclosed ticket for Officers of the American Philatelic Society at the next election which will be held in Springfield Mass. in August. of this year.

This action on the part of The Garfield Perry Stamp Club was caused by the general belief of it's members that competition and friendly rivalry between Clubs for the election of their ticket will quicken the interest of members of the A. P. S. in the affairs of the Society.

We know that your indorsement of our ticket is not to be hoped for, we do however believe that you will accept our action as a friendly challenge of a Club that holds the best interests of the American Philatelic Society at heart.

With best wishes for the continued success of your organization we beg to remain,

Sincerely yours,

THE GARFIELD PERRY STAMP CLUB,

W. J. Zink, Secretary.

PACIFIC PHILATELIC SOCIETY, LIFE BRANCH No. 1.

The April meeting held on the 19th was attended by 14 members. President Marcus advised that nearly 200 stamp collectors were expected to be among the 200,000 Shriners and their kin attending the Shriners' Convention to be held in San Francisco between June 13th and 16th. A Committee representing all of the Stamp Societies in the trans-bay district has been appointed to look after the welfare and entertainment of visiting philatelists.

Mr. Ross O'Shaughnessy, the well known stamp dealer of San Francisco, and one of our esteemed members, advised that he was departing on May 26th for a European tour. By unanimous vote he was delegated to represent our Society at the British Philatelic Congdness to be held at Bath, England, on June 22nd. Mr. O'Shaughnessy expected to remain in Europe until next year.

Competitive exhibitions of stamps are to commence in May and will be held for five consecutive months. These have been so arranged that the catalogue value will have no bearing on the distribution of prizes, thereby giving the smaller collections an equal chance with the larger ones. Nearly the entire series is based on "Condition" of the stamps and the originality shown by the members exhibiting.

The exhibit dates are as follows:—

May 17th. Condition

June 21st. Colors

July 19th. Designs

Aug. 16th. Cancellations

Sept. 20th. Single Countries not specialized

In the first four classes not more than 25 stamps can be shown.

Mr. Arp exhibited his excellent collection of Scandinavian Countries, among which the first issue of Sweden complete in many shades, and that rarity, the "Tretio" error, particularly attracted the eye. Mr. Dillingham exhibited his Greece and Norway.—MATT C. DILLINGHAM, Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA BRANCH No. 18, Philadelphia, Pa.

At the regular meeting of the Society, held Wednesday evening, May 3rd, 1922, it was voted to endorse and second the ticket nominated by the Cincinnati Branch for officers of the A. P. S. at the next election.—CARL YOUNG, Secretary.

RUBBER CITY STAMP CLUB, Akron, Ohio.

With the admission of five more applicants, the membership of the Rubber City Stamp Club of Akron has been increased to a total of sixty-six. The new "brethren" are: O. H. Wolcott, Edwin H. Wuchter, Wm. D. Preston, Herbert S. Rose, and Robert Quine.

At the meeting of April 26, the members present were sorry to learn that the president, D. R. Heath, was leaving Akron for New York; intending to make the latter place his permanent home. With his departure, Vice President Harry G. Ream assumes active charge of the club.

As a token of their esteem for President Heath, the members presented him with a strip of three of the Canadian fifteen-cents issue of 1868; this being the country in which he specializes.

Miss K. Howe Bennett, in charge of the entertainment for the preceding meeting, provided a very enjoyable program by arranging the stamps of various countries on sheets; the first letters of the countries forming the names of club members. In this contest, Mr. O. S. Hart won first prize for determining the names of those represented, Mr. H. G. Ream took second, and Mr. D. Gibson third.

In order to more efficiently advertise Rubber City to the students of the high schools, small advertisements have been placed in the school papers; the results being very encouraging.

Plans have been practically completed to hold a May Party at the home of Mr. Cornel Kmett who lives out in the country a short distance from Akron. An entire Saturday afternoon and evening will be given over to this affair.

Rubber City extends a "GLAD to Meet You Hand" to any and all Collectors; should YOU happen out our way, we trust it may be our privilege to make you feel at home. Where at?—Room 600 of the Permanent Title Bldg., corner Mill and High Streets; EVERY (!) Wednesday at 7:30.—(Ernest Elwood Thoma, Director of Publicity.)

REPORT OF SALES SUPERINTENDENT.

Dallas, Texas, April 10th, 1922.

To the Board of Vice-Presidents, American Philatelic Society.

Again the time has come for my regular quarterly report and it is with satisfaction I am again able to show an increase in the volume handled by the department.

There is an increasing interest of the members in the department and each week brings inquiries from many of the older members regarding the working of the department.

My advertising of the department and the A. P. S. in general appearing regularly in philatelic papers is bringing a constant string of inquiries and resulting in the recruiting of many new members for our Society.

Following is my report for period Jan. 1-March 31st, 1922.

On hand 1-1-22:

3982 books with total net value of .....	$113,027.89
1776 books received during quarter with net value .....	$ 50,126.73

5758 Books, Total net value of .....	$163,154.62
--------------------------------------	--------------

Retired during quarter:

905 Books, total net value .....	$ 24,223.19
----------------------------------	--------------

Leaving in circulation a grand total of 4853 books .....	$138,931.43
--	--------------

Statement on Retired Books.

Sales from books retired ($24,223.19) .....	$ 7,806.13
Insurance .....	$ 299.41
Commission .....	977.95
Postage and fines .....	62.33
Remitted to owners .....	6466.44

An effort is being made at this time to retire and return to owners all books on hand that have been in the department a year or more. This is especially necessary at this time as many were priced by the old catalog, and prices are now too high.

We have detected one or two substitutions lately, and I ask the cooperation of the members using the circuit in an effort to trace down these petty offenders so that we may eliminate them from our ranks.

I beg to announce that I will be a candidate for re-appointment to this position for the next fiscal year, and ask the support of the membership at large.

Respectfully submitted,

J. E. GUEST, Sales Superintendent.

and if you enclose a list of the stamps you particularly wish they will be submitted if in stock when your communication is received. It will help me to help you if you state whether you prefer used or unused specimens, or pairs, strips and blocks, or stamps used on original envelopes.

My stock is strongest in early imperforate issues, 19th Century perforates, and 20th Century British Colonials—the latter chiefly unused up to the £5 denomination. I can now supply about 90% of the above issues throughout nearly all the world.

Big Collection Being Broken Up

We are breaking up a large collection of 19th century stamps we purchased, cataloging about $35,000. It contains thousands of stamps one does not get a chance to buy except when such a collection is broken up. Why not your want list?

Want Lists are our specialty. We get them from hundreds of leading collectors and even dealers. The value of the goods asked for on many of them runs into four and even five figures. We fill thousands of lists of all sizes yearly. Why not send us yours if you really want to buy the stamps and are willing to pay reasonable prices? We have one of the largest general stocks in the world, about 90 per cent complete and believe that in price, quality and variety we can do as well by you as anyone.

Approvals Hundreds of books for all grades and classes of collectors. Collections mounted in albums, etc. Special books made up where none are on hand to meet requirements. Partial list of books ready to submit sent free on request.

Price Lists that offer you thousands of first class stamps free for the asking. Special lists of new offers, special items, etc. at intervals, to those on our mailing list. They are free, we charge nothing for our advertising matter.

Our Prices are "fair to you and us". As low as legitimate, guaranteed goods can be sold and make it an object for us to do business on the stock we have to carry and the money invested. They will average favorably with those of any firm that has a stock worthy of being called a stock. We make no claim to being cheaper than anyone else, such claims are usually bluffs, but if you want service, quality, variety, the chance to draw upon a really great stock of stamps, then we are at your service. If you really want to fill those spaces, to buy the stamps, the chances are we can supply the majority of them.

ON TO SPRINGFIELD!

Reader! Did you ever attend a stamp convention? If not you have missed half the joy of being a collector. If you have attended a meet, it goes without saying that you want to attend more. Well, there is a chance coming for both of you. The members of the American Philatelic Society will begin to converge upon Springfield, Massachusetts on or about August 14th. and for the rest of the week there will be a chance to see stamps, talk stamps, swap stamps, and buy stamps. On the evening of Monday, August 14th, the president of the Springfield Stamp Club, Mr. Brewer Corcoran, will keep open house at his residence on Maple street, giving the members a chance to get acquainted and to renew old friendships. Don't think this a spike-tailed coat affair. It is purely informal. You will have an opportunity to register and as in former years we shall have some of our best looking girls to act on that committee. The forenoons of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday will be reserved for the business sessions. Tuesday noon the photograph will be taken, so be sure to be on hand. Then we shall take the steamer Sylvia for an outing at Riverside where you can do all sorts of stunts. After dinner that evening B. L. Drew will hold an auction sale which he says will contain lots suited for all kinds of pocketbooks. A block of twenty-seven of the 10 cent 1851 United States is one of the gems which will wake up even Doc. Chase, Capt. Hammatt, or Judge Emerson.

Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to a trip to Mt. Tom and those who have attended the previous Springfield conventions will assure you that the trip alone will repay you for coming to the convention. In the evening there will be a banquet with something out of the usual in after dinner programs. Thursday afternoon has been left free for miscellaneous trips to the Art Museum, Forest Park, etc. The evening will be given up to a stamp bourse which has proved so popular in late years. Bring something to trade, sell, or show.

Headquarters will be at the Hotel Kimball, only a few minutes walk from the Union Station. It will be well to engage your room in advance for our city is a halfway point for auto parties and "S. R. O." is hung out almost every summer night at the leading hotels. There are other hotels near at hand with rates to suit all. Good restaurants abound where those who wish to get their meals outside the hotel can find good service at low rates.

Just a few words about the city. Founded in 1636, a city in 1852, population over 135,000. A Municipal Group costing $2,000,000 and a new bridge costing over $5,000,000 which will be opened across the Connecticut August 1st. The famous Springfield rifle is manufactured at the National Armory here and the well known Smith and Wesson revolver is another product. Our park system covers nearly a thousand acres, Forest Park alone occupying about 800. In closing let me quote a toast written for the Chamber of Commerce about a dozen years ago.

There's a Springfield in Ohio and there's one in Illinois,
 There's another in Kentucky where the blue grass waves in joy;
 Even Hoosier Indiana claims a Springfield as her own,
 While Missouri boasts her Springfield and is waiting to be shown.
 There's a Springfield in Nebraska, and Wisconsin also counts,
 While the Springfield, Colorado, rears its head among the mounts,
 Oregon and South Dakota do not have to seek in vain,
 Washington on the Pacific has its Springfield; so has Maine.
 In New Jersey and New Hampshire, in Vermont and Tennessee, Minnesota, West Virginia, there are Springfields three and three,
 'Way down south in Alabama, Georgia, Florida, as well,
 Still we find the name of Springfield, still we feel its mystic spell.
 But when people mention Springfield, none of these comes to mind;
 There's another, better Springfield than the others all combined—
 Yes, a bigger, grander Springfield which in all ways can surpass
 The score of other Springfields—Here's a health to Springfield, Mass.

Signed, CONVENTION ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE.

THE THREE CENT VERMILION, UNITED STATES 1887.

By DR. H. A. DAVIS, A. P. S. 1925.

Madge and Lillian, (Lillian was Whack's girl and Madge's chum) had often expostulated with Whack and me over Crimp's presence in our party at outings, picnics, hops and the like, saying he became a stamp collector only to push himself in with our Clan.

In a small town like S— everyone knows everyone's business. It was a great sensation in the Clan that Madge and Hal had had a "falling out," predictions were freely made as to whether we would or could not make up. The months were gliding by and at last I found great solace with my stamps. It was at about this time I began to arrange my 3c vermilion and classify them. I was endeavoring to obtain one postmarked from as many different towns as possible. This was before "cancellation collections" were thot of by the majority of Philatelists.

Whack and Lillian, as the time for the Masquerade Hop drew near, were intent on bringing Madge and me "together" again, as they expressed it, and that there would be no fun unless Madge and Hal were a part of the old Clan. I had been thinking deeply on the remark Dad had made to Mother about "puppy love." While I thot I had a fair idea as to what "puppy love" meant, I desired to make sure, and so I had gone to Mother and poured out my heart to her. I had noticed her during these long unhappy months look at me with that sympathetic mother-love devotion, and I wished her advice. After I had unburdened my heart to her, she asked me if I still thot of Madge as I used to and if I still desired her friendship. I told her I valued her friendship more than ever, and that I was seriously considering giving up my stamps, if it would make peace with Madge. Mother said it was only pride that was making me unhappy if I felt like that, and advised me to go to Madge and offer my sacrifice, and see what she would do about a reconciliation. I learned later that Madge had had a talk with Mother and was about to come to me with the olive twig. Mother thot to save Madge's pride, and told me to go to her like a man, and if Madge was the girl she believed, I would not be asked to give up my stamps, and that she saw no puerility in my attachment for Madge. Crimp the quidnunc was ever on the alert for news of this sort and I was often on the point of a break with him.

I eagerly sought Madge, going to her home and in the presence of her mother promised to give up my stamps if she wished it, if we could be friends again. Madge, the lovely of loveliest met me more than half way, and acknowledged she had been unreasonable and had made up her mind to come and tell me so, and that I need not give up my stamps if I did not spend every minute with them. Her mother laughed as she said with mock severity, "Such Children!" Thus I was "on earth" once more, happy with my collection and happy with the charming society of lovely little Madge, acknowledged by most everyone as the sweetest and most charming girl in the town of S—.

Crimp had no "regular girl" but at times would escort most any girl in town who would accept his attentions, and they were few. This too, only added to the growing discontent of Madge and Lillian and often threw a gloom over our otherwise happy times. September 1st of the summer of which I write, 188—, the Mask Hop had been billed and Crimp had not found a partner for the occasion. Madge, the little witch, was secretly glad that we might be able to enjoy this one event without, as Lillian put it, "Crimp sticking in with some creature." "Creature" was about the worst word Lillian could name a person.

However, Crimp was there with full sail. He had gone to the town of C— nine miles distant and procured a partner for the great event of the summer. Kitty was a blond, a beauty, fair as the morning, one we often read of but seldom meet in real life. Some author has said, "most divinely fair and most divinely tall." One would turn to look at Kitty the second time. We all wondered by what good fortune and how Crimp had become acquainted with her.

I had decided to appear at the Hop as "Dan McGinty," having hit upon this character especially as at this time everyone was singing, humming or whistling "Down went McGinty." I had written my name on Kitty's card for several dances, one or two of which we "sat out" and we became quite well acquainted. Of course it was inevitable that Kitty should learn of my interest in stamps and that I was especially interested in the 3c vermilion. By her refulgent conversation I gained the impression she was used to meeting many people and later learned she was the typist at the F— House in the noted summer resort at C— on the Glimmerglass. She had many opportunities of finding stamps she informed me and would be delighted to save them and send to me. * * * "and you will be surprised at what I will send you" she was saying as we entered the Ball-Room and met Crimp just starting to look for her. He overheard her remark and a strange expression came over his face. I thot at the time "Crimp is jealous" and is wondering to what Kitty referred.

I found Madge a little provoked at my seeming neglect of her altho she was too much of a little lady to exhibit her feeling, but I, who knew her so well, sensed the trend of her thot and resolved to devote myself exclusively to my little Queen (Madge dressed as the Queen of Sheba on this particular occasion) the rest of the evening. I learned however even if I had neglected her she was not without numerous attentions for Madge was always a magnet among her numerous friends and acquaintances.

As we whirled away Madge remarked "Dan McGinty presents a better figure with the Highland Lassie (the costume Kitty wore) that he does with the Queen of Sheba." This of course was a hint for an explanation of my long absence, so I confessed that stamps again was to blame and that Kitty had promised to send me some nice ones.

When the happy evening came to an end as all happy evenings do, our party escorted Kitty and Crimp safely on board the Natty Bumpo, the famous old side-wheeler bound for an hours trip on the Glimmer Glass to the town of C—. Whack presented his lantern to Kitty (he had appeared as Diogenes) at the last minute, and Crimp's open mouth amazement was remarked as we drove from the V— house towards home.

About a week later occurred the climax to my story of the Masked Hop. I had agreed to do some work on the books of the C— Creamery for my friend who had charge of them, and was deeply in the midst of juggling figures and amounts when in walked Crimp with the remark: "Hal I was coming up this way and noting a letter in your box, brot it up to you." I was too surprised to say more than "thank you" as I took the envelope and noted the postmark as the town of C— where Kitty lived. "Well I see you're busy Hal, so-long" said Crimp as he walked out. I noted a strangeness of manner and a peculiar expression of Crimp's face, not at all like a paladin, with his provoking inquisitiveness, loud talking and happy-go-lucky ways. I opened the envelope immediately, expecting to find—how many 3c vermilion? There were none, and this is what I read "I have no use for Dan McGinty." It was signed "Kitty Wilson." My only thought was "what could have happened, that Kitty to whom we all became attached that one, only too short evening, should have written thus." It was so unlike the girl I had imagined her to be. That evening I showed the letter to Madge. She read it without comment, but held the letter in her hand looking thoughtfully and seriously at nothing for several moments. Finally, "Hal at what hour did Crimp give you this letter?" "At four o'clock." "Now Hal in the morning you go to the Postoffice and ask Mr. B— at what time Crimp asked for your mail. See, this envelope has been steamed opened and resealed. See the postmark on the back, the circle does not meet."

The Postmark of S— the receiving station had been struck on the back partly on the flap and partly on the body of the envelope. Sure enough, on examination it was plainly evident that the envelope had been opened and resealed. On my way to the postoffice next morning I met Crimp. "Hello Hal" was his greeting as he was about to pass. Very strange for Crimp, the boisterous. I caught him by the arm, "What's your hurry Crimp, what do you hear from Kitty?"

"Kitty's gone to New York, am in a hurry, see you later." I received the information at the postoffice that Crimp had obtained my mail at about nine o'clock. It was all plain to me now. Crimp had taken the letter home, steamed it open and extracted the contents and substituted the note supposed to have been written by Kitty. But in resealing he had neglected to see that the two halves of the postmark circle matched evenly.

I was not angry, but hurt to the quick. I never saw Crimp again for long years. That evening I received a wire giving me the appointment as teacher of a country school some 30 miles from S—. My people had decided that I should teach at least a year before entering college, as it would teach me to discipline others, such experience, Dad said was very much needed in my case. Within the next month I learned (thru a correspondence between Kitty and Lillian, which Madge passed on to me) that Kitty had sent me an even dozen 3c vermilion. I wrote her a letter of thanks asking to be pardoned for the long delay. How much I desired to know just what she had written when sending the stamps, but I never saw her again. At Christmas time Madge sent several 3c vermilion which she had saved up for me. "A truce" she had written "to show you I am not quite disinterested in your hobby." Six months later I had finished my two terms of teaching and started post haste for the little town of S—. A great disappointment awaited me on my arrival. I had expected to enter college in the September to follow. But Dad was obdurate. I had to take nine months more under a certain Professor at the city of R— 80 miles from S—. This I felt to be an injustice as I had passed all my examinations and received my college entrance credentials. Dad said I needed trimming up and polishing and reviewing of my high school and academic courses. I tried to make him understand that this trimming and polishing should come after college and not before entering. Mother was my advocate, but all to no purpose. This would mean a delay of a whole year, but Dad said "there's plenty of time."

I was now 19 and I would be twenty when I entered college. This summer was given over to rest and recreation. Outside of rambles and good times with Madge my recreation consisted in remounting most of my stamps in an International album. The summer passed very quickly and at its end I found myself in the city of R— under the thumb of Prof. R—, an old “crab” who looked upon a smile as an injury to nature. The craze to deal in stamps in a small way now took hold of me. With a new acquaintance I had formed in R—, Bob W. we decided to go into the stamp business under the name of D. & W. Stamp Company. I had ordered stationery—letter heads and envelopes—with our firm name, and advertisement in the Quaker City Philatelist, and on the day we were to make up our order to the wholesaler, Bob informed me his people had forbidden him to engage in the partnership. Eob could not, or would not, give any reason for his parents refusal, and I never learned why he was compelled to deny himself the pleasure we had anticipated. However in as much as our office supplies were purchased and the advertising placed, I decided to go ahead using our contemplated firm name. Our stationery informed the philatelist public that we were “dealers in U. S. and Foreign Stamps, Stamps on Approval; advanced collectors send want lists.”

Prof. “Crab” as I had disrespectfully named him and was wont to call him behind his back, looked upon stamp collecting as a folly and “silly waste of time.” Consequently I received no help or encouragement from him, but as I had practically all the afternoons and evenings as study periods, nearly half or more was devoted to my new “excitement” as Prof. Crab called it. From a large concern in a distant western city I ordered my “Dealers stock,” which consisted of several hundred stamps to sell at from one to five cents each, approval sheets, hinges, a large variety packet, and an assortment of several thousand to make up into packets as well as a good stock of ready made packets and sets. My first action of course on receipt of my stock was to pick out one of each which my album spaces showed vacant and set aside for my private collection. The thot that these specimens were purchased at wholesale prices made mounting in my private collection a double pleasure. The acquisition at about this time of several hundred 3c vermilions purchased at wholesale (20c per hundred) were mounted in my 3c vermilion album which consisted of an accountant’s figure book with quadrille blue ruling on yellow pages. While I was in possession of several hundred of my favorite stamp, I never sold or traded one of these. I was informed by a dealer whom I had met in the town of R— that this was not a “true dealer’s spirit,” but I decided I would have to be content even if I were not a “true dealer.”

Answers to my Ad. began to come in and nearly all my spare time was consumed in filling orders for approvals. These were happy days indeed, and the winter soon passed away. I was much surprised when the thot was forced upon me, how little I had missed Madge. But this was accounted for in view of the fact that her letters were numerous, chatty, witty and full of news from the little old home town.

Near the close of the season I began to wind up my stamp business preparatory to saying good by to the city of R—. This was when I received a good many “bumps” which after all was a goodly lesson. Many of my approval lots were still out after a third request for their return. They are still out after 30 years, and I am wondering how much they have increased in value, and if their present owners are proud of the way they obtained them. Spring had come and gone and as the summer was nearing its end I found myself at home again in the little town of S—with only one month to “browse around” before leaving for college.

I now felt myself to be a man in fact. In some way it was understood that sometime Madge and I were to be married. I do not know when we became engaged, it must have been when I was nine or ten, for that’s about the time I first met Madge, in fact I do not remember of a formal engagement between us, it seems it was always understood. Madge does not know either, for I just asked her. During this short vacation we began to plan for our future and the month flew by with no note of time. I did not see my collection during the entire month which was the longest separation between us that had ever occurred, and the thot struck me, "how little I had missed them," and how much I would miss Madge on my departure.

The day too quickly arrived and as I look back it was a decidedly dreamy day. I had held Madge in my arms as the last "good by" was said and found myself in a train coach pulling out from the little town of S—.

As I looked from the car window, all the marvelous beauty of an early September day was to my eyes invisible. I saw only the sweet face, the peculiar little twist of the lovable mouth, the fascinating twinkle of the beautiful eyes of my lovely, loveliest Madge. Hours, I noted later, I had sat hearing nothing, seeing nothing but the dainty loveliness of my sweetheart. As I thot of the pure beauty of her form and character, I felt I was indeed a lucky chap. But I felt more fortunate when on opening the package Madge had thrust in my hands at the last moment, I read with flushed face and rapidly beating heart the following:

"Dearest Hal:

I am writing you what I have no doubt been too proud to confess orally, in as much as I must have acted very hateful at times towards your hobby. I believe now I shall like your stamps, especially the 3c vermilion; and when you return an august M. D. and we have a little home of our own, I shall, I know, take the greatest pleasure in helping you arrange them in the most artistic manner.

Your little wife to be

HISTORY: Reason for Issue.

That the three cent vermilion was issued at the time first class postage was reduced from three cents to two cents per half ounce seems to be a common error among collectors. As a matter of fact this stamp was not issued until about four years after the passage by Congress of the following enactment, approved March 3, 1883.

"Upon all matter of the first class (as defined by chapter 180 of the Laws of Congress, approved March 3, 1879 entitled: An Act etc.) postage shall be charged, on and after the first day of October A. D. 1883, at the rate of two cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof, and all acts, so far as they fix a different rate of postage than herein provided upon said first class matter, are to that extent hereby REPEALED."

After the issue of the two-cent red-brown in October, 1883, the three cent green continued to be used until September, 1887. The reason for the change from green to vermilion was the result of a decision of the postoffice department to change the color of the two cent red-brown, or as the department classifies it, "metallic red" to green in September 1887.

Had the color of the three cent green not been changed at this time, there would have been two stamps,—two cent and three cent, both green, and both bearing the portrait bust of Washington. On this account only was the three cent green changed to vermilion. The vermilion stamps were printed from the same plate,—No. 421, the last plate used for the three cent green and the only one used to print the three cent vermilions.

Number Issued.

In a circular issued by the Postoffice Department dated August 15, 1887 it was announced that

“On and after September 12, 1887 the following changes will be made. The color of the two cent stamp will be green instead of metallic red. The color of the three cent stamp (issues of which are still made to some of the larger Post-offices) will be vermilion instead of green.”

According to this announcement, it would seem that the smaller Postoffices did not receive the three cent stamps, and to only SOME of the larger Postoffices was it issued. It would be interesting to know to which of the larger Postoffices the three cent stamps were issued at this time. From the Postmaster General's Report we can glean only that over sixteen millions of the three cent vermilion were issued to Postmasters. The exact number is not at all definite for the reason that the first report of the number of three cent stamps issued to Postmasters after the issuance of the three cent vermilion no doubt included some of the three cent greens, probably at least two-thirds. As the Department states the color would be changed September 12th, 1887, and the first report including them was for stamps issued up to September 30th, 1887, and the previous report for stamps issued up to June 30th, 1887, I am inclined to believe from the number issued as stated in each report that at least one third of the three cent stamps issued for the quarter ending Sept. 30th, 1887 were the vermilions.

Now let us look at the number of the three cent stamps issued during the close of the reign of the vermilion and the ascendancy of the purple of 1890. The three cent purple was according to the Postoffice report first issued February 22, 1890. The first reports including this issue is for stamps furnished postmasters for the quarter ending March 31, 1890 and totals 2,805,400. The previous report was for stamps issued for the quarter ending December 31, 1889 and totals 1,085,500. The latter consisted of all vermilions, but the former must have included some of the three cent purples. On account of the date of issue of the three cent purple, let us assume that one half were vermilions. By this hypothesis, for the purpose of arriving as near as possible at the correct number of three cent vermilions issued, we find a total of 16,132,435.

The following table is a summary gleaned from the reports of the Postmaster General and shows the number of stamps issued to Postmasters during its life of two years and four months.

DESCRIPTION: The Design.

A description of the design of the three cent vermilion seems unnecessary. I might say: Houdon's bust of Washington facing left in an oval on a shield covering nearly the entire stamp * * * etc. but I much prefer one of two descriptions given by a school boy collector to his chum who on his being informed that he had just added the three cent vermilion to his U. S. collection asked what it was like? "Oh its red and has a 'picher' of Washington." In another instance I overheard the best description of this stamp and the one which I shall use here. "It's just like the three cent green only its vermilion." The three cent green here referred to, being of course the re-engraved issue of 1882.

Paper.

The paper on which this stamp is printed runs in a wide range of shade and thickness. From pure white to almost buff, and yet, manila or straw color would be nearer the shade than buff. I am inclined to think that in a great number of instances the paper is perhaps changed in shade due to the ink with which the design is printed, combined with oxidation and the ordinary gasses of a press room which has no little influence in changing the shade or tint of the paper. No doubt these gasses combined with oxidation and some chemical in the paper itself have a tendency to vary the shade of any ordinary paper according to the locality and conditions under which it is stored. The percentage of pure white paper on which this stamp is met with in my investigations is about 1/40 of 1%. This percentage being greater with the 3c blue-green re-engraved, is one reason why I have come to the conclusion that external as well as internal conditions affect and change the tint of the paper of the vermilion stamp. One may, for instance, out of 1000 three cent vermilion, select about ten different shades. Beginning with a pure white, then one just a trifle darker and so on across an album page until almost a manilla color is arrived at. In my own collection to display these shades the stamps are hinged face down.

Another factor in the change of the tint of the paper is the cancelling ink in the case of used specimens. In some instances the paper having turned almost black. In displaying paper shades of unused stamps, the specimens should be soaked in cold water until all the gum has been removed, as it is almost impossible to gauge the color thru the gum.

Specimens will also be found with bits of straw fibers distributed thru the paper, ordinarily called "straw paper." These are fairly common and amount to about 37 1/2 of 1%.

This stamp also exists on the so-called "chemical paper."

Much has been said and written about "chemical paper." Whether this is a Department experimental paper or whether it is due to atmospherical and chemical changes after the stamp is printed, still remains a disputed question among the best informed Philatelists. I purchased sometime ago from a collector a copy which he called a "greasy ink" specimen. This simulates to some extent the chemical paper. This, as well as my chemical paper stamps, is unused, and I believe his classification to be right, a greasy inked specimen; a stamp in which the grease in the ink was absorbed by the paper, giving it a peculiar and interesting appearance not unlike the chemical papers, but in no way difficult to distinguish therefrom with a specimen of each side by side.

As to the texture: The paper is always porous. Out of 1300 examined, no other was found. There are specimens which seem to be on hard paper, it is white, stiff and snappy, but when held to the light the pores may be seen readily, little white spots covering the entire stamp.

Thickness: This varies perhaps more than any other stamp of any series that I have closely studied. It varies from .0042 of an inch to .0025 by exact measurement. Differences in thickness may be easily defined by the feel of the stamp in the fingers.

Out of 1300 examined I found none with the "Douglas Patent" paper nor did I find any with "stitch" watermark, both of which are found occasionally on the 3c blue green re-engraved. A dealer some time ago sent me a specimen and sold me as such, a copy labeled "stitch watermark". On thorough examination I found it to be but a damaged copy, the paper broken thru simulating to some extent the stitch watermark, but a poor imitation. For the benefit of the younger collectors who are not familiar with the terms "Douglas Patent", a short description will not be out of place. The stamp is made of two layers of paper, in fact a double paper. The top layer or the side on which the design is printed is perforated with eight small holes in a circle. It is said the idea of this patent was to prevent the cleaning of used stamps so they could be attached to envelopes the second time. Soaking the stamps would separate the two layers, while an erasure on account of the small holes would tear the thin upper layers thus destroying the stamp. It is said by good authorities that the stamp bearing this patent was never generally used by the Government, but was used to some extent as an experiment only.

GUM:

Unused mint specimens may be classified as white, yellowish and brownish gum. This also varies in thickness, the white gum being the thinnest and the brownish much thicker, while the yellowish is a trifle thicker than the white.

SHADES:

Two shades of ink may be distinguished, a light and a dark shade of vermilion. It is my opinion that these shades are due to a thin and thick coating of ink rather than to a real difference in the tint of the ink.

THE SHEET:

This stamp was printed in sheets of 200 and cut into panes of 100 each before distribution to Postmasters. There are four inscriptions and four plate numbers on each sheet of 200. "American Bank Note Company" followed by a square period in shaded Roman Caps, beginning above the 5th stamp of the upper left pane and occupying the length of two stamps, the 15th and 6th. There is a space of two stamps between the inscription and plate number, the plate number in italic or script letters "No. 421" above the 8th and 9th stamps. On the right pane at top, the number comes first, being placed over the 2nd and 3rd stamps, while the inscription is immediately above the 5th and 6th stamps.

This same arrangement of the inscription and plate number follow at the bottom of the sheet on both right and left panes. Preceding the inscription at the bottom left, there is usually an extra row of perforations under the 2nd and 3rd stamps, sometimes running under the 4th. Also, following the inscription at the top right over the 7th and 8th stamps, sometimes running over the 9th to some extent. It is to be noted that on the left pane the inscription precedes the plate number, while on the right pane at both top and bottom, the plate number precedes the inscription.

I have had submitted to me on numerous occasions strips from the top right and from the bottom left, showing these extra perforations as great rarities with enormous prices attached. My reply has always been with the return of the stamps, that had the extra perforations been missing on these strips, I would be glad to consider their purchase, as the perforations are the rule and not the exception.

Thru the kindness of friends I have been permitted to examine quite a number of panes of this stamp, and the decision arrived at from the panes in my own collection, has only been confirmed regarding the extra perforations.

There is no guide line between the two panes, but at top and bottom at the center of the sheet there is a "V", the apex pointing inward showing where the division is to be made. Extending from the base of the "V" is a center line. On some panes this line will be absent according as to where the shears or knife is placed in making the cut.

A very pretty display may be made by constructing a skeleton sheet of two hundred. Using the four corner stamps with margins at each corner of the album page, placing the two top arrows as they are called, (they are really a completed "V" when placed side by side) at the top center, and the two lower ones at the bottom with about 2mm. space between the stamps. Next a vertical strip of three or a pair and a single, the pair above, from the left pane at the left, and the same of the right pane at the right, with two vertical strips of three, one from the right of the left pane, and one from left of the right pane in the center in line with the arrows at top and bottom, and the skeleton is complete. This may be elaborated upon, but will be too large for the ordinary album page. Using a stiff cardboard of the right dimensions, the plate number strips at top and bottom may be inserted between the corner stamps and the arrow stamps on each side.

PERFORATION:

Perforated 12. I have never seen an imperforate pair of this stamp. I have in my collection a single copy labeled "imperf." followed by a "?". The margin is about 2mm. all around. This specimen was undoubtedly made by trimming a perfectly centered copy.

PROOFS:

An interesting die proof of this stamp has come under my notice. It is printed on india paper  $2 \times 2 \frac{3}{4}$  in. mounted on the regulation card  $5 \frac{1}{4} \times 8 \frac{1}{4}$  with inscription  $\frac{1}{4}$  in. below the stamp in small Roman caps. "Worked over by New Company June 29th, 1881" in two lines. One inch below the india paper on the card is the word "vermilion" in script pencil writing, and at the bottom of the card in pen writing in two lines, "Dupliete A. D. H., June 4th, 1889."

Another interesting piece is a plate proof block of 20,  $5 \times 4$  (Horiz. x Vert.) Single card-board proofs are comparatively common, but I have never seen a pair, strip or block of the latter, altho it is possible that they exist.

SAMPLES:

This stamp exists in regular color marked "sample" in blue ink, small gothic type. This design also exists marked "sample A" in gothic type in different colored inks. I am of the opinion that these samples were made in different colors at the time the vermilion was selected to replace the green. I have never seen the vermilion stamp marked "specimen" but it may exist. The 3c blue-green reengraved and others of that series all exist with the "specimen" overprint.

THE USED STAMP.

COVERS:

Covers bearing the three cent vermilion used previous to June, 1890 are exceedingly scarce. I have seen but three since I really began to make a study of this stamp, and have heard of but one other. Covers with # 213 used since June, 1890 are comparatively common. I have one interesting cover of the latter period, used during the late world war which bears the label "Opened by Censor 814" in three lines. It was posted from Worcester, Mass. Jan. 31, 1916 and addressed to the town of Hilversum, Holland. To this cover, besides the three cent vermilion, is attached its companion of that period, the 2c green at its left.

Of the three covers that have come under my notice posted previous to June 1890, one was posted Nov. 7th, 1887 in combination with the 2c brown on buff envelope Scott's # 2525. Another dated March 26th, 1889 in combination with a pair of the 10c re-engraved of that period and the 2c green on buff envelope, Scott's # 2562. Both these latter were posted to Brussels, Belgium from Providence, R. I. and New York City respectively.

The third copy mentioned has also the 1c 1887 and a 10c brown re-engraved, posted April 25, 1889 at Lewiston, Me. and addressed to some town in Ventura County, Calif.

Many collectors have written me for my opinion as to the cause of the scarcity on cover of this relatively common stamp. When we consider the period, the postal rates, and the use this stamp was put to it does not seem strange that covers previous to June 1890 are scarce. The rate of postage at that time for a single letter was the same as now, except that only a half ounce could be sent for 2c, consequently if a letter weighed over a half ounce, 4 cents in stamps must be placed thereon. One would not be likely to use a three and a one if a four cent was available, and business houses then as now, usually kept on hand stamps of several denominations.

This being so, we have preserved only the covers with combinations used for foreign posting, or for registration. The main use for this stamp seems to have been for small parcels, such as books, circulars and catalogs.

One may readily imagine how the wrapping paper of a parcel is immediately consigned to the waste basket, or the large manilla envelopes such as are still in use to mail catalogs and circulars are thus thrown away, while the ordinarily sized envelopes are sometimes preserved, either to preserve the letter for future reference or as a habit many people have outside of business houses of keeping all their correspondence in envelopes tied in bundles and packed away in the proverbial "hair trunk."

PAIRS, STRIPS AND BLOCKS.

Pairs, strips and blocks of the 3c vermilion are comparatively common and will be mentioned again under "Cancellations" in which classification they may be included.

ARROWS:

The "arrow" or guide line specimens in used condition are quite scarce and inspire an interesting hunt, if one has plenty of time and money to spend on such varieties. They should be mounted in the form of a block of four about 1 mm. apart, the arrows at top forming a "V", and the same at the bottom with the apex turned inward. Another interesting page may be made by mounting them in connection with a used block of four. Mount the block in the center of the page and the four arrow specimens at top and bottom, say each arrow specimen about one inch from each corner stamp of the block, so that an imaginary line drawn from the left top of page to the right bottom, and another from the right top to the left bottom will bisect each of the eight stamps into perfect triangle halves.

CANCELLATIONS:

Cancellations on the three cent vermilion do not offer as wide a field as on some other low value series of United States stamps, but they are very interesting nevertheless, and to me have been a fascinating study in classification, especially the "parcel" cancellation or postmark. The whole number of stamps examined was 1300 specimens, and this number was taken as a basis in reckoning percentages.

The parcel cancellation is by far the most numerous on the three cent vermilion and includes about 82% of the stamps examined. These were picked up here and there from all sources, purchased, and loaned by dealers and collectors. It has never been my good fortune to find this stamp in "bundles of 100" or in lots "never picked over", nor to obtain a lot from "original sources". They have come to me in quantities of from one to a dozen as a result of advertising all over the world, from every state in the Union, and from every country where postage stamps are destined to find their way. I have combed Europe and the far East, Central and South America, and the inhabitable parts of the dark continent. I have offered and have paid from 5c to $1.00 each for specimens in the hope of finding something unusual in cancellations not represented in my collection.

The stamp has seemingly become scarce. Our standard catalog is no indication of the price one has to pay for the average specimen, but the price is regulated by the supply and demand of this item. Out of the 1300 examined only 500 copies were placed in my collection and the other 800 burned in a tin can and the ashes placed in a glass jar, they being too heavily cancelled, off center, straight edges etc. I have been severely criticised by a few friends for this action. But what good is a damaged stamp, or one that you would not put in your collection? Pass it off one some other fellow? Aye. Why not start now and not let a damaged or poor specimen go out of your hands? Expensive? Yes, and no. It may cost a few dollars, but Philately will be benefitted in the long run, and you have added your bit to the cause.

THE PARCEL CANCELLATION:

This cancellation or post-mark is still in use and may be found on stamps carrying parcels, circulars and catalogs. The parcel cancellation of the cities, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago seem to predominate, probably because more stamps were used in these cities, while Cleveland, Cincinnati, Buffalo, Toledo etc. come next in point of numbers used. They are without date, with few exceptions, and thus serve not only as a post-mark but as a cancellation of the stamp.

The usual form appearing on the three cent vermilion is an oval line inclosing a space 29 to 33 x 23½ to 26½ mm. with an inner oval line forming a space 9 to 12 x 18 to 20 mm. Between the lines at top appears the name of the city with the abbreviation of state at bottom. The inner oval may contain a letter, numeral, or abbreviation of postal station, or may be blank. Some of them contain several horizontal lines while others have a black centre. Others bear the letters "P. O.", "REG". etc. Some varieties have horizontal lines at each end between the inner and outer oval lines.

There is another form, a single oval line about 26x40 inclosed space. These dimensions vary slightly according to the city using it. The most common of this class are Boston and Chicago. Some of the New York parcel cancellations are dated. There are other minor forms of the parcel cancellation which will be described under the classification of the name of city using them. It will be impossible to describe all the different forms and varieties in these notes, but several different cities will be taken up in detail, so that I trust a fair working knowledge may be gained from their further study.

The following describes the different major varieties of the parcel cancellation, and are numbered for easy reference from the text. I do not claim completeness, far from it. I am still working on these postmarks. There are many interesting minor varieties for the specialist,—the collector of a single stamp. With this list a start has been made. Time and further study no doubt will show changes to be made, and the addition of many minor varieties, for it must be kept in mind that these post-mark cancellations have been studied as appearing on the "firey fellow" only.

EDITOR'S COLUMN.

From East, West, North and South comes the same happy refrain, "Meet you in Springfield", gathering greater force as vacation time hurries near and giving promise of more than the usual success for the coming Convention. At no period in the history of the American Philatelic Society has the future of our hobby and its oldest, staunchest and premier Society loomed brighter and we expect the Springfield meeting will be a memorable one. Here will the "Old School", the good founders of American Philately, the general collectors mingle with the "New School", the present day keen and progressive specialists and each share the best of his ways with the other for the general progress and good of the hobby. While the convention days are truly a vacation from business cares it is the duty of all those present to attend the business meetings, which, though brief, have important matters for the welfare of the Society before them. Every Convention for some years has been troubled with some vexing discussion on the Stock Fund, rules of membership, etc. and with a view of clarifying these disputed points we will publish next month an article by Mr. Gordon Ireland, a member of the Society and an eminent lawyer, on the historical and legal phases of the Society. Every member is urged to carefully read and digest this article thereby aiding in the orderly and efficient transaction of the business meetings.

On May the sixth our English friends celebrated the birthday of the Postage stamp with a "Penny Black" banquet and an auction sale. Both affairs were a great success and the auction sale, to which the stamps were contributed, realized the tidy sum of 744 Pounds which will be used to forward the London International Philatelic Exhibition set for next year. The finest single lot offered at the sale was the gift of the late Major E. B. Evans, a pair of New Yorks on cover and it brought the record price of 225 Pounds, being bought by Mr. A. Leon Adutt, a noted English collector of United States stamps. The banquet was attended by over 200 collectors and dealers, quite a tribute to the get-together habit for philatelists.

REVIEWS.

STANLEY GIBBONS' CATALOGUE OF THE STAMPS OF FOREIGN COUNTRIES
(Stanley Gibbons, Limited, 391 Strand, London, Publishers. Price $2.40 post free.)

We approach the task of reviewing this volume with some trepidation, both for fear that our admiration and praise be not expressed strongly enough or that our criticism be considered in any other light than an effort to be helpful. The very size of this "Green Gibbons" is awe-inspiring, a thousand and twenty-five pages of small type, approximately two pounds in weight and still not including the list of Great Britain and her colonies, which are separately treated in the "Red Gibbons" and also omitting the war issues of those countries classed as "enemies" during the Great War! Every country is catalogued in highly specialized form, the information supplied being encyclopedic in character and the volume is unsurpassed as a storehouse of philatelic knowledge. This years careful revision of the French list is especially pleasing as well as is the detailed listing of the many interesting but much derided issues of New Europe, these will in time come in for a proper appreciation as evidencing the greatest upheaval in modern history and it is good to know that an accurate guide has been compiled when the data was fresh and easily obtainable. The typography, illustrations and paper are of the highest standard and were it not for the new listing of the stamps of the United States we should conclude here by saying that it's the best catalogue of its kind published in the English language. The publishers have however this year completely revised the list of early U. S. and in the usual style, that is, highly specialized and we would be neglectful were we to omit comment on this section.

This listing is clearly a "first" attempt and as such deserves the highest praise. In the introduction the publishers state, "For the past few years we have been hoping to receive a lead from the American catalogue but the same old list appears year by year with none of the interesting details worked out". This is admittedly the case and due to a great degree to the unfortunate fact that the illustration of the stamps of the United States is forbidden. The American Philatelic Society would have long ago published a U. S. Catalogue, much of the material being ready, were it not for the fact that it is absolutely impossible to make such a catalogue understandable without illustrations. En passant, we cannot forego remarking, that this criticism from England should give food for thought to all American Philatelists, especially those who have not alone not given their support but have actually opposed the fight of the American Philatelic Society to defeat a bill before Congress which seeks to legalize the illustration of foreign stamps and expressly forbids the illustration of U. S. stamps. This very lack of illustrations is one of the reasons that the Gibbons attempt to list the many heretofore unlisted U. S. varieties falls short of the ideal. In addition the compilers have evidently sought to take the best from the writings of such able American philatelists as Dr. Carroll Chase, Mr. Stanley Ashbrook, Mr. A. E. Owen, Mr. E. R. Jacobs, Mr. Elliott Perry, and others, but failing to properly co-ordinate same or to separate the old from the new.

The United States list commences with the Postmasters which are finely illustrated and priced fairly in accordance with prevailing prices for fine examples though in a few instances, such as the unique Annapolis, Boscowen, etc., the pre-Ferrary sale or old valuations are given. The list of greatest interest begins with the regular issues which has been entirely rewritten.

The 5c 1847 is listed and priced in eight shades to which are applied year dates. The rare orange shade of 1850 is entirely omitted which is no doubt intended to be covered by the "orange brown" of 1847 which is the shade usually accepted for Scott's No. 28c. The true orange shade is however distinct and worth many times the 9 Pds. price of Gibbons orange brown. The 10c 1847 is listed in three shades and the average price of 8 Pds. is rather high except for unusual copies.

The 1c 1851 types are in accordance with those given by Sir Nicholas Waterhouse and are without illustration. They differ slightly from the listing of the American authorities, Mr. Stanley Ashbrook and Dr. Chase, but are generally correct for the stamps to which the descriptions apply. We note an "indigo" shade given for Type 4 which we hardly think can apply to any shade of that stamp. The type one is No. 7 R. 1. E., the same as Scott and priced at 60 Pds. which with the other one cent prices given is considerably above the American prices. Type 1 A. which is the same as Scott is also priced rather high at 40 Pds. The Type 1 B. is according to Waterhouse and is not the Type 1 B. described by Ashbrook, the stamp described can come from many positions on Plate Four and is ridiculously high at 20 Pounds. The Type three, not being specially limited to the sole example on Plate two, that is 99 R. 2, is too high and it is to be hoped that the Type 3 stamps will in the future be listed as from Plates 2 and 4, the latter being comparatively common. The Type three A. is priced at 15 Pounds though this stamp seldom attains half this price at auction in this country. Under the type two list we have the "cracked plate" variety at 8 Pds. which is about right. This stamp should also be included in the Type four list as it has been so found by Mr. Ashbrook in that type. In this type (type four) we find the recut "at bottom only" priced at 25 shillings while the recut "Bottom and single top" is priced at 40 shillings which is incorrect as there were but eight of the first and 21 of the latter on the plate.

In the three cent 1851 list two types are given, Type one "with double lines at sides" and Type Two "with single lines at sides", this is overdoing it as there are four or five other line varieties which might as well be included as Types; in addition, Type One is given as of the year dates 1851-52-53-54 and 55 but not in 1856-57 while Type Two is given as only printed in 1856-57 which is not correct as the latter stamps appear on the earliest plates and the Type one stamps were printed on thru the year 1857. The shades given follow the years as given by Dr. Chase and the cheapest one is priced a shilling which would be an excellent price to sell by. Under the varieties of the 3c are listed "Recut or retouched" at 5 shillings each, as practically every stamp is recut there is no logic in this pricing. Shifts are also very common in this stamp and the price of 10 shillings is too much unless applied to certain definite major examples. There is also given "Worn state of plate, 1855" and priced at 2/6 shillings; these stamps are more common than fine impressions and even copies showing excessive wear are not unusual.

We now come to the 10c 1851, that poor unfortunate that everyone seems to have tried their hand at. Mr. Luff wrote up this stamp years ago and listed a number of unnecessary types, then came Stevenson with his list, Waterhouse then made a list to suit his tastes and last year Chase and Ashbrook in a joint article set forth the types in a form now generally accepted by American Specialists. Mr. Phillips has evidently tried to follow this latter list with some improvement of his own but without proper illustration the list will be unintelligible to the average collector. His Type 1 is the "full shell" stamp, the bottom row copies from Plate one, then his type two A is the "A" relief and Type two B the "B" relief which is a fair enough listing but one that is difficult to make clear without illustration. The recuts are listed as Type III, a, b, c, d and e, the one "top line recut" is given as 4 in a sheet where there were only two and the one listed as "recut under 'c' in cents" is not a recut at all but a shift. The prices are also very much above prevailing auction prices for fine copies.

In the list of the 1857 issue we find the date of issue, excepting as to the 10c, 30c & 90c given as February 1857. We know of no authority for this early date other than Mr. Luff; Dr. Chase gives the 3c as the earliest with a known use in March and the other values considerably later. Under the 1c stamps we have the same type listing as in the imperf issue except that for some reason Type 1 B. is dropped, since this type can only come from Plate 4 which was also used for the perforated issue it should of course be included. The type Three A is priced at 8 Pounds which more than doubles Scott's price of $12.00 which is conceded to be too high.

Under the 3c perforated we find the varieties of "Gash in shoulder" and "cracked plate" which were not listed under the imperf issue and where they also occur. The cracked plate of any type in the perforated issue, is a very rare stamp and its price of 80 shillings is the only modest valuation we find among these issues.

Under the 5c we have the old time Scott listing of three types and with an incorrect note as to what rows the types 2 and 3 come from. Both these later types come from the same plate but we have the anomaly of type 2 listed in a "blackish brown" shade without the same shade for Type 3.

Under the 10c 1857 we find the recuts listed in a different manner than in the 51 issue which is confusing. Stamps from Plate 2 are divided into "Variety A" and Variety "B" instead of following out the terminology used for Plate One, that is by "Types".

Under the 12c perforated we find a description of Plates 2 and 3 which is interesting, if true, as we know of no American Specialist that claims to be able to identify stamps as coming from Plate 2.

Under the date 1860 we find the 24c, 30c and 90c so-called imperf. listed with a note that they are possibly "color trials or proofs", a listing which we trust will be followed by Scott.

The late issues are generally very ably given and the notes are excellent and informative, adding much to the enjoyment of collecting the stamps of the United States. Under the "Newspapers" we find again a listing that should be of interest to American Specialists in that it differs decidedly from Scott; we refer to the "special printings" of the 1875 set, listed by Scott as Nos. 2008 A to 2028 X, perforated and by Gibbons as imperforated! Gibbons gives the value of these at about 300 Pounds the set, though we noted a set in the Ferrary sale with some other items that fetched considerably less. Scott differentiates these stamps by their shades only. Here is something for our students to elucidate.

Mr. Phillips has rendered a great service to American collectors in offering this pioneer specialized listing of United States stamps and in view of the task before him has made surprising few errors of any importance. That his effort has not been without immediate result is found in the announcement of the Scott Co. that they are about to issue a specialized list which will probably appear this fall.

AIR MAIL (Engene Klein, 1318 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa., Publisher. Price 10c.)—The initial number of this publication, which will be published from time to time in the interest of that new and rapidly developing branch of Philately, Air mail stamps, appears as a sixteen page pamphlet replete with interesting data and news concerning this modern but still romantic adjunct of the postal service. Mr. Klein, the publisher, is the American pioneer in this specialty and handled the famous error sheet of the first United States airplane stamps, the bi-coloured twenty-four cent. His monograph is very entertaining and contains an excellent priced list of both airplane stamps and covers, especially the much sought for "first trips". To the specialist in these stamps this publication will be timely and of greatest interest, the general collector will however find it a surprizing revelation on the extent of the airplane mail service thruout the world. A remarkable tribute to the efficiency of this service lies in the report given concerning the United States service which has carried 2,499,643 Pounds of mail and has made trips totaling over Three Million Miles. We trust we may see a second number of this publication in the near future.

NEW ISSUE NOTES AND CHRONICLE

By WM. C. KENNETT, JR., and the EDITOR.

Information for this column, with samples of stamps, which will be promptly paid for or returned, will always be appreciated.

UNITED STATES. We have not chronicled the various 2 on 3c envelope freaks as it is our idea that while some occurred legitimately that the greater part were made by favor, a fact which has been reported to us several times. Mr. Isaiah Rudy however courteously sends us for the chronicle a 3c Plimpton, Die B. on white, small size, entire, with the Type 3 surcharge which seems to be perfectly authentic and bought over the counter from the Frederick, Maryland post office, the overprint having been applied at Baltimore.

Mr. Chas. A. Townsend sends us a copy of a 20c Documentary overprinted "Stock Transfer" in two lines in capitals with serifs which is attached to a bill dated March 5th, 1920 and which Mr. Townsend says has recently been listed as of the "vintage of 1922." He says he has found many of these in different values used in 1920. He also shows us several values used in 1918 with a blue pencil or ink manuscript "S. T." among them a 1c and 5c value which he believes very unusual.

RUSSIA. Mr. Koslowski writes us that his Russian correspondents have advised him that account the continued rapid deterioration of the Rouble exchange the present "Government" is again in desperate straits trying to maintain a postal administration. The new rate for the usual one ounce mail is 200,000 roubles and the registered rate 400,000 roubles. It is impossible to make new designs and print new values in time to keep up with the rapid fluctuations and in addition a paper shortage is on hand. A decree has recently been issued ordering a new valuation on the old stamps of the Imperial regime where a supply exists. The one rouble, Scott's 87, has been valued at 10,000 roubles, the three and half rouble at 30,500 roubles and so on. The paper shortage is causing the public to use the ever popular cheap portraits of the former Czar and Grand Dukes to make envelopes and Mr. Koslowski has just received two letters on which the portrait of the old Grand Duke Sergius plainly appears. It would not be surprising to hear of new postage on paper taken from old Government files of which there is a great quantity. There has been a great falling off of mail matter as of course, to the Russian, even Soviet roubles mean something. Theo. Champion has recently shown us a 5000 and a 10,000 rouble stamp of the busy steel mill type and it takes twenty of this latter high value to mail a single letter abroad. As matters stand now the best thing Lenine can do is to re inaugurate free postal facilities, it's the cheapest way to keep going.

New Facts About the Stamps of British Columbia and Vancouver Island.

Recent lectures before the British Columbia Philatelic Society at Vancouver, B. C., Canada, and before the Tacoma Branch of the Washington State Philatelic Society are the first public announcement of the researches of Mr. Henry C. Hitt into the postal history of the former crown colonies of British Columbia and Vancouver Island.

These Colonies have remained among the very few British possessions about which philatelists know very little, and much of that little Mr. Hitt shows to be erroneous.

The postal story of these two colonies, as Mr. Hitt reveals it, is a very interesting one, both on account of the way the postal history is woven around the gold rush to the Fraser River "diggin's" and the express companies with their numerous "locals."

Mr. Hitt has been surprisingly successful in digging out of the historical archives the necessary documents to construct his very detailed account of the postal history, and his research in the details of the stamps themselves as regards design, details of manufacture, minor varieties, and particularly his very thorough studies into the cancellations and postal use of the stamps promise easily to place his book, when published, in the very forefront of the many splendid monographs we have.

By worldwide correspondence he has succeeded in gathering cancellation and other data on over 1100 copies of these rare stamps, as well as many covers. As fast as he has located new types of postmarks he has manufactured rubber stamp illustrations of them, and he has ready for use in his correspondence plates of all known types.

Among the many new points brought out in his lectures the following are, perhaps, the most important.

1. The first stamp, the 2½d, was issued by British Columbia alone and not by both Colonies, as it has always been listed.
2. The "Two Cents" surcharged was a distinct issue before any necessity had arisen for the other surcharges, and was issued for newspapers, but used also for general postage.
3. The Perf. 12½ surcharges preceded the Perf. 14 and were a separate shipment.
4. The interesting 3d design was made in the Colony.
5. Except for a few months just before entering the Dominion in 1871 the stamps were for inland use only, all foreign mail being sent via the United States mails, almost invariably prepaid by U. S. stamps, sold in the Colonies.
6. There were quite a variety of express "locals" used in the colonies, one of which has long been listed as a U. S. local.

Mr. Hitt is very anxious to get in touch with everyone who has any showing at all of these rare stamps, particularly covers, and will gladly reciprocate with any information that may be wanted. His address is Henry C. Hitt, Box 863, Bremerton, Wash., U. S. A.

SOCIETY NEWS.

THE RUBBER CITY STAMP CLUB, Akron, Ohio, Branch No. 51, A. P. S.—At the meeting of June 29, the members of the Rubber City Stamp Club were treated to an exhibition of foreign coins, bonds, and bank-notes thru the courtesy of Member B. A. Zarembo, Manager of the Foreign Exchange Department of the State Savings and Trust Co.

Immediately after, a spirited auction of many interesting stamp issues was held; this latter being under the direction of Miss K. Howe Bennett. At this time, it might be mentioned that Rubber City believes this was the first occasion in A. P. S. circles that a "Lady Fair" has conducted such an affair.

Plans for the Annual Banquet of June 24 are progressing rapidly; an attendance of nearly ninety being expected. An exhibition, dinner, dance and card-playing are among the arrangements contemplated.

At a recent meeting, a very interesting paper was read jointly by Miss K. Howe Bennett and Secretary J. E. Crouch, entitled: "A Trip Around the British Colonies of the World." A specially arranged collection was used in conjunction with this affair.

The "June Ramble" scheduled for June 3 at the home of Mr. Cornel Kmett, who lives in an Akron suburb, has been postponed until July 1; a "July Scramble" as 'twere!

Rubber City holds meetings every Wednesday in room 600 of the Permanent Title Bldg., Corner Mill and High Streets, all collectors being extended a cordial invitation to be present at any time. The "stunts" begin at 7:30.—ERNEST ELWOOD THOMA, Director of Publicity.

ST. LOUIS STAMP COLLECTORS SOCIETY, Branch No. 4.—At the meeting held May 16th, this branch indorsed the ticket nominated by the Cincinnati branch for A. P. S. officers with exception of the Board of Vice Presidents for which offices the following were nominated:

Mr. Ralph H. Eilers (#3853)

Mr. C. S. Smack (#4723)

Mr. Louis F. Yeckel (#5570)

All these gentlemen are from St. Louis and represent the highest type of active and reputable philatelists and to whom it is hoped the membership will give their full share of support.—C. G. FENNELLS, Cor. Secretary.

---

CINCINNATI PHILATELIC SOCIETY, Branch 46.—At the last meeting, held May 31st, 1922, there were twenty members present and one visitor. Two applications to membership were received and the application of Mr. Ben B. Nelson, which was filed the previous meeting was favorably voted upon. The feature of the evening was a talk by Mr. Stanley B. Ashbrook on the "Early Issues of the United States." Mr. Ashbrook dwelt on the methods of stamp production in the early days and accounted for the many minor varieties so much sought after by U. S. specialists such as "cracked plates", "Shifts" and "flaws", illustrating his talk fully with examples of all the major U. S. varieties. A rising vote of thanks was tendered him for this both interesting and instructive lecture. After a discussion on several questions raised by this talk the usual auction sale was held.

Meeting adjourned at 10 P. M. and there will be no further meetings during the summer months, the next regular meeting being in September.—R. M. BYLAND, Secretary.

GARFIELD PERRY STAMP CLUB, A. P. S. Life Branch #3.—May meetings.

At the first meeting of the month four new members were admitted into full membership and one application ordered posted. Following the business meeting Maj. Harris, Jr., exhibited his collection of British West Indies, this collection being very nearly complete, lacking only four stamps to complete it, every stamp in the collection being used and in the finest condition obtainable. Maj. Harris also gave a little talk on the cancellations of the Islands.

The regular monthly auction took place on the second meeting night. A U. S. 2c brown issue of 1882 on original cover with a shield in circle for a cancellation brought $2.15 in the auction.

Monte Carlo had nothing on the Garfield Perry Stamp Club when Mr. L. A. Hanford entertained on the third Thursday of the month. Mr. Hanford christened the night Gamblers' Night, and it lived up to its name. Stamps were the only thing you could win and stamps were only prizes given away. Needless to say the Club made a nice little bit of profit.

Mr. MacLaren wound up the month with a paper on Stamp Hunting and also exhibited his many finds, on the fourth and last meeting night of the month.

ANNOUNCEMENT.—The Garfield Perry Stamp Club is getting under way a contest to be known as The Philatelic Story Contest and it is open to all collectors. Prizes will be given to the person writing the best Philatelic story. The plot must have stamps as its basis. Contest scheduled to close July 20th, but in all probability will remain open a few weeks longer so as to give everybody a chance. WRITE YOUR STORY NOW AND SEND IT IN TO: THE GARFIELD PERRY STAMP CLUB, 302 Finance Bldg., Cleveland, Ohio.—W. J. ZINK, Secretary.

PACIFIC PHILATELIC SOCIETY, Life Branch No. 1.—The summer exodus to the country having already commenced, due to the warm weather which has been prevalent, only a dozen members were present at the May meeting held on the 17th.

After the completion of the routine business, Mr. Chas. M. Hackmeier brought up the question of a change in the By-Laws so as to permit the admission of the gentler sex and reduce the age limit now set at 21 years so that juniors could be elected to membership in the Society, without voting power. The suggestion was received favorably by members present and a committee consisting of Messrs. Hackmeier, Walker and Maudens was appointed to formulate a set of rules to be presented to the next meeting.

The entertainment feature of the evening consisted of a competition among members based on "Designs". The prize winner was decided by popular vote, Mr. Lazarus being the lucky man. One point only separated the next three in the order named, i. e., Messrs. Maudens, Dillingham and Walker, who were closely followed by Messrs. Birkenfeld and Colson. The competition at the next meeting will be based on "Colors".

Dr. F. Fischer extended an invitation to members to visit him on May 28th at his country home in beautiful Mill Valley, which is situated in Marin County across the Bay, surrounded by giant redwood trees. The invitation, needless to say, was accepted with thanks.—M. C. DILLINGHAM, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY.

Those receiving unsolicited approval sheets will kindly inform the Recorder that the Board may take action to eradicate this evil.

Big Collection Being Broken Up

We are breaking up a large collection of 19th century stamps we purchased, cataloging about $35,000. It contains thousands of stamps one does not get a chance to buy except when such a collection is broken up. Why not your want list?

Want Lists are our specialty. We get them from hundreds of leading collectors and even dealers. The value of the goods asked for on many of them runs into four and even five figures. We fill thousands of lists of all sizes yearly. Why not send us yours if you really want to buy the stamps and are willing to pay reasonable prices? We have one of the largest general stocks in the world, about 90 per cent complete and believe that in price, quality and variety we can do as well by you as anyone.

Approvals Hundreds of books for all grades and classes of collectors. Collections mounted in albums, etc. Special books made up where none are on hand to meet requirements. Partial list of books ready to submit sent free on request.

Price Lists that offer you thousands of first class stamps free for the asking. Special lists of new offers, special items, etc. at intervals, to those on our mailing list. They are free, we charge nothing for our advertising matter.

Our Prices are "fair to you and us". As low as legitimate, guaranteed goods can be sold and make it an object for us to do business on the stock we have to carry and the money invested. They will average favorably with those of any firm that has a stock worthy of being called a stock. We make no claim to being cheaper than anyone else, such claims are usually bluffs, but if you want service, quality, variety, the chance to draw upon a really great stock of stamps, then we are at your service. If you really want to fill those spaces, to buy the stamps, the chances are we can supply the majority of them.

THE AMERICAN PHILATELIC SOCIETY:

SOME LEGAL AND HISTORICAL ASPECTS.

(References in parentheses with numbers including the name of a State are to cases in Law Reports; with a colon, merely, to Volume and Page of the AMERICAN PHILATELIST, Convention Supplement unless "No." is given).

Without meaning to take sides in that great annual controversy over the report of the Convention proceedings, "What to Print or Not to Print", one may safely predict that the Abridgement Party will consider the Proceedings of the 36th Convention (34; Supp., Sept., 1921) a prime exhibit for their cause. The discussion, the parliamentary procedure, the "milling around" and the methods of work throughout seem to have been just a little more markedly confused than usual. One fond of the Society, proud of its past and ambitious for its future, must hope that the business of the Annual Meetings may become more, and not less, efficient, expeditious, valuable and far-reaching. To that end, a brief stop for a look backward, both as to the Society itself and its various activities, with a careful glance at the more important present aspects, may be of value. This compilation will justify itself if it enables any future Convention to tackle a piece of business with better knowledge of what has been done in the past, what its action may legally be, and the best methods for accomplishing what is really wanted.

ORIGINAL ORGANIZATION The Society was organized, it will be remembered, as the American Philatelic Association, a voluntary membership society, with 154 charter members (3: 58) in New York City on September 14th, 1886, at a meeting which has since come by custom to be called the First Convention; and a Constitution was adopted in November, 1886. The advantages of a more formal and definite organization, probably especially as to duties and rights of officers, and freedom from personal liability, were appreciated at a very early stage. Incorporation was discussed in May, 1889 (3: 251, 341), again the next year (4: 135) and definitely authorized in April, 1891 (5: 61). New York or West Virginia were the States suggested by the Committee in charge, and for no clearly disclosed reason the choice fell on the latter. Articles of Incorporation were prepared, filed with the Secretary of State at Wheeling on November 2nd, 1891, and the regular first Incorporators' meeting for organization was held January 20th, 1892 (5: 145, 183. 6: 23, 30, 146). This incorporation had an authorized capital of $10,000, divided into 10,000 shares of stock at One Dollar each; and it was to last 50 years, or until November 1st, 1941. An outstanding feature, as later appeared, was the existence of the right of cumulative voting by stockholders in electing Directors, which could not, under the laws of West Virginia, be abolished or prevented by any provision of the Charter or By-Laws. The State collected from the incorporated Association an annual franchise tax of $10.00, making a claim for $50. in 1898 but finally accepting payment at the old rate (12: 22); and after the Minnesota incorporation it was thought wise for a time to keep up the West Virginia payments (11: 62) to forestall the seizure of the name and charter by some unscrupulous minority whom the powers in charge evidently feared might make mischief. This tax payment to West Virginia was last made in 1905. The corporation was returned delinquent for non-payment of its license tax for the year 1906; and although never yet legally dissolved, undoubtedly could be by action of the State officials at any time.

Discussion of a way to prevent cumulative voting, as well as the avoidance of the initials then in use, which formerly, at any rate, were more widely known in connection with an entirely different organization, began in 1896 (10: 34). Incorporation in another State was accepted as the only remedy for the voting situation (11: 27, 54, 61, 62) and Minnesota was selected, the Northwestern Adjustment Company of Minneapolis being engaged as agents to put the matter through. Articles were executed by the three Vice-Presidents and three Minneapolis residents, and filed with the Secretary of State on June 30, 1897. The corporation was called the American Philatelic Society, either by mistake of the organizers or subject to a very quick change of sentiment of the members; for two months later the 12th Convention at Boston voted to return to the old "Association", and the Articles were duly amended accordingly on December 31st, 1897. The 23rd Convention at Columbus in 1908 felt the old objections stirring again (22: 150-154), and voted to change once more to "Society", which was duly done on September 8th, 1908. The charter of 1897, thus twice amended as to the name, is that under which the Society is now existing as a corporation, with authorized capital stock of 10,000 shares of the par value of $1.00 each, and perpetual duration.

The possibility of Federal incorporation, with the prestige and advantages of scientific and educational membership bodies similarly chartered by Congress has been discussed at Conventions from time to time; and in 1914 a Committee upon the subject was appointed (28: 64) which in 1917 recommended that a petition be presented to the next (66th) Congress (31: 45), but the War perhaps postponed this as so many other things, and nothing more has been done.

The Minnesota incorporation was under an "Act relating to corporations other than those for pecuniary profit" (Mar. 3, 1870), now Minnesota General Statutes, 1913, Chapter 58. The rights, powers and duties are those commonly belonging to corporations, everywhere, and call for no special comment except in the following particulars. By-Laws as adopted are effective until and except as amended by stockholders (Sec. 6154); each stockholder is entitled to one vote in person or by proxy unless otherwise provided in the Articles or By-Laws (Sec. 6174); and cumulative voting is not permissible unless so stated in the original or duly amended Articles (Sec. 6175). A Minnesota corporation may have offices and conduct business in any other state or country, but is required to have an office within the State in charge of some person on whom legal process against the corporation may be served (Sec. 6184), and a copy of its By-Laws, list of officers and statement of capital stock subscribed for must be kept posted there (Sec. 6155) (97 Iowa 204). The Society has for many years obviously neglected these requirements; and in the opinion of the Attorney-General of Minnesota this would vitiate the charter if any complaint were made to the Secretary of State (58 Minn. 330). It would seem to be a highly salutary measure to keep one of the Appointive Offices, as for example that of Attorney, filled always by a member resident in Minnesota, and the Secretary of State duly notified thereof, so that this possibility of irregular status might be avoided for the future. For violation of some of the provisions of the State law, stockholders may be held personally liable (Sec. 6177), and whether these local office and posting requirements are such provisions or not, it is usually better to be safe than sorry.

The provisions as to Capital Stock of the Corporation (By-Laws, Article I) have been substantially the same from the beginning. Until CAPITAL STOCK 1905, however, there appeared after the words "terms and conditions" in the first clause of Section 1 the words "which shall be expressed upon its (the certificate's) face", and they were then dropped (19: 68) because with the addition of the last sentence of Section 1, then made (19: 68, 89) it was thought inconvenient and unnecessary to prepare a wholly new stock certificate form. Except for these two changes in 1905, the Section has not been amended and has lasted unchanged from the earliest wording, in 1891. The provisions of the Section "That the holder hereof has accepted * * * shall at all times be subject to the provisions of the By-Laws" have appeared in full upon the stock certificates of the West Virginia Association, the Minnesota Association and the third and current form for the Minnesota Society in use since 1908; and, despite the apparent power so to do since the 1905 amendment to Section 1, it would, from a legal point of view, be highly undesirable not to print at least as much as this upon every stock certificate issued. For the law is, of course, that a stock certificate issued for value to any person is as much his as any other piece of property which he may own, and must be recognized as something to which he and his successors or assigns have a real right, which the law will protect, and cannot without reason be forfeited. For example, though a corporation may, as this one purports to do, have a valid lien on its capital stock in the hands of any stockholder for the amount of any sum due it (113 Minn. 27), yet it cannot by its By-Laws or express contract appearing on the certificate forfeit absolutely to its own use the share of any defaulting member, but must sell such stock, indemnify itself, and pay the balance if any to the stockholder or his representatives (50 Minn. 333; 61 Minn. 35). Of course in the present instance this legal prohibition on forfeiture for dues would have little practical effect, for the sale value of a share so required to be disposed of could not conceivably be over $1.00, or less than the amount of even one year's indebtedness to the Society, so there could be nothing coming to the shareholder; but the conception that forfeiture is forbidden should be at all times clearly understood and borne in mind. It has various legal effects, the most obvious of which is to render totally invalid the last sentence of Article I, Section 1 (and the forfeiture clause in Article II, Section 2), even if it were printed upon the stock certificate, which it never has been since it was added to the By-Laws. At the time of the change of corporation a few of the West Virginia certificates were sent in before the Minnesota ones were issued to the members; and at the time of the change of name of the Minnesota corporation quite a number of certificates were turned in to the Secretary in exchange for the new ones; but barring such exceptional occasions of change, the regular and, since 1908, the only actual source of return of certificates has been on resignation of members (Article II, Section 5). It follows that any member dropped for non-payment of dues or expelled for cause can, notwithstanding the 1905 attempt to provide otherwise, at least within the six years' limitation period (Minn. Gen. Stat., Chap. 77, Sect. 7701), claim and, at law, recover, from the Society upon surrender or tender of his stock certificate, its par value and original cost to him of $1.00, less any indebtedness he may be under to the Society; and that the personal representatives of any deceased member could do the same.

These considerations bring us at once to the matter of the Stock Fund (Article I, Section 3). It has been frequently discussed and coveted by various men and Committees for various purposes (11: 55. 22: 161. 24: 22. 33: 74) but, happily, from the legal standpoint at least, has so far withstood all attacks. Its defenders have apparently recognized more or less hazily that it might have to stand to meet certain obligations; and it is only a wonder that, familiar as many Convention attendants must have been with capital obligations in ordinary business corporations, they showed no apparent acquaintance with them in this instance. It has been agreed that the resigning member must have a right to have his dollar back (22: 161) but the plain doctrine has never been extended to anyone else (26: 13); and the Stock Fund itself has long been in a state of confusion. Down to 1908 the Fund bore a more or less traceable connection with the number of certificates issued, though no Treasurer or Secretary ever appear to have checked up together to see if the figures balanced; and in that year the Stock Fund was $3,135 (after an error of $51 in 1907 against the Society) and the last membership was about 3259. Before the following Convention the Treasurer invested the proceeds of a bank's certificate of deposit and a portion of the Stock Fund, amounting to $2,612.34 in all, in St. Paul Sewer bonds, which are still the property of the corporation. The Stock Fund was reduced on the books accordingly, and has always since been so computed, showing an odd 66 cents, and having no direct relation at all to the number of stock certificates outstanding. On March 1st, 1922, the amount in the Stock Fund was carried at $5,942.66; while the number of the last certificate for which this represented payment was 6226, and the actual membership was 1985. Obviously the difference of $283.34, less $1.00 for each member who has resigned, actually turned in his certificate and been paid his dollar, should be restored on the books and in fact to the Stock Fund. The Secretary's membership ledgers as handed down by successive incumbents are in such shape that it would take "months of work" to ascertain how many of the 4241 who have been members and are not now respectively died, resigned and expelled; and the only available information from the Treasurer's books is that since September 1st, 1911, 19 certificates have been surrendered and the $1.00 paid out to the member, but for what reason or of which class does not appear. A compilation of the figures in the 25 Secretary's reports since 1896 and including the 232 dropped in February, 1922, appears to show 255 deaths, 1010 resignations and 66 expulsions; but it also shows 3494 dropped for non-payment of dues and 874 reinstated, so that there are 290 lapsed memberships unaccounted for; and the figures thus afford no accurate basis for dealing with the Stock Fund. A minor complication also arises from the authorization of the issuance of new certificates for those lost at San Francisco, but under what safeguards to the Society does not appear (20: 65). An express waiver by each member upon his right in the Stock Fund was suggested by the President in 1912, as a possible means of meeting the expenses of publishing a journal, but nothing came of the suggestion (26: 13).

The question is important also from another viewpoint. The capital of the Society is limited, as stated above, to 10,000 shares; and after 24 years it has issued 6226 shares but has only 1985 members. Assuming for lack of any better data a continuation of the same rate of membership increase and termination, about the year 1938 it will have issued all 10,000 of its shares of stock and have in the neighborhood of 3300 members. An amendment could probably then be duly secured to the Articles authorizing an increase of capital stock (with additional taxation) but there would be a Fund of $10,000. with which nothing could be done, except to hold it invested; the actual stock figures would be in a worse jumble than they are now, presumably well nigh insoluble; and the possibility of dealing with the certificates of past members even more hopeless.

Unissued capital stock belongs to the corporation as sole legal owner (124 Minn. 279), while an over-issue is utterly void and the certificates thereof are wholly invalid (140 Minn. 240).

It would seem that a definite audit should be made now, to ascertain the exact status of the Fund and its proper distribution among the present and the three classes of past stockholders. Then it would be determined how much money must be legally maintained inviolate to meet existing capital obligations, and how much might, if desired, safely and lawfully be devoted to other uses. Without any amendment to the Articles, the issue of stock could then continue, regardless of the certificate serial numbers, until 10,000 shares were actually outstanding. Such limit would be reached only when the Society had 10,000 active members, all at one time; and as reason and experience suggest that that millenium is impossible of attainment in the United States, we can, if the matter is handled rightly now, put the Society's stock issue and capital fund on a basis to keep within its present charter for all time.

The corporation might lawfully adopt a by-law providing for tender to it at par or face value and purchase from the Stock Fund or elsewhere of any outstanding share (36 Minn. 369), or requiring the tender to it before sale by a stockholder to any one else (146 Minn. 367) at least if such requirement were printed on the certificate (162 Mass. 148; 181 Mass. 476), and it may pass upon and accept or reject applicants for membership (115 Minn. 451); but unless there is money due the Society so that it has a lien on the stock, as explained above, it cannot refuse to transfer any duly endorsed and presented certificate of stock (77 Minn. 308), nor can it enforce the provision (Article I, Section 1) that no person shall hold more than one share (13 Mo. App. 197). The only way to give validity to these restrictions would be to incorporate under the laws of some State, or under a special United States Act, which recognizes a difference between membership and business corporations, as the Statutes of Minnesota do not.

The foregoing discussion of the Stock Fund relates of course only to the Dollar received on original sale and issuance of each share. Dues or money received annually or otherwise for subscriptions to the journal, or for anything other than shares of stock, do not come under the same rules.

The Life Membership established in 1917 (31: 77, 78. 32: 51. 33: 49, 50, 60, 61) with a single $20.00 payment, is in fact only a commutation of an unknown number of future annual payments into that present fixed sum; and if a life membership terminates by resignation or expulsion all right to the Twenty Dollars or any part of it or anything equivalent thereto ceases as completely as to the $1.80 of an annual member, or as clearly as it would upon the termination of a life membership by death. Except for the single difference that a Life Member is not subject to being dropped for non-payment of dues, without any further payment, no matter how many years it may be since his twenty dollars was originally accepted, the stock certificate is held and the share owned under identical rights and obligations by the two classes of members.

LIFE

Honorary membership was in 1894 suggested for the Society, but rejected (8: 52), as were later Junior membership (23: 72), and a Fellow class or Honor Roll (26: 11, 45-47, 81. 27: 51, 52). Renumbering has been occasionally suggested (33: 69, 70) and the giving of former numbers to resigned and reinstated members has been authorized (19: 74, 77. 20: 80. 33: 70).

The matter of discipline, trials and expulsions has been frequently
POWER TO a vivid and at times a burning subject of debate in the Conventions
EXPELL and elsewhere. From the outset, the governing body had in mind the probable need of some sort of regulatory control over the membership at large; and at first the Trustees were charged with the duty of receiving and dealing with claims and complaints against members. When they were consolidated with the Official Board (9: 76) or Directors, these duties were put in the hands of the Vice-Presidents, as a group of three near together and capable of frequent meetings. After several minor changes and efforts to improve the provisions (Article II, Sections 1, 2, 4, 5; Article V, Section 2), the Vice-Presidents' power was in 1914 more clearly defined and helpfully strengthened and increased (28: 61-64). So long as they act rationally and without fraud or personal malice, and as a Board, their acts are undoubtedly valid and the result thereof, when duly formally carried out, binding upon every member, as part of the provisions for the conduct of the Society, to which he assented when he joined (115 Minn. 451; 129 Minn. 353). The power of suspension or expulsion was removed in 1905 from the Vice-Presidents to the whole Board of Directors (19: 74) upon report, however, from the Vice-Presidents (Article II, Section 2); the requirement of a statement under oath from the complainant having been dropped in 1921 (34: 89-93). While on several occasions matters of discipline have been brought before the Convention itself, such procedure is not necessary, and need not be taken unless the Directors vote it advisable. Such cases in the past have been Vertrauliches Korr. Blatt vs. Carion, 1895-6 (9: 39, 58-59. 10: 30-32); Sellschopp vs. R. R. Thiele, 1901 (15: 54-66); Wolsieffer vs. Ab. Leve, 1902-3 (16: 40-51. 17: 67); Kay vs. Ward, 1919-20 (32: 39-42. 33: 66-72) and Whipple vs. Reyman, 1921 (34: 36-38). If the Board of Directors has taken final action, as the By-Laws now stand, a Convention may not deal with a case, even if it wishes to; and there is no appeal, except to the Courts, on a charge of fraud or malicious abuse of discretion.

The only stockholders' meetings held under existing conditions are the annual Conventions, although machinery is provided for calling special meetings (Article III, Section 2) or for a mail vote upon any question approved by the Directors or requested by one hundred stockholders (Article III, Section 3). Members not indebted to the Society may vote in person or by proxy (Article III, Section 4), but of course this applies only to stockholders. Directors may not vote by proxy but only if personally present at a Directors' meeting (59 Hun, N. Y., 561). The provision that no Director shall hold or vote any proxy at a stockholders' meeting is probably valid as a reasonable regulation of the internal affairs of the Society, to which elected Directors must be assumed to have assented (23: 14, 69, 78-81); but it is extremely doubtful if the limitation to fifty of proxies any one stockholder may hold and vote would be valid if contested in law by any stockholder hardy enough to brave the contumely of his fellow members. This provision, agitated in times of political stress, was first put in in 1891 (5: 174-175. 6: 25), dropped in 1896 (10: 33) and restored in 1907 (21: 65-66). It is of course at present generally evaded by the transfer of excess proxies to some member holding less than the limit, but known to be likely to vote as the transferor would wish; and as long as there is no warmly fought issue at Conventions, probably no practical harm is done. Strictly, however, a person chosen as PROXIES proxy has no right to transfer that choice, or to substitute another to act for him, (except as his own individual proxy with a single vote) unless the right of substitution is explicitly stated to be given in the original proxy itself (9: 36-39, 54-58), and perhaps not even then; so that the form generally adopted, by big business corporations, of naming several persons in the alternative as the attorney in fact (or proxy holder) is the only safe way to ensure that the stock can be voted, in the absence or disqualification of any single chosen holder. A proxy duly signed but with the name of the attorney left blank may not be thereafter filled in with any name and is therefore void (50 Minn. 87) unless the giver authorized and intended the recipient to fill in the blank with the name actually put in and then to deliver the completed instrument to such person (75 Minn. 12). Accordingly the practice of the Credentials Committee of distributing among themselves proxies sent in with the name of the attorney blank (27: 13. 28: 32, 83-87. 30: 9) is bad, as is the erasure or cancellation of a name and substitution of another by any person to whom no such authority has in fact been given. With proxies running to Directors, the invalidity of this procedure seems to have been recognized (26: 9. 28: 32, 83-87). These, and other undesirable practices as to proxies, have undoubtedly been acquiesced in from the perfectly natural and laudable desire to have as many stockholders as possible represented at the Conventions; but it would seem that such aim should contain itself within lawful bounds.

A stockholder may protest on any lawful ground any action of a stockholders' meeting even though his proxy was present and did not vote against such action (137 Minn. 65), but is charged with knowledge of all facts at such meeting known to his proxy. A member present and not voting nor trying to is held to acquiesce in the result of the vote actually cast (34 Minn. 135). A proxy may not lawfully be rejected for not being acknowledged or proved or because the date is blank, but may for not being witnessed, if such attestation is required; and of course is utterly invalid and totally incapable of being use until the required U. S. 10c documentary revenue stamp is affixed to it and cancelled. The rejection of proxies of foreign members for not being vided by the U. S. Consul abroad should never have been thought of (17: 19, 41-43, 71) and was rightly termed later an "injustice" (19: 45, 46). Proxies whether dated or not yield to any later dated one; and are revoked by such later one or the presence of the giver in person, even if expressly stated on their face to be irrevocable (7 R. C. L. 341-344). An instruction on a special question, such as the place of the next Convention (19: 44, 47, 48) or any other matter to be voted upon, is a valid direction to the holder of the proxy, to be complied with by him under penalty of action by the stockholder for any proveable damage if he disregards the instruction; but is no concern of the Committee on Credentials, can be received or noticed by the meeting only through the vote the attorney actually casts upon the question, and is not subject to inquiry or correction by the meeting (18. 68. 24: 57). Any meeting so held that any member is barred out, as for example on a boat (12: 44) or in any enclosed place where by safety or other regulations no more persons may come, is probably illegal, and would be so held on suit of any member who presented himself in due time before the meeting but was prevented from attending. Branches are entitled to be represented at any meeting by one selected person or by a duly executed proxy, like any other stockholder (21: 53).

Many Conventions have been without real power to amend the AMENDMENTS By-Laws because less than one-third of all the membership was at the meeting in person or by proxy (12: 37, 56. 25: 99. 28: 86, 87. 29: 45. 30: 11. 32: 47. 33: 59), but have nevertheless proceeded to make amendments in the absence of any objection. This is, of course, wholly illegal, as to make any amendment valid it must affirmatively and positively appear of record that the required vote was cast in its favor (Article XII); and in the absence of any blanket resolution authenticating all changes to date, the force of amendments so ineffectually made rests only on the establishment of tacit acquiescence for a considerable period of time, probably two years at least, in the change by every stockholder (131 Minn. 203; 144 Minn. 146).

The Sales Department as the chief actual continuous business SALES DEPT. portion of the corporation, has frequently been a source of contention, and the subject of much argument and tinkering. With the passing of years the Exchange and Purchasing features with which the Department started have been eliminated and the Sales Superintendent governed by the regulations fundamentally recast in 1904 (18: 22, 43, 48-61), has become an appointed paid agent of the Society (Article VII, Section 4). For acts within the reasonable scope of his authority if causing damage to members or others, the Society would be liable; but in practice the actual difficulties of the past have arisen not from but against the Superintendent. He is clearly and completely now, as a result of the Oesch case in 1904-05, under the supervision and control of the Vice-Presidents; and at various stages of his duties may call upon or turn matters over to the Examiner of Sales Books or Attorney of the Society for appropriate action. Loss of books or circuits has of course been the heaviest burden of the Department; and the Vice-Presidents may deal with and dispose of the problem of settlement, by dropping, from considerations of policy, as in the Tiffany case in 1891 (11: 27-29), or causing legal action to be brought, as in the Gurley case in March, 1904 (18: 21. 19: 23. 21: 49).

The problem of making the Society of real benefit to philately, PHILATELIC and offering more to members than an opportunity for an annual .PROGRESS. picnic, has been frequently presented by the more serious minded, and usually the newer, members (12: 42, 62. 13: 30. 22: 141), with the result generally of more or less temporary enthusiasm and plans and little permanent improvement or net discernible progress. In such class might be put the creation of the Committees on Philatelic Literature in 1898 (12: 61, 70. 13: 43-45, 47. 17: 55); Appliances and Aids in 1898 (12: 61. 13: 43-45); the Expert Committee in 1902 (16: 65-68. 17: 56, 57. 25: 82); the Index Committee in 1902 (16: 53, 73. 17: 44, 45, 55, 57-59. 25: 26, 63. 31: 37 38); Handbooks in 1907 (22: 98, 126, 146. 25: 100, 101. 31: 38-42) and to sell a deceased member's stamps in 1905 and again in 1921 (19: 82. 34: 71-74). Efforts have been made to have the Society endorse the Anti-Surcharge Association and the S. S. S. S.; adopt and bestow an Association Medal (17: 73. 18: 22, 69); have serious papers at the Conventions (17: 72, 75); petition for the right to use cut-squares adhesively for postage (22: 156); publish a United States priced catalogue (20: 51, 52, 59, 60. 23: 53, 55, 69; No. 2, pp. 3-4. 24: 75, No. 4, pp. 1, 12-24); urge one cent letter postage (25: 83, 84. 28: 57. 33: 61); issue and sell a Red Cross stamp (31: 6, 44); and adopt a Peace resolution (33: 48-50): all without practical success.

A petition for the putting of numerals of value on the 1c and 2c U. S. 1909 was adopted on the information that the change had already been decided upon by the Post Office Department (23: 55, 84-85). The Society in 1895 adopted a resolution asking for the public sale of U. S. periodical and postage due stamps (9: 31, 88), and two years later made a donation of $100. to the Walter S. Scott Defence Fund (11: 64); in which case, it will be recalled, the Government sought unsuccessfully to prove the mere possession of newspaper and periodical stamps to be unlawful (United States vs. Walter Scott Stamp Co., 87 Fed. Rep. 721). The Society approved, after the event, the formation in September, 1898 in the Brooklyn Institute of Arts & Sciences of a Section of Philately (12: 27. 13: 24); which, beginning with a membership of 77, for seven or eight years was actively engaged in promoting the study and extending the knowledge of philately by providing lectures and conferences, holding exhibitions, offering awards, and placing a collection (still available) of about 11,000 specimens in the Brooklyn Museum; but gradually losing interest and discontinued as part of the Institute a few years ago.

UNSOLICITED APPROVALS The problem of unsolicited approval selections has been constantly on hand (19: 94. 20: 38-40, 84-87. 30: 12. 32: 11. 34: 69) and to leave the matter to the Vice-Presidents for action, with a warning notice in the Secretary's report every month (20: 87) appears to be the best solution that has been found, so long as the publication of new members' addresses in full continues to be thought desirable. A suggestion that the sending of such unsolicited goods for sale was a violation of the postal laws of the United States (19: 94) obtains no support from the Solicitor of the Post Office Department; and the subject is undoubtedly controlled by the ordinary provisions of the law of sales. Risk of loss in transportation is on the seller, always going out, and also returning if the customer employs the means used or authorized by the seller; expense of return, probably only above simple postage, must be paid by the seller; and return or request for postage must be made within the time specified, if any, or within a reasonable time in the trade, or the customer may lose his right to return and be deemed to have bought the goods (Uniform Sales Act, Section 19, Rule 3 (2). 50 L. R. A., N. S. 808). The statute creating the crime of using the mails to defraud requires an actual (usually prior) scheme intended to defraud and use of the mail to that end (U. S. Criminal Code, Section 215). To endeavor to sell one's goods for their real value, even to persons not seeking to buy, is of course not a scheme to defraud. Counterfeiting, larceny, revenue and tariff cases, while highly interesting to the legal philatelist, have hardly as yet been brought before the American Philatelic Society, as a body; and may therefore well be left for consideration at another time.

STAMP ILLUSTRATIONS The matter of illustrations of stamps in the United States has been before the Society for a long time. As early as October, 1887, Mr. Scott was prohibited by the Treasury Department from using cuts he had arranged to have made for him abroad, and permission subsequently obtained under restrictions was shortly withdrawn and the prohibition continued; so that in December, 1887, members were advised not to use or possess cuts under risk of trouble with the Government (2: 60). A recommendation of action for relief by the Springfield Stamp Club in 1908 was referred to the Board of Directors (22: 91, 156-159) and may have been the cause of the introduction of a permissive bill in Congress in 1909 (H. R. #25,163). This bill was consistently and earnestly opposed by Chief Wilkie of the U. S. Secret Service (23: 43-45) and made no progress (24: 20-21, 75). More recently, as we know, bills have been introduced in the 67th Congress (Senate #2,703 and House #9,104, Nov. 14, 1921; and H. R. #10,616, Feb. 27, 1922), referred to the Judiciary Committee, and a hearing given on March 9th, 1922. The legal, as distinguished from the political, situation is that the statute (U. S. Criminal Code, 1909, Sections 147, 150, 161, 172, 219 and 220; formerly U. S. Rev. Stat., Sections 5413, 5430, 5464 and 5465) forbids the manufacture or possession of any plate, die or other object which constitutes any part of a means or method of printing or otherwise reproducing any "likeness" of any obligation (which includes uncanceled postage and revenue stamps) of the United States or any foreign country. What constitutes sufficient "likeness" to be within the prohibition is a matter of fact which rests ultimately with the court and jury who have to pass on a definite offence which is charged before them (U. S. vs. Kuhl, 85 Fed. Rep. 624); but, practically, to determine whether or not a prosecution shall be instituted, which is the stage of which the ordinary law-abiding citizen first desires to assure himself, lies within the discretion and judgment of Justice officials as advised by the Treasury Department. The Attorney-General advised in 1893 that facsimiles of cancelled stamps with the cancellation showing on the die and the whole printed in one operation was not a violation of the law (20 Cps. A.-G. 691); but the plate from which the New York Society intended to print labels advertising their Exhibition in 1913 was ordered destroyed, by U. S. District Attorney Wise (26, No. 6: 87) and the attitude of the authorities has generally been most rigorous and uncompromising with regard to illustration of United States stamps. Strictly, possession of the home printed catalogues and journals with foreign illustrations is as literally within the law as possession of foreign printed publications having United States illustrations; with which, as we know, the actual practice is to deal much more furtively. The situation is one which must undoubtedly be regularized in some way eventually, whether or not the present agitation results in permanent settlement.

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

Application of the elementary rules of parliamentary procedure to business sessions of Conventions would undoubtedly expedite business, more clearly manifest impartiality and promote harmony and accomplishment. The By-Laws provide (Article III, Section 7) that questions of order and parliamentary law shall be determined by Roberts' Rules of Order, a copy of which it would seem desirable for Convention officials to have at hand, and perhaps even be generally familiar with; but until one reaches a fairly advanced and complicated problem, the principles are alike and common to all recognized authorities. Business is ordinarily brought before an assembly for action by what may be called a "main" motion; as on a definite proposal from the floor to vote a certain thing or take specified action; to deal with a Committee's report, or resume consideration of business previously begun and in any way laid aside. Such main motions may be interrupted at any time by or postponed to other "main" motions which are called "privileged"; of which common examples are questions of privilege, and motions to recess, adjourn or fix time or place of reassembling. But one main motion may be before the meeting at one time. So an ordinary main motion is superseded by a privileged main motion until the latter is disposed of, and also by any "subsidiary" motion which relates to such ordinary main motion. A subsidiary motion, as the name implies, relates to a main motion; it is made only when some main motion is before the assembly; and has the purpose and effect of disposing temporarily or permanently of such main motion. Subsidiary motions are to amend, to commit, refer or recommit, to postpone definitely or indefinitely, to lay on the table, to allow withdrawal, to divide the proposition, an appeal from a decision of the chair, to extend, limit or close debate and for the previous question (meaning that debate cease instantly and a vote be taken). The purpose and nature of each of these subsidiary motions is well indicated by its name; and none calls for special comment except to notice that only two motions to amend may be made and pending at the same time. The second must be a motion to amend the first amendment, and must be disposed of, before a third or any other amendment may be proposed. These subsidiary motions, and others less common not here enumerated, all have rank among themselves, giving a regular order for precedence; and the junior or last motion stated by the chair is the only one under immediate consideration and must always be the first one voted upon. Eight motions most frequently used in disposing of business are, in order of rank, (1) to amend, (2) to amend the motion to amend, (3) to commit or refer, (4) to postpone definitely, (5) for the previous question, (6) to lay on the table, (7) to adjourn, and (8) to fix the time or place to which to adjourn. If any two or more of these motions are made, they must be made in the order given, and must always be disposed of in the opposite order, from last to first; and of course none of a higher rank can be made while there is any lower one pending undisposed of. The first four, only, are debatable. The last four are not, and if made call for immediate submission, without further remarks by anyone, except by informal unanimous consent, to the assembly. Motions (1), (3), (4) and (8) only can be amended; the others may not be. If an amendment is carried, to either subsidiary or main motion, the original motion becomes so changed (or amended) and in the new form only is thereafter before the assembly, for action. It is of course egregiously irregular to vote on motions to refer to a committee (34: 76) or on an independent matter (34: 74) as amendments to the main motion; or, after voting to refer, immediately to vote on the main motion in the assembly (34: 76); or to discuss and eventually vote on a motion that has been laid on the table (34: 79-81). This brief outline does not, of course, cover all the points that may arise; but if all participating in the discussions on the Convention floor, to say nothing of the officers, would have these elementary principles in mind, matters would proceed with a great deal more regularity, and there would probably be less agitation for cutting down the verbatim report of Convention proceedings.

- A12. Same as A11, but with plain central oval.
- A13. Same as A12, but with black central oval.
- B1. Single line oval measuring about 26x40 mm. City at top and abbreviated State below.
- B2. Same as B1, but there are horizontal lines within the oval space.
- C1. Double line oval with date in inner Oval.

BALTIMORE, MD. Types A2-3 and 4.

This is the ordinary double oval free from horizontal lines the most numerous of A2 are 6, 7 and 10. Type A4 is the largest representative of the Baltimore cancellation with the abbreviation "REG" in the center oval.

B1. In this type from Baltimore the letters are much smaller than in the A types. This city supplied a total of 9 specimens out of 1300 stamps examined.

BANGOR, ME. Type A3.

The inner oval from this city measures 12x23 mm. There are two varieties of the lettering. The ordinary in double case while the second variety, "Bangor, Me." being in large Roman caps.

BOSTON, MASS. Types A3, 4 and B1.

The total number of the Boston cancellation is 162 including four pairs and a strip of three. There are seven different sizes of the inner ovals of type A3. Type A4, the inner oval contains "camb" which no doubt represents the Cambridge station. There are two varieties of A3, large and small letters, the large letters predominating as 54 to 11. There are several types of B1. of the Boston cancellation. One with small letters which predominates. One with large letters and one with small "Boston" and large "MASS." Another type—"Back Bay, Boston, Mass." in two lines and still another wording "A Boston, Mass." in three lines. I have seen one copy of the "Back Bay" with a line between "Back Bay" and "Boston". Another variety of B1 with indistinguishable date in the center and "REG'Y" at bottom. The Ovals of A3 measure 17½ to 20 x 8½ to 13 mm.

BROOKLYN, N. Y. Type A4 only.

BUFFALO, N. Y. Type A8 only.

There are two sizes of the inner oval.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. B1 only.

Mentioned only on account of its scarcity. 1 copy only out of 1300 specimens.

CINCINNATI, O. Types A5-6 and 9.

Of type A6 the numeral "11" is the greatest in number being as five to one of any of the others which are 4-5-6 and 10. Of Type A5 I have seen letters "B" and "D" only. In Type A9 the center oval contains "C. D." which I presume stands for "Central District". Of the Cincinnati postmark-cancellation there is a total of 15.

CHICAGO, ILL. Types A3 and B1 and 2.

There are three varieties of B1. Large, Medium and Small caps, "CHICAGO, ILL." in two lines. The medium sized letters predominate as about 20 to 1. Another Variety of B1 contains the single word "CHICAGO", and still another in a large oval nearly round, has "Chicago, Ill." in center. Still another variety of B1 has the wording in large double case lettering "Chicago, Ill.". Type B2 "Chicago, Ill." in small double case letters with horizontal line above. The total for Chicago is 53 specimens containing five or six minor varieties.

CLEVELAND, O. Type A6 only.

This city is represented by fourteen specimens. Numerals are found from 1 to 8 inc., the larger number being of the numeral "4".

DETROIT, MICH. Type A5 only.

11 copies only containing the numerals 1-3-4-5-7. The numerals 2 and 6 being absent.

ERIE, PA. Type B1 only.

ESTERLY, R. I. Type B1 only.

HARTFORD, CONN. Type A3 only of which there are two varieties. One with large letters, and one with small letters, the latter predominating as five to one.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND. is represented by only one specimen and that Type B1.

LA GRANGE, ILL. Type A3 only.

LOS ANGELES, CALIF. Type A1 only.

NEW HAVEN, CONN. Type B1 only.

NEW YORK, N. Y. Types A5-6 and 9. Type C.

Of type A5 the greatest number are of the letter "D" and next comes F. There are none of H*I*J*L*M*N and O. B-C-I and K seems to be the scarcest of those represented. There are none after the letter P. Of A6 only two numerals are represented "2" and "3" several sizes of each. The numeral "3" the most often as 89 to 16. In fact the numeral "3" of the New York Parcel represents about one-third of the whole which consists of 246 specimens.

Type A9 includes the following: "P. O.", "H. T." (Hudson Terminal), "C. R." (Central Railroad (?)), and "REG."

Type C1. Out of 1300 specimens I found only 15 of the type C1 dated parcel cancellations. This type consists of a double lined oval, the outer oval coming within the dimensions stated for type A, but the inner oval containing the day and month is larger than that of type A, being 14x21 mm. The year is placed at the bottom between the oval lines. This type with the exception of Boston occurs on no other parcel form of cancellation according to my knowledge.

The earliest date I have seen is "11-22-88" in one line in the center of the oval. I have seen none later than "7-24-89".

NORTH AMHERST, MASS. Type B1 only.

PEORIA, ILL. Type B1 only.

PHILADELPHIA, PA. Types A5-6 and 9.

Type A5 there were only two copies found—"B" and "E". Type A6 the numerals run from 1 to 30 but I did not find 3-6-9 and 14. The numeral 28 is the most numerous. Type A9 consists of "P. O."; "R. D." (Registry Division (?)); "C. D." (Central Division); "F. D." (First Division (?)).

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

This is a special cancellation and post-mark entirely different from the other types mentioned. The city is abbreviated and reads "Prov. R. I." in one line with a three tined pitch-fork at each end, consisting of a vertical bar and three horizontal lines running at right angles from the vertical bar. One copy on piece of cover with a 15c of that period.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. Type B1. Two copies.

ROXBURY, MASS. Type B1. One copy only.

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF. Type A3. One copy only.

ST. LOUIS, MO. Type A12. Numerals 1 and 4 only. 4 copies.

TOLEDO, OHIO. Type A13. Thirteen copies.

WESTCHESTER, N. Y. Type B1. One copy.

WORCESTER, MASS. Type B1. Two copies.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Types A2 and A3.

Of type A2 the only numerals found were "8" and "9". There are three sizes of the numeral "8" and two of "9". Only 1 copy of A3. The Washington

TOWN CANCELLATIONS.

These include all the ordinary circular die town and city post-marks dated with day, month and year, and sometimes the hour. Out of 1300 copies examined there were 47 town or city cancellations of which eleven could not be identified. The earliest date I have is "Dec. 1887" and the latest that of Nov. 6, 1889. There were 4 Detroit, 3 Philadelphia, 2 each of Boston and Milwaukee while 17 other towns produced 1 each. With this postmark often appears the ellipse postmark cancellation with numeral or letter in centre.

ELIPSE CANCELLATION.

This is too well known for an elaborate detailed description. It consists simply of a letter or numeral in a circle surrounded by an ellipse composed of horizontal or vertical bars. The vertical bar variety being rather scarce. These forms were used as a canceling die in connection with the post mark which is always to the left of the ellipse, part of each often showing on one stamp. The letters and numerals are said to represent different postal clerks and postal districts.

The alphabet as represented on the 3 cent vermilion is far from complete, the following letters not being represented on the horizontal bar variety: "A, E, G, H, I, K, O, Q, R, S, T, V, X, Y, and Z. The most numerous is the letter "M" there being 12, 4 each of "C" and "D", 3 of "W" and "P", 2 of "B" and one each of "F, J, L, N, and U". The total of horizontal bars with letters is 35.

Of the vertical bar variety there were only 4, one each of "D" and "E" and 2 of "P".

The Horizontal bars with numerals total 109. The numeral "1" predominates, there being 39, "4" is next numbering 10 copies. There are from three to six of the numerals 1 to 10. Three of "12". One of "14" and "18". Two of "22" and one each of "46" and "48". None others were represented in the total of 109.

Of the vertical bar variety with numerals, only the "4" and "8" were represented. Three of the former and one of the latter.

This type with horizontal bars also exists with "P. O." in the circle and another type used in Providence, R. I. with a black ball in the circle.

GRID IRONS.

This type of cancellation is represented by 11 copies. They consist of round, oval and rectangular forms. The bars are distant from each other from two to four mm., they being closest in the round and farthest apart in the rectangular forms. The bars are also of different widths and offer an interesting study for classification. Those "grids" of seven bars being the commonest variety.

TARGETS.

These are represented by three and four rings only, with plain and filled centers.* One very interesting copy shows a double strike, one just below the other, so that the two inner circles form a perfect figure "8" surrounded by interwoven circles. Total of the targets 16.

ROSETTES.

These are rather scarce on this stamp, having found only 8 and all of different design. From the study of these designs on other stamps on cover, I find most of them were used in San Francisco, Calif.

STARS.

This cancellation may be said to be rare on the "bright hued fellow" there being only two out of 1300 specimens of the three cent vermilion. One, the finest I have seen on any stamp, that of a five pointed colorless star surrounded by plenty of ink forming a square with rounded corners.

QUARTERINGS.

Said to have been made from broom-stick handles and corks. All sizes and on account of worn dies, appear in different shapes and sizes. A total of 29.

MATTS,

consisting of a series of blocks from 2 to 4 x 3 to 6 mm. in series to produce round, oval, rectangular and diamond shaped forms. A total of 9.

CIRCLES, SQUARES, RECTANGLES, TRIANGLES, DIAMONDS, ETC.

This is an interesting classification, the stamps making a pretty page. The lines making these forms are from 2 to 4 mm. thick, forming a clear center.

THE SMUDGE.

This cancellation has no doubt been the cause of more cuss words than any other legitimate postal procedure. These consist of "gobs" of ink large and small, round, oval and oblong but of so imperfect an outline that they can be classified under no other heading than "smudge". They make an interesting page however when classified as to form and size. Total 124 copies.

MISCELLANEOUS.

There are many other forms of cancellations such as "pen cancelled" consisting of from one to five straight lines, crosses, double and tripple, circles, initials, dates etc. I have never seen a "pre-cancelled" three cent vermilion. I have examined a copy sent me as such, but found it the ordinary New York "roller" cancellation applied after the stamp was attached to the cover. Copies showing flag design in both straight and wavy lines are met with, but having been used since 1890.

Among the rarer cancellations I have seen is a block of ten with "Paid 3" in two lines in a circle, green ink.

FAKES.

Several other designs I have classified as "fakes", made to sell to the unwary collector of cancellations. Among these I will mention a dressed monkey with handkerchief, a rat and egg, the devil seated with his pitch-fork, cat sitting, cat standing, elephant etc. There are other forms such as rosettes, and stars of intricate design, made so symmetrical and perfect that I have classified them as "fake cancellations", as it hardly seems possible that a hand stamp could produce such a pretty effect.

GEMS.

This is how some collectors would classify a certain page in my album. They are perfectly centered, lightly cancelled, bright appearing copies of no especial interest, but specimens which the general collector would delight in adding to his collection.

CONCLUSION.

It is a proven fact that the petroleum in the canceling ink is to blame for the staining of a great many specimens which otherwise might be suitable to place in a collection. We have the rogues to thank for the addition of petroleum to the inks used in canceling postage stamps.

The French postoffice was the first to discover and make use of this ingredient as applied to canceling inks.

Over thirty years ago, Robert Stockwell Hatcher wrote of the trouble Governments were having in preventing the cleaning of used stamps. He says: "The cancellation of postage stamps does not seem at first that, a very important subject, yet the lack of proper ingredients in the inks employed for the defacement of letter stamps, has been, and still is, the source of extraordinarily heavy pecuniary losses to the government."

In 1880 M. Cochery then Minister of Posts and Telegraphs of the French Republic, ascertaining that a large number of postage stamps were being disposed of at the Paris tobacco shops (the bureaux de tabac in France are also government stamp agencies) for which no cash return was made to postal headquarters, conceived the suspicion that the national stamps were suffering at the hands of a band of counterfeiters. He accordingly requested his colleague, the Minister of the Interior, to instruct the Perfect of Police, his subordinate, to put detectives upon the scent of the supposed forgers.

After most diligent searching, the Secret Service reported that no bogus stamps could be found. Investigations were then inaugurated to discover if the marchands de tabac had not found certain means of removing the obliterations from stamps that had already done duty. Again, the Officials obtained no satisfactory results.

The Bank of France and other National Institutions were asked if they had been victimized by washed stamps; but all made a negative reply, whereupon M. Cochery confided a certain number of stamps completely blackened with the then canceling ink, to a chemical acquaintance of his. A few hours later, he received from the chemist the identical stamps in a perfectly clean condition, and to all appearances fresh from the printing press.

Since the fraud was no longer in doubt, and in order to prevent similar occurrences, the French Postoffice concocted an ink, composed largely of petroleum, which has ever since worked satisfactorily in rendering the stamps of the Gaul entirely unfit for use.

Besides the losses incurred by the use of cleaned stamps in other countries, it is estimated by some that the U. S. government alone, loses over one million dollars annually thru frauds of this nature.

Hundreds of inks and devices such as the grills, cog wheel patents etc. have been tried by other authorities, but it is curious to note that the most complete canceling outfit yet known, is the remote country postmaster with his pen and ink.

GERMAN MOURNING STAMPS.

Marking the loss of German colonies as a result of the war, a set of mourning stamps has been issued in Germany. They all bear as design a warship under full steam in a centre oval and a German ensign in the lower left corner at half mast.

The stamps are exactly alike except that across the top of each one of the ten is printed the name of a different lost colony and the centre design is printed in a different color for each colony. The colonies' names on the stamps are: German East Africa, German New Guinea, the Marshall Islands, the Carolines, Togo, German Southwest Africa, Samoa, Marianen, Kamerun and Kiao-Chau.—

JOHN KLEMANN vs. GEO. H. GRINNELL

SECURES JUDGMENT FOR $65,000.

Stamp Collectors the world over have been closely watching the proceedings of the philatelic Cause celebre involving the sale of a lot of "Hawaiian Missionaries" which turned out to be bogus and which have been the subject matter of a fourteen day trial in the Superior Court of the State of California at Los Angeles. Judgment has just been rendered in favor of the plaintiff, John A. Klemann, well known New York dealer and expert (A. P. S. 2223) who has secured a judgment for $65,000 against the defendant George H. Grinnell who it will be recalled sold Mr. Klemann a lot of "Hawaiian Missionaries" as part of an alleged find which was supported by a clever story that would lull the suspicions of any stamp collector. After Mr. Klemann had purchased the stamps and returned to New York it was found, on comparison with genuine copies in the collection of Mr. Caspary, who was interested in the transaction, that the stamps were clever forgeries. Suit was immediately instituted, the funds involved attached and even the Federal Secret Service was called into the case. The defense to the suit was that the stamps were sold "as is" and that the rule of caveat emptor applied to sales of stamps without special guarantee. Experts from all over the world testified as to the rules and customs of the stamp trade and though the Judge, the Hon. J. P. Wood and Mr. Klemann's counsel, Mr. Irving M. Walker were not stamp collectors the trial was philatelically perfect and the Court's decision reads like that of a philatelist of long standing. Mr. Klemann's victory is a victory for everyone interested in philately as it establishes the principle that stamps sold by name, which as a rule are only intelligible to collectors, are sold as genuine copies in the philatelic sense. The case was much complicated by extraneous details but the broad principle on which the Court acted was that when Mr. Klemann entered into a written agreement to purchase the stamps that he did so under the impression that they were genuine and that this also was the fact governing the seller. Therefore, the stamps being counterfeit, the seller and buyer formed their contract under a "mistake of fact" and the buyer was therefore legally entitled to rescind his contract and demand a return of his funds. The Court held that conversations had, after the agreement had been made, in which Mr. Grinnell represented that he knew nothing about stamps and that Mr. Klemann as an expert must rely on his own judgment as to the genuineness of the stamps, did not alter the written contract on which the transaction was based. It is hoped that the decision will not be altered on appeal as it establishes a precedent that should be a great protection to all philatelists in all future time.

EDITOR'S COLUMN.

Within a fortnight there will foregather at Springfield, Massachusetts, the Congress of American Philately and the past years progress will be reviewed in the reports of the officers and committees, new officers will be elected and plans made for the coming year. Rumor has it that this thirty-seventh Annual Convention will be exceedingly lively in debate and while the subject matters to be discussed betoken a healthy interest and an appreciation of the power of the Society in American Stamp circles it is to be hoped that none of the arguments made will be personal or in any other spirit than a desire to build and not to destroy.

For thirty-seven years The American Philatelic Society, notwithstanding many troublesome periods, has weathered every storm and strengthened its foundations each succeeding year. The well filled Treasury, the high character of the membership and the efficiency of the several departments are due primarily to the watchfulness and effort of the conservative part of the membership that has been in regular attendance at the Annual Conventions. Fully appreciating that the present strong structure is due to the ultra conservative policy of the past, there are nevertheless many members who feel that the time has come to use the now strong foundations for a larger structure and one more representative of the tremendous strides made by Philately in this country the past few years. The membership is now approximately 2300, a very satisfactory number when looked at from the angle of steady growth but not so satisfactory when viewed in relation to the estimated number of reputable and seasoned collectors in the United States. If it be true, as a member of Congress has said before the Judiciary Committee, that there are a million stamp collectors in this country, or indeed if we cut that estimate by 900,000, still it is a most modest aspiration on our part to set the present goal at 5000 members. At the present rate of growth such a number would probably be attained about ten years hence and it is therefore the hope of a good part of the membership that the coming Convention will formulate a constructive and aggressive policy to forward the growth of the Society and deviate somewhat from the conservatism that they feel, if pursued too long, will lead to decay rather than greater strength.

Without initiative, labor and enthusiasm there can be no widening of the scope of the Society and even if we have these qualifications progress with us as in all large organizations is apt to be slow and stumbling. This should however be no deterrent but rather a spur to increased effort and from the number of suggestions that have been made for the betterment of the Society it is evident that there is no lack of enthusiastic workers to be had in support of any plans inaugurated by the Springfield Convention. We have selected a few of the ideas suggested during the past year as worthy of the attention of the governing body and list them here. Some of these have been urged at prior conventions but are again given as they were not carried out by reason of any lack of merit but more often by reason of finances.

A. P. S. GOLD MEDAL.

It has been proposed that the Society award each year a medal to be known as the "Scott Literary Prize Medal", in honor of our former President and Pioneer of American Philately, to the writer of the best philatelic article appearing in or offered to The American Philatelist each year. The award to be made by a committee, consisting of five members, one of whom shall be the Editor of the American Philatelist, and that said committee be not obligated to make an award unless the material offered in any one year be considered of sufficient high standard to merit the award. The value of the award not to exceed $50.00.

PHILATELIC INDEX.

Many proposals have been made in connection with the work of the present Committee handling this subject. The concensus of these is that the present method of publishing and preserving the work of the Committee is wasteful and of no permanent value. There is no dispute about the importance and value of the Index itself, this has been stressed upon by all those familiar with it and by various large philatelic Societies abroad. The point is that the meager installments, running over a long period of years are neither preserved or even understood by the members. The cost of publishing these installments is now approximately $250.00 per year and the total work, at the present rate, will run perhaps 5 or more years. By those well competent to judge, it is estimated that there will be less than 100 copies of the total work preserved. It is now suggested that the committee be augmented, all the previous listings gone over and brought up to date and the Index completed as promptly as possible by intensive effort and then publish the completed work as a Society handbook. This no doubt can be done for less than $1500 and will provide a book of greater value to philatelists than any other yet published. This work is a monumental labor and largely due to the personal effort of Mr. William R. Ricketts who is deserving of the highest praise and the support of the entire membership. It has been also suggested that the cost of the "Philatelic Index" could easily be covered by subscription which we also believe would be feasible when the work is complete.

RECRUITING COMMITTEE.

Appreciating the intense effort required of this committee it has been suggested that the President appoint four subsidiary Committees, each of three members and from the same locality, these committees to act for a three months period and to carry on a recruiting campaign of local or national character according to their own judgment. Each of these committees to be allowed $25.00 to cover expenses and be supplied with literature, etc. from the major and all-year committee. It appears that part of the idea is to include a bit of rivalry between the different committees.

"TRUTH" COMMITTEE.

It has been suggested that a committee be appointed to formally communicate, on behalf of the Society, with such Editors and Publishers of Newspapers and magazines that publish grossly inaccurate, misleading or derogatory statements concerning stamp collecting and seek to correct their false impressions. If such a committee were appointed the co-operation of the philatelic press and collectors would be necessary in order that the Committee be kept informed of the unsatisfactory publications.

A proposal has been made that the Treasurer list, in his monthly reports, the bonds and securities held by him instead of merely giving their value in Dollars.

---

It has been suggested that a committee be appointed to formulate and submit to the next convention a plan of having a great International Exhibition and Philatelic Congress in connection with the A. P. S. convention in 1924.

SOCIETY NEWS.

PACIFIC PHILATELIC SOCIETY, Life Branch No. 1.—The June meeting was attended by fourteen members and two visitors. The name of Mr. C. E. Hofercamp, formerly of Sacramento, but who is now located in San Francisco, was proposed for membership. Mr. Hofercamp has been collecting for a number of years and has a fine U. S. collection. Mr. J. C. Harrigan, of Colville, Wash., was also a guest and gave an interesting talk on philately in the Northwest.

The following motion was made by Mr. H. C. Marcus, seconded by Mr. Falley, supported by Mr. Colson, and passed:

“Amendment to By-Laws to provide for a special membership to be known as Junior Members:—That the age of regular members be 21 years; that of Junior Members to be from 16 years to 21 years.

Junior members to be subject to all the rules and regulations and to have all the rights of the regular members, except the right to hold office and the right to vote;

Election for Junior membership to be the same as for regular members.

General Amendment to By-Laws:—Wherever the words member or members appear, it is understood to mean male and female.

RESOLVED, That the Secretary send copies of these proposed amendments to all the regular members and that they be regularly voted on at the next regular meeting in July.”

The Secretary was requested to spread on the minutes the thanks of members who accepted Dr. F. Fischer's invitation to visit him at his country seat in Mill Valley the Sunday previous, where a wonderful day was spent by all.

The exhibit of stamps for the evening was based on “Colors” and first prize went to Dr. Fischer for his exhibit of old U. S. Cut Squares. The winner was decided by popular vote of members present and as a matter of interest it might be mentioned that the second prize was won by a collection of New Issues shown by Mr. Birkenfeld, who won out over the next two collections shown by Messrs. Lazarus and Dillingham, which consisted of older issues only. When it comes to beauty of color, the older stamps as a whole are handicapped when competing against the newer issues.

The Annual Get-together Dinner of the four Bay Societies was held on Friday the 16th, at the “Fior d'Italia”, the largest Italian restaurant in the United States. Nearly sixty enthusiastic collectors attended, including several from the East, who were out here for “Shrine Week”.

DETROIT PHILATELIC SOCIETY.—The 129th regular meeting of the Detroit Philatelic Society was held at the Michigan Club, June 21, 1922, Messrs. Cady, Kay and Norms being the hosts. There were twenty-two members present. A motion was made by Dr. Babcock to extend an invitation to the American Philatelic Society to hold their convention in Detroit in 1923. The motion was carried. Mr. Look, our vice-president, was appointed by president Schmalzriedt to extend the same in person to the delegates of the Springfield Convention.

Mention should be made of the banquet given by the hosts, the menu being a photograph of a fine pair of twelve penny blacks, the property of Mr. Kay. During the evening the collections of Mr. Kay and Mr. Norms were on exhibition and were thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

W. L. Babcock has recently been fortunate in acquiring a bound volume, of several hundred pages, of a report of the proceedings of a Committee appointed by the British Parliament to investigate the postal service of Great Britain, having in mind the possibility of the introduction of the adhesive postage stamp.

The Committee met first in April, 1838, and the report, ordered printed and bound, by Parliament, late in the year, is a verbatim report covering questions by members of the Committee and answers and data presented by several witnesses who were called before the Committee.

It may be interesting to recall the Mr. James Chalmers, one of the first, if not the first, to suggest the utility of the adhesive postage stamp, was a member of this committee, and that Mr. Rowland Hill was a witness and an advocate before the Committee for a reform in the postal service by means of the suggested adoption of the adhesive stamp.

Mention of these names recalls to the mind of the older Philatelists the acrimonious and interesting controversy that was printed in the English lay press, and especially in the Philatelic press, in the late eighties and early nineties, as to which one of these gentlemen should be credited with the introduction of the adhesive postage stamp. Both gentlemen have earnest advocates among British collectors at the present time.

Dr. Babcock obtained this volume, which is in an excellent state of preservation, from a second hand book store in Edinburgh, and is naturally delighted with this acquisition to his Philatelic Library. Pleasure of ownership is enhanced by the fact that on the fly leaf appears the signature of Mr. James Chalmers, in his own hand writing, and that a note on another page, in another hand writing reads to the effect that this was the original volume presented to Mr. James Chalmers, Bookseller, Dundee, member of the "Postage" Committee.

RUBBER CITY STAMP CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET.

On Saturday, June 24, the Rubber City Stamp Club of Akron, Branch 51 of the A. P. S., held its third annual banquet at the Elk's club with a total attendance of fifty members and guests. Thirty-three were from Akron, fifteen from Cleveland, and one each from Medina and Wadsworth.

Starting in the afternoon at three o'clock with "how-de-dooos," attention was then turned to sales and exchanges of stamps for the men, while the ladies engaged in cards.

Shortly before dinner a spirited auction was held at which time exceptionally good prices were realized on those items offered.

The dining room presented an attractive appearance, as in place of the usual place cards, vari-colored balloons were found tied to the backs of the chairs, the names and addresses of the guests being printed on these, while at time of drinking the water, those present saw a postage stamp showing thru the bottom of their glass.

Immediately after dinner, Miss Kathleen Ream, daughter of Vice-President and Mrs. Ream, presented some very enjoyable esthetic dances.

At the close of dinner, a number of interesting talks were given, among those speaking being the Messrs. Otto Moses, Louis Hanford, William Whitaker, and W. W. McLaren, all of Cleveland, and Si Weatherby of Medina.

The regular dance was then given, all present finding it an agreeable entertainment until ten-thirty at which time the party closed.

The following guests were from Akron: Miss K. Howe Bennett, G. Brohez, James E. Crouch, Miss Ethel M. Crouch, Mrs. Olive Wood, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Ewing, Delbert and Walter Gibson, Miss Dorothy Burge, Walter P. Gordon, O. S. Hart, Cornel Kmentt, Arno Kmentt, Miss Gerda Kmentt, Edward Korach, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Kruse, L. C. Lovejoy, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Ream, Miss Kathleen Ream, Herbert S. Rose, Ernest Elwood Thoma, Miss Harmon Todd, Basil Wingrove, B. A. Zaremba, Louis Jiacomini, H. Wolcot, Eddie Church, Miss Margaret Reed, J. F. Cherry and C. A. Bensinger.

Cleveland was represented by the following: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Chamberlin, Fritz and Karl Jansen, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. MacLaren, Mrs. C. R. Moses, Otto Moses, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Osterheld, Miss Dorothy Osterheld, Miss Eleanor MacLaren, Louis Hanford, W. G. Whitaker and Miss Dorothy Whitaker. C. W. Stiles, of Wadsworth, was also present, as was Si Weatherby of Medina.

The following Saturday, thirteen of Rubber City spent a delightful afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cornel Kmentt who live near Northampton, a small village close to Akron. A "feed" which rivaled the preceding week's banquet, was enjoyed by all, and in addition to seeing Mr. Kmentt's collection of rare stamps, those present had the privilege of seeing his collection of several thousand butterflies; many of these having been brought across from Europe.

Violin selections by Mr. Kmentt, impromptu (esthetic?) dances by Messrs. Gibson and Thoma, the singing of songs and many other informal entertainments by those present, all of these combined to make the "July Scramble" the most enjoyable gathering ever held by the club.—ERNEST ELWOOD THOMA, Director of Publicity.

INDO CHINA. The horrifying news reaches us that separate issues will appear for each province of this colony, viz, Tonkin, Cochin China, Cambodia, Annam & Saos. Too much is enough but if philatelists must pay for the war why not issue stamps where they may be used, we suggest an issue for the Pink Elephant Cabaret on Montmarte, one for the Louvre Department store and one for the Grand Hotel de Paris. We shall be pleased to forward other suggestions to the French Government.

LIBIA. The Italian "Victory" set has been surcharged "Libia."

LATVIA. Mr. Koslowski reports the 15 ruble of the current Arms type printed on both sides which the enterprising can use twice without defrauding the Government. All the earlier issues have now been demonetized for the reason that while the German mark equaled 8 Lettish Rubles the stamp purchases were very heavy by the Germans and when the exchange became so adverse to the Germans that the mark no longer equaled 1 Ruble the Germans promptly re-imported the stamps and made a nice profit without the bother of selling to collectors. The game is now called off and the Government is now, in addition to demonetizing the earlier issues, charging a customs fee on all stamps imported and expects to charge one also on stamp exports.

LITHUANIA. A new provisional postage.

FIVE HUNDRED MILLION FOR A STAMP.

Of course it's not Dollars still it does sound impressive. A sheet of Russia, Scott's No. 78a which should be listed as No. 119 has been unearthed at Moscow and the fortunate owner is asking 500,000,000 Roubles, Soviet brand, for it. It has not been sold at last reports and I am wondering how the seller will manage to cart around the roubles if he makes a sale. Probably will have to hire a truck.

NORWAY NUMBER ONE.

That the value of any given stamp is greatly influenced by its popularity at the particular moment is but another way of expressing the old law of "supply and demand". Few stamps evidence this fact in a more pronounced manner than does the first issue of Norway. In the last ten years the vogue of this stamp has rapidly increased so that the supply today, that is, available supply, is far under the demand. A glance at a few old catalogue reveals some interesting data. Note that the stamp unused was always considered rather scarce. The prices given in Scott's are:

1895	Unused....	$ 5.00	Used....	$.12
1901	" .....	18.00	" .....	.12
1902	" .....	18.00	" .....	.12
1905	" .....	18.00	" .....	.15
1912	" .....	25.00	" .....	1.50
1920	" .....	50.00	" .....	2.50
1922	" .....	50.00	" .....	2.50

All the foreign catalogs show a similar rise and the present demand is still so strong that fine copies, that is with large margins, bring quite a premium over catalog. Singles on cover have been fetching about $10.00 at auction and pairs, off cover, from $20.00 to $25.00. Though there is only one catalogued variety, the double foot on the right hind leg of the lion, there are many minor differences in the stamps that usually appear in the corners and which have led specialists to an attempt to "plate" this stamp. The stamp was issued to cover inland postage, a rate of 4 shillings, and strips of 4 or 6 used for foreign mail are quite unusual. Genuine unused copies, that is not "pen cancell removed", but truly unused with o. g. are indeed rare. The very fine strip illustrated is the property of Mrs. Eustace Guest and is on a small piece of cover.

THE GREAT PHILATELIC MYSTERY.

BEING A HITHERTO UNPUBLISHED REMINISCENCE BY DR. WARSAW.

(With Apologies to A. Conan Doyle.)

By E. TUDOR GROSS, A. P. S. #4532.

It was in the late afternoon of a delightful day in June, in the summer of 1921, that I alighted from the Dover Express at Waterloo Station and looked about eagerly for the companion of my bachelor days, Mr. Kerlock Shomes. I had spent the past week-end in Paris, attending the sale of the famous Ferrari collection of postage stamps, and as I was too tired from my long journey to motor out to my country home that evening, I had wired Shomes from Dover to let me put up over night in my old room in Paker Street. I might add, in passing, that it was some months since I had seen my old friend, and he was entirely ignorant of the fact that I had become enamoured of philately, or, as my wife would express it, "become a nut on postage stamps."

Be that as it may, however, I had succeeded in picking up a few "sleepers" at the famous auction, such as some nice blocks of four of the Post Office Mauritius, a 13c Hawaiian Missionary, pre-cancelled "Grand Rapids, Michigan," and a half sheet of the 90c August, U. S. A., used on a Liberty Bond wrapper.

In spite of my elation at my recent purchases, I decided to say nothing of this to Shomes, whom I found beckoning to me from a cab in front of the station. Pausing only to buy a copy of the Times, I hastily joined my famous friend and, after cordial greetings, we were soon on our way to the familiar house in Paker Street.

Although, as I have said, we had not seen each other for a considerable time, we had little to talk over, so, after a hearty supper, I seated myself in my accustomed place by the student lamp, and began to glance over my copy of the Times.

Shomes, I could see, had had a hard day, for instead of improving his mind by delving into one of his beloved scientific books, he opened out his music stand, and sprawling back comfortably in his big easy chair, began playing a sonata on his favorite instrument, the snare drum.

We had spent a delightful half hour in this restful manner when my eye happened to light upon an article that at once attracted my deepest attention. I have preserved this particular copy of the Times, and therefore reprint the article as it originally appeared.

"SINGULAR ROBBERY IN OFFICE BUILDING

Valuable Postage Stamp Album Stolen in Broad Daylight

Scotland Yard Officials All at Sea

One of the most baffling mysteries that have come to the attention of police authorities in recent years was reported this afternoon to the Chief Inspector's Department of Scotland Yard. Mr. Wendover Chasebrook, the famous philatelist and author of a monograph on the line engraved issues of Labrador, on returning to his counting rooms after luncheon, found, upon opening a newly acquired safe in his private office, that his valuable album of 2c United States postage stamps, current issue (black cancellations), was missing. Mr. Chasebrook had opened his safe earlier in the day, but as he is very absent-minded and extremely nearsighted, he cannot recall whether or not he glanced at the shelf on which he usually keeps this particular collection. The loss might not yet have been discovered had not Mr. Chasebrook suddenly thought of putting into his album a new and valuable variety which he had just found in a recently purchased Mission Packet.

Removing from the shelf what he supposed to be the book in question, he found, to his amazement, that it was a bound volume of Sacred Music, evidently cleverly substituted by the thief.

When questioned by the detectives, whom he had at once summoned, he stated that he was sure the album had been there earlier in the day, as he had taken it home for study the evening before, and had himself replaced it in the safe that morning. Furthermore, he added, no one but himself knew the combination.

Asked as to whether he suspected anyone who might be guilty of such a crime, he stated that he had no idea that any but stamp collectors knew of his owning this particular collection, and that naturally no philatelist of his acquaintance would do such a thing. He further stated that he had been in his private office the entire morning, only going out at lunch-time for about an hour.

Miss Hazelnut Gumm, the piquante stenographer of Mr. Chasebrook, confirmed these statements, but added that while he was at luncheon his old friend and philatelic rival, Judge Hemerson P. Hackerman, had called and waited a half hour in the private office. As Mr. Chasebrook did not return at his usual hour, Judge Hackerman finally came out into the main office and said that he would wait no longer, since his friend was evidently detained. The day being unusually warm, Judge Hackerman had not bothered to remove his cape-ulster which he had worn on entering the office, and, according to Miss Gumm, he had nothing in his hands when he went out.

No possible suspicion is placed on this well known barrister, who, besides being a close friend of Mr. Chasebrook's, is too wealthy to need to take what does not belong to him.

A careful examination of the premises showed that the storm windows were all securely in place, that there were no trace of mud on the rugs, and that the lock of the safe had not been tampered with. At the moment of going to press no explanation for this remarkable robbery has been found, although the police state that important developments may be expected momentarily."

To the average reader the above article probably attracted little if any attention, but to an ardent collector like myself the enormity of this particular crime was appalling. Naturally my first thought was to solicit the assistance of that greatest of all detectives, the man at my side, so in spite of the tired look on his face I waited for him to finish a masterly rendition of Handel's Largo, and then addressed him.

"Kerlock," I said, "have you seen the last edition of the Times?"

"My dear Warsaw," replied Shomes, "you know I never read the papers. No news is good news, and I detest bad news."

"But," I persisted, "there is an article here which interests me greatly, although I do not happen to know the principals involved, and if you don't mind, I * * *."

"Go ahead, my friend," answered Shomes, laying down his beloved drum with the air of a man who had planned an evening to himself, and suddenly finds it spoiled by a business interruption, "go ahead and read your so-called mystery story, so that I may unravel it speedily and get back to my music."

"But Kerlock," I ventured, "I have not even told you yet that it IS a mystery story, and * * *."

"Quite so," said Shomes, "but I assume my assumption is correct."

How like the old Kerlock this sounded! It is a constant marvel to me how this man even before you express yourself, can anticipate your thoughts, and frequently recite the answer before the question is fully propounded.

But to resume.

Having secured his attention, I proceeded to read the above article, glancing at him from time to time out of the corner of my eye, only to find his expression becoming more and more that of absolute boredom. When I had finished, he put down his pipe, and with an amused smile overspreading his face, remarked, "But where is the mystery?"

"Where is the mystery?" I repeated, "why, to me it seems absolutely unexplainable. I really * * *."

"Quite so," said Shomes, "and so, evidently, it has appeared to our friends at Scotland Yard, as such things always do to detectives who look only for hidden motives, rather than for those that are perfectly obvious."

"Obvious," I cried, "why, who could * * *."

"My dear Warsaw," interrupted Shomes, "after years of study I have found it easier to discover the answer to a conundrum first, and work out the 'whys' afterwards."

"But, surely," I gasped, "you don't mean to say that you know * * *."

"Certainly, my dear doctor, I do, and the culprit is the least suspected of all, the Hon. Judge Hemerson P. Hackerman."

I was so completely astounded by this remarkable statement that I could only murmur, "But why should this well-to-do lawyer, with plenty of money at his command, find it necessary to increase his own collection at the expense of his best friend?"

"It is very simple," said Shomes. "Men who have hobbies will go to any extreme to get the better of their fellow enthusiasts, and none more so than philatelists."

"But," I inquired, "what do you know about hobbies? I never thought you were interested in anything outside of your work and your music."

"To be sure," answered Kerlock, "and it is just because of that love for my work that I have found it necessary to study into the eccentricities of all sorts of collectors, whether they accumulate stamps, coins, furniture or bugs. You may recall, by the way, that I made an exhaustive study of cigarette butts, for the sole purpose of determining the effect of tobacco on the modern woman's game of bridge."

"But," I remarked, "although I am an ardent philatelist I am only what is called an 'O. F. C.'* and did not suppose the study had been reduced to a science."

"On the contrary, doctor, you will find, if you study into it as I have, that philately is getting to be more specialized than any of the other so-called hobbies. To-day men specialize, not only in a single country, but in a single issue of that country. Take, for instance, the stamps of the U. S. A., which happen to be the most popular at present. In the old days, one copy of each stamp in a set was sufficient. To-day it is found there are more varieties to the 5c '47 than there are to Heinz's pickles. What's the result? Each specialist wants all the 'recuts' and 'cracked plates' that his neighbor has, and then wants to go him a few better. Soon they will decide that a 'straight edge' is a 'rara avis' (auction cataloguers please note), and just at present there seems to be a mania for used copies with full original gum."

"So you see," continued Shomes, "that Hackerman, realizing that his friend, but nevertheless his rival, had a rare collection of current U. S. 2c denomination, would not hesitate to appropriate it if he saw an opportunity and no one were looking."

"But," I queried, amazed at my friend's extensive knowledge of such a subject, "how could Hackerman open the safe, when only Chasebrook knew the combination?"

"Really, my dear Warsaw, to one with a knowledge of philately that is too simple to require any thought. However, I will explain. Chasebrook buys a safe and decides to keep his stamps in it. Not wishing anyone else to know the combination he determines to select one that no ordinary thief could guess. The locks on these office safes usually require four numbers. To a philatelist, specializing in United States, what more natural than to adopt the numbers on the plate of the famous 5c error, '7942,' which error, by the way, has caused more talk in the stamp world recently than anything since Al Slayter found a block of four of the 10c Providence, on cover, with inverted surcharge."

"But I am getting away from the subject."

"Hackerman, knowing from previous visits that the safe was new, and that it was designed for housing stamps, would naturally cast about for a combination that he himself would have used, if the situation had been reversed. HE of course would think at once of the numbers on the 5c error plate. Why not so with Chasebrook? He tried it and behold the safe opened; It was then a simple matter to remove the album, replace it with the bound volume of music which he had brought for the purpose (realizing that the nearsighted Chasebrook would not notice it at once) and retire from the office, hugging the album tightly under the cape of his ulster, thus leaving his hands noticeably empty."

"Really, my dear Warsaw, it is too simple for any minds but those that hold sway in Scotland Yard."

And in the light of Shomes' explanation it all seemed so clear, in spite of the high character of Judge Hackerman, that I was on the point of telephoning to Mr. Chasebrook, whom I knew only by reputation, when the doorbell rang. In another minute Mrs. Simpkins, Kerlock's aged housekeeper, entered the room, followed by a nervous little man, wearing very powerful eyeglasses, and apparently very excited.

*"O. F. C."—Old Fashioned Collector.

"Have I the honour," he began, "to be addressing the famous detective who recently unravelled the great Tango Mystery?"

"Yes, Mr. Chasebrook," said Shomes, "and this is my friend and confidant, Dr. Warsaw. We were just discussing your very amusing case. Pray be seated."

"But," gasped our caller, "I was not aware that we had ever met, and * * *."

"Nor have we," replied Kerlock. "It was not difficult, however after reading the article in the Times, to identify you as the subject of our discourse."

"I still can't understand," began our visitor * * *.

"Nothing simpler, my dear sir. At a glance I took in the fact that a pair of tweezers are protruding from your upper left vest pocket, that your lower right vest pocket has a bulge about the size of a collector's magnifying glass, and from your left elbow is hanging a small piece of paper which is easily recognizable as a stamp hinge. Your powerful eyeglasses are the kind worn only by very near-sighted people. Add to this the fact that your coat is turned inside out, that you have on one tan and one patent-leather shoe, and we have a perfect description of a man who is not only absent-minded and nearsighted, but a philatelist as well."

Our caller, who was none other than Mr. Wendover Chasebrook, was too overcome by this marvellous demonstration of modern deductive methods to do more than sink into a chair, and gaze at my friend with wide open eyes.

When at last he regained control of himself, he remarked feebly, "But, Mr. Shomes, I had no idea YOU were a philatelist, I * * *."

"And you are quite right," interrupted Shomes. "I find, however, that a little knowledge of such a subject is useful at times, and I have even gone so far as to collect a FEW things myself."

Whereupon Kerlock arose, and going to the opposite wall, reversed a large picture that was hanging over the mantel, revealing to the amazed gaze of both Chasebrook and myself a complete sheet of the 5c error, IMPERFORATE.

"Goodness gracious," gasped Chasebrook, "there is only one of those sheets known to exist, and * * *."

"Quite so," said Shomes, "this is one of them. Some day I hope to find it with the errors 'tête-bêche.' But may I ask why you come to me when the case is already in the hands of such capable men as the Inspectors at Scotland Yard?"

At the finish of this sentence Kerlock shot me one of his knowing smiles and waited for our caller to answer.

"Well, you see, Mr. Shomes," answered Chasebrook, "the officials are apparently completely at sea, and I knew if I could find you at home you would be able to give me some suggestions which might lead to the prompt recovery of my lost album. And confidentially, gentlemen, I have not told my wife anything at all about this robbery, nor why I was coming to see you. She has little interest in philately and insists that I spend altogether too much money on stamps when the children are really dying for a new Rolls-Royce. So after dinner I simply told her I was going to see you on a little matter of business, and would be back shortly."

"I understand your position perfectly," remarked Shomes, "and your explanation is entirely satisfactory. But I perceive you are nervous, Mr. Chasebrook, and probably anxious to know the result of my deductions with respect to your loss of this noon."

"MORNING, I think, Mr. Shomes, would be nearer the truth than NOON."

"On the contrary, my dear sir, it was at NOON that you lost your collection, and if you could gain access at this very moment to the sanctum sanctorum of the Hon. Judge Hemerson P. Hackerman, I think you would see something of particular interest to you."

"Merciful Heavens!" ejaculated Chasebrook, "you don't mean to imply that my old friend and fellow church-member could be guilty of this theft? Impossible!"

"I fully appreciate your feelings, Mr. Chasebrook, and am extremely sorry, not only for you but for the Judge as well. Forty years as a criminologist, however, have taught me to disregard any personal prejudices I might form, and look only at the facts as they are. Your friend Hackerman, I regret to state, is the criminal, and I shall be greatly surprised if, being a church member, as you say, he has not already experienced a qualm of conscience and has made up his mind to see you and confess."

Shomes had hardly finished speaking when the telephone bell rang, and as I was nearest the instrument, I took the liberty of answering the call. Imagine my surprise when a lady's voice asked if I would kindly inform Mr. Chasebrook that his friend Judge Hackerman was waiting for him at home and wanted to see him on a matter of importance.

I shall never forget the smile of self-satisfaction that stole over Kerlock's face as I hastily imparted this information to our guest, and as Chasebrook was hurrying out of the house, Shomes, who had already settled down again to resume his pipe and his drum, called after him,

"Don't hesitate to come to me at any time, Mr. Chasebrook, if you ever have any other little problems like this to solve."

* * * * *

My professional duties at the Zoo during the next few days kept me so busy that I hardly had time more than to glance at the newspapers. I was therefore delighted, when meeting Chasebrook on the street a week later, to see an opportunity of learning the outcome of his visit from the Judge.

"Well," I said, holding out my hand, "I suppose you found your friend Hackerman duly penitent when you reached home that night?"

"Hell, no!" said Chasebrook. "When I burst into the sitting room and demanded of Hackerman if he had finally decided to return my collection, my wife spoke up and said,

"Your collection, Wendover? Why there it is on top of the piano, just where you left it when you went to bed last night, and this morning when you were hurrying for the office, you picked up my album of music by mistake. What you need is a new pair of glasses. Now, before you sit down, send Henry over to the office for my music, so I can do some practicing while you and the Judge are fussing with your old stamps."

CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS.

Reported by WILLIAM C. STONE.

The session was called to order at 10.10 a. m. by President Carroll Chase in the beautiful ball room of the Hotel Kimball. President Brewer Corcoran of the Springfield Stamp Club welcomed the visitors in a brief speech after which the Committee on Credentials through their chairman, P. M. Wolsieffer, reported that the result of the ballot for Directors had resulted in the election of the following:

President—C. F. Heyerman.

Board of Vice Presidents—J. A. Harris, Jr., W. W. MacLaren, Otto F. Moses.

Secretary—Holland A. Davis.

Treasurer—Howard H. Elliott.

International Secretary—Eugene Klein.

Directors at Large—H. B. Phillips, J. B. Chittenden.

The largest number of ballots cast for any one office was 817, and there were 33 rejected for not being filled out in the proper manner. The new method of voting for the Board of Vice Presidents as a unit was the cause of many votes being rejected for that office as many members voted for some names on each ticket. Proxies to the number of 497 were approved which number was later increased to 592 by later arrivals. President Chase then delivered his annual address in which he touched on the coming exhibition in London, the Ferrari sale, the "Missionary stamp" trial and the stamp illustration bill now before the Finance committee of the national House of Representatives.

The report of the Board of Vice Presidents was read by Chairman Munroe who reported that 32 cases had been considered during the year and that 6 members had been expelled. The report of Sales Manager Guest showed sales from books during the year of $29,050. out of a total of over $150,000 worth of stamps in circulation.

Secretary Davis reported 476 new members added during the year with about 100 reinstatements and replacements. Deducting the deaths, members dropped etc. leaves our present membership at 2390 with 60 applications still pending.

Treasurer Scott reported the following balances on hand in the different funds—Stock Fund, $6168.66; Life Membership Fund, $3080.00; Insurance Fund, $3208.36; Exchange Fund, $13.38; Suspense Fund, $43.59; General Fund, $471.03. Deducting the deficit in the American Philatelist Fund; $919.90, leaves a total balance of $12,065.08. The other reports referred to routine matters, the Counterfeit Detector reporting 127 forgeries identified for members and calling attention to various new forgeries.

Mr. Ricketts of the Literature and Index committees reported on the progress made on the index and literature lists and made several recommendations as to their publication. Action on these recommendations was taken later in the session and the Directors will probably arrange for their printing in the near future.

The greater part of the session Wednesday morning was taken up by a discussion on the bill now before Congress legitimatizing the illustration of foreign stamps, many members opposing it because it does not include United States as well. The Treasury department officials are agreeable to the bill as it now stands but are violently opposed to allowing United States illustrations. The debate was participated in by Messrs. Ashbrook, Batchelder, Swenson, Hatfield and others. It was finally voted to authorize President elect Heyerman to appoint a special committee to do all in their power to have permission granted under proper safeguards to use illustrations of United States stamps as well as foreign.

Owing to the considerable expense falling upon the local clubs entertaining conventions it was voted to authorize such clubs to charge a registration fee to all attendants at future conventions if they deem it necessary.

The sum of $100 a year was authorized towards the convention expenses of the President at future conventions, and the salary of the editor of the American Philatelist was increased to $50 a month.

The expense of printing the convention report will hereafter be charged against the General Fund instead of the American Philatelist Fund as in the past.

A list of the past Presidents of the Society will hereafter be a permanent fixture in the Annual.

The present charge of five cents for examining forgeries with a special rate of 25 cents for surcharges etc. was changed to a flat charge of 10 cents per stamp. The Counterfeit Detector will hereafter be called the Official Expert.

On Thursday it was voted to hold the next convention in Washington, the claims of Detroit being very gracefully waived by Mr. Scott who said they would postpone their date until 1924.

The By Laws committee recommended that an amendment be adopted so as to permit the Directors, aside from the Board of Vice Presidents, to be elected without the limitation now imposed by the not more than one from a state provision. After considerable discussion it was voted to lay the matter on the table.

After Mr. Severn had presented several resolutions thanking the local club, and particularly commending the securing of such great publicity for philately through the special postmark, Dr. Chase turned over the chair to President Heyerman who called on "Sine Die" Stone to perform his customary duty for the twenty-second time.

CONVENTION CHATTER.

The Kimball had registered some fifteen by Sunday night. The first coming thro town so fast that he landed in Boston, where he secured a "perfect specimen" of a Boston Bull pup, which may be of help in his office of Vice-President. Monday was fair and warm, new arrivals appearing momentarily. Our allotment of 100 rooms was soon exhausted, and we recommend that you secure early reservations at future conventions. The afternoon was spent in renewing old acquaintances, and making new ones. The President of the Springfield Stamp Club came up from the beach, and threw open his home for an informal reception. This was one of the features of the week, for stamps were forgotten, everybody was glad to see everybody, and it got just like the last day on an ocean voyage, when everyone calls each other by their first name, and the "Mister" is in the discard.

The Convention opened at 10 a. m. with the president in the chair, and the 37th Annual Convention was on. Business moved smoothly and rapidly, much credit being due the several committees, whose actions were efficient, and presented on the minute. At 1.30 the photo was taken, some 175 faces appearing. The party then boarded the Steamer Sylvia, and sailed away to the "Infant Coney" called Riverside on the tickets, returning in time for the auction, some 601 lots, conducted by Bertrand L. Drew, with Billy Aldrich the auctioneer. Lot # 69 sold for $1825.00. The lot next in favor was a block of the 24c purple—royal purple—U. S. of the Seventies. This block was in beautiful condition, having full gum, and every perf. yelling "here" at the roll call, it selling for $525.00.

Wednesday dawned "Fair and Warmer"!! the Convention opening a half hour earlier. In the afternoon the ever popular old Mount Tom beckoned, and many answered. The cool breezes made the trip a joy. Wednesday night found the banquet tables filled to overflowing. This banquet was "different." There was no formality, no menus, no announced speakers, no addresses of length, the result being that all thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Thursday dawned "Fair and Warmer"!!! Convention proceedings ended in an unhurried way, President Heyerman taking the chair at the conclusion of the session, which was adjourned in the usual manner by "Sine Die" Stone. The afternoon was devoted to doing just what you wanted to do, and the evening was given over to the Bourse. Many expressed themselves as well pleased with the few short days of play, and said that they were already looking forward to the coming year. Think it over yourself, and make plans to be among those present.—H. P. ATHERTON.

THE NEWLY ELECTED PRESIDENT

MR. CHARLES F. HEYERMAN

A. P. S. Life Member #2

On the cover page will be found the likeness of Mr. Charles Frederic Heyerman, who has just been returned the victor in a close race for the A. P. S. presidency. Mr. Heyerman is a resident of Detroit, Michigan, to which place his parents moved from Toledo, Ohio, where he was born March 24th, 1874. He received his primary education in the Detroit Public and High Schools, later attending Stevens Institute Preparatory School and Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N. J., Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y. and two years at Dresden, Germany. On leaving College Mr. Heyerman did surveying work for the Government and in 1898, during the Spanish American war, served on the U. S. S. Yosemite in the West Indies. During the Great War Mr. Heyerman was in E Co. 550th Infantry, Michigan, State Troops. Since 1899 Mr. Heyerman has been identified with a general Real Estate and Insurance business and is associated in many of Detroit's large enterprises. His interest in stamps dates back to 1881 at which time he was given a small album, the foundation of his internationally famous collection. While he has formed specialized collections of Canada, West Indies, Hayti and the United States, his collection of "Inverted centers" won him international fame and medals at European and American Exhibitions. This special collection which has been much written about in the philatelic press has recently been sold to a New York dealer. Mr. Heyerman has been a faithful worker in both local and National Societies, serving seven years as Secretary of the Detroit Society and one year as its president and has also served two terms as Vice President of The American Philatelic Society besides contributing some excellent articles to the American Philatelist. With Mr. Heyerman was elected the "Cleveland" board of Vice Presidents, consisting of Messrs. J. A. Harris, Jr., W. W. MacLaren and Otto F. Moses.

PERSONALS.

Friends of Dr. Carroll Chase, the genial President of the A. P. S., were pleasantly surprised with an announcement of the Doctor's marriage to Miss Dorothy Jean Ewing on July 29th, 1922. Mrs. Chase is a daughter of Dr. Goodwin Johnson, a well known New York physician, and we hear that she is philatelically inclined.

---

Mr. N. A. Georgantas has arrived at Athens, Greece, where he expects to stay some little time, seeing sights, visiting friends and gathering stamps. We expect that his already large Greek collection will expand from a trunkfull to a roomfull before he returns home.

---

Mr. Henry B. Phillips, A. P. S. Director, covets the oldest postage stamp in the world which he believes is a Babylonian clay tablet now in the museum of the University of Pennsylvania. This "stamp" served as a seal on a registered package 2300 B. C. and bears the portrait of Ibi-Sin, the last king of Ur, known to Bible students as Ur of the Chaldees. What bothers Mr. Phillips, if he gets the stamp, is how will he hinge it in his collection!

MARINE POSTAL SERVICE AT DETROIT, MICH.

By W. S. WINCKLER.

(Illustration by courtesy "Detroit News", both article and illustration supplied thru efforts Mr. Herman Boers.)

The Marine Delivery Service on the Detroit River, which is operated as a part of the Postal System of the Detroit Post Office was inaugurated on June 17th, 1895. The service was designed to afford vessel owners, captains and crews of vessels as nearly as practicable, the advantages in the use of the mails that are enjoyed by persons on land. The remarkable growth of this service has far exceeded the expectation of the Department and those interested in its introduction. The great increase in business from year to year and the appreciation of the service by marine men generally, establishes the water service as a permanent feature of the Detroit Postal Institution.

This is the only service of its character in the United States and so far as the writer is able to learn, the only service of its kind in the world.

The first year of this service in 1895, forty-seven thousand pieces of mail were handled to and from passing boats. In the past year of 1921, this service has increased to approximately two million pieces of mail handled to and from boats through this service. There are 650 boats which receive their mail through this service during the navigation season, and by their repeated trips back and forth 27,600 deliveries were made during the past season.

Among the mail handled are important messages from headquarters of the Steamship Companies to the masters of the boats; weather reports are delivered daily and these are important to seamen, especially in the fall of the year. Last year 4,000 telegrams were delivered—an additional two cent postage stamp assured this service, 3,500 special delivery letters and 200 registers were among the volume.

It is estimated that the Detroit River Service supplies a floating population of approximately 25,000 people. This service is continuous night and day from April 15th to December 15th of each year, which covers the entire navigation season.

During the twenty-four hours of each day the marine letter carriers are at their task. Five despatches are received daily from the Main Post Office. The mail is sorted to the different boats by being placed in pigeon holes to await their arrival either up or down river, as the case may be. The daily papers report the passage of down river boats from Sault Ste. Marie and the up-river boats are reported from Lake Erie Ports. These skilled men, knowing the speeds of the various boats, can time their approximate time of passing from these reports and therefore are always prepared for deliveries. Most of the men engaged in this work have had previous experience on marine work and fully appreciate the anxiety that exists among the crews for news from loved ones at home or a paper from the old home town. Never do they permit a boat to pass without making delivery. This might best be illustrated by recital of a real incident in this service.

On one occasion when the tug was pulling out to make a delivery as does occur when more than one boat appears upon the scene at the same time, in some manner the carrier became entangled in his rope and was thrown into the water, unnoticed by the tug. When asked why he did not give an alarm so that they might have come to his assistance sooner, his reply was "I was afraid you might miss the delivery." The above story bespeaks of the risk these men will take at times in their faithfulness to duty, which is no simple task in a storm at any time of the year, and especially is this true in the late fall when the ice is forming.

Boats are easily recognized in the day time, but at night, especially in a storm or fog, this is a different question, but never do these strong-hearted men fail in their duty. This requires courage, skill and good seamanship. A whistle code is in the understanding but seldom used—a one long and one short and one long whistle applies both ways. This call from the Marine tug will bring the freighter to a stop as well as the freighter calling to the tug for service.

Deliveries in this service are made by the tug "Charles F. Bielman Jr." which is seventy-five feet long with a fifteen foot beam. The cabin of this boat is equipped with cases into which the mail is separated and made ready for delivery. As the time of arrival approaches, the carriers tie out the mail and transfer it to a small row-boat, which is an important part of the equipment, from this small boat most of the actual deliveries are made. When a vessel appears upon the horizon, the tug steams out to mid-stream, in the path of the oncoming ship, the carrier drops into the row-boat and drifts alongside the big ship; standing, he throws a rope to the anxiously waiting mariner, who catches the tow and fastens it. The little row-boat gives a sudden jerk when the slack of the rope is taken up by the moving freighter. This is one of the thrills of the service and many of the officials of the Post Office Department can tell of this experience. A bucket is then lowered from the big freighter, some fifteen or twenty feet above the small rowboat, although from the small boat, to one inexperienced, it looks like a skyscraper. The outgoing mail is then taken from the bucket and the delivery placed therein, and the bucket hauled up to the deck of the big ship where eager hearts and eyes are waiting. The tow rope is then loosened and the marine carrier either returns to his tug, or if perchance, another boat is arriving, just swings around to await its arrival and repeat the delivery as before.

It often happens that two boats arrive at the same time, going in different directions. In such cases, the row-boat will make one delivery while the tug will perform at the other, steaming alongside the freighter while the operation is being executed.

In order that mariners may enjoy every possible service, arrangements have also been made whereby money orders may be purchased through this service, without additional cost. All that becomes necessary for the purchaser is to make out the application, a supply of which are carried by all boats, enclose same in envelope with letter, inclosing money and leaving envelope unsealed. The carrier turns the envelope into the office, money order is issued, inclosed in envelope, sealed and mailed. On the return trip of this boat receipt for money order will be delivered to the purchaser.

The writer is informed that in the year 1913, by a special act of Congress, a suitable flag for this service was adopted. It is described as of blue silk, cut in pennant shape, bearing the American Eagle with armour breast, and the words, "United States Mail" inscribed with white letters.

An average of one hundred and twenty-five boats pass this point daily, on which deliveries are made. In fact, it is very disappointing to the marine carriers not to have any mail for a passing freighter; however, this seldom occurs.

Postmaster John W. Smith is an enthusiastic supporter of this branch of the service, and especially commends same because of the comfort it brings to the men engaged in the commerce of the Lakes. Many of these men sign contracts for the season with vessel owners, and do not leave their boats from beginning until the close of the navigation season.

The personnel of the Detroit River Station consists of W. S. Winckler, Superintendent, one clerk, seven carriers and the tug Charles F. Bielman, Jr., and the necessary crew, which is under contract with the Post Office Department for this service.

The First Philatelic Cancellation.

---

While philatelic cancellations are not unknown abroad, Springfield, Massachusetts is the first city in this country to use a cancellation in connection with stamps and we are very proud of the fact that this innovation features The American Philatelic Society. The Springfield Convention Committee deserves the highest praise for their enterprise in this connection and an example should be in every members collection.

EDITOR'S COLUMN

Advertising is a matter of serious concern to the dealer, an item of considerable expense and its proper use undeniably the making of his business. The aggressive, up to date, progressive dealer, has no doubts as to the necessity of advertising, his problem being to secure the maximum efficiency with the funds at his disposal for that purpose. This problem involves primarily the choice of a good "medium," the amount of space to be used and the nature of his "copy." The wise or unwise determination of these factors spells success or failure. The publisher, the seller of advertising space, has a problem nowise less intricate or important for the amount of advertising his publication carries determines the use of red or black ink in the balancing of his ledger. The American Philatelist is considered a good advertising medium as the use of its columns by the dealers in the stamp trade proves. The income of the Philatelist is equally drawn from its subscribers and advertisers. The size of the journal, its style, its illustrations and its quality is directly proportioned to the amount of advertising it carries. These are obvious facts and their repetition here seemingly needless but their connection with other facts, not usual in the publishing trade, gives them an importance that we feel has not been given the thought and attention it should have. Differing from other publications every reader of the Philatelist is a joint owner, every reader knows or should appreciate that the journal is his business interest in a direct sense. The future of the Society, its growth and importance, is in no small degree dependent on the character of the official journal. This is an unusual situation in the publishing trade and if appreciated by the membership, a means of greatly raising the efficiency of this publication. Why? Every advertiser measures the value of his advertising by its "pulling power" and most of these measure this power by the number of replies received from an advertisement. From intimate experience we know that the Philatelist has the required pulling power BUT—do the advertisers know it? We carry two new advertisements this month that were given us, oddly enough, on the same basis: "We will try your Journal and if replies satisfactory give you a contract." Do you, dear reader, see your part in this? Will we get these contracts? It would be absurd and presumptuous for the ordinary commercial publisher to appeal to his readers for any unusual support, we feel however that it is our duty and fitting that we call to the attention of the joint owners and publishers of the Philatelist the great value to their Journal that lies in the words "I saw your ad. in the Philatelist" when writing to any of our advertisers. May we not count on this support in the future?

STANLEY GIBBONS COLOUR GUIDE (Stanley Gibbons, Lt., 391 Strand, London, Publishers, Price 2sh.11d, Post Paid). This newest Gibbons Colour Guide for postage stamp collectors is the most practical we have seen and as near perfect as we believe possible in a simple and reasonably priced article. One hundred shades and colors are given, each represented by a lithographed label in the form and appearance of a postage stamp which were prepared by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., famous stamp printers of England. All the standard colors are given with their best known shades and these are identified by color names generally used in philatelic catalogs though in some causes the identification is slightly different than the ones that American collectors are used to. Color identification is a most difficult matter at the best and the lack of any accepted standard for color names in different sections of the world makes even the most expert schemes subject to criticism by some. For the general collector however we strongly recommend this guide as being both serviceable and educative and once had, as indispensable as are stamp tongs.

A Porto Rican Provisional.

For the last twenty years there has appeared in the well-known Galvez catalogue an illustration of a Porto Rican provisional, issued under American dominion, and listed without price. This stamp is not listed in any other catalogue and on inquiry to Mr. Miguel Galvez as to how it came that his catalog alone listed this item he frankly explained that about the time of the Spanish American War he received a copy of this stamp on an original letter from Ponce, Porto Rico and as it had properly carried same he listed it as a provisional. Shortly after this the cover was sold to a Spanish collector and Mr. Galvez says he has not run across any further copies. Recently a collector of this country purchased on a chance a copy of an odd looking stamp, unknown to him, to which there was attached a newspaper clipping in Spanish which on translation gives the complete history of this issue. The stamp, while properly speaking only a local, appears to us to be of equal standing with the so-called "Coamo" issue and certainly of greater rarity. We should like to hear of any collector having one of these on original cover. The following translation from the local Spanish paper was kindly made for us by Mr. C. Braga Guerreiro.

IMPORTANT DOCUMENT.

The First American Mail in Puerto Rico.

When this city was delivered to the American forces, its important mail service was entirely abandoned, and to reestablish it, our good friend Don R. Ulpiano Colom, then Mayor of this city, addressed the following communication to the commander of the American forces, General Wilson, and as a result, a provisional mail service was established between this city and the others occupied by the American forces:

"To the Honorable Commander of the District.

Sir:

The important mail service between this city and other towns of the island was totally interrupted when the Spanish forces left, and all the Government employees abandoned their posts, and damaged the apparatus of the telegraph stations and post-offices.

I shall not dwell upon the importance and necessity of the reestablishment of this service because you are well aware of them.

I address this communication to you in order that you may authorize the re-establishment of a provisional mail service between this city and the towns in which the sovereignty of the American Government is being recognized or established.

I propose that you sanction the following:

1st.—The Municipal Government of Ponce will establish a mail service between its city Playa and the towns of Adjuntas, Penuelas, Guayanilla, Yauco, Sabana Grande, San German, Juana Diaz and Santa Isabel.

2nd.—The service will extend to the towns that will be taken over by the American forces or that will recognize its sovereignty, to make possible the exchange of correspondence.

3rd.—The Mayor of Ponce will take the necessary measures for the protection and regularity of the service, taking up this matter with the officials of the towns to which the service will be extended.

4th.—In order to defray the expenses or part of them caused by the service, the Mayor of Ponce will be authorized to issue a stamp of one value only, cinco centavos (five centavos), which will have the word "Postages" at the top and "Correos" at the bottom, and in the centre "5 cts" printed on common paper and over it will be stamped in ink the private seal of the Mayor, which bears the national shield of Spain; this stamp will be used for each letter weighing not more than 15 grams ( $\frac{1}{2}$  ounce).

5th.—Also in order to defray the expenses caused by the mail service the Mayor of Ponce will make arrangements or agreements with other Mayors or Municipal Government making use of the mail service.

6th.—This service will be in force until the regular service is established, which now is being organized by the delegates of the United States Government, and its creation is just to meet the present needs, in order not to interrupt the business relations and communications between the different towns.

Yours truly,

R. U. Colom,

Mayor of Ponce.

APPROVED: By command of Mayor General Wilson: Tasker H. Bliss.—Lieutenant Colonel & Chief of Staff."

"The above must be made public through the columns of the newspaper "La Nueva Era". R. E. Colom.

To fill the position of postmaster of the Post Office created and authorized by this document I appoint Don Julio Mirailh y Ortiz, a respectable and competent person. R. E. Colom.

Attached is a copy of the newspaper "La Nueva Era" Number 5, Year 1, and in the third page, on the fourth column, is found the following:

"MAIL SERVICE.—With the proper sanction of Mayor General Wilson, the Mayor has established a provisional mail service between this city and the following towns:

Adjuntas, Penuelas, Guayanilla, Yauco, Sabana Grande, San German, Santa Isabel and Juana Diaz.

To defray the expenses caused by this service, cinco centavos (five centavos) will be paid for each letter mailed at the post office which is located at the Public Library, on the first floor of the City Hall.

One centavo for each letter will be paid to the letter carriers that deliver the mail. Newspapers are free of charge.

Schedule of dispatch and arrival of the mails:

Leave Ponce	Arrive at Ponce
Adjuntas, 3 p. m.	3 a. m.
Guayanilla, 4 p. m.	8 p. m.
Juana Diaz, 7 a. m.	9 a. m.
Sta. Isabel, 3 p. m.	Midnight

Stamp Company Bankrupt.

We have received information from Mr. K. Brent Woodruff, A. P. S. 6115, that the Sioux Stamp Company, Sioux Falls, South Dakota, has gone into bankruptcy and that its former manager, Mr. J. B. Nelson, has departed for parts unknown, probably Canada. Mr. Woodruff is taking an inventory of the remaining stock for the attorneys in the case in the hopes that the creditors may receive something on their claims. Information as to the location of Mr. Nelson will be appreciated by Mr. Woodruff.

SOCIETY  ITEMS

KANSAS CITY STAMP CLUB, BRANCH #10.—May and June have proved to be banner months for local A. P. S. recruiting activities as all previous records have been broken with a total of seventeen new and renewal applications were received and forwarded to the Secretary. A regular monthly business meeting was held on June 10th, and plans were laid for a new membership campaign which have already shown results. It is hoped that by September first the Kansas City Club will double its membership and add an equal number of members to the A. P. S. Recently the Club has been favored by many philatelic visitors, both collectors and dealers who have been passing through the city by train and motor. The most recent visitor was Mr. Edward W. Heusinger of San Antonio, Texas, who favored the Club with an exhibit of his complete and highly specialized collection of Mexico. Club rooms are open every day and visitors are always heartily welcome.—CARL S. DAVIS, Secretary.

GARFIELD PERRY STAMP CLUB, BRANCH #30.—At a regular meeting of the Board of Directors held July 6th, one new member was admitted and two new applications posted. The Board ordered the expulsion of Mr. T. R. Runge from the membership roll for cause. Due to the hot weather and it being "vacation" time the July meetings were not well attended but there was an average of 18 present at that. One of the exhibitions this month was the South & Central American collection of Mr. Young. A month ago there was published in this Journal a notice to the effect that The Garfield Perry Club was on the lookout for a good stamp story and efforts are being made to secure the publication of the winning manuscript in a large National magazine as a "publicity" stunt for Philately. The contest is still open and the requirements are that the story be a live wire one that will hold the interest of non-collectors but with stamps as a basis, not merely a story or history of a stamp but a real plot written around stamps, it may be comedy, love or tragedy type. Contest closes November 13th. Prize of $25.00 will be awarded the winner. Send your story or write for further information to W. J. Zink, Secretary, 4607 Dennison Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Try your hand at this, start now and win the prize and aid Philately at the same time.—W. J. ZINK, Secretary.

PASSAIC STAMP CLUB, Passaic, N. J.—A business meeting was held July 11th, 1922 and Mr. Geo. A. Ernest having resigned as Secretary, Mr. E. M. Graf, P. O. Box 1432, Paterson, N. J., was appointed to that office. Communications to the club will please be addressed to Mr. Graf in the future.—CHAS. F. FREUND, Treasurer.

PACIFIC PHILATELIC SOCIETY, LIFE BRANCH # 1.—The July meeting was held on Wednesday the 19th, eleven members being present. Mr. John A. Klemann was the guest of honor and had with him the complete record of the Court proceedings in the celebrated "Hawaiian Missionaries" case. We might mention that our President, Mr. Henry Marcus, the Danish West Indies specialist, was one of the star witnesses called by the prosecution to testify on behalf of Mr. Klemann, and occupied the witness stand for a day and a half. Mr. Klemann has a host of friends on the Pacific Coast, who warmly congratulated him on the outcome of this sensational trial.

One of the most important matters of interest taking place at any of the Society meetings for some years was the change in the By-laws to permit the election of the gentler sex to regular membership and the inauguration of a junior membership between the ages of 16 to 20 inclusive. The vote in the affirmative was unanimous and the names of our first prospective lady members, Mrs. H. C. Marcus, Chas. M. Hackmeier and Julia L. Dillingham were presented and will be voted on at the next meeting. Mr. C. E. Hofercamp of San Francisco was elected to regular membership.

The chief attraction of the evening was a competition among members based on "Condition." There was a tie for first place between Messrs. Colson and Lazarus. The Secretary flipped a coin and declared Mr. Colson the lucky man. "Cancellations" will be the center of interest at the August meeting and a spirited competition for first prize is anticipated.—MATT C. DILLINGHAM, Secretary.

DENVER STAMP CLUB, COLORADO BRANCH NO. 22, A. P. S.—Annual Report.—The Branch has held eight regular and two special meetings since January 1st, 1922, with an average attendance of 13 out of 24 members.

At the May meeting the Club entertained as a visitor Mr. Ross O'Shaughnessy of San Francisco who stopped over on his way to England to attend the Philatelic Congress. Among other things Mr. O'Shaughnessy showed a block of 6 3c 1851 on cover. Mr. Friswold also exhibited a block of 4 of the same item.

At the July meeting the Club was visited by Mr. W. O. Wylie, Managing Editor of Mekeel's Weekly, Boston, Mass. Precancelled stamps came up for discussion and Mr. Wylie demonstrated that at some time he had seen stamps of this character.

August 1, 2 and 3rd the Club acted as hosts in entertaining the First Annual Convention of the Precanceled Stamp Society of America.

A Banquet was tendered the Delegates on Aug. 2nd at the Albany.

A year full of activity is being looked forward to by the live collectors of Denver.—H. A. DAVIS, Secretary.

Labuan Forgeries.

The Stamp Collectors Fortnightly (July 22nd, 1922) reports a forgery swindle on a large scale that has recently been discovered in London. The lithographed issues of 1894, Scotts Nos. 42 to 48, an ever popular set of Queen's heads, has appeared on the market in large quantities at the ridiculous price of about 30c the set. The set catalogs $10.20 unused in Scott's and has not been plentiful on the market for years. The forgeries are in sheets of twenty on paper that has a marginal watermark of "BANK POST G. M. C." in outline capitals. Stamps are perforated 14 correctly, though by single line machine and the colours are remarkably good. The main discrepancies are in the reproduction of the Malay and Chinese inscriptions though there are other errors in the design. Dealers and collectors are warned to be on the lookout for this material and if any are offered here the matter should be immediately reported to the Stamp Trade Protective Association, 4 Queen St., Cheapside, London E. C. 4, England.

First Convention.

THE PRECANCEL STAMP CLUB OF AMERICA.

The first convention of the P. C. A. was held at Denver, Colorado, August 1, 2 and 3, 1922, with headquarters at the Albany Hotel. Over thirty members were present and an enjoyable entertainment was offered. The new officers elected were: John C. Kringle, Denver, Colo., President; Dr. D. D. Berolzheimer, N. Y. City, Vice President; Mr. J. M. Brue, Sec'y & Treasurer, and Dr. W. I. Mitchell, Fred Allen and George Danielson, Directors. Dr. H. A. Davis acted as Convention Secretary and the retiring President, Mr. V. W. Rothem, presided. It was reported that there were now 132 members and that the Sales and Exchange departments were rapidly growing. The name of the Society was changed to "The Precancelled Stamp Society" and plans were laid for the broadening of the Society's activities during the coming year.

CANADA. Mr. F. S. Belanger has shown us five recent postal cancels of the advertising type, they read:

REPORT OF SALES SUPERINTENDENT.

Dallas, Texas, July 20th, 1922.

To the Board of Vice-Presidents,
American Philatelic Society.

Herewith following is my report covering period from April 1st, 1922 to July 15th, 1922, the latter being date on which account books for fiscal year are closed.

The year has been a very satisfactory one from all angles, the constant growth and popularity of the department being very pleasing to your Superintendent. The next fiscal year an effort will be made to enlarge the scope of the department and serve many hundred more of our members.

My annual report is prepared, and as soon as audited by your committee will be sent in for your perusal and presentation at the Convention.

I am asking re-appointment solely on my record in office and with a renewed promise to do my level best to increase the department in all ways.

Statement of Accounts.

		Net Value.
On hand March 31st, 1922	4853 Books	$138,931.43
Received up to July 15th	1266 Books	35,240.94
Total	6119 Books	$174,172.37
Retired during quarter	893 Books	$ 23,074.42
Leaving on hand July 15th, 1922	5226 Books	$151,097.95

Statement of Retirements.

Sales from 895 Books ($23,074.42)	$7602.57
Insurance to Treasurer	$ 292.85
Commission to Superintendent	953.76
Postage to members and Fines	53.10
Remitted to members	6302.86
	$7602.57    $7602.57

There has been a surplus of low valued books in the department the past few months. This congestion is due to the fact that a large number of members have entered books of low value, and of course these do not sell as readily, but they are all given their turn in circulation and the sales will ultimately be satisfactory.

I sincerely hope it will be the pleasure of your successors in office to re-appoint me as I want to still continue to build the sales department to the highest possible maximum.

Respectfully submitted,

J. E. GUEST, Sales Superintendent.

New U. S. Stamp Causes Big Rush.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Uncle Sam has a Santa Claus, who is coming to the rescue and aid in relieving the postoffice department of financial embarrassment during the present fiscal year.

The Santa Claus is none other than the stamp "bugs" of the country, otherwise known by the more dignified name of philatelists.

Since the new special delivery stamp, bearing the picture of the postal motorcycle messenger has been placed on sale there has been a regular bargain counter rush for the new issue. Although thus far the new stamp has been on sale only at the Washington postoffice and the Philatelic Stamp Agency, it is being eagerly sought by stamp collectors. Sales have averaged $200 a day.—Detroit Journal.

Big Collection Being Broken Up

We are breaking up a large collection of 19th century stamps we purchased, cataloging about $35,000. It contains thousands of stamps one does not get a chance to buy except when such a collection is broken up. Why not your want list?

Want Lists are our specialty. We get them from hundreds of leading collectors and even dealers. The value of the goods asked for on many of them runs into four and even five figures. We fill thousands of lists of all sizes yearly. Why not send us yours if you really want to buy the stamps and are willing to pay reasonable prices? We have one of the largest general stocks in the world, about 90 per cent complete and believe that in price, quality and variety we can do as well by you as anyone.

Approvals Hundreds of books for all grades and classes of collectors. Collections mounted in albums, etc. Special books made up where none are on hand to meet requirements. Partial list of books ready to submit sent free on request.

Price Lists that offer you thousands of first class stamps free for the asking. Special lists of new offers, special items, etc. at intervals, to those on our mailing list. They are free, we charge nothing for our advertising matter.

Our Prices are "fair to you and us". As low as legitimate, guaranteed goods can be sold and make it an object for us to do business on the stock we have to carry and the money invested. They will average favorably with those of any firm that has a stock worthy of being called a stock. We make no claim to being cheaper than anyone else, such claims are usually bluffs, but if you want service, quality, variety, the chance to draw upon a really great stock of stamps, then we are at your service. If you really want to fill those spaces, to buy the stamps, the chances are we can supply the majority of them.

BOSTON'S NEWEST STAMP STORE

With the opening of our new offices in Boston, we are pleased to announce our readiness to serve members of the American Philatelic Association. We have refrained from making use of this paper, simply because we have appreciated the standard of service which should be maintained in dealing with members, and which we were insistent in giving. Now we are ready. We shall waste no space with idle boast, but we have the goods.

Want List Service

This is our specialty. Over 20,000 varieties are continually kept in stock quantities, with an additional 10,000 varieties of rarer items always on hand. Our foreign correspondents are continually submitting consignments of beautiful pieces, which is but an added reason why you should have your name on our files. Our line is complete, old or new issues, original covers, every accessory—in fact the only things we do not carry are New Russian States, and twentieth century revenues. Hundreds of members can and will vouch for our service—may we not hear from you?

Approvals

A complete series of single stamps and sets mounted alphabetically for the younger member principally—books by countries for the more advanced collector. A first rate new issue service is also ready for new members.

Price List:—

A twenty page list of sets, packets, etc. is free for the asking. It will interest you.

—When in Boston—

We invite you to call on us. We can show you the largest general stock in this city, a counter book of 29,000 varieties being a feature of this stock. Nice light and roomy offices are at your convenience, and a staff ready to show you every courtesy. We anticipate a letter or your visit.

Government Propaganda Through Stamps.

NEW ZEALAND.

By E. E. HARDCASTLE, A. P. S. # 6431.

(A paper read before Cincinnati Philatelic Society.)

As a new member of the club, and barely past the beginner stage as a collector, it would be presumptuous for me to undertake to tell the club anything about the stamps of New Zealand from a technical philatelic standpoint; what I have to say will, therefore, be rather in the nature of some remarks on the scenery, history and institutions of New Zealand as illustrated in its postal issues.

New Zealand, as you all know, consists of two large islands with several small ones scattered around the coast, of a total area of about  $2\frac{1}{2}$  times that of the State of Ohio and extending in a North-easterly and South-westerly direction for about 1200 miles.

The range of climate for so small an area is considerable. In the North oranges and lemons ripen in the open air and frost is unknown, whereas in the extreme South, frost and snow may be expected at any time during the three winter months.

The scenery is unsurpassed for magnificence and variety. While somewhat neglected at first, this advantage has been used by the government for the last two decades or more to advertise the attractions of the country, and in 1898, the first series of pictorial stamps was issued. This, however, is only one of the many ways adopted by the government for utilizing the unique natural features of the country to attract tourists and colonists from the outside world. The government took over such of the scenic resorts as had fallen into private hands, and built and operated hotels, railroads, and stage coach routes, administering these utilities at a very moderate cost, and sparing tourists the annoyance of extortion, tips, etc., such as is usually inflicted on them in other parts of the world.

Government photographers are sent to all parts of the country to take photographs of all that is most attractive in the scenery and most interesting and representative in the industrial life of the people. The Government Tourists' Bureau issues large quantities of literature descriptive of the scenic wonders of the country.

It will thus be seen that the stamp issue of 1898 was but part of a general plan of the government to make known to the outside world the attractions of the natural features of the country.

Coming now to details, we find on the half-penny stamp a representation of Mt. Cook; which, however, beyond being a picture of a snow-clad mountain, bears but little resemblance to the rugged outlines of the giant of the Southern Alps. The picture of the same peak on the five shilling value is little or no better in this regard.

The Southern Alps stretch almost the entire length of the South Island a short distance from its Western Coast. Owing to their exposure to the moisture laden winds of the Pacific Ocean, the snow line—particularly on the Western slopes—is lower than that of any range of mountains in the Temperate Zone, namely: about 6,000 feet. Of striking uniformity in height, hundreds of its peaks rise to 10,000 feet and over while Mt. Cook caps them all with an elevation of over 13,000 feet. Many unsuccessful attempts to ascend it were made, but it was finally conquered by the noted Alpine climber, William S. Green, in 1882, after experiencing many difficulties and much hardship.

Coming to the one penny stamp, we are asked to pass from the snow and rocks of the Southern Alps to a view of Lake Taupo in the center of the North Island with the Mountains of Tongariro, Ngauruhoe and Ruapehu in the background; all these, unlike the southern mountains, are of volcanic origin. Ruapehu, 9,000 feet in height, has long been extinct, and is covered with snow for almost 3,000 feet from its summit; however, at the bottom of its crater, and hemmed in by black walls of rock, lies a lake of boiling water, partly veiled from sight by a mist of steam.

A few miles to the North lies Ngauruhoe, 7,500 feet in height, which is still active. It is the snowless cone represented in the picture. Connected with it by a low saddle is Tongariro, a blunt square mass in which the subterranean fires are almost extinct, though here and there are found vanishing traces of the tremendous forces that gave it birth. It is not clearly illustrated in the picture although all three peaks are plainly visible from a lower ridge at the southern end of the lake. At the northern end of the lake, which stretches some forty miles from South to North, we are on the outskirts of the Hot Lake district and within a few miles from the Wairakei Valley, where there are found a variety of manifestations of the earth's internal heat, rivaling, if they do not surpass, those of Yellowstone Park.

A very characteristic feature of the landscape is the palm on the left. Although the climate is not tropical, or even sub-tropical, except in the North, this palm, known as the Cabbage Tree, grows freely throughout the country.

The next stamp in the series—the Two Pence—contains a view of Pembroke Peak; a steep snow covered mountain, covered on its lower slopes with the luxuriant vegetation so characteristic of the country, rising several thousand feet from the waters of Milford Sound.

The Two Shilling stamp also gives a picture of Milford Sound. Coming from the South and passing around the South-west corner of the South Island, we come upon Preservation Inlet, the first of the New Zealand Sounds, which are probably the best known of all the scenic features of the country; thence for a hundred miles north, the coast is broken by many of these deep, narrow, and winding indentations; rarely more than a mile in width, they wind inland for ten or twelve miles between the mountains that divide them. In the depth of their waters and the steepness of their mountain sides they resemble the Fjords of the Coast of Norway, but for the snow and the rugged Northern pines are substituted the evergreen luxuriance of the New Zealand forests, and even down to the water's edge, on slopes so steep and devoid of soil that one might suppose no plant could grow there, their banks are lined with ferns and mosses in great abundance and variety. Milford Sound, the most northerly of these bodies of water is, by most people, considered to be the finest.

The Two-and-a-half Penny Stamp presents a view of one of the most beautiful of the cold lakes among the Southern Alps. Even here are seen the ever-present Cabbage Trees, while in the foreground on the left, is a plant—the New Zealand Flax—so characteristic that it might well be adopted as the National Emblem of the country, as Canada has adopted the Maple Leaf. It is found everywhere in swampy places and by the water's edge, and was used by the Maoris for many purposes; in fact it was about as indispensable to them as the bamboo to the inhabitants of the East Indies. It has long, dark green blade-like glossy leaves, running from three to six feet in length, while the curious red and blue flowers are borne on stems from eight to ten feet high, and are greatly favored by bees which made from them a superior grade of honey. Through the leaves from end to end run numerous tough fibres, as strong as those of the Manila hemp, and recently a commercially practicable method has been developed to separate the fibres from the surrounding matter; this has led to the cultivation of the flax in large areas, and the manufacture of rope and similar products is now one of the growing industries of the country.

The Three Pence, Six Pence, and One Shilling stamps are devoted to the native birds of the country. New Zealand has been isolated from the mainland of Australia for such an immeasurable period of time, that it has developed a fauna and flora that is both indigenous and endemic. No native quadrupeds are found, but the bird life is varied and abundant.

The absence of four-footed enemies has led to the development of species of birds whose wings are almost rudimentary, and quite useless for flying and which consequently, live entirely on the ground. Among these is the Kiwi shown on the Six Penny Stamp, now unfortunately almost or quite extinct.

The Four Penny and Nine Penny Stamps depict the white and pink terraces. These terraces were formed by the overflow of lakes whose waters were strongly impregnated with silica and other chemical substances, which crystallized and formed a deposit in the shape of a series of terraces of brilliant color and great delicacy and beauty. They now lie, alas! under eighty feet of mud. The destruction of these terraces was the greatest tragedy in the physical history of New Zealand. Well within the recollection of the writer, the people of New Zealand were thunderstruck one morning to read in their daily papers that a volcanic mountain in the hot lake district had entirely blown up, the upper half of the mountain having disappeared. Millions of tons of mud and rock were scattered for miles around, and the matchless terraces were buried beyond hope of disinterment. It is difficult to recall a parallel instance of Nature so savagely destroying her own choicest handiwork.

On the Five Penny Stamp is portrayed the Otira Gorge. Midway down the South Island a road runs from Christchurch on the East Coast to Hokitika on the West. The beauties of the mountain scenery of the Southern Alps are for the most part quite inaccessible to the general public, but along this coach road, steep and dangerous though it is, many travel to see them, probably now in automobiles. The most striking part of the journey is through the narrow and precipitous Otira Gorge, a name as familiar to New Zealanders as the Grand Canyon to American ears.

The inset shows Mt. Ruapehu, previously referred to, with a smoke-like cloud enshrouding its peak, which gives rise to the suspicion that the designer of the stamp thought that it was an active volcano.

The last stamp of this series, the Eight Penny, has a picture of a Maori war canoe, of which more mention will be made later.

We next come to the Commemorative Series of 1906. It only contains four stamps, One-half Penny, One Penny, Three Penny, and Six Penny, but is in many respects the most interesting of all of the New Zealand issues.

No account of New Zealand, however brief, would be complete without a tribute to that finest of native races, the Maoris. Though somewhat fierce and inclined to Cannibalism in the past, they were brave, honest, loyal to their friends, and so instinctively generous and hospitable that they have no word in their language to represent thanks. Wonderfully skillful too they were in a variety of handicrafts. Their natural courtesy and eloquence would put to shame the crude manners and inexpressive speech of the masses of the white races.

Their legends and religious beliefs were full of poetic ideas and forms of expression. Mountains, rivers, lakes, birds and trees were personified and often deified.

Their keen and unforced humor contrasts strikingly with the inept vulgarity that passes for humor in many of the publications of today.

For the first time, with the exception noted above, these people received in the 1906 issue recognition in the stamps of the country.

The first represents Te Arawa, one of the legendary war canoes in which the Maoris originally made the journey to New Zealand from the mythical Hawaiki. The following is a description of this canoe from Tregear's book "The Maori Race."

"If tradition can be at all relied on, these exploring vassels were double canoes (huhuru, unua, unuku or taurua) of great size and carrying power. The famous 'Arawa' canoe had above her double hull a deck or platform (pora) on which houses or cabins (pako kori) had been constructed; there were also shrines or sacred places thereon for the better worship of the ancient gods."

The canoe was their only mode of water transportation. They were made by hollowing out the trunk of a tree, and trimming down the outside, and so keen a sense of proportion had they that, without any of our scientific aids, they were able to make both sides exactly alike, so that the canoe would rest even in the water, and possess the maximum of stability.

The second is devoted to Maori Art. Mats and baskets of many designs were made from the leaves of the flax, and delicate fabrics, mostly artistically dyed, were skilfully woven from the fibres of the plant which were separated from the surrounding tissue with much expenditure of time and labor. Feathers of the native birds were frequently interwoven with the flax in making their garments. Wood carving also was one of their arts. The gate posts of their fortified villages, the door posts and gables of their meeting houses, the prows of their war canoes, were all carved skillfully, elaborately, and ingeniously, and often inlaid with pawa shell (the abalone of the Pacific Coast), though the results were more original and grotesque than beautiful. Still it must be recognized as one of the lost arts that civilization has swept away.

The third stamp illustrates the landing of Captain Cook in 1769 at Poverty Bay on the East Coast of the North Island. The Maoris took his ship, the Endeavor, for a giant sea-bird, and thought the discharge of the guns was thunder, and took the white men for gods, an opinion which they have somewhat modified since. Cook visited the islands several times afterward in the next decade. Later whalers and traders began to visit the country, and in the course of time a few settlers arrived and began the building of a new colony. An attempt was made to form a new settlement in 1825, but it was not until 1833 that one was actually made, and a British resident placed in charge. In 1839 the New Zealand Company was formed, and the famous "First Four Ships" arrived in 1840. The country, however, had not been annexed, partly on account of the opposition of the missionaries who feared the effect of the result on their labors. When it appeared likely, however, that the French would annex the country if England did not, the opposition vanished, and in 1839 a Royal Proclamation was issued, and in June, 1840, Captain Hobson arrived as Lieutenant Governor under the Governor of New South Wales, and in May, 1840, the British Flag was hoisted and British Sovereignty proclaimed over the North Island. This is the incident commemorated in the fourth stamp of our series. It may be added that so little was thought of the South Island that England nearly lost it to the French. Hobson entertained the Captain of a French vessel bound thither for the purpose of annexing it, when he put in at the Bay of Islands. The visitor indiscreetly let fall some hint of his purpose, and Hobson dispatched a ship which arrived at Akaroa, the seat of the proposed French Colony, two days before the French ship.

So much for the pictorial issues. There is one other issue that may be of some interest other than philatelic, namely, the Government Insurance Department Stamps.

This is the only Department which has used its own stamps as the American Departments used to do. It may not be generally known that the Government of New Zealand was the pioneer of Government Life Insurance. In 1870 following the disastrous failure of many Life Insurance Companies in Europe and America, the Government of New Zealand, recognizing that safety is the primary necessity of Life Insurance, established the Life Insurance Department with the Government guarantee behind all its policies. From that day to this, the Government of New Zealand has been engaged successfully in the Life Insurance business in competition with the many private companies operating in the country. Since that time Government Accident and Fire Insurance Departments have been added.

Thus very imperfectly and incompletely have New Zealand's beauties and history been mirrored in her stamp issues. May we not hope that in the future, in a greater degree than in the past, all countries will take this slight means among others to make known to their sister nations their claims on the attention of the world.

The Swedish Error of Colour of the First Issue.

By HUGO GRIEBERT.

A. P. S. 6320.

Every sale of the collection of the late La Renotiere von Ferrary has brought its surprises which consisted either of the inclusion of stamps in blocks, hitherto unknown in such a condition, of extraordinarily rare specimens hardly ever seen or even of stamps of which only one or at the utmost two copies are known. One of the many surprises of the fourth sale of this famous collection consisted of Lot 518, announced in the catalogue as follows:

Sweden, 3sk. yellow, Error (printed exactly in the colour of the 8sk., black obliteration, very clear. This stamp has not been treated chemically and is therefore a genuine error of colour, it is mentioned in catalogue Kohl.)

Although Kohl mentioned this error of colour in a small foot-note in his catalogue of 1915, simply stating that "one specimen is known in yellow colour" very little notice has been taken of this statement and consequently when this error was put up for sale it was quite unknown by the majority of collectors or dealers.

The stamp was eventually sold for a high price and is now in the collection of a specialist in Swedish stamps. Since the sale this error has been mentioned in several reports of prices realised in this auction and no one questioned the accuracy of the statement in the sale catalogue that it is a genuine error of colour until I received No. 639 of "L'Echo de la Timbrologie" in which an article on this stamp throws considerable doubt upon the genuineness of this error. The writer who signs himself "L'Amateur Conscient", states that he does not share the opinion of the expert's description and having studied physics and chemistry maintains that the 3sk. stamp being green, (a composition of blue and yellow) one has only to expose this stamp to the influence of ultra-violet rays, and the blue colour will disappear while the yellow colour remains.—He concludes that "this famous error may therefore be the result of chemical treatment."

"L'Amateur Conscient" entirely ignores the expert's description, in which is mentioned that the stamp has not been treated chemically and casts doubt upon its genuineness. This miscellaneous statement, lightly made, would do a great deal of harm to this rare variety, if it could not be disproved at once and I feel certain that, if "L'Amateur Conscient" after studying Physics and Chemistry would have added a little philatelic study, he would never have written his sceptical remarks.

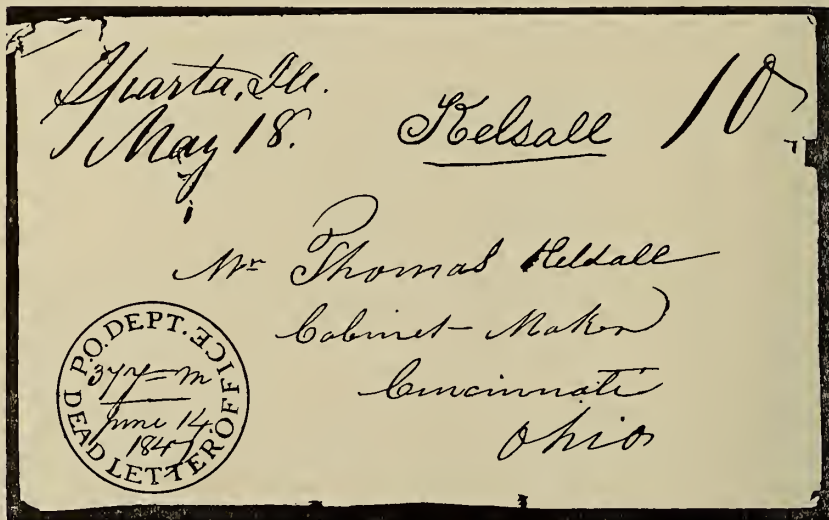

There was not the slightest need for the expert to publish that the error is not a chemical changeling, because this error of 3 skilling yellow is printed on thick paper, while the original 3 skilling green does only exist printed on thin paper. All arguments as regards the colour having been changed by chemical treatment fall at once to the ground and it is a conclusive proof that the above error of colour is genuine in every respect and no doubt will henceforth be included in all catalogues of standing.

U. S. DEAD LETTER OFFICE.

AN EARLY USE OF THE "DEAD LETTER OFFICE" CANCELL.

Collectors of covers used before stamps are constantly finding unusual and quaint cancellations of interest in connection with cancellations found on stamps. The dead letter office cancellation is unusual on early stamped envelopes and letter covers and rarely seen on items used before the fifties. A Cincinnati collector recently unearthed the illustrated cover which, used in May, 1847, was sent to the dead letter office in June 1847. This is the earliest use of this cancellation known to this collector but inquiry to the Post Office department brings forth the information that the dead letter division dates back to 1825! It would be interesting to locate earlier examples of this cancellation which some of our readers may possess. The Post Office advises that all letters received nowadays that bear no indication of the senders address are immediately destroyed as waste paper but articles of value are saved for one year for reclamation. The data given on this branch of the postal service is as follows:—

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

Office of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, Division of Dead Letters.

The Division of Dead Letters was established in 1825, but a detailed report of its transactions was not kept prior to 1860, although the records show the receipt of 380,000 letters in 1830, and 900,000 in 1837.

On March 9, 1859, the Senate adopted a resolution requesting the Postmaster-General to state in his next annual report the number of letters received in the Dead Letter Office during the fiscal year, and asking what further legislation was necessary to diminish the number of such letters and to provide for their return to senders. The estimated receipts for that year were 2,500,000 letters and parcels.

By Act of Congress of February 27, 1861, all money found in undelivered dead letters was to be used to promote the efficiency of the Dead Letter Office; under this Act the number of clerks was increased to nine. The report for 1862 states that when letters containing postage stamps or articles of less value than one dollar could not be restored to writers, they were destroyed with their contents. In 1862 (January 21) Congress authorized the Department to return all dead letters bearing the names of writers, except those containing circulars or other worthless matter, provided the receipts should furnish sufficient revenue to pay the clerks employed for that purpose. Their compensation was afterward fixed by appropriation at $20,000 per annum. A charge was made of three cents for the return of each single rate letter and double rates, or six cents, for letters enclosing valuable articles which were returned under registration. The revenues amounted in one year to $46,645.92 or $26,645.92 more than the cost of the service.

In 1866 the postage for returning dead letters was reduced. The percentage of money found in unclaimed letters was nearly four times greater prior to 1864 than at present. The money order system was established November 4, 1864. Stamped envelopes imprinted with the address of senders and request for return were issued by the Government in 1865 for the purpose of securing the return of letters to writers without opening.

There were employed in 1875 twenty-nine men and fifty women, and the office is mentioned as "a model of industry and punctuality." The force now consists of 176 persons handling over 13,000,000 pieces of mail annually, and returning without charge all matter paid at the letter rate.

Following is a statement showing the receipts of this Division and the mail matter delivered since 1860.

EDITOR'S COLUMN

Summertime and vacation days are now passed by and the stamp albums are emerging from their hiding places to usher in another philatelic season. Even the all year round collector acquires fresh energy with the cooler weather and the longer nights, the auction sales grow in number and the dealers set in order their stocks for the busy season. The A. P. S. begins another fiscal year and membership dues are now payable. We hope the effort to make the Society bigger and better than ever will get off to a good start and that the list of "Dropped for non-payment of dues" will dwindle to nothing. Here is a chance to aid the Treasurer and Secretary in their labours and save yourself annoyance later on. Give immediate attention to your bill for dues and start right!

Russia, shrouded in gloom and mystery, offers a tempting field for the exchanger and corresponding philatelist that seeks his stamp treasures in all corners of the World. Beware however of the Soviets! We are advised that all stamp importations of any kind are under the ban and confiscation awaits all stamp lots mailed into this unfortunate land. It is also advisable to note that other objects of value, particularly the much desired "Dollar Bill", even when registered, have an annoying way of not reaching their intended destination.

Starting with our October issue, the first of Volume 36, all manuscripts submitted for publication in the Philatelist will be eligible to the medal authorized by the last Convention for the best philatelic article of the year. The conditions will be simple but the standard high and the award will be on a parity with similar awards abroad. Who will be the proud owner of the first award?

On the last day of the Convention, Dr. H. A. Davis, Secretary of the Society, received the sad news of his only brother's death at Edmeston, N. Y. and he at once left to attend the funeral ceremonies. This delayed his return to Denver and the filing of his report with this issue. The Convention report will also appear with the October issue.

Every now and then one of our advertisers evidences his satisfaction with the A. P. but seldom do we receive such a clear and concise statement as the following unsolicited letter from Mr. M. Ohlman, well known New York auction specialist.

"Noting your editorial about advertising, I can truthfully say, that I doubt if there is one stamp medium anywhere, that can offer over 2300 copies BONAFIDE CIRCULATION, 95% legal age, at anything like the rate of the American Philatelist. It is the best adv. buy for the price in America."

Advertisers please note: Mr. Ohlman knows what he is talking about.

Dear Dr. Davis:—

The A. S. D. A. members in convention at Springfield, Mass., Aug. 14, 1922, authorized me to transmit to the American Philatelic Society their sincere thanks for the hearty co-operation, the expressed good-fellowship, and the extensive entertainment accorded us by the Society as a whole, and particularly by the members of the A. P. S. branch society known as the Springfield Stamp Club.

In carrying out the wishes of the A. S. D. A. members present, and expressing to you—an official representative of the American Philatelic Society—our sincere thanks, I desire to state that our members (who mostly are A. P. S. members) will have an eye upon the preparations for the 1923 convention at Washington, and whenever and wherever possible they will lend a willing hand to the work which is to be done by the other A. ## CZECHOSLOVAK ARMY POST IN FRANCE.

By F. S. POTEET.

Considerable discussion has been aroused in the Continental philatelic press concerning certain stamps issued by the Czechoslovak Forces in France. A few facts and descriptions should suffice to determine their status.

The stamps are of large size, one being of square format. A tablet extends across the top and the inscription is in two lines of colorless sans-serif letters on a colored background, reading:

VOLONTAIRES

which is Czech volunteers in France. The lower panel has at each corner a square containing the denomination. The figures "10" are in the lefthand square and "2" in the righthand square. The inscription is again in white letters on a dark background, this time in three lines:

signifying Czech welfare work in France. Two panels form the sides, completing the square, showing a scrollwork design. The left panel has a colorless oval impinged thereon containing the monogram "R. F." while the right has a similar oval with the monogram "C. S." The central design is a Czech soldier, with gun and fixed bayonet, climbing upward to the attack.

Another design shows the arms of Czechoslovakia with colorless panels at the top and bottom, across the entire stamp. The top panel contains the inscription which is the Cartographic section of the Czechoslovak Army. Above the left shield of the arms, in an elaborated oval, appears the figures "19" while a similar oval containing the same figures appears at the right side, completing the year. These figures are white within a colored oval. At the lower left the denomination "5" appears in an uncolored circle on an elaborated background and the letter "c" denoting centimes, appears in the corresponding position at the right.

These stamps were used as propaganda and also for charity or war welfare work. Some were used as seals by the government, presumably for the advertising value apart from the lack of any official seals. These labels were on sale at especially established agencies.

Practically every army and a large number of the divisions issued such stamps. The stamps bear such inscriptions as "Volontaires Hollandais au service de la France"; Volontaires Roumaines; Volont. polonais; volontaires bresiliens; section radiographique; section de telegraphistes coloniaux, and various others.

The documentary evidence as well as the witnesses purporting to establish the authenticity of these stamps are fraudulent. As relics of the war, they are interesting and of some artistic merit but they have no value from a philatelic viewpoint.

THE PASSING OF A NATION.

By COL. LECTOR.

"O smallest among peoples! rough rock throne
Of Freedom! warriors beating back the swarm
Of Turkish Islam for five hundred years,
Great Tzernagora! never since thine own
Black ridges drew the cloud and brake the storm
Has breathed a race of mightier mountaineers."

Lord Tennyson.

For the last seven years the multitude of stamp collectors the world over have been thrilled again and again with the news of the birth of a new Nation or stamp issuing district and it is likely that fifty years from now, the collectors of that period will wonder at and envy the opportunities of the philatelist of today to acquire first issues and stamp items rich in history and interest. And so, in all this philatelic turmoil, this seeming endless blossoming of the new, it is perhaps only natural that the dying of the old, the tragic passing of a heroic Nation is viewed with minor interest. Tsernagora, Monte-Negro, the Black Mountain, invincible bulwark of Christianity against the Mohammedan Turk has run its historic course, its catalogue numbers have reached their total and the Album page is complete!

At Corfu, July 20th, 1917 was issued the first declaration of the new and powerful kingdom of Greater Serbia uniting all the Southern Slavs into one Nation under the name of The Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, popularly shortened to "Jugo Slavia". As such these peoples were represented at the Peace Conference and officially recognized. December 1st, 1918 the great Skupshtina, or Montenegrin Parliament, assembled at Podgoritzza and declared their union with Jugo Slavia and deposed their aged monarch, King Nicholas Petrovich Niegosh. On July 13th, 1922 the Council of Ambassadors at Paris definitely recognized the absorption of Montenegro by Jugo Slavia and thus ends a great nation and the dynasty of Petrovich Niegosh.

Sixteen hundred years ago a branch of the Slavonic race left the banks of the Don and descended into the Balkans and snatched from the then feeble Byzantine Emperors the lands that are now greater Serbia. These new comers were Serbs and the purest stock that remains of these early conquerors are the Montenegrins of today. Montenegro was for a period a feudatory state under the great Serbian Tzar Dushan but after the great battle of Kossovo with the Turks in 1389 in which Serbia lost its independence for four centuries these people withdrew to their mountain fastnesses and there, under the leadership of George Balsha, defied the arms of Islam. From that time on, this little band, survivors of the battle of Kossovo, stood their ground and in hundreds of battles with the Turk, for centuries barred Islam from Europe. In 1697 Danilo Petrovich of Niegosh became "Vladika" under a hereditary system, the succession of which was to pass from uncle to eldest nephew. This system remained in force until 1851 when Danilo II changed the constitution providing for succession to his heirs male, but died leaving a daughter only and so by caprice of fate the succession once more passed from uncle to nephew. This nephew, Prince Nicholas, who ascended the throne Aug. 13th, 1860 was born at Niegosh Sept. 25th, 1841 and was the seventh and last of this famous house, dying with his nation, March 1st, 1921. In November 1860 he married Milena Voukatitch, the daughter of a great Montenegrin noble, by whom he had nine children, three sons and six daughters. King Nicholas arranged royal and princely marriages for all his children, his fourth daughter, Princess Elena, being married to the Crown Prince of Italy (1896), who became King Victor Immanuel III and his daughter Zorka was married to Peter Karageorgvitch of Serbia, later King Peter of Serbia, the father of the present King Alexander. During the reign of King Nicholas, Montenegro made great progress, electric roads were built, postal service by motor car instituted, schools were established, carriage roads built and the economic resources of the country developed. Wearing the national costume, holding court by the wayside he became to be known throughout the world as a picturesque and romantic character.

The Montenegrins have always been known for courage and recklessness in battle and their fighting record through the first and second Balkan wars and the Great War is a glorious chapter of European military history. While Austria succeeded in overrunning the country in 1915 it took 480 guns and 50,000 men to overcome these hardy mountaineers at Mount Lovtchen which they defended with 50 guns and 5000 men. The odds of ten to one makes a fair fight for a Montenegrin but the equipment in this case was 100 times superior and with lack of food was the deciding factor. Thus began the end of a heroic Nation, Political propaganda of European standard ending what Austria had begun and in the seething pot of world issues these little people were submerged, perhaps for the best, who knows?

The philatelic history of Montenegro is of short duration, the first stamps being issued in May 1874 and printed, as were subsequent issues, in Vienna. Practically all the stamps bear the portrait of the beloved King Nicholas and while little has been written about them they offer in their numerous perforation, overprint and cancellation varieties, quite a field for research. Some of these stamps can be bought quite cheaply today, particularly those of the 1910 Commemorative set of which there was a small supply of remainders and which are handsome enough to grace any collection. To those that cherish history and romance and who, looking through their album pages, can visualize storm and battle swept heights peopled by a race of heroes, we recommend the stamps of Tsernagora, the black mountain, a dead but forever living Nation, Montenegro.

CONFEDERATE STATES STAMPS USED IN KENTUCKY.

By EDWARD S. KNAPP, A. P. S. #5126.

The writer recently acquired a most unusual Confederate cover that will no doubt be of interest to specialists in the stamps of the Confederack and United States. The cover, illustrated here, bears a pair of the 5c green, general issue of 1861, the first stamps issued by the Confederate Government. It is addressed to Warrenton, Warren County, Mississippi, and the cancellation which falls on both stamps and cover reads "BOWLING GREEN KY FEB 2"

This is the first cover the writer has seen showing a Kentucky cancellation and the first used OUTSIDE of the Confederacy. In this connection a bit of our history may be of interest.

Upon the outbreak of the Civil War, Kentucky attempted to maintain a position of neutrality, but owing to its geographical location this was practically impossible. Governor Magoffin rejected President Lincoln's call for troops and when both the Confederate and Union Armies began to pour into the State from opposite directions formal demand was made for their withdrawal. Sympathy for the North and South was almost equally divided and though great pressure was brought to bear to induce the State to embrace the Confederate cause, all hope of any such action was dispelled early in 1862 when Forts Henry and Donelson in the western part of the State were captured by the Union troops commanded by the then little known General, U. S. Grant.

In September 1861 Brigadier General Buckner, a Kentuckian by birth and a graduate of West Point, entered Kentucky at the head of a large force of Confederates that included a number of volunteers from Kentucky and occupied the town of Bowling Green, the county seat of Warren County, some eleven miles south of the Green River and on the immediate line of approach to Louisville. By the following January (1862) the Confederates had massed an army of 30,000 men in western Kentucky with General Albert Sidney Johnston in command, his headquarters being in Bowling Green. General Johnston was at that time considered the ablest General of the Confederacy and his opponent was General U. S. Grant, then in command of the Union forces in Western Kentucky and Tennessee. General Johnston evidently realized he could not hold Western Kentucky but determined to save Tennessee for the South withdrew a large part of his army and made his stand at Nashville. On February second (same date as on cover) General Grant left Cairo with his army on transports and moved up the Ohio and Tennessee Rivers. By the 15th both Forts Henry and Donelson had been captured and the western part of the State cleared of Confederate soldiers. This great victory was the first to fall to the Federal armies and with it the star of Grant began to rise. After the fall of Donelson General Johnston gave up Nashville and gathered his Army at Corinth, Miss., his second in command being General Beauregard who gained his fame at Bull Run, and there, April 6th, 1862 was fought the great battle of Shiloh in which General Johnston lost his life.

The postmark on this cover, Bowling Green, Ky. Feb. 2., links it with some of the most stirring events of our history and we feel that we must hazard a guess as to how it came to be so marked. It is highly improbable that the post office at Bowling Green was supplied from Richmond with Confederate stamps, in January 1862 many Southern towns were without an adequate supply of stamps because the Confederate Government was unable to obtain them in sufficient quantities. Soldiers could send letters without prepaying the postage and it is most likely that these stamps were brought to Bowling Green by someone connected with the Army who had bought them elsewhere. Warrenton, Miss., the place the letter is addressed to, is in the same county as Vicksburg, and as that city was in the line of army communication, it seems probable that the stamps originated there and were finally used outside the Confederacy. Has anyone seen anything similar to this or has anyone information bearing on this point? I would appreciate any data along these lines. (Address: E. S. Knapp, 158 East 64th St., New York, N. Y.).

Hard to Define Colors of New Canadian Stamps.

The postal department has greatly reduced the number of square inches of mucilage to be moistened per person per annum by introducing a four-cent stamp. This stamp, of a deep mustard of chrome color, is intended for use on mail addressed to the British Isles. Letter writers with linguistic accomplishments and French friends will, however, find frequent correspondence costly for letters to "La belle France" must bear a 10-cent stamp for the first ounce, and a 5-cent stamp for each additional ounce.

Postoffice officials say that, although there was no confusion at present over the similarity of the old one-cent and new two-cent stamps, which are both of the same verdant green, there had been some when they were first introduced about a month ago. This confusion arose principally with the large firms which are accustomed to buy their stamps by the sheet, many of them sending back their two-cent stamps on the supposition that they had been given one-cent stamps in error.

These changes in postage stamps, made in accordance with the color scheme of the Postal Union, and to be complied with by all countries in the union, also include the meek and verdant one-cent stamp, which now sports a coat of brilliant orange.

The color scheme is a plentiful source of argument, and would almost foil an expert. The green, blue, brown and mauve are easy to put in their place, but when it comes to deciding the exact shade of the one-cent stamp or of the four-cent stamp one finds considerable difficulty in holding the same opinion for more than a minute at a time.—News item from "Detroit Free Press."

POSTAGE STAMP PICTURES.

Mr. F. S. Poteet sends us a clipping from Senator Hitchcock's newspaper, The Omaha World-Herald, which is of course democratic!

"Now that the postal department at Washington has decided to change the portraits on some of its stamps between the denomination of one cent and five dollars, forcing George Washington and Benjamin Franklin to share their honor with others to be selected from American history, why should not one aid in such selection, in these glorious times of republicanism and kindred accompanying blessings?

Would not Volstead's physiognomy be entirely proper for the five-cent, fifteen-cent and twenty-five cent stamps, commemorating what he did to the one-time fairly general circulation of the nickel in exchange for a schooner and to the fifteen-cent or two-for-a-quarter barter for harder wares?

What about Will Hays, the best press agent the postoffice department ever had, for the thirty-five-cent stamps significant of admission to the standard motion picture establishments he now is busily purifying and promoting?

Attorney General Daugherty's classic countenance would look good, some suggest, on the thirty-cent variety, while President Harding, on a pachyderm rampant, embossed with high tariff tacks, should make a dandy seventy-five-cent stamp, this being the standard caddy hire for eighteen holes, we are informed.

What say you?"

BOSTON'S NEWEST STAMP STORE

With the opening of our new offices in Boston, we are pleased to announce our readiness to serve members of the American Philatelic Association. We have refrained from making use of this paper, simply because we have appreciated the standard of service which should be maintained in dealing with members, and which we were insistent in giving. Now we are ready. We shall waste no space with idle boast, but we have the goods.

Want List Service

This is our specialty. Over 20,000 varieties are continually kept in stock quantities, with an additional 10,000 varieties of rarer items always on hand. Our foreign correspondents are continually submitting consignments of beautiful pieces, which is but an added reason why you should have your name on our files. Our line is complete, old or new issues, original covers, every accessory—in fact the only things we do not carry are New Russian States, and twentieth century revenues. Hundreds of members can and will vouch for our service—may we not hear from you?

Approvals

A complete series of single stamps and sets mounted alphabetically for the younger member principally—books by countries for the more advanced collector. A first rate new issue service is also ready for new members.

Price List:—

A twenty page list of sets, packets, etc. is free for the asking. It will interest you.

—When in Boston—

We invite you to call on us. We can show you the largest general stock in this city, a counter book of 29,000 varieties being a feature of this stock. Nice light and roomy offices are at your convenience, and a staff ready to show you every courtesy. We anticipate a letter or your visit.

Hy-Grade Approvals.

WHAT DOES THAT HEADLINE
 MEAN TO YOU?

To many A. P. S. Members and many others who receive Hy-Grade Approvals regularly it means securing fine specimens of stamps for their collections at a cost which is based on our cost and cost of replacement, thereby reflecting the actual market prices.

It Also Means
 Service and A Square Deal.

Think It Over Mr. A. P. S. Man and then let us hear from you.

Big Collection Being Broken Up

We are breaking up a large collection of 19th century stamps we purchased, cataloging about $35,000. It contains thousands of stamps one does not get a chance to buy except when such a collection is broken up. Why not your want list?

Want Lists are our specialty. We get them from hundreds of leading collectors and even dealers. The value of the goods asked for on many of them runs into four and even five figures. We fill thousands of lists of all sizes yearly. Why not send us yours if you really want to buy the stamps and are willing to pay reasonable prices? We have one of the largest general stocks in the world, about 90 per cent complete and believe that in price, quality and variety we can do as well by you as anyone.

Approvals Hundreds of books for all grades and classes of collectors. Collections mounted in albums, etc. Special books made up where none are on hand to meet requirements. Partial list of books ready to submit sent free on request.

Price Lists that offer you thousands of first class stamps free for the asking. Special lists of new offers, special items, etc. at intervals, to those on our mailing list. They are free, we charge nothing for our advertising matter.

Our Prices are "fair to you and us." As low as legitimate, guaranteed goods can be sold and make it an object for us to do business on the stock we have to carry and the money invested. They will average favorably with those of any firm that has a stock worthy of being called a stock. We make no claim to being cheaper than anyone else, such claims are usually bluffs, but if you want service, quality, variety, the chance to draw upon a really great stock of stamps, then we are at your service. If you really want to fill those spaces, to buy the stamps, the chances are we can supply the majority of them.

To the abbreviations used in denoting the specialties of members in the following list.

The letters C, D and X in brackets refer to the member as a collector, dealer and desire to exchange respectively.

Note—In order to keep this list short as possible it will be necessary in some few cases to refer to two or more abbreviations in order to fully determine the meaning of the reference. To explain:

FOR. REV.—FOR. stands for Foreign and REV. for Revenue stamps.

COL. following the name of a country denotes that the member collects the colonial stamps as well as those of the mother country.

U. S. (P. D. EN. R.) signifies the members collect the Postage, Departmental, Envelope and Revenue stamps of the United States.
